Much of the remarkable productivity and efficiency of the U.S. economy reflects workers better equipped than we to make the most of the factors of production. Until the education gap closed, we won't make similar advances in productivity, or earn the living standards which they imply. Canadians are plainly going to have to devote a growing share of their income to education. And develop attitudes at home and at work that actively encourage the acquisition of skills. If we fail to do these things, we shall become — or remain — a nation of second raters.

Banks Too Powerful, Stifle Initiative House Committee Told

OTTAWA (CP)—Bankers in collusion‡ Exercising "fantastic power"?

They were so accused Tuesday in formal testimony before a committee of the House of Commons, by a non - conforming financial analyst on the one hand and by a young promoter on the other.

R. G. D. Lafferty of Montreal asid interlocking directorates extend the influence of banks into big trust companies, into securities trading and into the biggest underwriting organizations in Canada.

Business initiative is stifled, competition goes by the board and the press holds back news unfavorable to the banking "cartel" for fear of reprisals, he said.

Terry Howes of Toronto, self-styled entrepreneur-general who freely admitted a background of curious business enterprises, said bankers are too powerful.

They ignored shareholders, published meaningless financial statements, and ran their institutions with "nowhere near" the efficiency of American banks.

It was bop-the-banks day for the committee, which was beginning another wave of hearings on government proposals for revision of the Bank Act.

Mr. Lafferty and Mr. Howes were witnesses No. 2 and 3. They followed the morning appearance of Joseph Pope, Toronto investment dealer who said the banks should offer better services for foreign exchange trading.

They would get the necessary experience only if Toronto or Montreal were opened up as an international money market. This in turn depended on banishing an "absurd" and "wretched" Bank Act restriction against establishment of branches of foreign banks in Canada.

The committee met Mr. Howes first with amusement and then with some seriousness.

The portly witness accused Davie Fulton (PC — Kamloops) of smearing him in bringing up his business interests.

He acknowledged that the U.S. post office had issued fraud orders in 1965 and 1966 against his use of the mails to distribute a so-called "air flow diet".

He had indeed advertised bargain prices for lease of squarenile tracts of wildlife domain in Ontario, he said.

He had no complaint against an article in a national magazine that described other "money - coining enterprises".

"Okay," he said at last. "I'm a thief, a crook, a no-goodnick from away back."

"Now that we're through with this, can we discuss my proposals?"

The 17 proposals were to change the Bank Act to improve corporate disclosure by the banks, change voting and proxy practices and accord the federal authority various devices of control.

He outlined the history of a private war with the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, in which he holds one share. He had waged proxy fights to find out whether shareholders have any voice in the bank's affairs, and had been rebuffed, he said.

He said that three Canadian banks had been substantial lenders to Pioneer Finance in Detroit, a company he identified as being in trouble "largely due to the enterprises of the well-known Texas boo-nivsrant, Billy Sol Estes . . . "

He identified the banks as the Bank of Montreal, the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce and the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Mr. Lafferty said his Imperial Harwood and Co. was subjected to charges by the Montreal Stock Exchange and had its bank credit cut off after it issued statements on exchange regulation in 1964.

He said the Royal Bank of Canada, the Bank of Montreal and the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce effectively influence the policies of the three largest trust companies in Canada.

In turn, these trusts have in their orbit of influence close to 50 per cent of the market value of all Canadian - owned industrial stocks listed on the combined Toronto and Montreal stock exchanges, he said.

The association of underwriters with banks put this part of the money market "on a basis of agreement and accommodation related to the influence each respective group can exercise," he said.

He urged that the Bank Act be changed to eliminate bank directors and officers as directors and officers of any other financial institution or corporation.

Invest Or Quebec Quits: MP

TORONTO (CP) — Finance Minister Sharp's Quebec lieutenant said Tuesday that a reluctance to invest in the province could drive it into separatism.

"One should not take this possibility lightly," Jean Chretien, parliamentary secretary to Mr. Sharp, told the Armour Heights Rotary Club here.

"The failure of Quebec's current efforts to seek a better life for its citizens would most certainly break Confederation."

He said progressive French-Canadians could fail in their efforts to bring about this progress unless they have the active co-operation of English Canada.

Mr. Chretien said "significant improvement" in the structure of the Quebec economy in recent years should attract investors. Yet the opposite was happening.

The proportion of total new investment in manufacturing and private industry was declining.

Wins Part Of Appeal

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal tax appeal board Tuesday classified musical arrangements as wholly tax-deductible as singer Tommy Ambrose won part of an appeal of hot 1962 income tax bill.

In the judgment, the board allowed the full $917.60 the entertainer paid for musical arranging for his weekly CBC television show of the period. The government had allowed only 20 per cent.

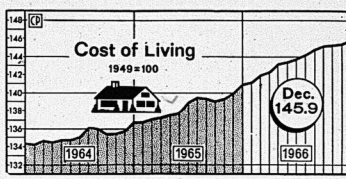
The board found that the arrangements' cost $50 to $150 each and could rarely be used twice. They had to be varied to meet public preferences and the needs of orchestras.

The singer also claimed $1,300 for entertaining the visiting performers so he could become better acquainted with them in order to work together better on the show.

However, the board upheld the government contention that only $600 should be allowed as a tax deduction. Mr. Ambrose said he actually spent $4,000 on food and drink with visiting artists.

The board also gave the singer a better break on automobile expenses for the year, allowing him to deduct half the total outlay. The government had allowed an unspecified lower amount.

Mr. Ambrose had claimed 75 per cent of his total auto costs were incurred in his work, which included carting a bass guitar and an amplifier to show rehearsals in Toronto and to the show itself. Costumes were also carried.



Index Slightly Higher

An increase in the cost of housing and household operations moved the consumer index up four-tenths of a point to 145.9 in December, although health and food costs remained unchanged from November. The advance in the overall index represented an increase of three-tenths of one per cent in prices during the month. Index is based on 1949 prices equalling 100.

Warrant Issued For Rabbiah

TORONTO (CP) — A bench warrant was issued Tuesday for the arrest of E. Y. Rabbiah, former president of the now-defunct Race Photo Copy Corp., after he failed to appear for his trial on charges of fraud, uttering and conspiracy involving almost $300,000.

Rabbiah, 42, and co-accused, Kenneth Lennie, 39, of Toronto, were committed for trial Sept 12.

Crown Counsel Clay Powell said Rabbiah's preliminary hearing had twice been adjourned because he had to enter hospital for treatment.

He said that when Rabbiah's original bail of $100,000 was reduced to $30,000 July 27 "he miraculously left hospital the same day."

Racan went bankrupt in the summer of 1963. Its stock soared to $26 in 1963 from 51 in 1962 after rumors it had developed a revolutionary copying machine.

Price Fixed

U.S. Flatly Rejects Gold Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States rejected without qualification Tuesday any idea of raising the price of gold for any reason.

The Treasury department, declaring such an increase "completely unacceptable," was reacting to a weekend comment from Michel Debre, French finance minister who called for an international examination of the question.

Although Debre did not advocate an actual rise in the gold price, his comments in an interview with a French newspaper sparked a brief speculation in that country.

In response to inquiries, the Treasury department said:

"The price of gold is determined by its relationship to the U.S. dollar.

"This relationship has been fixed at $35 per ounce since 1934, and will remain there.

"Any suggestion that the price of gold be raised—either to meet needs for additional international liquidity or for any other reason—is completely unacceptable to the United States.

"Future international monetary arrangements must be based on this fact. This has been made clear to French financial authorities."

France is reported to have proposed a study of the gold price at a closed-door meeting last month of the International Monetary Fund executive directors with the deputy finance ministers of the free world's 10 largest industrial countries — called the group of 10. The group includes Canada.

But officials said the price of gold was not on the agenda for that meeting nor is it on the agenda for the next meeting scheduled later this month in London.

Clothes Reflect Character Of Wearer Says Doctor

NEW YORK (AP) — A man who wants to be boss at home should choose a wife who wears hats. He should beware of those determinedly independent lasses with hair fluttering unfettered to their shoulders.

This is the advice of Dr. William Jennings Bryan, a California doctor, lawyer and hypnotist who makes instant personality appraisals by taking into account the clothes people wear.

This talent has been of particular value to F. Lee Bailey, famous defence lawyer who has never lost a case. Although Bailey does not need any help in choosing a wife, as he has a lovely one who wears hats, he has called upon Dr. Bryan on several occasions to help him select prospective jurors.

The portly 40-year-old doctor, who directs the American Institute of Hypnotism in Los Angeles, believes that, although clothes do not make the man, they reveal almost unfailingly what the man is like.

CLOTHES DISCLOSE

"Suspect a person of having very little self-confidence if his dress is not characteristic of his profession," says the doctor.

"If a man is a banker and doesn't dress like the average one (expensive and conservative), then I concluded he doesn't really think of himself as a banker, or at least not a good one. He probably secretly believes he ought to be something else. He has problems."

As for women, he says, "the exhibitionist, the girl who flaunts her sex on the outside is covering up for a lack of fire on the inside."

The really sexy woman, he claims, is tastefully dressed, very well groomed, a real patrician. "She has confidence, self-knowledge, and with good reason."

That girl with free flowing hair and little use for hats is, in the doctor's opinion, young, independent and determined not to be dominated by men.

The mini-skirt, he says, reflects the new age, "yes, and the pill, all that business."

"The girl who wears this kind of thing is saying, 'Look, I don't need to be bound down by the morals that our generation had.'"

How does Dr. Bryan dress?

"I'm the Ivy League type dresser. I like university life. I am fascinated by minds, and how these can help people achieve their goals."

INFORMS CONSUMERS — Eleanor Ordway, a native of Regina, heads the consumer division of the federal health department's food and drug administration. Her staff prepares pamphlets and posters explaining manufacturing processes and labelling terms. (CP Photo)

Consumer Chief Urges Women To Read Labels, Compare Weights

OTTAWA (CP)—Eleanor Ordway is concerned about the toothpaste you use, the orange juice you drink at breakfast and the prescription you ordered when Johnny had the flu.

Chief of the consumer division of the federal health department's food and drug administration, Miss Ordway works a 10-hour day and travels thousands of miles a year exchanging information with consumer groups across the country.

A grey-haired woman with brown eyes and black-rimmed glasses, she has been with the department for 25 years and has headed the consumer division since it began seven years ago. She is also secretary of the food and drug directorate's advisory council.

The native of Regina had planned to study medicine but when a serious illness prevented that, she took a two-year lab technician's course and further studies at the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto.

With her staff of 12 women she prepares pamphlets and posters such as a recent kit on the safe use of drugs. The division also does surveys to find out what information consumers want.

It publishes a consumer memo explaining manufacturing processes and labelling terms which may be confusing to buyers. The literature is available free to individuals and is distributed to service groups, women's clubs and schools from coast to coast.

The staff also answers about 1,700 letters annually from consumers complaining about such things as bugs in the corn meal or asking for information.

APPROVES PROTESTS

Miss Ordway, a seasoned speechmaker and conference goer, approves of the rise of consumers' protest groups although her division has no control over the prices the women are objecting to.

"I don't approve of boycotting as such. It can't have any direct effect but it has brought to the attention of the powers that be that something has to be done for the consumer."

Miss Ordway, who describes herself as "a careful shopper," advises housewives to read labels and compare weights before buying.

Ingredients are listed in descending order of weight on the label, so if a can of juice says "water, flavoring, color, fruit juice-concentrate" there's more water than anything else in it.

"Discriminating shopping is going to take more of her time, but it's worth it is the long run. Why buy brown sugar in a cardboard box when it's cheaper in a polyethylene bag and better because the bag keeps it moist?"

She says the consumer must have the right to choose.

"You can't legislate everything. I would like to see the manufacturers regulate themselves on a voluntary basis."

Manufacturers are "basically honest" and the consumer has a responsibility to them, Miss Ordway says.

"If she sat down and wrote telling them what she didn't like it would have a very great effect. After all, who are their customers?"

She says the protest groups have had an obvious effect on the parliamentary food prices committee which has recommended a department of consumer affairs.

"I'm thrilled to death about that idea. I've spent my life in consumer work and I always felt the consumer would come into his own eventually."

New Labels on Cans List. Exact Contents

If you're a smart shopper who always reads the labels on canned fruit and vegetables, you may think you're being shortchanged this year on the amount of food the can contains.

Although cans of your favorite brand remain the same size, the labels now state the contents as an ounce less than previously. For instance a can that used to hold 20 ounces of vegetables is now listed as holding only 19.

Appearances are deceiving. You're getting the same amount of product in the can you buy. The labelling is more accurate, that's all.

A new regulation of the Canadian Department of Agriculture insists that food processors label each can of fruit or vegetables with the exact amount of the product the can contains. Before, the number of fluid ounces the can could hold was listed, but no allowance was made for the ounce or so of air space left in the can during the heating and cooling of the canning process.

Thus, that 20-ounce can of peas always did hold 19 ounces of vegetables and one ounce of air. The new label, listing contents as 19 ounces, merely admits the fact.

Since Dec. 31, 1966, all products imported into Canada or processed here must bear the new declaration of contents. Since most of the 1966 pack has already been labelled, cans bearing the new declaration of contents and cans bearing the old declaration will be appearing side by side on the grocers' shelves for most of this year. This leads some shoppers to believe, erroneously, that they are getting more product in one can than in another. To compound the confusion, some processors are still advertising and promoting their products under the old, larger content declaration.

Regardless of what the label says, you can be sure the Department of Agriculture's strict regulations ensure an equal amount of product in every can of the same size.

Dear Susanna: Very often on outdoor jaunts or indoor tours, mother winds up carrying not only her own sweater but her daughter's and her daughter's friends' sweaters as well.

To prevent one from slipping away and becoming lost, a neat trick is to button them together. Doing up two or three buttons of one, to the other, is ample. — Mrs. G. Lasler.

SCRATCH STOPPER

Dear Susanna: When one of the female members of a family finds she has purchased a dress she adores the look of, but can't stand to wear because the scratchy wool material irritates her shoulders unbearably, all is not lost.

A little old plain white T-shirt worn underneath as a lining, brings blessed relief.

In many cases, it can be worn as is, depending upon the shape of the dress neck and sleeves. Sometimes it will be necessary to take a pair of scissors and trim the T-shirt to fit the contour of the dress, and then hem the cut edges lightly. — Susan Grainger.

Loses Steady Girl Friend But Finds Another Better

DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: I feel sorry for "Confused". I know exactly what it's like to lose someone you really like.

I went with a girl for a year. I knew she went out with other guys, but when she announced she was going steady with another guy, my world fell in. For two weeks I moped around.

Then I decided to look for another girl friend. Well, it's been just three months now and I've been "through" four girls! But then, about a month ago I met the superior to my old girl. She's sharp as a wit, a good student, is beautiful, and as far as I can see after a month, is all mine! You say I'm lucky? So do I. She's even in my room at school; so I have the advantages and fringe benefits of that, too.

But take the case of a friend of mine. He also lost his girl friend, and later reported to me that he had met a really nice girl. Now he tells me he hasn't even been back to see her. I really think he's a nut to not try and find another girl friend. He's certainly not happy the way he is. I guess it's the old expression coming true: If you lose a girl (boy) friend, don't worry, because they're like buses — another will be along in five minutes! — A Very Happy Guy.

Dear Happy: But can you be sure the next bus will be going your way? Cheers for your own happy connection! I'd go along with your philosophy enough to say that missing your bus is not excuse enough to give up and walk back home.

The matrimonial trip is worth queuing-up for.

Dear Doris: My three sisters are quite normal but I am afraid both of my brothers are mentally retarded. I have been married for four years and have a perfectly normal little girl who is three years old.

We are now thinking of having another child, but my husband and I are both afraid if we bring a son into the world, he too might be retarded. I might add that the doctor assured me that this was not possible, but I don't know whether he just told me this so I wouldn't worry all during pregnancy. — Still Worrying.

Dear Worrying: The connection is unlikely. There are so many causes of retardation quite removed from heredity. Birth injuries, illness of mother when pregnant, reaction to certain medications, to name a few.

Having already had one normal child, it is highly likely you are capable of having another one. Your doctor is your best counsellor about this; believe in him.

Dear Doris: I am sending you my private recipe for making hand lotion out of mutton tallow. You will see that I suggest adding a little cologne or perfume at the end, after the mixture cools.

Years ago we could get samples of perfume in small bottles by sending to certain manufacturers who advertised. I used these little samples to scent my hand lotion. — E. B. B.

Dear E. B. B.: I wonder if there is a single perfume manufacturer who still passes out free samples! The recipe is a good one, if a person needs the highly oily treatment of mutton tallow. I'll pass the recipe on to anyone enquiring.

Don't just muddle along.

Doris knows human behavior and can help. Write to her and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for private reply.

Economical Sausage Ring for Four

BY MARY MOORE

Browsing in front of the meat counter I spied "pure pork sausage meat" in a roll, snugly protected with a white wrapper at 49 cents per lb. I popped one into my basket. Forty-five minutes later I was home and that sausage meat was in the oven — combined with eggs and crumbs and other good things to make a ring. When I served it on our hand-painted platter filled with a mountain of fluffy mashed potatoes it looked like a party was on. But it was for just plain us and economical too.

SAUSAGE RING

1 lb. sausage meat (see above)
½ cup plus 1 tbsp. cornflake crumbs or breadcrumbs
1 large egg
1 cup milk
¼ cup finely chopped onion or 2 tbsps. bottled onion flakes
1 cup shredded old Cheddar cheese, packed
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. accent.

In a large bowl break up the sausage meat and add all remaining ingredients and stir and mix until thoroughly blended. If you are going to bake this in a ring mould, the bottom must be foil or paper-lined because the cheese makes this stick. (I used a 9" ring mould, the centre hole being 5" in diameter.) So cut out a narrow ring of wax paper or foil to fit bottom and butter it, or use a loaf pan, lined on bottom and buttered. Turn meat mixture in and pack down. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. 1 hr. Before unmoulding carefully lift off excess fat. Loosen edges with knife and invert on round preheated platter. Carefully strip off paper or foil.

Meanwhile to make Fluffy Mashed Potatoes to fill centre of ring or use as border around loaf shape, boil 4 medium large potatoes in a small amount of salted water until very tender. Drain, mash. Add 3 or 4 tbsps. butter and about ¼ cup milk (enough to make them sloppy) and ¼ tsp. salt. Beat and beat and stir over heat until creamy and light and heated through. Pile high in centre of sausage ring or in border around loaf shape. Sprinkle with paprika.

NOTE: 1) This sausage ring slices excellently hot or cold. If you do decide to serve it cold you could fill centre with a fine potato salad.

2) Do not be tempted to omit the cheese in this sausage ring for it is the secret of its success.

Ann Landers
Twelve Rules Given For Rearing Children

DEAR READERS: My niece who lives in Omaha sent me Twelve Rules for Rearing Children. Her pediatrician had handed her these rules and explained that he gives them to all young mothers. I read the rules and recognized them as my own. Closer examination revealed that the physician had credited Ann Landers as the author — which I appreciate.

ANN LANDERS

I am offering the rules again today for the benefit of young mothers who were high school kids when the rules first appeared — ANN LANDERS.

1. Remember that a child is a gift from God, the richest of all blessings. Do not attempt to mold him in the image of your neighbor. Each child is an individual and should be permitted to be himself.

2. Don't crush a child's spirit when he fails. And never compare him with others who have outshone him.

3. Remember that anger hostility are natural emotions. Help your child to find socially acceptable outlets for these normal feelings or they may be turned inward and crupt.

4. Discipline your child with firmness and reason. Don't let your anger throw you off balance. If he knows you are fair you will not lose his respect or his love. And make sure the punishment fits the crime.

5. Remember that each child needs two parents. Present a united front. Never join with your child against your mate. This can create emotional conflicts in your child as well as in yourself.

6. Do not hand your child everything his little heart desires. Permit him to know the thrill of earning and the joy of deserving. Grant him the greatest of all satisfactions — the pleasure that comes with personal achievement.

7. Do not set yourself up as the epitome of perfection. This is a difficult role to play 24 hours a day. You will find it easier to communicate with your child if you let him know that Mom and Dad make mistakes, too.

8. Don't make threats in anger or impossible promises when you are in a generous mood. Threaten or promise only what you can live up to.

9. Do not smother your child with superficial manifestations of love. The purest and healthiest love expresses itself in day-in, day-out training which breeds self-confidence and independence.

10. Teach your child that there is dignity in work whether it is performed with callused hands that shovel coal or skilled fingers that manipulate surgical instruments. Let him know that a useful life is a blessed one.

11. Do not try to protect your child against every small blow and disappointment. Adversity strengthens character and makes us compassionate. Trouble is the great equalizer. Let him learn it.

12. Teach your child to love God, and to love his fellow man. Don't send your child to a place of worship — take him there. Children learn from example. Talking him something is not teaching him. If you give your child a deep and abiding faith in God it can be his strength and his light when all else fails.

Huge Hats in Strong Colors, Flowers, Beads Are Popular

NEW YORK (AP)—Maxihats are the millinery industry's antidote for miniskirts this spring.

If the sight of your knees does not necessarily please, you can keep eyes head high with huge hats in strong colors, fine feathers, fancy flowers, strung beads, even floppy paper.

The idea was tested Sunday for more than 200 fashion writers at the Millinery Institute's show. It is a part of the activities of the New York Couture Group's semi - annual press week.

The Couture Group's press week overlaps with the American Designer Series headed by Eleanorr Lambert, which began Sunday and continues through Friday.

Most of the time the maxihat system was successful. Despite a simultaneous leg show provided by the manikins in short sheaths, audience attention was riveted to their collossal straw coolie hats, big-brimmed bonnets, cutaired string snoods, and enormous floral elaborations.

HAT IGNORED

The maxihat theory fell apart somewhat, though, when a bikini-clad lass climbed onto the stage. Did anybody notice that she wore a bold-striped, high-crowned hat with stays in its big brim?

Along with the maxihat, the industry is combining vivid colors as beauty sprining attractions.

Milliners are also creeping into the styling territories of apparel designer. They are creating chapeaux that go along with boleros, scarves, gloves and umbrellas—all things which keep eyes above waistlines.

Adolfo added party favor-flavor to the show by introducing floppy paper hats to match paper jumpsuits.

Thus the fashion industry in issuing paper everything now—everything but paper money.

Minor Medical Problems Should Be Given Attention Before Marriage

MONTREAL (CP) — A bride - to - be should have all minor medical problems attended to before she marries, says Lissa Taylor, an expert in the practical side of preparing for marriage.

The prospective bride should have her teeth fixed, her appendix or tonsils removed if they are causing trouble, and she should obtain eyeglasses if she needs them.

Mrs. Taylor, fashion bureau director for Dupont of Canada Ltd., explains that a girl should launch her married life so that there will be a minimum of expenses during the first year. And that includes clothing.

At one time the hope chest was the big thing in the life of a young girl hoping to marry.

As the years passed the dowry had too many financial connotations, especially in North America, to meet with the approval of enterprising young couples and the hope chest became almost extinct.

Today, aided by kitchen, linen, crystal and china showers, the new couple sets up housekeeping in a moderate degree of luxury compared with those of 30 years ago.

What is left as the main concern of the bride-to-be is the acquisition of a trousseau.

Contrary to popular belief, a trousseau is not limited to pretty lingerie and sleepwear but includes all outfits the bride intends to wear during the honeymoon period such as a travelling suit, day dresses, cocktail dresses, shoes, hats, gloves and other accessories.

Funeral

MRS. MARGARET MURRAY

Funeral services were held Wednesday, January 4th, in the Chapel of J. W. McGillivray and Sons Funeral Home, Verdun, Que., for Mrs. Margaret Murray, wife of the late David Lyall Grant Murray, who passed away January 1st at Baie D'Urfe, Que., in her 85th year.

Born in Arbroath, Scotland, Mrs. Murray was the daughter of the late John Craig Smith and Mary Ann Reid. The family came to Canada in 1910 from South Africa, and settled in the Verdun area.

She was a life member of the former W.M.S. of the United Church of Canada, a Charter member and past Worthy Matron of Justice Chapter No. 16, Order of the Eastern Star. Belleville mixed rinks are currently sweeping a path towards the Rose Bowl at Woodbridge next month and the O'Keefe Cup at Quebec City in March. Club winners here advance to Division Three B playoffs at the Trenton Country Club, on January 23-24 when 10 rinks from Belleville-Trenton area will compete. Winners here meet Brockville-Kingston area winners February 3 at Belleville.

Sixteen divisional winners will be paired for elimination to be held at Cumberland, Sunderland, Oshawa, Avonlea Sherwood Park, Mount Hope, Stratford and Highland Oaks February 12 to 19. This will be a best two in three games contest in each case, providing eight finalists for the Rose Bowl. The Ontario Mixed Championship itself — the eighth Rose Bowl competition — will be held at the Board of Trade Club in Woodbridge, February 23, 24, and 25, with the winner receiving the O'Keefe Trophy and Ontario's berth in the National Mixed Championship. The National Mixed for the O'Keefe Cup will be held at Quebec Winter Club, March 13-18.

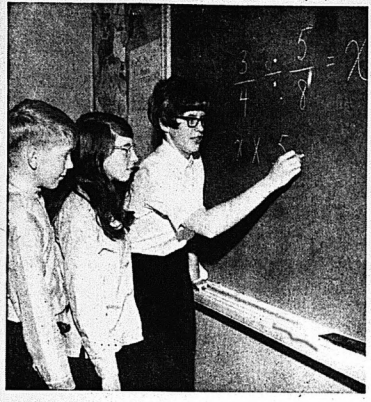
Teaching Staff Here Not Rookie Team

By ROY PEACOCK
(Staff Reporter)

Belleville High Schools are in a somewhat more enviable position with respect to teacher experience than is the case in many areas across the province.

In a story appearing Monday in the Toronto Globe and Mail, figures were cited showing that the average experience of Ontario's 25,000 secondary school teachers was but 3.8 years, with the Toronto average being double the provincial average.

But the average experience of the 198 teachers at the four Bay of Quinte District High Schools in Belleville is 7.37 years, or more than



Youth Plus Qualification

Grade VII teacher at Sir Mackenzie Bowell Public School, Miss Jane Graham, gives mathematics lesson to pupils Brian Morphy and Brenda Reid.

The newspaper story was in connection with the expected salary demands of Toronto high school teachers, who claimed that increased pay is the key to better quality teachers. The Toronto teachers are expected to demand salary increases of at least 25 per cent.

Mr. E. A. Orr, local high schools superintendent, says that the four Belleville high schools this year have 34 teachers without previous teaching experience.

But on the other end of the scale there are 38 teachers with more than 15 years' experience and 19 teachers with from 10 to 14 years' experience. There are 35 teachers with from five to nine years' experience.

However, there are 106 teachers on staff with less than five years' teaching experience.

Of these, 34 are without any previous experience; 24 with one year, 15 with two years, 20 with three years and 13 with four years' previous experience.

Here, as in other parts of the province, zooming high school enrolments have more than quadrupled teacher requirements.

Back in 1950 there were but 44 high school teachers at Belleville — all of them at Belleville Collegiate. Their average experience was 11.88 years.

Starting salaries for secondary teachers at Belleville without previous experience is $5,400. The average salary for the 198 teachers this year is $8,200.

The city public schools system has a good balance of younger teachers along with experience, with more than 50 per cent of the 170 teachers having taught for more than five years.

Something which local school authorities are especially happy about is the fact that the over-all teacher qualification is higher now than it was a few years ago.

Only three years ago 105 of the then 152 teachers had but Standard 1 qualification. This year, out of 170 teachers, 90 have Standard 2 qualification.

Mr. L. A. Kells, public school superintendent, says the higher qualification of Belleville teachers is due to some extent on the encouragement given by the school board for teachers to take special courses, and also to the fact that teachers' summer courses have been held in Belleville during the past several summers.

Holding of the summer courses in the city has made it more convenient, as well as more economical, for Quinte area teachers to take the courses and thus upgrade their qualifications.

On the low end of the experience scale, there are 25 "first year" teachers in Belleville public schools this year.

There are another 19 in their second year and 14 in their third year of teaching. The average experience of the five years and under teacher is about 2.55 years.

School officials gave no specific reason for the added years of teacher experience in Belleville.

Three of four high schools are modern, and most of the public schools have also been constructed well within the past decade or so.

Salaries compare favorably with those in other centres of similar size.

Agencies Claimed Not Right Answer for Rebellious Youth

The 1965 Jaycees' Belleville Citizen of the Year, George Wishart, told that club last night that doing more of the same thing will not improve the picture.

He said the prevention of "these manifestations of rebellion can be implemented by action at a much earlier age."

He said such virtues as honesty, co-operation and respect for the property of others are learned by the age of six, before the child goes to school.

"Whether the child's habits are learned in the home or on the street is up to the parents.

"There is an ever increasing tendency to shift more and more responsibility for the training of the child to the school and other public agencies."

He said there is also a tendency for the schools to add more and more subjects to "an already overloaded curriculum.

"There is a proliferation of useless courses in schools."

"Are you aware that valuable teacher's time and space in schools is taken up in teaching how to operate so-called automatic household devices; that these are supplied free to the schools; changed every year, and afterwards sold to consumers at cost so that the net cost to the supplier is nil"

"All that results is that the supplier gets a lot of free advertising; the school teaches the operation of machines that will be obsolete two years after the students leave school; and a lot of the taxpayer's money is spent on something that any reasonably good reader can learn from the directions accompanying the article, and a desire is created for something they will never be able to afford."

GEORGE WISHART

He said he is all for up-dating our educational system, "but it is rather silly to quibble about grants for an auditorium or something else that will not only be useful to the students but to the community, while unquestioning the providing of useless courses."

Mr. Wishart said the greatest problems in the world today are war, the population explosion, and the conservation of our natural resources.

He praised the Canadian Government for playing a peace-loving role in world affairs, and said the integration of the armed forces is designed to further this aim.

"Furthermore, I believe that remedies of what the opposition may say in opposition, if in power they would continue these same policies."

He said there is a great deal to be gained by "turning around and taking a good search in a look at what is behind: then going forward, not blindly, but with an open countenance full of hope and trust in the future."

SPORTS SLICES

According to a newspaper story from Peterborough, the Driving Club of that city is having difficulty in obtaining charters with which to conduct its harness racing and there is a strong possibility that no racing card will be organized this year.

The story says the club will apply to the Legislature at its next sitting for permission to set up a private company with the power to stage harness races at the city track with full betting privileges.

Last year the club working from six charters held an extended meet of 22 racing nights under the lights at Morrow Park. This year to date the club has been able only to obtain charters to stage 16 races.

Elwood MacDonald, the club treasurer, stated there is a slim possibility that the club will be able to obtain the use of outside charters to conduct more racing fixtures. "At present we don't know where we can get them."

"Unless the club is successful in its search for charters the harness racing season here will be cancelled," he said. "Among other things the cost to the drivers for setting up shop for six meets is prohibitive therefore they would stay away from the track."

"Before pari-mutuel betting can be conducted at a harness race meet," Mclver Reid said, "the organizers must have a charter. Either a Dominion or a provincial one. There haven't been any of these issued since 1912 and under present legislation cannot be issued."

The Peterborough club last year rented six charters — each charter in existence being good for 14 days racing. It used 22 days of the total days they were valid for.

Gerald Vance, president of the Quinte Driving and Riding Club, which operates harness racing here has a more optimistic note.

"I am confident," he said yesterday, "that the Quinte Driving and Riding Club will be successful in its quest for two charters good for 28 days racing. This will suffice for the Driving Club and take care of the Belleville Fair's racing activities."

Last year, Vance was named chairman of a committee representing five or six "country fair" racing communities which waited on the legislature to seek charters.

"We discovered," Vance said, "that Peterborough had already been given the cream of the crop and we were told by a Peterborough representative that we were too late."

"We entered a brief for this year and I am informed by Clerke Rollins, MLA, that the brief is still good. We applied for two charters. As it was, we had a good season with a full quota of nights last year and we're looking forward to the same this season."

"Many of the old charters — and Belleville owned one which is now in Fort Erie — were bought up by the rich horsemen. Current charters however are the property of the government and cannot be sold and are issued only to the municipalities that use them," he said.

He said that the Peterborough Driving Club secured its charters from the Ontario Jockey Club and last year had them reserved from the year before.

Vance will attend a meeting of the Ontario Harness Horsemen's Association today and hopes to get something definite from it.

The Quinte Driving and Riding Club had a good season last year climaxed with the Black Diamond Cheese Stake staged during the final day of the fair.

Round Out-Squad

Five Blues To All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP)—Rod Gilbert, the National Hockey League's leading goal scorer, and Ed Giacomin, its top goaltender, were among five members of New York Rangers named Monday by coach Sid Abel to round out the NHL's All-Star team.

Abel, coach of Detroit Red Wings, will handle the All-Stars, who play the Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadians in the annual classic at Montreal Jan. 18.

Other Rangers named were defencemen Jim Neilson and Harry Howell and right winger Bob Nevin.

Abel also named three members of Boston Bruins, two from his own Red Wings and one from Toronto Maple Leafs to complete the 10-man squad.

Picked from the Bruins were centre Murray Oliver, left winger Johnny Bucyk and defencemen Ted Green. Veteran centres Norm Ullman and Alex Delvecchio were selected from Detroit and another centre, Dave Keon, was picked from Toronto.

Writers had selected five players from Chicago, two from Toronto and one from Detroit earlier. Those were goalie Glenn Hall, left winger Bobby Hull, centre Stan Mikita and defencemen Pat Stapleton and Pierre Pilote of the Black Hawks, right winger Gordie Howe of the Red Wings and defencemen Allan Stanley and left winger Frank Mahovlich of the Maple Leafs.

"Pully" Starts Pulling For Punch

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs may be ready to roll again, now that Bob Pulford appears to have come to life.

Pulford has had problems with a knee injury since before the start of the current National Hockey League season and he had only three goals in 29 games.

However, manager - coach Punch Imlach got a big lift during the weekend when Pulford scored a picture play goal in Toronto's 5-2 win over Boston Bruins Saturday and Toronto's lone goal against Detroit Red Wings Sunday night.

"Without Pully at his best, we're only five points out in the lead," said Imlach. We can be higher if he continues to play like he can."

Pulford gets a chance to try to pull third - place Maple Leafs closer to the top when Toronto meets fourth - place Montreal Canadiens in Montreal tonight.

In the only other NHL game, the fifth-place Red Wings meet Chicago Black Hawks in Chicago. The Hawks are two points below league - leading New York Rangers.

BOB PULFORD

Pulford, a 30-year-old native of Newton Robinson, Ont., who scored 28 goals and the same number of assists last season, may pick up the slack left by the loss of veterun centre Red Kelly.

Kelly was Toronto's standout centre before he suffered a knee injury against New York Rangers last week. He is expected to be out at least another two weeks.

The Canadiens may be without defencemen Jean - Claude Tremblay, who has a back ailment, and defenceman Jean-Guy Talbot is another doubtful starter. Talbot missed two weekend games with a knee injury.

The Canadiens will also be without centre Jean Beliveau, who suffered an eye injury in a game against the Black Hawks Dec. 17.

Serge Savard, a top defence prospect with Houston of the Central Professional Hockey League, will play his second NHL game. Defenceman Noel Price has been returned to Quebec Aces of the American Hockey League.

Harvey.

The Red Wings appear to be making a run for a playoff berth with four victories in their last five starts.

They will be looking for their first road victory of the season when they clash with Chicago tonight. In 17 road games, Detroit has managed only a tie.

Chicago and Detroit will meet in the second game of the home-and-home series in Detroit Thursday night.

In Thursday's other game, the league - leading Rangers will play the last - place Bruins in Boston. The game will mark the start of a five-game road trip for the Rangers. Their road record this season is seven victories, six losses and four ties.

London Takes Over Top Spot

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — London Nationals took over first place in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A race with a come-from-behind 4 - 2 victory over Kitchener Rangers Tuesday night.

Tuesday night's victory lifted the Nationals one point ahead of Toronto Marlboros and three ahead of third-place Rangers.

Third-period goals by Stan Allan and Gary Unger broke a 2-2 deadlock.

Rangers led 2-0 after the first period on goals by Ken Gratton and captain Walt Tkaczuk before London tied the game in the second period with goals by Allan and Walt McKechnie.

Miners Blast Refs

CALGARY (CP) — Drumheller Miners returned home Tuesday night from a three-week European hockey tour and reiterated complaints referees in the Bunny Ahearne tournament in Sweden were "all homers."

"The officials weren't bad over there, they were downright rotten," charged coach Roy Kelly. "We never stood a chance. . . . The officials were out to see us lose and they did just that."

The Allan Cup senior champions finished last in the event, in which Swedish and Russian teams played. A Swedish club won. Miners also played in East Germany and Finland.

"The (Swedish) officials were all homers," said defenceman Jack Rudichuk. "They even let the fans call some of the penalties."

Kelly said officials "were unhappy because Sherbrooke Beavers had won the tourney last year and they made sure it wouldn't do it this time around.

"We had one referee in East Germany who also handled games in Sweden. In Germany he was fair but once we got to Sweden there was no way we could win."

GERMANS TO CURL

EDINBURGH (CP) — Germany has accepted an invitation to become the eighth country in the World Curling Championships in Perth, Scotland, March 20-23.

Braves Shade Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—St. Louis Braves trimmed Memphis Wings 4-3 Tuesday night in the only Central Hockey League action.

Fred Stanfield got two goals for St. Louis in the first period, Gerry Meinyk scored in the second and Art Stratton got the winner on a breakaway in the third.

Grant Moore scored the only third-period goal Tuesday night to give North York Varsity Grads a 4-3 edge over Orillia in an Ontario Hockey Association senior game.

In the only other OHA senior game Tuesday night, Collingwood Georgians squeaked a 5-4 victory over Woodstock Athletics.

North York's win moved it past Orillia into seventh place in the series with 19 points. Orillia has 18 points. Woodstock remained in second place with 34 points, five points behind league - leading Collingwood with 39.

In the tightly fought Orillia game, tied 2-2 at the end of the first period and 3-3 after the second, Carl Hymers, Larry Babcock and Brian Thompson scored the other North York goals.

George Vale scored twice for Orillia and John Hall got the other goal.

"Could Score 20 Up Front"

Wings Hope Harvey Has Hoist!

CHICAGO (AP) — Doug Harvey is back in the National Hockey League.

The man who once was named the James Norris Memorial Trophy for his defensive work has the task of getting Detroit Red Wings back into contention for a Stanley Cup playoff berth.

Harvey won the Norris Trophy a record seven times with Montreal Canadiens and New York Rangers.

But he's been away from the big time for more than three years, and is 42 years old, a month younger than Johnny Bower, the ageless goaltender for Toronto Maple Leafs.

Harvey not only thinks he can help the Wings regain respect, ability in the NHL but says that if he were not shackled to his defence duties he could play up front and score 20 goals a season.

"Basically, the job on defence is getting the puck and I can still do it," says Harvey.

"I'm in shape. I played 45 minutes a game at Baltimore. I only played one game at Pittsburgh before Detroit recalled me.

"I haven't seen the Wings play this year but if I didn't think I could help them, I wouldn't be here. I guess coach Sid Abel feels the same way. I can still hold my own.

"Money? No, that's not it. I could be scouting for a lot of clubs and make as much money. I just want to play.

"Sure, I've always been a defenceman, but if they put me up front I could easily score 20 goals a season. The object is to play as long as you can. If I do well and the Wings want me back next year, I'll be back."

DOUG HARVEY

Minor Hockey

"The smallest players and scores to match."

That's the story of the Belleville Minor Hockey Association's tyke division.

The mighty mites played four games last night. One was a tie and the other three resulted in one-goal decisions.

Wings blanked the Mohawks 1-0 for the night's lone shutout, registered by Brian Coughlan. Bill Weeks potted the only goal.

Rangers and Barons battled to a 1-1 stalemate. Sean McKinney scored for Rangers and Glenn Trendell for Barons.

Leafs shooted the Hawks 2-1. Brent Walmsley triggered both Leaf goals while Mark Suddard was the Hawk scorer.

Bruins squeezed past Canadiens in the night's highest scoring game. It was a 3-2 affair with Peter Coates scoring the last two goals for Bruins. John Osborne had the other one and John Bracken was given one assist. Michael Bennett and Edward Hanley were Canadiens' marksmen, with Gary Goegan having an assist.

Russ Nipped By Nats; Irked At Refs

TORONTO (CP) — Russian coach Anatoli Tarasov threatened to delay a game between his touring national hockey team and Canada's national team Tuesday night when informed that a Russian referee would not be used.

He was even less enhanced with Chilean refereeing of the lopsided 4-3 to the Canadians at Maple Leaf Gardens before a crowd of more than 16,000.

The Canadians have won two games and tied the other against the Russians in the last six days.

"I can't understand it," Tarasov told Frank Mahovlich of the National Hockey League Toronto Maple Leafs after the game.

"The Canadian referees were good until this year. This year, the referees are not so good."

Referees Brian Lewis and Bob Nadin of Toronto handed out five penalties to each team, but the Russians were the only ones to capitalize, scoring the only power - play goal at 16:44 of the second period while Carl Brewer was sitting out a holding penalty.

Actually, neither team missed an opportunity to employ sticks and elbows in a fashion not intended to score goals.

The Canadians, who may have taken a lesson in the finer points of clutch and grab tactics of former NHL defenemen Brewer and Jack Bownass, appeared to get the better of the Russians in the roughing tactics.

Bownass and Brewer were at their best, seizing every opportunity to exasperate their opponents along the boards and at the blueline.

Frank Huck, Danny O'Shea, Ted Hargreaves and Roger Bourbonnais scored for Canada. Victor Polupanov, Alexandre Ragulin and Anatoliy Firsov replied for the Russians.

O'Shea, who graduated from Oshawa Generals of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series at the end of last season, earned the praise of coach Jackie McLeod for his strong play.

"He was really moving out there and digging all the time," McLeod said, adding that O'Shea was probably the most improved member of his team.

McLeod also pointed out that Canada's three - game record against the Russians might indicate the outcome of the world championships at Vienna in March.

"We're much stronger," he said. "We've learned to play much better positional hockey than we did in past seasons and now we are waiting for the Russians instead of chasing them."

Reporters pointed out that several members of the Russian team were missing for Tuesday's game.

McLeod was quick to reply that the Russians had all their players in the lineup for Sunday's 3-3 tie against the Canadians in Montreal.

"It was a tie, but we outshot them 42-18 and they had all their best performers in uniform," he said.

The Canadians won the Centennial hockey tournament in Winnipeg last week with a 5-4 win over the Soviets.

Both teams appeared to have trouble Tuesday negotiating the Gardens ice and McLeod said afterwards that he feels sorry for Toronto Maple Leafs who must play 35 regular - season games on it.

"If I had to play 35 games on that, I'd go crazy," he said. Both goaltenders, Winnipeg-born Wayne Stephenson for Canada and Victor Konovalenko for the Russians, were outstanding.

The teams meet in the final game of the Russian tour in Kitchener Thursday.

Frankie Named Tops

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frank Robinson, the slugging outfielder who led Baltimore Orioles to baseball's world championship, was named the male Athlete of the Year for 1966 today in the annual Associated Press poll.

The 31-year-old Oriole beat pitching star Sandy Koufax and miler Jim Ryun, in a close vote.

Robinson drew 119 first-place votes and 586 points. Koufax collected 96 votes for first place and 501 points while Ryun, named the top athlete on 103 ballots, was third with 466 points.

Bart Starr, quarterback for Green Bay Packers, National Football League champions, was fourth with 164.

A total of 428 sports writers plus radio and television sportscasters participated in the balloting. Points were awarded on a basis of three for a first-place vote, two for second and one for third.

In the Orioles four - game World Series sweep over the Los Angeles Dodgers, Robinson provided his team's first runs with a two-run homer in the opener plus the only run of the fourth game with another home run. He played from May on with a stretched tendon in his right knee that required surgery Nov. 22.

Shaping Up Well

Centennials Name Team

"We are ready to challenge any teams from Kingston, Peterborough, Toronto, Syracuse or anywhere in between," said manager Dennis Newman following the Belleville Centennial Hockey Club's practice here last night.

From some 27 players, Newman and coach John Trendell announced a 20-man roster, including two goaltenders.

The goalies are Bill Moxon and Dave Charles. Other members of the team are Harold Townsend, a member of the Quinte McFarlands' Junior "B" team, Chuck Rowbotham, Duke Doran, Doug Murray, Gary Gow, Pat Asselstine, Gary Reid, Everett "Pug" Killar, Hylie Bryant, Gerry Jones, Ray Mambert, Carl Boomhower, Jerry St. Denis, Stu Muirhead, Murray Brydson, Roger Smith, John Smith and Jack Hughes.

Murray Brydson, Smith and Murray Gow are with the Belleville Mo-Hawks' Senior "A" club at the start of the season.

"We appreciate the support we are receiving here in Belleville and we hope for the continued co-operation from the players and fans," Newman said.

The Centennials will practice next in Stirling on Sunday, from 10:30 a.m. until 12:00 noon.

Nancy Wins Slalom

Grindelwald (AP) — Canada's Nancy Greene sustained the world's skiing elite today to win the giant slalom of the Swiss international ski championships nearly a second ahead of Annemarie Pamose of France.

* * *

NANCY GREEN

* * *

Dressed in red, Canada's elegant team tunique, 23-year-old Miss Green, from Rossland, B.C., flashed down the icy course to finish in one minute, 38.06 seconds.

Miss Famose, who was neat, was timed with 1:36.52.

The two girls were favored by early starting numbers, and French champion Marielle Goitschel, with starting No. 15, was lucky to place third with 1:37.47.

It was Nancy's third decisive victory in an international classic this season and confirmed her as one of the world's best skiers.

She won both the slalom and giant slalom in the international meet last Thursday, January, last week.

The 1,220-metre-long course, with a total drop of 400 metres, was unusually difficult and the gates were placed in such a way as to require frequent sharp turns on the icy surface.

WAITED ANXIOUSLY

Nancy, who was fifth down the track in the 68-women field from nine nations, stood anxiously at the finish watching her competitors come down one by one with slower times than hers, but she refused to accept congratulations until all her serious rivals were down, saying: "You don't shake hands until it's all over. That brings bad luck."

Giants Sign

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) Jesus Alou, the San Francisco Giants' outfielder who said after last season that he wanted to be traded, is one of the first members of the National League club to agree to contract terms.

Alou and rookie infielder Bill Sorrell were announced as signed Tuesday by the Giants.

Alou was bothered early in the season by an arm injury and was sent down to Phoenix for two weeks in June.

He returned and finished with a .259 batting average. His $17,000 yearly salary was reported unchanged for 1967.

Chiefs' Coach Unworried

Who's Afraid of Big Bad Packers?

LOS ANGELES (CP)—Green Bay Packers might be working on a secret weapon, but coach Hank Stram of Kansas City Chiefs isn't worried.

In fact, Stram figures his American Football League champions various offensive formations and defensive alignments will hamper the National Football League champion Packers in Sunday's Super Bowl.

The game is the first championship game between the titlists of the two major U.S. leagues.

The Packers worked out for 1½ hours Tuesday at Santa Barbara. The drill was closed to the public and press. Closed workouts are planned each morning with team meetings in the afternoon and evening.

Stram registered little concern over the closed workouts.

In Long Beach, where the Chiefs are holding pre-game drills, Stram said:

"Those formations and alignments have been our personality all year long and the Packers can expect to see as many formations as we threw at Buffalo in the AFL title game.

"Basically we still win games with the way we play—tackling, blocking and execution—not the formations. But we like to create as many problems as we can with our formations from a preparation standpoint.

"If we had only one or two it would be easier for a team to prepare against us. With so many—we used maybe eight against Buffalo—it's that much more difficult for a team to key off on us.

"What we're out to do is shrink or reduce their reaction time, maybe create a moment of indecision—and then the percentages are in our favor."

Stram pointed out that this would be particularly true if the Packers have not spent considerable time tackling the Chiefs' defensive formation, particularly the triple stack designed by the Kansas City coach.

Under the triple stack system, three linebackers set up right in back of three members of the front four, creating different blocking angles than normally seen.

BCI Hoopsters Win

Juniors Set Record!

By BOB GILL

BCI's trio of hoop squads remained unbeaten as they defeated Trenton at B.C.I. last night. The bantam team won their tilt 63-38, the juniors swamped Trenton 59-33, and the seniors won 78-36.

In the bantam game BCI played well and took an early lead at the end of the half 34-22. Utilizing good ball control they increased the lead and at the third quarter score was 48-28. This pace continued and the bantams went on to win 63-35.

For BCI the scorers were Wright 18, Lehane and Gaylie both with 12, Gill 5, and Hewson, A. Galupe, and Cass with 4. For Trenton Turtle was high man with 9.

In the junior game BCI played fantastic basketball defeating Trenton 120-53, a school record. BCI used expert ball - control and close checking to take a 30-12 lead at the end of the first quarter. In the second quarter they scored 40 points and held Trenton down to 5. The third and fourth quarters were mere repetitions of the first half with BCI outscoring Trenton 26-10 and 34-26.

For the juniors Cass played as extremely good game netting 42 points, next was Shea with 2-, Ridley 19, Heyduck and Richardson with 9, Lochlin 6, Drumm and McCreary 4 and Graham, Ling and Huiser 2. For Trenton Mann fought hard and netted 13.

The senior game was one typical of BCI's strength with the players showing control both offensively and defensively. BCI started off well obtaining a 27-8 score at the end of the first quarter. However in the second quarter Trenton rallied and almost decreased the margin to 33-28. But in the third and fourth quarters BCI regained the control they had in the first and outscored Trenton 21-2 and 24-6 respectively. The final score being 78-36.

For BCI Chalmers played exceptionally well netting 34 points, Earnie was next with 18, Thibeau 9, McDougall and McCreary 7 and Harder and Tulman each with 2. For Trenton Larry netted 16.

Top Teams Widen Gap In CHHL

The tail-end clubs fell further behind the pack in a pair of Centre Hastings Hockey League games last night.

Last-place Thomasburg Thunderbirds held Ivanhoe Knights 3-3 until midway in the game but ended up on the short end of a 9-3 count.

Sixth-place Plainfield built an early 4-1 lead before dropping an 8-6 decision to Frankford Shoemen.

Frankford climbed into a third-place tie with Wallbridge by virtue of the win. Ivanhoe moved to within three points of league-leading Glen Ross in their two-way fight for the top.

The Knights scored two goals in the final minute of the second heat for a 6-3 lead, then outscored Thomasburg 3-0 in the final chapter. Marvin Reid sparked the win with four goals and an assist. Ralph Francis scored twice, Bob Chapman, Richard Chapman and Harold Douglas once each.

Thunderbird scorers were Don Henderson, Harold Finkle and Bob Banerott.

Frankford replaced starting goalie Norm McCrae with George Maybee after Plainfield took the 4-1 lead in the first period. Maybee was outstanding over the remainder while his mates roared back on the attack.

Bob Chesher paced the Shoemen's scoring with two goals and two assists. Smokey Nelson and Bob Wright each scored two goals, Jim Rousse and Dave Morrison one each.

Don Reid netted a pair for Plainfield. Singles went to Roger Robson, Bill Hunter, Al Thompson and Bob Smith.

Clay "On The Ropes"

In This Corner, Uncle Sam!

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay appears to be hanging on the ropes today in his battle to avoid military service, but his lawyer said the fight with Uncle Sam still is in the early rounds.

"The champ is far from in a jam—we may knock them out on this," said lawyer Hayden Covington. He added he's prepared to go as high as the U.S. Supreme Court to try to exempt Clay from the draft as a Black Muslim minister.

A five - man state selective service appeals board in Frankfort, Ky., refused Tuesday to classify Clay as a conscientious objector. The decision was unanimous, blocking any appeal to Washington and leaving him 1A and prime for the draft.

Clay, whose 25th birthday is next Tuesday, was in Houston, Tex., training for a Feb. 6 title defence against Ernie Terrell. The champ said he didn't think the latest draft ruling would effect his career immediately.

Covington went further than that—he estimated it might be months or years before Clay's draft status finally is clarified.

Besides deferment as a conscientious objector, Clay also has filed for draft exemption as a minister in the Black Muslim faith, which he embraced three years ago under the name Muhammad Ali.

Top Teams Widen Gap In CHHL

The tail-end clubs fell further behind the pack in a pair of Centre Hastings Hockey League games last night.

Last-place Thomasburg Thunderbirds held Ivanhoe Knights 3-3 until midway in the game but ended up on the short end of a 9-3 count.

Sixth-place Plainfield built an early 4-1 lead before dropping an 8-6 decision to Frankford Shoemen.

Frankford climbed into a third-place tie with Wallbridge by virtue of the win. Ivanhoe moved to within three points of league-leading Glen Ross in their two-way fight for the top.

The Knights scored two goals in the final minute of the second heat for a 6-3 lead, then outscored Thomasburg 3-0 in the final chapter. Marvin Reid sparked the win with four goals and an assist. Ralph Francis scored twice, Bob Chapman, Richard Chapman and Harold Douglas once each.

Thunderbird scorers were Don Henderson, Harold Finkle and Bob Banerofi.

Frankford replaced starting goalie Norm McCrae with George Maybee after Plainfield took the 4-1 lead in the first period. Maybee was outstanding over the remainder, while his mates roared back on the attack.

Bob Chesher paced the Shoemen's scoring with two goals and two assists. Smokey Nelson and Bob Wright each scored two goals, Jim Rousse and Dave Morrison one each.

Don Reid netted a pair for Plainfield. Singles went to Roger Robson, Bill Hunter, Al Thompson and Bob Smith.

Clay "On The Ropes"

In This Corner, Uncle Sam!

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay appears to be hanging on the ropes today in his battle to avoid military service, but his lawyer said the fight with Uncle Sam still is in the early rounds.

"The champ is far from in a jam—we may knock them out on this," said lawyer Hayden Covington. He added he's prepared to go as high as the U.S. Supreme Court to try to exempt Clay from the draft as a Black Muslim minister.

A five - man state selective service appeals board in Frankfort, Ky., refused Tuesday to classify Clay as a conscientious objector. The decision was unanimous, blocking any appeal to Washington and leaving him 1A and prime for the draft.

Clay, whose 25th birthday is next Tuesday, was in Houston, Tex., training for a Feb. 6 title defense against Ernie Terrell. The champ said he didn't think the latest draft ruling would affect his career immediately.

Covington went further than that—he estimated it might be months or years before Clay's draft status finally is clarified.

Besides deferment as a conscientious objector, Clay also has filed for draft exemption as a minister in the Black Muslim faith, which he embraced three years ago under the name Muhammad Ali.

U.S. Armored Columns Plunge Deep Into Red Iron Triangle

SAIGON (AP)—Armored U.S. columns plunged deep into the iron triangle from the east today and the Communist toll reported in the big American drive, now in its fourth day, climbed to 165 dead.

The campaign to neutralize the jungled triangular area 20 to 30 miles north of Saigon was supported by another raid by B-52 heavy bombers, the 11th since Operation Cedar Falls began.

U.S. military spokesmen reported frequent contact with small enemy groups but no large-scale engagement so far. They said the 60-square-mile area was pulverized by some 400 U.S. tactical air strikes in the last four days in addition to the heavy B-52 raids.

Elsewhere, South Vietnamese military headquarters reported government forces killed 172 Viet Cong soldiers and captured 26 during five scattered engagements, four of them in the northern part of the country.

Nine U.S. marines were presumed killed today in the crash of a helicopter into the South China Sea off the coast near Chu Lai, a marine spokesman announced.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported that the Tri Tam airfield 36 miles northwest of Saigon took an estimated 100 rounds of Viet Cong mortar fire early today, but there was no report on casualties.

In an unusual raid in the Mekong Delta, B-52 bombers hammered at dawn at a Viet Cong base camp in mangrove swamps in Vinh Binh province 87 miles south - southwest of Saigon.

There was no indication whether the strike by the B-52s was a forerunner of another U.S. invasion of the delta.

U.S. marines, who have been sweeping the Thanh Phu peninsula in the delta since a big amphibious and helicopter landing last Friday, reported only sniper fire and only four Communists killed and 11 captured so far.

PEASANTS EVACUATED

In the iron triangle, the meat-grinder operation is being accompanied by a mass evacuation of up to 10,000 peasants and their resettlement in other localities.

Operation Cedar Falls is the biggest of the war, involving probably up to 30,000 U.S. troops plus several South Vietnamese infantry battalions.

The objective is to clear and render useless the triangle of forestland which for years have been a staging area for the Viet Cong to menace Saigon and its environs with guerrilla attacks and terrorist activity.

Questions and Answers On Highway Travel

Ontario Motor League Eastern Ontario Club

QUESTION: Could you tell me how much money is spent or will be spent on travel, domestic and foreign, and by how many people are involved? Also how a projected forecast on Expo '67, Montreal World's Fair? — Student.

ANSWER: We don't have any Canadian statistics, but offer you the American figures:

Americans will dip into their budgets more and more next year for foreign and domestic travel.

The Automobile Association estimates they will spend $30 billion on domestic vacations and pleasure travel alone — about $27 billion of it journeying by car.

George F. Kachlein Jr., AAA's executive vice-president, estimates 117 million people will be taking a vacation or pleasure trip in the United States in 1967. Of these, 108 million will use the family automobile, rolling up 174 billion miles. These are trips of more than 100 miles from home and involving overnight stay.

In addition, Americans traveling to foreign countries will spend an estimated $4.3 billion. Approximately 1.7 million will go to Europe and the Mediterranean, where Americans will spend more than $1 billion.

EXPO '67 — Montreal's World Fair — is expected to help attract 13.8 million Americans to Canada next year. These are visitors who will remain in Canada more than 24 hours, spending an estimated total of $780 million.

Visitors from abroad will continue to help take up some of the slack in the U.S. balance of payments. AAA predicts 1,400,000 foreign tourists will spend $1.7 billion in 1967, including fares paid to United States air and sea carriers.

QUESTION: What is the best way to go to Port Arthur and Fort William and how long would it take this time of year?

ANSWER: Best route for your trip to Port Arthur would be Trans-Canada Highway. Stay on 401 to Toronto to highway 400 north, then 12, 103 and 69 to Sudbury, turn west on 17 to Sault Ste. Marie and then on to Port Arthur. This highway is well plowed at all times and sanded where necessary. The Ontario road map may be obtained at the local Ontario Motor League office. This is a 1,150 mile trip; average driving time is 20 hours.

The card party sponsored by Tanner L.O.L. was held Friday night with ten tables in play. The winners were: Mrs. Les Adams, Mrs. Keith Twiddy, John Courtney, Langdon Gardner and Klinton Ketchen (door prize).

The next card party will be held in two weeks' time.

Athletic Program for Retarded

Members of the Belleville and District Association for Retarded Children learned last night that the government had approved in February 1966 a grant of $24,000 for a Centennial Athletic Program for the Canadian Association of Retarded Children.

This will enable the children to participate in a fitness and athletic program which will parallel the program in all regular schools across Canada and give to these children a real sense of participation in the centennial.

Mrs. Kenneth (Bobby) Reid of the Kingston Association announced the grant at the January meeting of the Belleville Association at the John Street school. Mrs. Reid is also national chairman of the new athletic program.

During the past 18 years enormous progress has been made in providing for the mentally retarded, she said. All efforts have been made in developing to the maximum the mental process of the retarded with a complete disregard for their physical condition or capabilities.

LACK EXERCISE

Mrs. Reid quoted Dr. Frank Hayden of the University of Western Ontario who said, "on the average, retarded children have only half the strength of the non-retarded children." A large number of the mentally retarded suffer from overweight due to lack of exercise, not over-eating.

Raising the physical fitness of the retarded will produce many benefits in addition to good health, better muscle tone and physical co-ordination. It is bound to increase their physical performance, which will in turn lead to participation in regular community life. It is also a recognized fact that increased physical fitness and functional ability stimulates the mental processes. This improves learning ability and leads to greater academic achievement. The association feels this program will help to erase the public image of the clumsy, awkward, obese, retarded child, Mrs. Reid concluded.

An hour-long documentary will be presented by the CBC on Sunday, Jan. 15, possibly at 5 p.m., entitled, One in Every Hundred. Please check local TV listing.

Older People Serve

OTTAWA (CP) — The unofficial Company of Old Canadians is, without fanfare, lending a welcomed hand in underdeveloped countries, especially in Africa.

Officials of the external aid office said in interviews Tuesday that Canada has been sending teachers and advisers overseas since 1960 without a single incident to raise questions in the Commons.

About 3,000 Canadians, a few older than 70 years, have served in underdeveloped countries since the foreign aid program began 17 years ago. Some 300 now are abroad.

The official Company of Young Canadians has 66 workers in the field in Canada. Private actions by a few of its members brought on Commons questions Monday.

Two years ago, Prime Minister Pearson said the Company of Young Canadians would have between 1,000 and 2,000 members in the field at home and overseas within two years. There now is no intention of sending Young Canadians abroad.

Officials said they are on the lookout for experienced, willing over-65s who have retired in Canada and are looking for something useful to do.

The number of applications from over-65s has risen lately, and one official said: "We could place more of them overseas if we had more funds."

He added that older persons have a great advantage in having lived through the depression of the 1930s. They knew how to do without, or to make do with very little.

For instance, an elderly Canadian science teacher who had taught on the Prairies in the 1930s and was serving abroad, went to a town dump to find enough old cans, pipes and the like to begin a rudimentary course in physics.

Theo Lamontagne of Quebec City, who is 71, has been working in the agriculture and water-power fields in Pakistan for nearly six years. He has learned to speak Urdu.

W. R. Carroll of Toronto, retired vice-president of a big packing firm, has set up marketing boards in the West Indies.

Dr. W. F. Hanna, 72, and Dr. R. F. Peterson, 69, both of Winnipeg, are developing disease-resistant wheat in Kenya.

Clifford Harvison, who retired as RCMP Commissioner four years ago, has been advising on police matters in Trinidad.

"These kind of people are worth their weight in gold," said Ian A. Hodson, chief of the section which looks after placement of advisers.

A retired doctor who was waiting to be placed in an overseas job for the external aid office called recently to say not to bother; that CUSO (Canadian University Services Overseas) had found him a spot.

A retired scientist here recently went abroad to set up research facilities for a certain country after being warned about the office politics he would encounter.

His reply: "I survived the office politics of the federal civil service for 40 years and I can survive there."

Pay Boost Offered Teachers

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal Catholic School Commission made a new salary offer Tuesday night to 9,000 teachers who have set a strike deadline for Friday if their contract disputes are not settled before that date.

Meanwhile in Chicoutimi, the executive of another 4,000 French-speaking Catholic teachers announced a strike vote will be taken Jan. 18-19 in view of "the intransigent attitude of the school commissions" with whom they are bargaining.

And in Quebec City, Education Minister Jean-Jacques Bertrand closeted himself in government offices for 3½ hours to discuss the threatened teachers' strikes with members of his department and the provincial labor department.

In Montreal, no immediate comment was available from joint negotiators for the French-speaking Alliance des professeurs catholiques de Montreal and the Federation of English-Speaking Catholic Teachers following announcement of the wage offer.

The offer suggested an immediate salary raise of about 10 per cent retroactive to Sept. 1. Previous offers had been for two six - per - cent increases spread over two years.

The 5,000 Montreal - area teachers, who have been negotiating with the commission since last June, have asked for a two-year contract with pay increases averaging 18 per cent, plus improved working conditions.

Invisible infra-red signals reflected from the car ahead would indicate the relative speeds and space separating the vehicles and the device would beam audible signals to alert its driver. Boys Seen at Crossing Gate

DORION, Que. (CP) — Witnesses at a coroner's inquest Tuesday night told of seeing two or three boys tampering with a level crossing barrier seconds before a bus - train tragedy Oct. 7.

Eighteen students and driver Marcel Fleury, 20, died immediately. Another student died of injuries eight days later.

One of five survivors who testified at an evening session Tuesday was Carole Trudeau, 16.

Miss Trudeau said she saw two boys aged about 12 or 14 standing beside the bus Fremg the barrier minutes before the collision.

She also said she saw the boy nearest the bus extend his arms under the barrier as it rose to let the bus start its fatal crossing attempt.

A passenger train went past, bound for Montreal, "and immediately afterwards, the barrier went up."

Brothers Andre Montpetit, 16, and Michel, 19, said they were leaning on the north barrier shortly before the accident.

They saw the south barrier rise and took their arms off the north one before the bus began to move, but they felt no upward pressure on the north barrier and it did not rise.

Pickets Threat --Rand

TORONTO (CP)—Statements by Davie Archer, president of the Ontario Federation of Labor, on mass picketing by trade unionists were construed Tuesday by Royal Commissioner Ivan C. Rand as fevering picket line intimidation.

Mr. Rand, a former justice of the Supreme Court of Canada conducting an inquiry into labor disputes, commented during an exchange with Mr. Archer on mass picketing:

"I think your language unconsciously reveals the fact that you do prevent (access to plants) by intimidation. . . ."

The commissioner questioned whether mass picketing does not always involve an element of intimidation and recalled a picture of pickets jamming a sidewalk outside the plant of Tilco Plastics in Peterborough last summer:

"No one else could possibly have walked on that sidewalk."

The federation submitted a lengthy brief calling for abolition of injunctions in labor disputes and the right to peaceful pickets in unlimited numbers. It also asked for a prohibition on the recruitment and use of strikebreakers.

In the course of a long dialogue on picketing between Mr. Rand and Mr. Archer, the commissioner asked what influence was wielded by mass picketing.

PERSUADE WAVERERS

Mr. Archer replied that it persuades any wawerers among the strikers that the strike has majority support.

Mr. Rand asked why picketing is necessary if a strike in a large plant has effectively shut the plant.

Mr. Archer said it is necessary to provide some activity for the strikers to collect the strike benefits and to keep the spirits up. The size of a picket line should be a matter for union strategy as long as the law is not broken.

The federation's brief said any violence could be dealt with under the law.

Mr. Rand asked whether the picket line was aimed at strikebreakers.

"It might convince them they should not engage in such activity," Mr. Archer said.

"By rational persuasion?" asked Mr. Rand. "What you say is you must have a mass picketing to make the persuasion effective?"

At one point in the exchange, Mr. Rand said: "You are really advocating a picket line that is exerting an intimidating effect —not only on your own men but on outsiders."

The commissioner asked Mr. Archer why the federation opposes arbitration in labor disputes.

Mr. Archer replied that arbitration defeated democratic process. No one should be forced to accept working conditions he doesn't like.

The commissioner said no one is ever compelled to work and commented that a basic objection to arbitration seemed to be that no one would trust a third party as impartial and competent.

The hearings continue in Toronto until Jan. 27.

The Mayor shall be ex-officio, a member of all standing committees.

The Rural Scene

PICTON — The first in a series of meetings for farm people will be held in the Bloomfield Town Hall on Thursday, January 12th at 1.15 in the afternoon. "Fertilizing for High Yield - Profit or Loss" will be the topic for an address by Jack Parry, Soils and Crops Specialist and Ivan Hart, Agricultural Representative will discuss "New Developments in Fertilizer Recommendations." This meeting will be sponsored by the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food in co-operation with farm groups and organizations.

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting and banquet of the Prince Edward Farm Safety Council will be held in the Bloomfield United Church Sunday School rooms, on Wednesday, January 18th at 8 p.m. The speaker on this occassion will be Mr. Bruce Eagleson, Chairman of the Farm Safety Council of Ontario. Tickets for the banquets are available from directors of the Prince Edward Farm Safety Council or at your local Department of Agriculture and Food Office in Picton.

SHOULD FILE CENSUS

Farmers engaged in the growing of tree fruits such as apples, pears, and sour cherries are reminded of the tree fruit census which is now being taken across the province of Ontario. Any growers who have received a census form are asked to fill it out right away and return it if they have not done so already. If any commercial grower did not receive a census form by mail he should pick one up at the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food Office in Picton.

forms were mailed to producers who had an agricultural stabilization Board number. Producers who did not receive an application for licence form can obtain a copy from the plant which received their milk; or request one from the Ontario Milk Marketing Board fieldman; Dairy Branch Fieldman or from your Agricultural Representative at the local Department of Agriculture and Food Office.

It is essential that the Ontario Milk Marketing Board receives the information requested on the application for licence form before milk price pooling is put into effect. Producers can not be paid for their milk under the proposed milk price pooling plan unless they are licensed, as they will be the only ones that the Milk Marketing Board will have on file.

Pare Estimates Urges Mayor

PICTON (Staff) — A tough year lies ahead for councillors here. Finance is the prime problem Mayor H. J. (Harvey) McFarland said in his inaugural address Monday evening.

The mayor asked councillors to pare estimated costs in an effort to keep taxes down. "Taxes," he said, "are the biggest single problem facing the 1967-68 town council."

Looking to the future, Mayor McFarland predicted that enlarged hotel accommodations and increased park facilities will prove necessary for Prince Edward County and the Town of Picton if they will handle the expected influx of tourists in years to come.

Development of highways and bridges leading into the county will prove necessary for future growth.

In dealings with the provincial government, Mayor McFarland advised councillors, requests must be based on careful consideration and well prepared cases before the province would meet demands.

Domestic, commercial and industrial development, he predicted, would be the big growth factor in the county.

"Land and services are available," the mayor stated, "but the chief concern re-

NDP member David Lewis told the Commons during discussion of transport legislation that the CPR should lose its special tax status immediately.

Conservative Leader Diefenbaker said Sir John A. Macdonald's birthday today should have been proclaimed a full public holiday.

The government moved to open a committee study of the pensions paid to retired civil servants.

Prime Minister Pearson said the cabinet would decide shortly whether to set up a royal commission on the status of women.

Finance Minister Sharp predicted further price increases throughout the economy, but on a smaller scale than those of recent months.

Nurses Guests of Rotarians

PICTON (STAFF) — Picton Rotary Club at their weekly noon meeting Tuesday played host to two nurses of the Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital, and discovered it's a small world, after all. There are Picton's de Mille brothers and New Zealand. One of the nurses, Maureen Simpson, whose home is only forty miles or so from Picton, New Zealand said there was much similarity between the two countries, both of which are approximately the same size).

Both of the young ladies Miss Simpson and Miss Purkiss have worked in many countries before coming to Canada and to Picton. Both have been here about one year and Miss Purkiss hails from Australia.

The nurses were introduced by Vica-President William Cook, Administrator of the County Hospital who stated that both were employed in the operating room. Miss Purkiss is the O.R. Supervisor and Miss Purkiss and operating nurse. Both of these girls discussed the club on the facts of their respective countries. And slides of both countries were shown. Nice examples of color photography the slides provided a colorful picture of the scenic forming countries and particularly of Picton, New Zealand which drew Ooh's and Aah's from the large attendance of Rotarians.

Picton, New Zealand, have established a bond in that a Rotary Club here which Rotarian will place for the present in Christchurch, Australia where students expressed a wish to see it. The book describes the Rotary Club of Picton. President Jack Coldren mentioned during the meeting that he would be pleased to receive and forward a book on Canada. Both girls were presented with miniature replicas of the Rotary banner, Mayor H. J. McFarland presented each of the girls with Maple Leaf Pins and Centennial Brooches.

The girls were thanked by Bev Cronk on behalf of the club for a most informative and interesting address.

Giant Birthday Cake at Kingston for Sir John

KINGSTON (CP)—A Liberal prime minister will lead Canadians in a tribute today to Sir John A. Macdonald, Canada's first prime minister and the man who earned the title Father of Confederation.

Prime Minister Pearson will share in celebrations today marking the 152nd birthday anniversary of Sir John, a Conservative who was prime minister from 1867 to 1873 and from 1878 to 1891.

Kingston, where Sir John first entered politics as an alderman, and which he continued to represent in Parliament, is the focal point of the birthday observance.

Mr. Pearson will join in a day-long program of speeches, band music, civic dinners, choir singing and midnight dancing in costumes popular 100 years ago.

A giant birthday cake will be cut this morning in Market Square, followed by a memorial service at Royal Military College and a trumpet fanfare by the Royal Canadian School of Signals Band.

School children will have the afternoon off, but businesses will remain open. A display on the life of Sir John will be open all day at the Macdonald public school.

Students in Kingston Township, where Sir John is buried alongside his mother, will have a full holiday today.

The township started its tribute to the former prime minister Tuesday with a memorial graveside service in remembrance of Sir John's birth Jan. 11, 1815 in Glasgow, Scotland.

Elsewhere in Ontario, the provincial legislature will observe Sir John's birthday with speeches and a fanfare of trumpets at Queen's Park in Toronto.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has invited citizens of Ottawa to a public birthday party for Sir John in the Centennial Centre. Special lectures have been scheduled at the National Gallery.

Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker, a strong admirer of Sir John, will speak to students today at the new Sir John A. Macdonald high school in Ottawa.

Across the rest of Canada, special lectures are planned tonight in the Confederation Centre in Charlottetown and a guest at a banquet in Winnipeg will be Hugh Alexander Gainsford, 49-year-old inspector with the Manitoba Liquor Control Commission who is Sir John's great-grandson.

But one gesture Sir John would have really appreciated was made Tuesday by the Liberal association of Gl. Thomas University in Fredericton.

The association decided, after a policy committee meeting, to make Sir John an honorary member.

Official Ceremony Held To Welcome Centennial

MARMORA — Gathered at the council chambers in the town hall before midnight Saturday to usher in Centennial year in Marmora were members of the village and township councils and their wives, clergy, heads of centennial committees, hydro commission chairman, fire chief, school board representatives, union members and representatives of Marmoraton Mining Company.

During the ceremonies two of Marmora's senior citizens, Mrs. Ida Nichol and Mrs. Annie Jones, were honored. On the stroke of midnight, Mrs. Nichol activated the switch which started the fire sirens, and at the same time bells from the village churches began ringing.

Presentation of the Ontario Centennial medallions was made to Mrs. Nichol, 92, by William Shannon, Reeve of the Village, who said that since the width and breadth of the land, especially in the capital city and larger cities, official ceremonies were being held, and although Marmora is only a small part of the country, it is a part of it.

He thanked Mrs. Nichol for being present to take part in the ceremonies to begin centennial year. "Her venerable age" he said, "symbolizes those people of the past, who feel as reeve of the present day that I speak for the reeves and citizens of the past in recognizing the achievements of our parents and forefathers."

He hoped that the people would enter into the spirit of the centennial year with goodwill and co-operation.

Reeve John Wilkes of the Township, agreed with Mr. Shannon's remarks and paid tribute to Mrs. Jones whom he has known and respected all his life, and presented her with flowers.

Centennial prayer was read by Monsignor F. J. Spence. Chairman of the Centennial committee, Gordon Bennett, explained that this ceremony is the first of many events planned for centennial year in Marmora. "However, there is a serious side as well to the celebration of centennial. This is a time to realize that this country did not just come by accident but as the result of hard work and sacrifice by those here before us. We must not take our country for granted and assume that the job is done and that we can sit back and enjoy it."

"Just as a good farm, a good business or a good parish will deteriorate" he said, "unless properly tended and developed, so must our country be properly managed and developed further. Each and every one of us can make our contribution in this respect by taking a real interest in public affairs, and making our views and desires known. We in Marmora live in the best country, the best province and the best community, and I speak one who has deliberately and freely chosen this community, as the place to live. Let us each resolve to do our bit to keep it that way."

Farm Loans for Area Show Increase in 1966

CAMPBELLFORD — Sixty four farm loans totalling $886,800 were approved by the Farm Credit Corporation for Hastings and Prince Edward Counties between April 1, 1966 and Dec. 31, 1966 according to J. R. Humphries, credit advisor of the his office in the Campbellford Post Office. He stated that lending in this period has been the "heaviest yet". Last year in the same period there were 58 loan approvals totalling $817,200.

The average amount per mortgage was $15,418 compared with $14,955 in 1965 and $13,515 in 1964. This reflects the larger and more valuable farm units being offered as security as well as the ever increasing needs of farmers for long term mortgage capital. Main use of loan funds was for land purchase, and building modernization.

In Ontario as a whole, the number of loans decreased slightly from 2091 to 1931 dollar amount increased 7 per cent from $40,212,900 to $40,658,400.

The corporation has two types of mortgages. Standard loans have a $40,000 maximum, the first $20,000 at 5 per cent interest rate and the remainder at 6¼ per cent. The supervised loan designed for experienced farmers under $70, has a maximum of $55,000. Repayment term with both is 20 years.

The Farm Credit Corporation also administers the Farm Machinery Syndicate Loan Act, by which $25 million is available where three or more farmers who have a common need for an item of equipment or an outfit form a syndicate to finance purchase.

New Adventure Series Has Plenty of Action

NEW YORK (AP)—The In-ses, starting with the 1965 vervaders, ABC's new adventure series of Ulysses with Kirk Douglas.

One, but it is likely to send impressionable youngsters off fo some scary dreams.

The opening program Tuesday night started the hero off on dangerous efforts to expose a fantastic plot from outer space. David Vincent, played by Roy Thinnes, gets lost while returning from a business trip, takes a nap in his car and awakens to see a flying saucer landing.

No one, of course, believes his story. The sheriff and even his partner suggest that he needs a good rest. But upon reluctantly returning to the scene they encounter a young couple camped nearby who insist they saw nothing. But David notices they have funny hands.

He returns alone later, is attacked by the couple, passes out and winds up in a sanatorium, labelled a paranoiac. But, determined, he follows them to a ghost town and concludes the couple are aliens from Venus, from another world about to take over this one—not little green men, but rough, violent human like creatures.

There is plenty of action. But the viewer is tempted to snort occasionally at the hero's silly conduct. He leads into an apparently deserted hydroelectric plant without any protection.

The series fails neatly into the category of "running men"—The Fugitive and Run for Your Life. But, while each of these established shows wrap up each episode, The Invaders promises to be a continued story.

Recommended tonight: Wednesday Night at the Movies, ABC, 9-11 EST, premiere of still another series of feature mov-

Old Tax Exemption for CPR Under Fire in House

OTTAWA (CP)—A concession made by Sir John A. Macdonald to the CPR in 1880 came under debate Tuesday in the Commons.

To entice the railway into building a line to link the country from coast to coast, Canada's first prime minister agreed to exempt it from municipal taxes.

The tax exemption, now a statute of Parliament and a part of the constitutions of Saskatchewan and Alberta, came under scathing attack from David Lewis (NDP — York South) as the Commons continued to make progress on a government bill outlining a new national transportation policy.

The House takes a one-day break from the transport bill today to debate the first stage of a bill to insure the deposits of banks and qualifying trusts and loan companies.

And since today is Sir John A. Macdonald Day, there are sure to be plenty of tributes to the Conservative who headed the first Canadian government.

Tuesday, however, Macdonald's commitment to the CPR 97 years ago was questioned not only by Mr. Lewis but by Transport Minister Pickersgill.

Good or bad, the government was bound by the Macdonald-CPR pact, said Mr. Pickersgill.

"With all the wisdom I now have, if I had been Sir John Macdonald, I do not believe I would have made this particular type of contract with the Canadian Pacific," said Mr. Pickersgill.

Mr. Lewis, the NDP's deputy leader, said times have changed since Macdonald's government signed the pact with the CPR.

"If the exemption was ever justified—and my study of the matter has never persuaded me that even originally it was justified—it certainly has not been so for many years," the labor lawyer said.

The matter cropped up as both Conservative and NDP members sought assurances that the CPR would begin paying municipal taxes in 1967.

In a letter to the government in early 1966, the railway said it would pay the levies starting the year after the new transport bill was passed.

Conservative MPs have argued that municipalities along the CPR's main line in Western Canada count on receiving these taxes in 1967. It was not their fault, nor the fault of Parliament, that the government hadn't brought the bill into the Commons earlier so it could be approved before Dec. 31.

Mr. Pickersgill said he would take the matter up with the CPR after the bill was passed —within the next few weeks, he hoped.

He hoped the CPR would accept a Conservative suggestion to pay the taxes from the month the bill is approved if not for the full year. But that was entirely up to the CPR, he said.

Mr. Lewis said the CPR's letter to the government "was written with the CPR's characteristic arrogance."

"The time is overdue to say to the Canadian Pacific that the time when it can be exempted from municipal taxation is over and ended."

Debate on the CPR issue produced the only harsh words of the sitting. Mr. Pickersgill, as he had already announced, was ready to make changes here and there in his bill to meet opposition suggestions.

Mr. Pickersgill also assured MPs the regulatory board overseeing all modes of transportation coming under federal jurisdiction would not throttle competition.

In fact, he said, it would encourage competition in areas where this was possible. In marginal areas where it was in the public interest, subsidies would be paid to one carrier to carry on.

The board itself would be appointed partially on regional grounds, Mr. Pickersgill said. No one had been approached yet to sit on it since it wouldn't be proper to do so until the bill passed.

Confederation Was Not Bargain Between French and English

WINNIPEG (CP) — There is no basis in historical fact that the Fathers of Confederation intended the nation to be either bilingual or bicultural, Professor Donald Creighton of Toronto said Wednesday.

Prof. Creighton, speaking to the Manitoba Historical Society's banquet in Honor of the 152nd anniversary of Sir John A. Macdonald's birth, said the idea that Confederation was a bargain between French and English is of recent origin, the creation of "French - Canadian nationalists and their English-Canadian associates."

He said the nature of the West's entrance into Canada was conclusive proof against the "compact theory" of Confederation.

"The real origin of this radical new interpretation of the nature of Confederation is political," he told an audience of more than 300. "It can be found in the rapid rise of French-Canadian nationalism since Jean Lesage came to power in Quebec in 1960."

The head of the University of Toronto's history department said Canadians must beware of this "misuse of history" which, he said, was designed to reinterpret our past to meet the present revolutionary aims of French Canada.

"Canadians are badly - equipped to protect themselves against this as they are not history-minded. They are easily sold new and spurious inventions.

"It would be tragic if Canadians were led to damage their future irrevocably by this misunderstanding of their past."

Prof. Creighton warned Canadians to keep this in mind when the federal bilingual and bicultural commission makes its final report.

"This report should be judged critically, as it is based on the idea of a bicultural compact. Since this compact became the vogue during the revolution in Quebec, it is suspect."

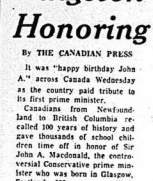
Mao Calls on Army to Crush Foes, Orders Quarantine for Shanghai



TOKYO (CP)—Mao Tse-tung has delivered an ultimatum to his enemies, called on the army to help crush them and obtained pledges of loyalty from military units throughout China, organs under his control reported today.

There was no indication Mao's opponents were buckling under the pressure. Peking radio said Mao has ordered complete reorganization of the cultural revolutionary committee of the armed forces, a possible indication of military opposition to Mao, despite the claimed pledges of support.

The new turn in the 73-year-old Chinese Communist party chairman's seething struggle with the party faction headed by President Liu Shao-chi emerged from an admission there has been fighting in Shanghai. Mao ordered the city quarantined and all travel in and out limited.

Shanghai, focal point of the power struggle, was on the brink of a decisive battle between supporters and opponents of Mao, the new China news agency said.

Red Guards and other Mao supporters paraded "bad elements" through Shanghai streets in open trucks today, forcing engineers living there said in telephone reports to Peking.

Revolutionary groups in the port city, China's largest, accused the municipal party committee there of causing economic sabotage and industrial unrest, according to agency reports monitored in Hong Kong. The appeal to the army—and the reported swift response—also suggested that the 2,000,000-armed forces may be wavering in their loyalty to Mao and Defence Minister Lin Piao, his No. 1 ally and nominally in control of the army.

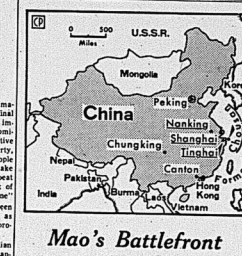
The army's declaration of loyalty followed an editorial in the Peking People's Daily and the theoretical journal Red Flag—both controlled by Mao—which warned Liu's faction "to make a final reconsideration immediately and surrender to the revolutionary people."

On the heels of this ultimatum, which used the word final for the first time, four important official bodies dominated by Mao issued a directive calling on the army, the party, the government and the people throughout the nation "to take concerted action and to beat back the new counter-attack of the bourgeois reactionary line".

Until now, the army has been carrying out its own purge as part of the so-called great proletarian cultural revolution.

Its injection into the civilian purge was considered an apparent indication that Mao's position has been seriously weakened by the rash of strikes, walkouts, violent clashes and sabotage that have swept the country in the last three weeks. forces was complete.

The directive was issued in the name of the party central committee, which Mao heads; the state council, led by Premier Chou En-lai; the military commission of the central committee, dominally headed by Mao but run by Lin, and the cultural revolution purge group of the central committee, led by Chen Po-ta and his deputy Chiang Ching, Mao's wife.



Mao's Battlefront

Communist China may be close to civil war. Shanghai is reported paralyzed by strikes and street fighting in opposition to Mao Tse-tung's purge. Mao has ordered travel to and from it limited. Farmers have rioted in the Chousan Islands in the East China Sea, and a Red Guard rally was attacked at Tinghai. (CP Newsmap)

Kingston Focal Point of Functions Honoring Sir John A. on Birthday

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It was "happy birthday John A." across Canada Wednesday as the country paid tribute to its first prime minister.

Canadians from Newfoundland to British Columbia recalled 100 years of history and gave thousands of school children time off in honor of Sir John A. Macdonald, the controversial Conservative prime minister who was born in Glasgow, Scotland, 152 years ago Wednesday.

Sir John, prime minister from 1867 to 1873 and from 1878 to 1891, was also honored by the nation's premiers and members of the House of Commons.

Birthday parties were held in other years in honor of Sir John, who earned the title Father of Confederation, but Wednesday's was the greatest, because of Canada's Centennial Year celebrations.

The biggest party was in the city of Kingston, where he first entered politics as an alderman and which he represented in Parliament. A large cake was decorated in his honor and Prime Minister Pearson said Canada still has plenty to learn from the old chieftain.

Students in Kingston Township, where Sir John is buried alongside his mother, had a full holiday. In some other regions of Canada children were given a full-day or half-day holiday.

A 200-pound fruit cake, with 100 candles, was cut at a centennial ball in Kingston as about 400 guests sang Happy Birthday to Sir John.

The 200 couples paid $35 each to attend the ball, dressed in late 19th century formal wear.

In the House of Commons, back - benchers joined party leaders in a salute to Sir John, who died in 1891 at 76.

Representatives of Ontario's three political parties and Mayor William Dennison of Toronto paid tribute to Sir John in a ceremony on the lawn in front of the legislature building in Toronto.

Special lectures were held in the Confederation Centre in Charlottetown and a guest at a banquet in Winnipeg was Hugh Alexander Gainsford, the 43-year-old great - grandson of Sir John.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce invited Ottawa citizens to a public birthday party for Sir John in the Centennial Centre. Special lectures were held at the National Gallery.

A banquet for 250 was held in Brantford, Ont., at the 115-year-old Kerby Hotel where Sir John launched his first political speaking tour on Nov. 9, 1990.

Vietnam Vital

CANBERRA (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Holt said today the U.S. presence in South Vietnam is essential to Australia's security and growth and is a vital service to the "entire free world."

On the political front, too, there were increasing signs that, as during the previous intense phases of the Vietnam revolution campaign, steps have been taken to avoid the risk of serious disruption of the economy and administration.

Premier Chou En-lai, playing the role of a moderator, seemed to have maintained his strong position.

As for posted accounts of big clashes in Peking, Shanghai and Nanking recently, diplomats and other foreigners living in the three cities said they saw no evidence to back up the reports.

In Peking, huge crowds of demonstrators were generally well-disciplined and obedient to police and other authorities.

Propaganda War Seems Easing

PEKING (Reuters) — The propaganda battle waged in Peking streets since beginning of the new year seemed to have slackened today under the influence of official concern to protect the economy and prevent administrative chaos.

The struggle in the streets has been a propaganda war, rather than the civil war suggested in some foreign reports. In the cities and areas accessible to foreigners, there was no sign that the government lost control at any point and no evidence of any large-scale clashes.

The capital was outwardly calmer today after the hectic wave of "cultural revolution" activity and there were fewer street demonstrations in the last two days than earlier this week.

Posters and mobile loudspeakers roved Peking streets urging workers to go back to their jobs to ensure production levels were maintained.

India, Canada and Poland Try To Arrange Vietnamese Parley

NEW DELHI (CP) — India, Canada and Poland are engaged in active negotiations to bring the Vietnam conflict to the conference table, diplomatic sources said here today.

The sources said that the talks, which began a month ago on India's initiative, took a more positive turn last week after the interview given by North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong to Harris on Salisbury New York Times correspondent, and statements made in Paris by North Vietnamese envoy Mai Van Bo.

The three countries are working through the International Control Commission, of which are all members, to bring about a conference, the sources said.

Indian Foreign Minister Mohammed Chagla hinted Wednesday that the time was ripe for Washington to establish contact with North Vietnam when he said: "All the recent trends indicate that North Vietnam has given a signal."

In an interview with a local press agency, Chagla referred to recent statements by Dong and Bo. He said: "It is absurd to expect anything more positive by way of a response from North Vietnam."

He said he was sure that "something would emerge" if the United States put an unconditional end to the bombings of North Vietnam.

Lodge Sees Fewer Casualties

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge predicted today a downturn in the percentage of American casualties in Vietnam this year.

"The war would be pretty nearly over," Lodge added, once success is achieved in wiping out the threat from hard-core terrorists to South Vietnamese villagers. But he gave no date on when he thought this slower, pacification task might be completed.

Lodge spoke in an interview with The Associated Press before his departure for Saigon after a month in the United States on leave and consultation.

He met Wednesday with President Johnson. Afterward, he told reporters U.S. forces may win military victory over organized Communist troops this year but this would not automatically end the war.

Robarts Forecasts New Tax System

TORONTO (CP) — Premier Robarts of Ontario gazed into his crystal ball Wednesday night and predicted a revised tax system and new forms of regional government for the province.

He has hinted the Ontario Housing Corp. may soon offer limited-income families to buy the houses they rent with no down payment.

In a free-time CBC-TV program, Mr. Robarts predicted a "revised tax system based on recommendations of the royal commission on taxation." But he did not expand on any probable legislation.

He said the Ontario taxpayer's ability to pay has been strained almost to the limit. And, the money to pay for more services can only come from one source—the taxpayer.

Mr. Robarts said he proposed at last fall's federal-provincial tax-sharing conference in Ottawa that all levels of government take Ontario's view—"that in the end there is only one taxpayer and all government must recognize the limitation of his ability."

Ontario can also look forward to "new forms of regional government that will provide greater efficiency and economy at the close-to-home municipal level," the premier said.

Blinding Storm Smothers Area

Winds gusting up to 35 miles an hour today whipped the Quinte district, creating some dangerous driving conditions as it blew in a blinding snowstorm.

Hazardous drifting was reported on all roads and provincial highways in the area and although police patrols were not called in to any serious accidents — motorists were warned to drive carefully.

Poor visibility shrouded the freeway from Trenton to Kingston.

Visibility in spots was reduced to less than a third of a mile and local flying from Canadian Forces Base Trenton was called off during the morning.

Long - range flights were not affected.

The base duty forecaster warned the storm might last up to mid-afternoon and would leave two or three inches of snow in its wake.

However, the gusts prevented the snow from deepening on the ground.

No benefit was predicted from the fallout. Temperatures will rise as a warming trend sets in. The low tonight is forecast at 26 and tomorrow's high 40.

TORONTO (CP) — Morning rush - hour traffic crawled through the worst driving conditions of the winter here and in other southern Ontario cities as local snow squalls hit areas around Lakes Erie and Ontario.

Winds gusting to 40 and 50 miles an hour piled up drifts, but the weather office and the storm is expected to move east out of the province by tonight. Most of the snow may melt in Friday's clear skies and above-freezing temperatures.

Visibility was almost zero in the rush hour on the Macdonald-Cartier Freeway at Toronto and police investigated more than a dozen rear-end collisions before 9 a.m. Traffic was stop-and-go on the Don Valley Parkway and Queen Elizabeth Way.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: Three to four inches of new snow are expected to accumulate today across central and Northern Ontario and strong winds will cause considerable drifting. In southern Ontario, precipitation is expected to be light except for possible local snow squalls off lakes Erie and Ontario. Precipitation will end in all but the most northern regions tonight. Clearing skies and mild temperatures will prevail over most of the province tonight and Friday.

Four Held In Stabbing Aboard Bus

TORONTO (CP) — Police arrested four persons in a suburban pool hall early today and charged them in the stabbing Wednesday of a city bus driver.

Charged with wounding with intent to murder were Paul Harold Thompson, 20, of Toronto, and John Edward McKernan, 17, of no fixed address.

Thompson and McKernan were also charged with attempted robbery along with John Lyon, 18, of no fixed address. Lyon and his wife, Karen, 20, were also charged jointly as accessories.

Norman Partington, 40, of Toronto, 35 miles north of here, was in fair condition in hospital today after he was stabbed several times by youths who boarded his empty bus early Wednesday morning.

He told police that as the youths entered his bus about 1 a.m., one of them clubbed him on the back of the head, knocking him to the floor.

He said he got to his feet and chased the youth to the back of the bus where they began fighting.

Mr. Partington said the second youth then stabbed him in the back with a knife and continued stabbing him in the chest and abdomen.

Grant Kerr Named Chairman District High School Board

A six-year member of the Bay of Quinte District High School Board and one of two board representatives from the township of Thurlow, Mr. Grant Kerr, was named chairman at the inaugural meeting held Wednesday evening.

Mr. Kerr succeeds Dr. J. S. Barlow of Belleville who this year becomes board vice-president.

In his inaugural address to the 17-member high school board, Mr. Kerr stressed the importance of good public relations and asked if the board was doing enough to promote good relations with employees, school principals, teachers — and the general public.

Completion of the new Centennial Secondary School in West Belleville is one of the major items on the 1967 board program, according to Mr. Kerr. The new school is expected to be completed sometime in February with an official opening planned for the 24th of the month.

WILL ERECT ADDITION

The only other construction project for the year is a three or four office addition to the College Street board rooms.

Mr. Kerr noted that three new high schools, or additions had been built since the present board rooms were constructed. A schools superintendent had been appointed and also a schools maintenance superintendent. There was also increased office staff.

The chairman referred to the retirement next June of Schools superintendent, E. A. Orr, and said a replacement would be required as well as an assistant to the superintendent.

Mr. Kerr hoped that the board would continually search for new and better ways to improve the system of education and urged that when decisions were made that they be made in the best interests of the students.

At the same time he asked that the taxpayers — the people who make the school system possible, be not forgotten or neglected.

COMMITTEES NAMED

Appointments to standing committees and special committees were approved. The school management committee head is J. D. O'Flynn, Jr. and the finance committee chairman is Mr. Gordon Lee.

The chairman of the board is an ex-officio member on all committees while all board members act on standing committees.

Of the 17-member high school board representing the city, four township and one village, there are only two new members this year. They are Stan Wiggins from Belleville, and Gordon Hall, the new Hastings county appointee.

Board members and the municipalities they represent are as follows: Belleville — Dr. J. S. Barlow, James Clarke, Gordon Lee, George Martin, John D. O'Flynn and Stan Wiggins; Thurlow — Grant Kerr and Douglas McLean; Sidney — Gerald Irvine and Ross Marshall; Ameliasburg — Harmon Montgomery and Earl Price; Tyendinaga — Bruce Hartt; Frankford — Raymond Rowe.

Coin Flip Determines Board Seat

The flip of a coin decided the eighth member on the Belleville Separate School Board at the inaugural meeting held last night.

The new member is Lawrence Rashotte who won over Mrs. George Wilson for the eighth place on the board. Mr. Rashotte replaces James S. Colligan who has been transferred by his employers to Montreal.

At the last municipal election in December 1965, Mr. Rashotte and Mrs. Wilson were tied for ninth place — just out of the running.

Last night Mr. Rashotte and Mrs. Wilson agreed on the board vacancy being filled by the loss of a coin. Mrs. Wilson called "tails" and lost.

Otherwise at the inaugural session long time board member and chairman, Ed Buckley was re-appointed chairman for another year. James Tobin is finance committee chairman. Paul Mercier heads the school management committee and George Whalen the property committee.

Members of the committee on the eight man board include Msgr. J. J. Sullivan, Robert Lucy and J. J. Barrett.

Mrs. Marie Huffman is again the board appointee to the Bay of Quinte High School Board and Mrs. Douglas Boyle is the Corby Public Library representative. Named to the Belleville Film Council were Sister Mary Avita and Sister Mary Joan.

Cary Casey was again named secretary treasurer and school administration officer.

Mr. Buckley told the board that no major construction was planned for this year but that emphasis would be placed on teaching aids and the modernizing of present facilities with special reference on special education.

The school board operates five public schools in the city with a staff complement of about 60 teachers.

Panel Will Discuss School Area Integration

A six-member panel will discuss the proposed larger integrated area of education administration next Tuesday evening, Jan. 17 in the auditorium of Centre Public School in Ameliasburg.

The panel will be comprised of R. A. Dunsmore, inspector of public schools; E. A. Orr, superintendent of the Bay of Quinte Area of Education Board; Douglas Trumble, principal of Kente School; George Cunningham, Reeve of Ameliasburg Township; E. G. Price, Ameliasburg representative on the Bay of Quinte District High School Board, and Morley Davidson, chairman of the Ameliasburg Township Board of Public School Trustees.

Mr. Dunsmore, Mr. Price and Mr. Orr are members of the committee set up to study the proposed integrated area.

The program will consist of a question and answer period and residents of the areas involved in the proposal are invited to attend.

NEW SCHOOL PLANNED

The members of the Murray Township area school board said this week they planned to have a new school open by September if approval of the site, debenture financing, and other approvals were carried out speedily.

The site under consideration lies west of the new development road, south of the railway overpass, on Lot 1 owned by Vagn Linge. The 12-acre site must first be approved by the Northumberland and Durham counties health unit for well water and drainage potential.

J. E. (Bud) Leveridge was elected board chairman to succeed George Plumpton.

Former Reeve Chairman of Planning Bd.

TRENTON — Former reeve Douglas McMaster was elected chairman of the Murray Township Planning Board last night, to succeed Dr. M. A. Bishop, who will remain on as a board member.

Vice-chairman is the present deputy reeve, Harry Lafferty, secretary-treasurer is James F. Day; other board members are Fred Brewer and Councillor Ronald Webb. Reeve Gerald Ross sits on the board as an ex-officio capacity.

Lee Grills To Stand In Hastings

Lee Grills, MP, Hastings South announced today he will place his name as a candidate for the Progressive Conservatives in the new riding of Hastings in the next federal election.

In a telephone call from Toronto, Mr. Grills said "I will definitely be a candidate at the Progressive Conservative convention when such a convention is called for the purpose of selecting a candidate for the new riding of Hastings."

The new riding consists of all of Hastings County except the six most northerly townships (Methuen, Wicklow, Raglan, Herschel, Monteagle and Carlow) and the townships of Rawdon and Sidney.

Sidney and Rawdon townships will be in the Prince Edward-Hastings riding. Sidney includes Trenton and Frankford which is boundaries.

There is a possibility George Hees will contest the election for the Conservatives in the neighboring Prince Edward-Hastings riding. He announced earlier this week he would stand in either Prince Edward-Hastings or Northumberland-Durham.

UEL Society Hears Talk On Bay of Quinte Ships

The January meeting of the Bay of Quinte Branch, United Empire Loyalists' Association, was held at the Royal Hotel, Picton, with the president, E. C. Paverd, in the chair.

On behalf of Mrs. Till, L. Wanamaker presented a framed map of Upper and Lower Canada in 1807. The map is a valuable addition to the articles on display at the U.E.L. museum at Adolphustown Park.

The president read a letter from the Ontario Treasurer's Federation requesting support in an effort to save the old Newburgh Academy. A motion was made by Dr. H. C. Burleigh "that the Bay of Quinte Branch, U.E.L. forward a letter to the Ontario Teachers' Federation giving encouragement and moral support in the move to preserve the Newburgh Academy as an educational museum."

After the routine business of the evening Willis Metcalfe, of Picton, gave an interesting talk on Prince Edward County and shipping from pioneer days. A School Board of Gallant Gents!

Sidney school trustees rise as Mrs. Joy Wonnacott leaves last night's meeting where board offered site for arts and technological college. Mrs. Wonnacott was present as a member of the board of governors which must select a location for the college.

Board Offers Site

Sidney Twp. Places 125 Acres Of Select Property Into Hands Of Governors for New College

The first definite move to attract an area arts and technology college to the Quinte district was launched last night by Sidney township school board.

The board offered a 125-acre site of select bayshore real estate midway between Belleville and Trenton to locate the new institute—which some day may house up to 2,000 students.

The proposal next week will go before the college-to-be board of governors, charged with making initial selection of a site for Ontario government approval.

The township trustees passed the motion — which carried no strings — after hearing from Belleville's Mayor Jack Ellis, and Mrs. Joy Wonnacott, one of two Bellevillian appointees to the eight-member board of governors.

"We're very anxious to do anything that we can to influence the governors to locate in this area," said school board chairman Ralph Armstrong later. "The land that we're offering is actually idle so it could be put to good educational use."

Last night's decision was prompted in part by a recent similar offer from the city of Peterborough which already has been despatched and will be presented at a January 18 board meeting in the Lifflock city.

The area served by the college is a huge territorial swath from Haliburton to Lennox and Addington, giving the governors a wide area of choice, with a minor horde of municipalities scrambling for attention.

However, last night's action by Sidney school trustees now has polarized rivalry with the Peterborough and Belleville-Trenton areas seeking to pull the institute into their local orbits.

Already shaping in the background is a proposal that the college should have twin campuses — the better to serve its widespread, fairly - populous area.

The Sidney site recently came to public attention through the promptings of Mayor Ellis and Reeve D. J. MacDonald of Trenton.

Their twin view — that local attitudes should bow to district betterment — was endorsed by all the trustees last night by Mayor Ellis.

"All we're trying to express to you is our willingness to cooperate and not take a parochial greedy attitude to this," he said.

"There could be a tremendous amount of fighting backwards and forwards to get this . . . but Mayor MacDonald and myself got together and agreed there should be no fighting over it."

Mrs. Wonnacott, who attended the meeting to outline college needs said the institute would be built in three stages and may take up to 10 years to complete.

Initially, there could be need for temporary quarters to handle the first wave of students.

(Spare room at the new Centennial High School in Belleville already has been mooted as a possible solution to this problem if a Quinte site was selected).

She said while original drafts had reported a 200-acre site for the college this had not been reduced to between 65 and 125 acres.

The school board holding originally deeded in 1831 by the Crown, now totals about 100 acres, running north from the Quinte.

Mayor Ellis estimated a 400-room high school requires about 20 acres — and the trustees would still have 65 acres left if their offer was accepted.

The first recommendation composed on the spot last night offered the governors 100 acres, but was amended to 125 after Mrs. Wonnacott's remarks were noted.

Deeply interested in getting the board of governors to locate this school in this district. To me it seems a logical site," said the mayor.

It was also underlined the board now, by statute, could dispose of its Crown grants — if they were more than 50 years old — through a Supreme Court ruling or an order-in-council.

To avoid the idea on purchase a copy of last night's motion was immediately mailed to Rev. H. J. Wallace, Bancroft; parish priest and chairman of the board of governors.

Swede Wants Sisters Able To Wed Brothers

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — A Swedish member of Parliament said today he is going to propose a change in the country's marriage laws so that brothers and sisters may marry.

Liberal member Sten Svensson said he plans to introduce a debate on the subject.

He more followed a shocking Wednesday by a report in a Lund's evening newspaper that a 24-year-old man and his 25-year-old sister would announce their love for each other at a planned wedding party.

The couple informed in court that they broke the law and believed they were prepared to accept the maximum penalty of one year in prison. A medical expert testified that the couple's 2-year-old child was healthy and not suffering from any mental defect.

The court found them guilty but ruled they could continue to live together.

Residential Building Up; Total Shows Big Drop

The overall total was down considerably but residential construction in Belleville was up slightly last year as compared with 1965.

The total value of the 309 permits issued at city hall in 1966 was $3,291,041 compared with $14,525,000, the main difference being the start of construction in 1965 of the new Belleville General Hospital addition.

The value of new residential construction in Belleville last year was $1,740,473 and including repairs and additions amounted to $1,930,063. There were 61 single family residences built and 108 apartment units, including a 50-unit building on Victoria Ave., the new Senior Citizens' building on Turnbull Street, four double tri-plexes for a total of 24 units and two double duplexes.

Commercial construction in the city amounted to $587,519 and the industrial construction $409,000. The major industrial construction was the addition at Mead Johnson Ltd., amounting to $410,000 and a new welding building at Foley Machine and Supply.

Banker Rejects Deposit Insurance

MONTREAL (CP)—W. Earle McLaughlin, chairman and president of the Royal Bank of Canada, said today the government's proposed deposit insurance bill will force chartered banks to "subsidize their competitors."

He told the bank's annual meeting the bill, part of amendments to the Bank Act now before the House of Commons, will impose compulsory insurance on the very institutions that need it least."

The safety of chartered banks is unquestioned. The major effect of imposing deposit insurance on the chartered banks will be, not to increase depositors' confidence, but to force the banks to subsidize their competitions — the federally and provincially chartered near-banks."

It might also tell the world that the strength of Canadian banks has diminished to such an extent that it must be buoyed up by deposit insurance.

Mr. McLauchlin said the real problem is not insurance, but lack of regulation and inspection of near-banks—a term used to describe such institutions as credit unions and trust and loan companies.

SEES EXCELLENT

"The banks already have excellent regulation and inspection. Those near - banks — that really need deposit insurance will in no way be helped unless deposit insurance is accompanied by the kind of regulation and inspection that should make insurance unnecessary."

He said he favors a purely voluntary federal plan of insurance since open to all deposit-taking institutions with rigorous regulation and inspection.

The government's proposed bill provides for compulsory insurance of deposits in all federally-chartered institutions, including the chartered banks, and voluntary insurance for provincially - chartered institutions with the approval of the provincial governments concerned.

Mr. McLauchlin also was critical of proposed amendments which would restrict Canadian banks owned by foreign banks. Such institutions would have to restrict total liabilities to a figure not exceeding 20 times their authorized capital.

SEES LITTLE DANGER

He said there appears to be little danger of these foreign-owned banks actually weakening Canadian monetary policy.

"The argument seems to be that, in times of tight money in Canada, parent banks abroad might pour funds into their Canadian subsidiaries and so defeat the policy of monetary restraint.

"That argument, of course, is wrong."

The size of the Canadian money supply was controlled by the Bank of Canada and foreign-owned banks, would have to obtain a larger share of the existing Canadian money supply to expand their Canadian operations.

J. H. Coleman, vice-president and chief general manager of the bank, told the annual meeting that economic prospects for Canada in 1967 appear good.

"There is still strength in the economy both internally and in export markets, and increased public expenditures in Vietnam would stimulate an already strong export position."

Any slight falling in the economy would be especially offset by some easing in present fiscal and monetary restraints.

"Any easing that does come will release funds to relieve existing backlogs of demand, in which areas as housing and autos, where a drying up of mortgage funds and other long- and intermediate - term credit has led to some postponement of expenditures.

"Hence, a cautious lessening of present restraints would be unlikely to result in any great change in the pressure of loan demand or any significant fall in interest rates."

Dispute Continues

An arms race in the middle east sees Israel fighting the Arabs of Lebanon, Syria and Jordan and most of the Israeli border involved in violence. Nineteen years after the partition of Palestine — when 1,300,000 Arabs were uprooted from their Palestine homes — the Palestine Liberation Organization is training an army to fight Israel and Jordan. The plight of the refugees, with more than 500,000 still living in U.N. camps, adds to the unrest. (CP Newsmap)

Educational Advances

On the educational scene these days two main trends are being emphasized. And rightly so. They are:

1. — The swiftness with which knowledge is being updated and the need to keep up with it.

2. — The need to provide skilled teaching staffs, with greater emphasis on preliminary training than is now being given.

Education is in such a stage of evolution that not only is knowledge itself increasing with incredible rapidity, but many methods, in the field of technology, use of audio-visual facilities and the like, are being pioneered almost daily.

Teacher-student relations are also changing. Not only must the teacher have the knowledge to guide the students in various subjects, he must also have the ability to stimulate his pupil's imagination. Students in turn should be encouraged to seek out knowledge for themselves, and to co-operate in the whole learning process.

William Ross, chairman of the Toronto Board of Education said the other day that a revision in the Ontario teacher training programs is necessary to improve the quality of education.

He suggested more attention should be given to what is largely a neglected area of education — teaching a child the "dignity and respect of, people as individuals, and to be aware of society around him." Mr. Ross said attitudes — especially attitudes toward learning are important. How true this is. It is not enough to give a child the facts. He should also be taught the other, intangible elements, of social responsibility.

But facts and knowledge are of prime importance nonetheless. And that is why students must learn to use their own initiative to a greater extent than in the past.

Macdonald (Mac) Smith, who has been re-elected chairman of the public school board, has touched on the changing educational scene, in these words:

"The days of rote learning, graded materials, formal examinations, absolute rules and artificial question-and-answer sessions are passing away. Awareness of the child as an individual, with individual differences, is being increasingly emphasized in our schools."

Mr. Smith wants to see an improvement in special services in schools. Teachers must be found for instance to instruct the handicapped, and in-service training for teachers intensified. An improvement is needed, he says, in the library program.

"The classroom is becoming more of a workshop where children, learn, experiment, create and discuss. The teacher's role is to assist, encourage, evaluate, diagnose and provide special resource material where needed."

It is a big concept, and one which must be faced by teachers and students alike. However, it would be a mistake if foisted on teachers and students too quickly. The whole process should be a gradual thing, to be accomplished with a minimum of disruption of the b sic system.

That changes are taking place is certain. Nothing stands still, and this holds true for education as it does for everything else in the onward march of mankind.

Cure for Speeders?

A British psychiatrist, Dr. John Barker, who claims to have cured compulsive gamblers with electric shock treatment, suggests he can do the same for compulsive speeders.

Dr. Barker proposes to do it by screening films of a driver exceeding 70 m.p.h. on an airstrip or non-public road, and whizzing past speed-limit signs. As the patient watches and recognizes his own undisciplined ways behind the wheel of a car, the doctor gives him shocks, up to 70 volts through a strap attached to his wrists.

The psychiatrist explains his theory this way: "It simply boils down to associating excessive speed with discomfort and pain."

Well it is an idea. But what of the ethics of such treatment? Presumably as long as the patient agrees to such a course there would be nothing against it. And if successful, why not extend it to the treatment of alcoholism?

Man's Inhumanity

In one of the most appalling episodes of the Viet Nam war to-date the Communist Viet Cong are reported to have used South Vietnamese children as human shields as they advanced on South Vietnamese Rangers.

Despite warnings from the Rangers the Communists kept moving forward and firing on the government troops. A U.S. spokesman said the Rangers had no choice but to fire, resulting in the death of 10 of the children and the wounding of 16 others.

'Strike' A Dirty Word in Labor-troubled Parliament

By RICHARD JACKSON

In these last 18 Federal labor-troubled months when government employees frequently threatened, but less frequently actually shut down essential public services, "strike" has become a word gathering increasing shabbiness in the public eye.

Ever since a small hard core of postal workers closed out postal service in Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver and some of the smaller centres — clearly in defiance of the law as it still stands, even now on the statutes — "strike" began to be a word to be avoided.

As the publicly-owned Crown Corporations, the CNR and Air Canada, were shut down, the air traffic controllers of the Federal Transport Department threatened a second nation-wide blackout of air service, and the postal workers talked of another and now even a third walkout, "strike" became a word inviting public hostility.

And suddenly, in Parliament, reflecting the mood of the public, there developed a situation in which a strike no longer was really a strike.

It became a "withholding of services" — and the credit, or whatever you may wish to call it for the invention of this particular piece of Parliamentary gobbledegook, goes to the New Democrats.

The Newdem leader T. C. Douglas presented it to Parliament and his followers cheerfully took the cue, avoiding the use of the word "strike" like the plague.

LEGITIMIZER

Was this merely another example of the politician resorting to bureaucratic "doublethink" in an effort to call a spade a tool for digging or an agricultural instrument?

Was it because the phrase had become one of those suddenly fashionable "in" things?

Or was it, more likely, that the NDP calculated this "withholding of services," in a public relations sense, was less offensive and more acceptable, with the taxpayers becoming increasingly allergic to the word "strike"?

It was a bit of all these things, says NDP veteran Stanley Knowles.

But it was something more, too.

It was, concedes honest old Stan Knowles, his conscience getting in his political way, an effort to "legitimize," as he put it, an openly "illegitimate" situation.

Call it a strike, explains Stanley Knowles, and you have civil servants doing something which, strictly speaking, is clearly illegal.

(Postal workers and air traffic controllers are plainly civil servants and, so, too, may be considered the staffs of other Crown Corporations such as the CNR, the CBC and Air Canada under Parliament's control and partially dependent on the national treasury.)

Instead of striking, smiles Mr. Knowles, such government employees could "withhold their services" in various "difficult to forbid" ways, such as holding prayer meetings, booking off sick, or convening study sessions.

SLIGHTLY RIDICULOUS

There are "all kinds of ways," he allows, "to get around calling it a strike — all of them more respectable, in a public relations sense, than striking."

Without the right to strike, he suggests, it would be illegal, if the letter of the law were enforced, for government employes to strike.

But giving it the NDP rationalization, "withholding services" could be something else again.

So where is that leaving Parliament in its past, continuing and very probably future efforts to outlaw strikes, hopefully before — but usually after — they happen?

Again Stan Knowles' conscience gets in his political way.

"It leaves us," he grins ruefully, "in the slightly ridiculous position of trying to tell government employes that they can't be permitted to do what they can't legally do anyway, but are going to do regardless."

This, at least in the NDP view further "legitimizes" any Federal "withdrawal of services," with Parliament closing its eyes to the strange situation in which it places itself by ignoring the illegality of strikes and dealing with them as if they were all perfectly proper.

So by the process of "doublethink" the NDP at least to its own apparent satisfaction, has got around the illegitimacy, the illegality of strikes or threatened strikes by the now only theoretically non-striking Federal government staff by redefining the phrase "withdrawal of services."

They first tried it out for size during the strike that triggered the continuing threat to shut down postal service — and it seemed to fit.

Nobody in the Commons so far has told them that calling a strike a "withdrawal of services" doesn't make it a non-strike, nor any more acceptable to the public . . . nor any less illegal.

To Your Good Health
Climate Not Always a Factor in Emphysema

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

I have a letter from a Denver physician which I think will be of interest to many emphysema sufferers — and we are continuing to find out how widespread this lung condition is.

He is Dr. Thomas L. Petty, director of respiratory care at the University of Colorado Medical Centre, and thus speaks with authority.

He refers to an item in this column which, if memory serves me right, was from an emphysema patient who lived on the ocean front, and wondered if a drier climate might help him breathe more easily.

It was and is my impression that too muggy an atmosphere can be oppressive to some patients.

Dr. Petty calls attention to the opposite possibility.

"I can't agree," he says, that dry air is necessarily better than sea air in your answer to the question concerning emphysema.

"As a matter of fact, excessive drying of secretions is not good and we endeavor to improve humidification of the inspired air in all of these patients. I thought you would be interested."

Indeed I am interested and grateful. In this, as in many health problems one has to be careful not to rush to extremes. If a sultry atmosphere disagrees with a person, it does not follow that an arid climate will be any better. Certainly, excessive drying of the respiratory passages isn't good either.

The comment from Colorado takes cognizance of this — that dry air isn't necessarily better. What is best for the patient in whatever condition most helps him.

Value of Reading

Unfortunately, even at the university level, many professors overlook the fact that their students can read. Many lecture courses could be shortened, if not eliminated altogether, by giving the students carefully prepared reading assignments. This might help to solve the current acute shortage of university professors. There is, of course, one underlying condition — those who cannot read should not be admitted to the universities. — Gordon M. Shrum, Chancellor, Simon Fraser University.

Industry
Cornwall Points the Way

Letter to Editor

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

With so much controversy raging on where the Belleville Industrial Commission should continue to operate as an autonomous body or whether citizens should have stronger representation through the inclusion of an aldermen in the organization, I believe the following report from the highly successful Cornwall Industrial Commission should be of interest to the people of the Quinte area who are interested in progress.

Cornwall Industrial Commissioner William Anderson in an article on "Attracting New Industry" in the Canadian Realtor magazine, writes:

"The Cornwall Industrial Commission is made up of 13 citizens appointed by Council, headed by an alderman as chairman. The industrial committee of council consists of the mayor and five aldermen.

"The Cornwall Industrial Developments Ltd. has a board of 12 community leaders representing most of the commercial life in the city.

"Minutemen" are a group of citizens representing finance, industry and commerce who serve in the capacity of advisors and consultants to the Industrial Commissioner.

"City hall department heads are behind-the-scene supporters and promoters of the industrial program.

"The board of trade, the industrial committee of industry, and numerous citizens at large round out the large promotional group of the community.

"What has been the total result of the combined efforts in Cornwall and immediate area? Simply stated they are as follows:

"During the period January 1959 to December 1965, 21 new manufacturing industries were acquired and seven existing plants made large expansions. An estimated $3,000,000 has been made in capital expenditures by new and existing industries and 2,000 persons have been directly employed in new manufacturing jobs. An equal number of new jobs have been created in service industries.

"Industrial prospects point to another rewarding year."

My own comment is "Not bad for amateurs."

How to Solve a Quarrel

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Thoughts at Large . . .

The scientific point of view, which looks upon man as simply a special kind of animal, misses the whole unique quality of humankind, while the "spiritual" point of view, which also misses or depreciates man's material and physical aspects, is equally guilty of ignoring and distorting the essence of our creaturliness.

* * *

For one every quarrel that goes to the roots of the disagreement, a dozen quarrels are engaged in over the mere symptoms of the disagreement, and if we really knew, and could admit, what we were quarreling about, disagreements could be resolved twice as fast with half the work.

* * *

I have always felt there was something cheap about the popular wartime phrase, "There are no atheists in foxholes"; if a man has to get into a foxhole to be converted, the odds are high that he is just taking out "God-insurance" which will lapse when he returns to safety.

* * *

With some exceptions, it is generally true that beautiful women have an excess of humor — possibly because they fear that high lines will mar their pulchritude.

* * *

Half the world hasn't learned the meaning of "duty," and the other half has learned it too well.

* * *

To teen-agers, the Depression might as well have happened during the days of Buffalo Bill, and even the Second World War and Hitlerism are as remote in their minds and imaginations as the Wars of the Roses and Hannibal; and what is disturbing is that those who look part in either are incapable of transmitting the emotional core of these experiences to the young.

* * *

Mistrust anyone who has a ready formula for living; for you may be sure that he will twist life to fit his formula, rather than changing his formula for life.

* * *

What makes us ridiculous is not our failures, but our pretensions; not our inability to cut a fine figure, but our deluded quality that we are impressing others when we pretend to be better than we are.

* * *

All important personages who are contemplating writing an autobiography or memoirs should engrave above their desks the words of Cardinal Newman: "A great memory does not make a mind, any more than a dictionary is a piece of literature."

* * *

Just as a liquid, brought to a certain temperature, undergoes a qualitative change into steam, so can a "group," brought to a certain emotional temperature, undergo a qualitative change into a "crowd" — at which point the mass perpetrates anything which no individual in it would conceivably do alone.

Priorities

Something is wrong with our national priorities when we reduce our commitment to our national parks by a billion dollars at the same time we leave our space program virtually intact. — Mayor Lindsay of New York City at a City Hall news conference.

Britain Makes Big Pitch for Canadian Trade

OTTAWA (CP) — Britain is spending millions in 1966 and 1967 to bring its industrialists face to face with potential Canadian customers.

Sharing 50-50 on costs, government and business have run a score of trade missions through Canadian plants, factories and executive offices. They are setting up eight more for the near future.

That's apart from three big "trade invasions" in 1967.

At Toronto Oct. 12-21 it's British Week, the swinging promotion Britain has adopted in its important markets—with emphasis on direct sales in city shops, surrounded by things typically British — bands, bobbies, antiques, and the inevitable pub.

Also in Toronto, May 1-5, Britain anchors the National Industrial Production Show as the biggest foreign exhibitor, flying in selected buyers from Quebec, Ontario, the Atlantic provinces and the Prairies.

Finally, at Vancouver May 17-27, Britain again takes the largest single section of the British Columbia International Trade Fair to feature specialty foods and beverages.

All this leaves out the Expo 67 effort, which will present Britain in a "challenge - of - change" theme.

It's all impressive. But will it sell?

Britain's total exports to all countries were roughly eight per cent higher in 1966 than in 1965. December import figures are still to come, but with lack sales to Canada could reach $670,000,000 for the year, an increase of about the same proportion.

This is only half the rate of increase in Canadian imports generally. It therefore represents a further drop in the relative share of purchases that Canada is making in Britain.

And Canada still sold $2 worth of goods to Britain for every $1 it bought during 1966, despite austerity measures there and a 10 - per - cent import surcharge lifted only at the end of October.

TORONTO STOCKS TODAY

TORONTO (CP) — Prices surged ahead for the seventh consecutive session as active trading today as investor confidence strengthened following Wednesday's sharp recovery.

The industrial index, which had jumped 1.37 Wednesday, moved another 0.59 to 154.03.

Canada Cement climbed 1¼ to 29¼ after the company announced record year-end profits.

Falconbridge added 1¼ at 50¼, B-A Oil ¾ at 36¼ and Alcan and Massey - Ferguson ¼ each at 22¼ and 26.

Bombing Essential Says General

SAIGON (Reuters) — Gen. Earl G. Wheeler, chairman of the U.S. joint chiefs of staff, said today the bombing of North Vietnam is an indispensable part of the American war effort.

"It demonstrates graphically to the North Vietnamese leadership that they cannot continue the aggression against the South with impunity," he told a press conference.

He said bombing, said Wheeler, had impeded the movement of men and materials in the North, limited supplies to the South and tied up about 300,000 men in defence and reconstruction work.

This had important psychological effects, since only a few years ago aggression against the south was being carried on at a cost of "peanuts," he said.

JAKARTA (Reuters) — Indonesian girls have replaced their sarongs with mini-skirts, worn as much as seven inches above the knee, in a new wave of Western pop culture.

Beatle music is back again after two years of official condemnation.

Last weekend, pretty pop singer Lilis Surjani appeared on a state television program wearing a daring mini-skirt and sang the Beatle song I Want to Hold Your Hand.

She admitted her skirt was a good seven inches above her knee. Viewers thought it was even higher.

Foot-Mouth Disease Victim Is Ill Again

LONDON (AP)—Bob Brewis, 34-year-old farmhand who two months ago became the first human known to catch foot and mouth disease in Britain, is sick again.

A Conservative member of Parliament immediately demanded a government inquiry into why Brewis had been allowed to mix freely with other people.

Brewis was infected in November at his brother's farm in Northumberland, a county in northern England that lost 62,600,000 ($3,000,000) worth of animals to the disease last year.

Brewis was in hospital for a week and treated for "slight fever." Tests made at the hospital were forwarded to a special laboratory, and officials said the samples definitely revealed foot and mouth disease.

Business Must Tell Its Story to Public

VANCOUVER (CP) — Industry and management have a responsibility to keep the public and government informed on the economic state of business all year round and not just in times of crisis, says Robert G. Rogers, president of Crown Zellerbach Canada Ltd.

Mr. Rogers, head of one of British Columbia's largest integrated forest firms, made the comment during a review of his company's activities.

He feels strongly about the "obligation" business has generally, not just the forest industry, "I think we have to take the initiative and not wait to be told by government or anybody else what the economic climate of industry is. It isn't sufficient to say we know it ourselves."

He said a poor job has been done on this aspect up to now.

Mr. Rogers said there is nothing further to gain by "crying over spilled milk" but said that a definite program of information should be considered by management. The spilled milk he referred to was a 40-cent increase granted the International Woodworkers of America by an industrial inquiry commissioner last spring.

He said most forest industry companies showed a decrease in profits in 1966.

The reason is the cost-price squeeze, he said.

"It's the old saw, but it's still factual." He cited interest charges, reduction on income in some product lines, increased transportation costs, boosted taxes, taxes and increased wages and salaries.

He was not crying blue ruin, but it was necessary to point out that forest companies were not maintaining their return on invested capital.

Asked about the profit outlook for 1967, he said there is nothing to indicate a change from last year.

The few price increases in some products had been cancelled out by cuts in others "or swallowed up in increased labor costs."

He added that in order to better this situation, an improvement in productivity is needed and "I refuse to accept that we can't regain our former levels."

One of the many factors involved, he said, is the shortage of trained men, and he doesn't see any improvements in this for 18 months.

"One way to boost profits, of course, would be to cut off money for plant and equipment improvement, but this would only mean short-term benefits."

He said his company would continue its capital expansion program in 1967 at a similar rate to recent years—about $25,000,000 to $30,000,000.

Bargain Hunters Halt Drop

NEW YORK (AP)—A sharp toss, an equally sharp gain and the second heaviest trading since 1929, were the vagaries of the New York stock market Wednesday. The reaction followed President Johnson's re-fiscal". He cited interest quest, in the State of the Union address to Congress, for a six-per-cent surcharge on income taxes.

The market reacted by falling off 11.47 points to 802.67 in the Dow Jones industrial average during the first half hour of trading Wednesday. But "bargain hunters" jumped in and a rally began. The drop was recovered by early afternoon.

Even the National City Bank of Minneapolis announced later it was cutting its prime interest rate to 5¾ from six per cent — indicative of loosening credit conditions — the news spurred trading on to a strong recovery, closing with a gain of 3.35 points to 822.49.

The average price a share of all common stocks on the New York Stock Exchange bounded from a morning loss of 59 cents to a closing gain of 38 cents.

Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. began the series of price increases Tuesday and was followed by Republic Steel Corp. and Pittsburgh Steel Co. and Republic Steel Corp. announced similar adjustments Tuesday.

Savory Beef Pot Roast Repeated by Special Repuest

By MARY MOORE

Little goose pimples raised on my arms when I read this reader's letter: "Mary please do me a favor. Repeat your column from November 1963 where you gave Savory Pot Roast. It was especially dear to me for I made that pot roast the night my son Pete returned from duty in the Far East. Signed Alice P., a long-time reader."

November 25, 1953 Column repeated by Request

In your community you may be able to take advantage of "specials" in the grocery-but-ther stores just as I did. Red Brand blade roasts of beef with blade bone removed were selling at 35 cents per lb. and looked ideal to me for a pot roast, so I bought a 4-lb. one for $1.35.

We had it on Friday night when my whole family was home.

Laugh if you like but Mary is taking singing lessons and 2:30 every Friday finds me warbling at the Conservatory. So — if dinner is to be ready on time something has to be browning in the oven while I'm away trilling scales.

SAVORY POT ROAST (Baked)

Come 2:30 p.m. I turned on the oven at 300 deg. Fahr. I trimmed about 2 tbsps. of fat from the edges of the roast and put them in the hot frying pan to render out. I mixed together in a little bowl 1 tbsp. flour, 1 tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. each celery salt, paprika, curry powder, pepper and marjoram. This I rubbed thoroughly into both cut surfaces of the meat and around the sides too. When the pan and fat were quite hot, I seared all of the surfaces of the meat, using strong spoons to turn it. (A fork would have punctured the surfaces and let the juices out.) Meanwhile in a deep, medium-sized roasting pan I sliced a carrot and onion thinly and ½ green pepper. Evenly over these I sprinkled ¾ cup long-grain raw rice. Over them I poured 1¾ cups boiling water. When the surfaces of the seared meat were dark brown I transferred the meat to the prepared roasting pan, placing it squarely on top of the rice, sprinkled a little more salt around the edges, covered it tightly, and at 2:00 p.m. I put it in the oven at 300 deg. Fahr. and left the house for my lesson.

On my return at 4:45 p.m. I added a washed squash — one of those bull-bottomed yellow ones cut in half and placed cut side down in the buttered pan — to the oven. A little later I prepared green beans, and the salad and a fruit cup.

Survey Shows Graduates Seek More Education

TORONTO (CP)—A preliminary report of a survey by the Canadian Federation of University Women says about 10 per cent of all women university graduates in Canada are either continuing their education or plan to do so.

Elizabeth Carr, federation survey chairman, said Tuesday the organization reached the conclusion after sending a 12-page questionnaire to 17,000 women graduates.

The report, based on 7,000 replies, also showed an additional 17 per cent are interested in further studies.

The survey was sponsored by the federation and the federal departments of labor and manpower. Both the Ontario and Quebec governments helped financially.

The statistics from the preliminary report were projected to apply to all of Canada's 163,609 women graduates. Mrs. Carr said the conclusions are valid.

About 25 per cent of the surveyed English-speaking graduates do not work, mostly because they are married. But of that number, mostly between 25 to 44, more than half say they might return to work.

EASE TEACHERS' LOT

MONTREAL (CP) — There are plans to set up a part-time teacher training program in Montreal. A study by the McGill Alumnae Society found many women graduates would like to teach but reconsider of the lack of training programs they can fit in.

MONDAY

By 6:15 my hungry gang has assembled and Pete carved the roast with many flourishes. (He misses his little homely duties living in a fraternity house.) The beef was tender as spring chicken, but remember if you try this to ask for Red Brand beef. The bed of vegetables underneath was full of pot roast flavor subtly suggestive of the herbs. They were a delicious feature too, as an accompaniment to the beef cooked in this way, making potatoes and gravy unnecessary.

Alice this brought back precious memories to me too — not the least of which was the price of blade roast at 25 cents per pound!

Christmas in Ghana Delights Canadian

DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: Belated Christmas greetings from Saltpond, Ghana. Instead of sleigh riding, bandaging ourselves in warm clothes, smelling the Christmas spirit and listening to carols, we spent our holiday surfing, perspiring, smelling smoked fish, listening to the melodious birds, crickets, chickens, goats and high life (African music) and loving every minute of it.

Mfantsiman Girls' Secondary School of 350 girls has forms one to five and hopes to begin a sixth form next year. The girls want to know everything about C'nada. They were astonished to learn that when Ghana is 10 years independent, Canada will be 100 years independent.

At Christmas-time we were wondering how to entertain the students but soon found they were entertaining us with tribal dances, singing, anecdotes and short stories.

Instead of waking up to the reindeer on the roof the next morning at five a.m. we were serenaded with Christmas carols sung beautifully outside our window. The next day some students arrived and cooked us a very delicious Ghanian meal of fufu, groundnut soup, rice, garden egg stew, fried plantain, Ghanian pancakes, bean stew and yam. — Vicky Harrison, Teacher, Canadian University Service Overseas.

Dear Vicky: A far cry from life in your home town of Orillia, Canada! Thank you for your capsule-size report of your pleasures as a CUSO teacher in a far-off land.

Dear Doris: My husband is retired. We have bought a piece of land facing the sea and plan to have a smal house built. It will have a big garden and we enjoy gardening.

Our married son thinks we are nuts to sell our present house, says we shall miss living in a big city, and we will we do in a small place, etc. My husband will repair the lodge and I will join the ladies' section.

He thinks we shall miss stores, etc., but this present house faces on a main road which is near cemetery and funerals, and what one sees when looking out of window is not the sea. I maintain that prices are going up here so much that my husband's pension will hardly feed us.

I can tell you from the way I talked I was wondering, truly wondering, if we would be happy. We have lived in this house 15 years. I really need an outside opinion. My husband will buy a boat, go fishing. But he is not keen on the last word to me. — Nuts?

Dear Nuts: Where one determined family member is pushing in one direction, it is good thinking to sound out others — retired persons like you, perhaps, who have done what you are thinking of.

You can take on a new challenge. You can be ready for a new adventure as long as you can breathe. Would it be so terrible to try it for a while, even if you did change your mind later?

Confidential to No Onion Tears: If the majority rules, then your idea is tops. Many onion peelers report that one avoids the weeps by peeling the entire onion before removing that root end. This is where the aroma exudes most tearfully.

When writing in, allow Doris four weeks for private reply, which will be sent if a five-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed.

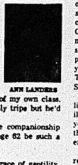
Revolts at Thought Of Husband Retiring



ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I have been married for 40 long, boring, miserable, rotten years. I don't know how a woman of my intelligence and refinement could have chosen such a coarse, vulgar man.

All these years we have existed under the same roof, although we have nothing in common. He loves dirty jokes, hunting and fishing and plenty of sex. I am soft-spoken, cultured and genteel.

Next year the slob retires and the thought of having him at home, under my feet all day, gives me a sick feeling at the pit of my stomach.

I want to do some travelling with people of my own class. We are financially able to take some lovely trips but he'd rather hunt and fish with his lowbrow friends.

I am still attractive and could enjoy the companionship of a high-type man. Would a divorce at age 62 be such a terrible thing? — A REAL LADY.

DEAR LADY: Your letter shows no trace of gentility, refinement or culture. And soft-spoken you aren't, Kiddo.

If your husband has been able to stand you for almost half a century I think you'd better not press your luck. Stay where you are and travel when he goes hunting and fishing.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You've done it again — exaggerated for effect, and I'm not going to let you get away with it. You told Mrs. Book-up, whose husband drove like a mad man: "If all the wives who had this problem were lined up they would reach from the emergency ward of any Los Angeles hospital to any morgue in Manhattan."

Allowing six feet for each wife, and considering the shortest route between Los Angeles and Manhattan is 2,474 miles, 2,117,120 wives would fit this space. This means 4.8% of the husbands who drive are speed maniacs. And then also the driving population kill only .025% of the entire population yearly? Well? — D.D.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You were a very sympathetic to the young woman whose husband is in Viet Nam. It seems her nosey mother-in-law wasted a phone call every time the young wife received a letter. You surprised me by taking the mother-in-law's side. I'm very disappointed in you, Ann.

I also have a husband in Viet Nam, and I, too, feel that a letter from a husband is a very personal thing. My mother-in-law calls me every time she gets a letter from my husband, and she reads the letter off the phone. Then she asks me to read my latest letter.

I couldn't care less about what my husband writes to his mother and I think she has a nerve asking me to share my letters with her. So far I have gone along, (leaving out certain parts), just to keep peace in the family, but I'm reaching the boiling point. Any advice? — ALSO POSSESSIVE.

DEAR ALSO: There's a world of difference between letting your mother-in-law know you have received a letter from her son and reading it to her.

From now on telephone your mother-in-law when you receive a letter. Tell her that he sends his love and that the rest is wife talk. Boiling inside will only build an ulcer, Toots.

Susanna's Family Fare

Paper Border Makes Unique Mirror Frame

Dear Susanna: Being on a budget (anyone who isn't probably should be) I personally looked after every detail of redecorating an extra room for our occasional over night guests.

When it came to the finishing touches, there was a lovely old mirror I wanted to use. It was in good condition except for around the very edges where the silver backing had become discolored or scraped.

I tried painting a border on the surface, but this looked pretty corny. My ultimate solution, with which I am delighted, was to past a simple, narrow strip of wallpaper border, straight down each edge.

The paper I chose has a faint design. It blends perfectly with the room, and frames the mirror ideally. — Home Designer.

Experts Say That Pill Played Some Part in 1966 Birth Decline

OTTAWA (CP)—Birth and fertility rates slumped in Canada in 1966, probably to a record low for the birth rate.

The almost - automatic assumption is that the main factor is the Pill, the celebrated oral contraceptive which has been growing steadily in popularity in the last few years.

Population experts say there's little doubt the Pill played some part in the decline. A few say the impact is over-emphasized.

Many reasons affect a couple's decision whether to have a child. The state of the family pocketbook is a big one. Social customs of the day also are important.

So before the demographers, who study population trends, get excited about the Pill, they need evidence over a long period of time about its use and the reasons for it.

At the moment, nobody seems to be doing the kind of gigantic survey that would show how big a factor the Pill is in the life of this country.

Demographers know that the number of births per 1,000 population has been declining steadily. For 1966 it probably was 20 or less, just below the record low of 24.1 in the late-depression year of 1937.

As the economy began to recover from the Depression, the birth rate also moved upward until it stood at 24.3 at the end of the Second World War. The post-war surge of marriages and homecomings was reflected in the record high rate of 28.3 in 1947.

It was relatively stable until a steady decline began in 1957. Since 1960, both the rate and the total number of births have dropped yearly.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics began collecting birth figures annually only in 1921. But it has estimated average annual rates in 10-year periods ranging back to 1831-41 when it was a booming 45. The estimates decline steadily in the 10-year period to 29 over the 1911-21 period.

The 1920s brought a further decline. The rate in the five-year period 1921-25 averaged 27.4 but dipped to an average 24.1 in the 1926-30 period.

ROSE IN WAR

In the tough early years of the Depression the pace was maintained, averaging 21.5 in the 1931-35 period then slumping still further to an average 20.5 in 1936-40.

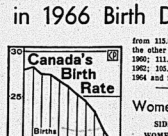
The Second World War period saw recovery to about the average level of the 1920s at 23.5 in 1941-45 and 27.4 in 1946-50. It was in this period that the 28.5 peak was established in 1947.

The bureau of statistics says the annual rates between 1948 and 1959 were remarkably stable, ranging between 27.1 and 28.5. But after 1957, a new decline set in the rate and, after 1960, in the number of births as well.

The reason that use of the Pill was suspected as at least a contributor is that it first came on the market in Canada, not specifically as an oral contraceptive, in 1957 and was first approven and sold as a contraceptive in mid-1960.

Here is the statistical picture of total births and the rate per 1,000 population in the last 10 years:

1966	450,729	28.0
1965	469,093	28.3
1958	470,118	27.6
1959	479,275	27.5
1960	478,551	26.8
1961	475,700	26.1
1962	469,693	25.3
1963	463,767	24.6
1964	452,915	23.5
1965	418,595	21.4



THE PLUNGING BIRTH RATE — Canada's birth rate, relatively stable at about 28 births per 1,000 population for 10 years after the Second World War, began a steady plunge in 1957. The 1966 birth rate is estimated to have been down to 20 or less, below the record low of 20.1 in 1937. (CP Newsmap)

In the United States, the picture in this period has been about the same. The birth rate per 1,000 population has gone down steadily from 25.2 in 1957 to 19.1 last year.

The Canadian and American rates in 1965 were generally higher than rates in most northern Europe countries but lower than those in southern Europe.

For example, northern Europe rates ranged between Sweden's 15.9 and Ireland's 22.2. Southern Europe rates include Italy's 19.2 and Spain's 21.3. Britain had a rate of 18.3, the Soviet Union 18.4.

African rates, mostly estimates by the United Nations, were in the 30s, ranging up to the Ivory Coast's 56.1 in 1961. In Asia, Japan was at 18.6 last year and India 39.3 and Pakistan 49.4 in 1963.

Mainland China's rate was 31 in 1957, most recent figure available. Jordan had 46.3 in 1965, Australia was 19.6 and New Zealand 22.8 in 1965.

In South America, Brazil had an estimated rate of 43.3 in the 1959-61 period and Venezuela 43.4 in 1964. Argentina was 22.5 in 1965 and Chile 32.8 in 1964.

But rates of birth per 1,000 population can be misleading. Changes in total population, through fluctuations in immigration and longer life spans, affect them.

Another picture emerges from the fertility rate—the number of births per 1,000 women in the child-bearing age group 15 to 49 years.

In 1965 the fertility rate in Canada sagged sharply although it still is higher than the rates of the Depression '30s and wartime '40s. The peak fertility rate was 118 per 1,000 women in 1957.

Some experts consider the high fertility rates of the 1950s abnormal so that current declines may be only a return to a more-usual rate.

Since then, the decline has been steady except for a slight increase to 116.3 in 1959 from 115.8 in 1958. Rates in the other years were 114.1 in 1960; 111.5 in 1961; 108.5 in 1962; 105.7 in 1963; 100.8 in 1964 and 91 in 1965.

Women's Institutes

SIDNEY SOUTH WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The January meeting of Sidney South Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. F. M. Nobes with an excellent attendance.

During the business period the committee in charge of the Christmas party was congratulated on a job well done in bringing pleasure to the neighboring children. At this party many gifts were gathered to be given to mental patients.

A workshop on Women's Institute procedure will be held at the home of Mrs. Douglas Reid on January 17, attending members are requested to bring their hand-books. Members were invited to attend the association meeting at Hastings Manor on January 6, at 2.15 p.m.

The spring project for the 4-H girls will be sewing, featuring "Cottons May Be Smart". Each girl will make a cotton dress. The leaders for this project are required to take a two day training course in Stirling on the 7th and 8th of February. Mrs. Dawson Douglas and Mrs. J. Tomalty were appointed to one group, Mrs. Gerald Grills and Mrs. Delbert McComb to the second with Mrs. Ron. Hamilton to give a helping hand.

In giving a review on the current Consumers' magazine, Mrs. Fred Mecss suggested the W.I. should buy 125 volt electric light bulbs instead of 120's to give longer life to the bulbs. Accent was given to safety in winter driving, poisons and household cleaning products that must be kept well out of children's reach and on the sensible and careful use of heating pads. Care should be given to selecting children's toys, that they should be entirely safe. Help was also given on selecting skis, boots and equipment.

Mrs. Kenneth Bush, convener of resolutions in the program discussed the drafting of a resolution. "When the W.I. considers the matter sufficiently important to warrant a resolution it must be moved, seconded, discussed and put to a vote in the monthly branch meeting. A resolution is an important medium of expression and should be used for the benefit of the organization and should be used for the benefit of all. While it is impossible to deal with partisan or sectarian controversial issues the members of the Institute should be alert to express their joint opinion on matters of public good in order that their influence may be useful in promotion of worthy causes."

Mrs. Carl Moon, Mrs. G. Sills, Mrs. F. Scrimshaw and Mrs. Fred Meess assisted Mrs. Bush with program.

Mrs. Nobes and co-hostesses served refreshments and a social half-hour was enjoyed by all.

The convener of Citizenship and Education, Mrs. Carmad Dafoe will be in charge of the February meeting at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Bush.

Five Women Named to RC Curia

They are among the members of two new organizations set up by the Pope Tuesday—one for the laity, the other to promote development and international social justice.

An Australia, Rosemary Goldie, 50, of Sydney, was appointed vice-secretary of the council of the Laity.

Barbara Ward, British economist and journalist, was named as one of the 12 members of a pontifical study commission to study ways of helping poorer countries. She has written several books about such problems.

Another member of the commission is Marga Klompe, a Dutch politician.

Two women also are among the 12 members of the council of the Laity—Marrarite Fiches of Belgium and Maria Venurik of Holland.

Glitter Is Glamor Theme This Winter

NEW YORK (CP)—Glitter is the glamor theme this winter. But it need not be a gem-studded gown. It can be as exciting glitter hat. That's one way to enliven a conservative little dress that has been the backbone of your late-day wardrobe.

Almost any shaped hat can carry this glamor theme but the small close-fitting style is the most popular. Sally Victor likes these in gold lame, pearl beaded.

Mr. John has a little black skull cap with star-burst sparklers at each side. He also beaded the border of a triangular Moroccan hood that framed the face.

Adolfo was inspired by luminous stained glass windows to create a group of jewlled net evening headdress studded with blocks of colored stones.

Other sparklers include a cap dotted with bugle beads and glass bars, to be worn well at the back of the head/Or a little pixie cap can be transformed into evening piquancy with transparent plastic discs, net and gold beads. Popular helmets were introduced for evening, one entirely jet sequinned. Emme even provided glitter in a saucy gold-beaded chignon to sit on the top of the head.

Many of Lilly Dache's evening hats are like Oriental or African tribal headdress, both savage and glittery, as she herself explains. Some, inspired by the narrow, forward-jutting turbans worn by the Parsees of India, are made of silver lame. Some of her silver metallic net frames completely cover the hair.

Turbans were popular with several milliners, as in copper-and-silver untarnishable metallic fabric and in a combination of emerald green silk and velvet. Turbans also featured feathers. Dache dramatized them in white ostrich feathers and used a cascade of ostrich feathers that fluttered from a small pillbox and dipped almost to touch the shoulders.

Other feather concoctions include a Mercury hat such as the god Mercury wore but covered with guinea feathers. Sally Victor likes a close-fitting hat of coque feathers. Really avant-garde is a prickly pear of the hat with ostrich feathers poking through chiffon.

Glitter for Glamor

The small, close-fitting style of glitter hat is most popular this winter, with glitter the glamor theme. This hat is made of discs pieced together with glitter. (CP Photo)

Waistlines Pushed to Ribcage Level

LONDON (Reuters) — Royal dressmaker Hardy Amies celebrated his 21st anniversary as a Mayfair couturier Wednesday with a saucy spring collection which pushed waistlines to ribcage level and left bare the knees of his bony aristocratic looking models.

Suits gave the first hint of a new, high waistline with brief midriff-clearing jackets rising gently at the front and flaring out from the shoulder blades.

But the couturier, who designs for Queen Elizabeth, announced his personal death sentence on the shift dress of the last few seasons. He belted the slender, sleeveless wool dresses with high leather sashes and set wide, contrasting bands above the waistlines of others.

The same theme was carried through in luxurious silk and cotton coats with bust-emphasizing seaming.

Amies retained his reputation as a master of grand occasion wear with a trio of chiffon gowns in orange or green panels which flounced from barely knees to sweep the floor yards behind their wearers.

Amies' fellow Royal dressmaker, Norman Hartnell, and two other top British couturiers show their collections next week. But the remainder have delayed their spring showing until February—pleading a rush of private orders which must be filled first.

U.C.W. Meetings

VICTORIA UCW

Mrs. Gordon Waterhouse was hostess for the January meeting of Victoria U.C.W. on Tuesday evening. Mrs. Hubert Townsend, past president, opened the meeting and reported some highlights of a church board meeting. She announced a Belleville Presbytery Zone meeting at Picton on Jan. 17. The Rev. McLeod led in a dedication service of the 1967 UCW executive.

Mrs. Morris Pulver, president, took the chair for the business meeting. The UCW serves supper to the AOTS group on Wednesday evening and has a Boy Scout banquet in Belleville on Feb. 20.

Mrs. Harmon Montgomery was in charge of the program which was centred on the new study book for centennial year. The first study dealt with the contribution of the church to Canadian life. The Jesuits were the first missionaries to New France but others followed and in time almost all branches of the Protestant church in the Old World had missionaries in Canada. Education followed in the wake of the missionary endeavors and in an outgrowth of the church.

An interesting contest was held on Canada.

Designers Said Returning To Fitted Clothes This Year

NEW YORK (CP)—The shape of things to come in women's fashions is shape.

Forecasts at the American designers showings here this week indicate that designers are returning, albeit cautiously, to fitted clothes.

Says fashion authority Eleanor Lambert: "During prophesies of fitted clothes with belted waistlines have now become a definite statement in important collections."

Designers hope that the fashion world now is ready for a return to shapes, even the ultimate of a natural belted waistline.

Adele Simpson, a conservative trendsetter, has several belted dresses including a red-and-navy check—silk with companion jacket, Geoffrey Beene, a repeat winner of a Coty fashion award, showed a dollwaisted dirndl dress in a woven polka dot cotton as his most prophetic silhouette for spring. The dirndl has skirt fullness from a marked waistline.

LIKES WIDE BELTS

Christian Dior-New York liked wide leather belts. One rode on the hips of a navy crepe dress to softly accent the waist. One designer used the cut-crisp pockets on a strategic slant for an optical shaping.

New, and a big spring fashion, are scarves as dress accent or part of the costume look. Designed by the individual designers to match or contrast a particular dress, the scarves can also be purchased separately for general wardrobe purposes. Silk scarves in important designers such as Pauline Trigere may cost almost as much as the little dress you bought off a store rack.

Continuing from fall is the military look. It's in the dress uniform tradition rather than the battle jacket or campaign style of the last few seasons.

There is also a red-white-and-blue theme with many of the designers. Pat Sandler says flat waving used to be corny. This spring it's chic.

PANTS STILL POPULAR

Pants suits continue in popularity with the top trend coming here because she'd ask such silly questions."

"If a woman does not feel inferior about being a woman, she won't have any problems in the business world."

NEEDS SPECIAL CARE

There are rent of the children born in Canada nowadays are mentally retarded.

Pants have also gone short. Jacquez Heeau even includes a bloomer with a pantsuit. Many are actually a jumpsuit complete with a jacket. Coddiverni introduces some startling innovations, such as culotte-length mini-pants, a soft collared white blouse and a fitted navy blazer.

Most important single feature for spring is knee length. Little sleeves are back. The only long - sleeved solidarity was in cuffed coat - dresses. Either you go very short or just below the elbow, although this does not always apply to the costume where a coat or jacket often tops a sleeveless dress.

Costumes are probably the most important influence in most collections. The skirt, jacket and blouse may be in almost clashing colors. Coat and dress ensembles are more inclined to match or use subtle contrasts.

Finally, skirts stay short but aren't any shorter. The story is threatening among the 240 editors here for the collections is that the mini-skirt now is called The Bell.

First Female Stock Broker Doing Well

DUNCAN, B.C. (CP)—When Joan Elvins goes to the market, she doesn't worry about such matters as the price of airlain stock.

Her meat is the Dow-Jones kind.

Joan recently became the first female stock broker in this Vancouver Island community 40 miles north of Victoria and is one of the few Canadian women in the business.

Joan was a bank-teller for 2½ years after she finished school but "I got fed up with the bank."

Her next job saw her as a secretary for an investment firm but she found "I wasn't very keen on pounding a typewriter; I wanted to learn more about the business."

So she took an eight-month course and was rewarded for her efforts when she received her stock broker's licence.

"I find women are a bit frightened when they come in here," she said in an on-the job interview.

"One client told me she was so pleased to have a woman in here because she'd ask such silly questions."

"If a woman does not feel inferior about being a woman, she won't have any problems in the business world."

It is nearing tournament time in Birdville and the Belleville Garrison Badminton Club's demon publicity director Merv. Potts, tells me the flyways of the realm of battledore and shuttlecock are being cleared for some highly competitive action.

Humming his favorite theme, "Let's All Swing Like The Birdies Swing," Mervin, a magician with words, informs me the appetizer to the upcoming banquet of tournaments, is slated for Saturday night in the home of the Hasty Pees with the Peterborough Badminton Club in the special role of honored guests.

And as a tip to his flybird faithful, Potts inserts the note that the Peterborough Club may bring along some players from Punch Imlach's hideaway just for morale-boosting purposes — but don't believe all you hear.

That's some mighty fine bird-tossing racqueteers up thar in those Hills 'o' Hogtown and the Garrison guys and gals had better be on their better court behavior when they tangle with the upholstered Peterborough contingent.

Potsy says the various team captains are calling those they wish to play. "The rest," he says, "can join me at the party in the mess afterwards." No wonder the guy says he loves his role as dispenser of bulletins.

The Garrison junior players trek to Peterborough on Saturday, January 21st to compete in the junior tournament being held there. They have come up with some highly creditable performances in previous tournaments and hope to bring home their share of the trophies and awards bacon.

However the main course in this banquet of tournaments is the Central Ontario Badminton Association "B" Closed Tournament scheduled for the armouries here on February 11th.

It is one of the finest badminton events staged in this part of Ontario, and the Garrisoners expect competitors from Napanee, Picton, Cobourg, Bowmanville, Whitby, Trenton, Oshawa and Peterborough as well as an all-out entry locally. All but two or three Garrison Club members are eligible to play, said Potsy.

Ron Walmsley is the chairman of the tournament with Leo Fortin the co-ordinator. Potsy is in charge of the social play side with Kay Kokotsis, Glynn Harry, Loreen Potts, Dave Bell, Peter Harris, Gene Refausse, Ray Wannamaker, Sam Sains, Jackie Gilbert and Irene Lewis in assisting roles.

Play starts at 10 a.m. with the playoffs getting under way at 7 p.m. The public is invited.

SPEAKING OF BIRDS

If anyone is looking for a human computer I suggest an old Lands and Firests Department buddy, one Bill Bilitz, resident at Tweed.

Bill was part of a departmental district winter waterfowl survey team that covered the eastern end of Lake Ontario and the upper St. Lawrence river a week ago.

Redheads (ducks, that is) have a yen for the water off Simpsons Island. Over 1,000 were spotted down thataway while an overall total of 2,900 was recorded.

The reds, Bill said, didn't move a feather as the aircraft sped overhead from heights between 100 and 200 feet.

Greater scaup set a numerical record over 3,300 being spotted, over three times the number from last year. Goldeneyes were down slightly from 1766 for a total of 1,000 birds.

Black ducks were observed over shallow waters with some 600 being counted. Other breeds seen were old squaw, bufflehead, canvasback, merganser, mallard, ring-necks and scoter, a total of 10,600 birds.

Gulls were more plentiful than ever featuring large numbers of black-backs ,the most ever seen. Flocks of snow buntings rose from white fields; a few crows were spotted along shorelines. A ruffled-legged hawk flew at 800 feet and a marsh hawk hovered over the marshland, an unusual sight for this time of the year. A snow owl, south for the winter, was seen near Kingston.

GOAL-GETTERS — The London Nationals of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League say it's the curves that get the goals. The curves of their home-made hockey-sticks, that is. Nats' forward Jim Stanfield holds a regular stick and the specially shaped "boomerang" he credits with raising his season's goal production. (CP Wirephoto)

Bobby Raises Hull With Wings!

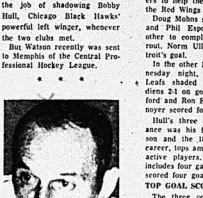
By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bryan Watson may get a telephone call from Detroit any day now.

Watson, Detroit Red Wings' penalty killer, has always had the job of shadowing Bobby Hull, Chicago Black Hawks' powerful left winger, whenever the two clubs met.

But Watson recently was sent to Memphis of the Central Professional Hockey League.

★ ★ ★



DOUG MOHNS

Hull knew Watson wasn't around to bother him Wednesday night and he put on a one-man show for the estimated 16,-666 hometown fans at Chicago Stadium as he scored three goals and assisted on two others to help the Hawks trounce the Red Wings 6-1.

Doug Mohns scored two goals and Phil Esposito added the other to complete the Chicago rout. Norm Ullman scored Detroit's goal.

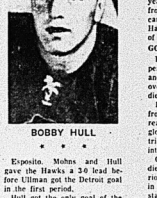
In the other NHL game Wednesday night, Toronto Maple Leafs shaded Montreal Canadiens 2-1 on goals by Bob Pulford and Ron Ellis. Yvan Cournoyer scored for Montreal.

Hull's three - goal performance was his first of the season and the 18th of his NHL career, tops among the league's active players. The total also includes four games in which he scored four goals.

TOP GOAL-SCORER

The three goals against the fifth - place Red Wings also boosted his total for the season to 22, best in the NHL.

Hull's five points moved him into a three-way tie for fourth place in the NHL scoring race. He has 11 assists to go with his 22 goals for 33 points. Hull was in eighth place going into Wednesday's game.



BOBBY HULL

★ ★ ★

Esposito, Mohns and Hull gave the Hawks a 3-0 lead before Ullman got the Detroit goal in the first period.

Hull got the only goal of the second period when he scored on a blistering 60-foot drive.

Mohns made it 5-1 with his second goal of the night in the opening minute of the third period and Hull closed out the scoring with his third of the game when he broke in alone on Detroit goalie Roger Crozier.

The victory moved the Black Hawks back into a tie for first place with New York Rangers idle Wednesday. Both clubs have 43 points.

The game marked the Detroit debut of Doug Harvey, the 42-year-old defenceman called up from Pittsburgh of the American Hockey League Tuesday. Harvey was on the ice for two of Chicago's six goals.

GOAL BREAKS TIE

Ellis' goal at 16:12 of the third period snapped a 1-1 deadlock and gave the Leafs their victory over the fourth - place Canadiens.

Ellis scored on a hard shot from about 20 feet out. Montreal goalie Charlie Hodge gloved the puck but the puck trickled out of his glove and into the net.

Cournoyer gave the Canadiens a 1-0 lead in the first period but Pulford tied the game in the second period, setting the stage for Ellis' winner. Pulford also earned an assist in the deciding goal.

Pulford's goal was his third in 41 many games. The veteran centre had scored only three goals in 29 games this season. He broke the slump with a goal against Boston Bruins last autumn and scored Toronto's only goal in a 4-1 loss to the Red Wings Sunday.

The victory moved the Leafs to within three points of the league - leading Black Hawks and Rangers. Toronto has 40 points, six more than Montreal.

The Red Wings will try for revenge against the Hawks tonight, when the two clubs meet in Detroit in the second game of the home-and-home series.

In the other scheduled game tonight, the Rangers will meet the Bruins in Boston.

Bobby Hull scored three goals and two assists in Chicago Black Hawks 6-1 victory over Detroit Red Wings Wednesday night to move into a three-way tie for fourth place in the National Hockey League individual scoring race.

Hull, the powerful left winger who set records last year when he scored 54 goals and finished the season with 97 points, was eighth in the scoring parade prior to Wednesday's game.

His three goals brought his season total to 22, tops in the league, and he also has 11 assists for 33 points. He is tied with Norm Ullman of Detroit and Phil Goyette of New York Rangers.

Stan Mikita, Chicago's classy centre, had an assist against the Wings Wednesday to boost his points total to 53 this season, including a league-leading 26 assists. Ken Wharram, Mikita's linemate, is second, 16 points behind Mikita. Bobby Rousseau of Montreal Canadiens is third with 34 points.

Son May Be Coach

Another Red Gets 'Shore' Leave

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Owner Eddie Shore has suspended another of his Springfield Indians and his 32-year-old coach Harry Pidhirny will run the American Hockey League team as interim coach. Those developments Wednesday were the latest in the fiery

ROCHESTER (AP) — Wayne Hicks and Gordon Labossiere of Quebec share the American Hockey League scoring lead for the eighth straight week.

Both were scoreless as Quebec's two games last week and still have 53 points, Labossiere on 21 goals and 32 assists and Hicks on 16-37.

Gil Gilbert of Hershey moved within three points of the two, with 15 goals and 35 assists for 50 points.

Roger DeJordy of Hershey leads in goal saving and Bobby Perreault of Rochester remained the top netminder. DeJordy has 22 goals, one more than Quebec's Bill Sutherland and Rochester's Dick Gamble.

Perreault gained his fifth shutout of the season and the Shore's running battle with his team, which has resulted in two player suspensions this week and the bitter resignation of coach Harry Pidhirny.

Shore suspended right winger Roger Cote Wednesday for insubordination. Sunday he suspended goalie Jacques Caron for indifferent play.

When Shore suspended four players Dec. 21, the remaining 20 refused to play. That dispute was settled during negotiations between the players, their lawyer and Shore's son.

Pidhirny quit Tuesday charging that Shore wanted to run the team himself and wanted a coach only to act as figurehead.

Anybody can be a gate opener," Pidhirny said.

"You hear a buzzer and you change lines. Get a message and bench a player. But that's not coaching."

The Indians are fourth among five Eastern Division teams and it was not entirely certain who would be at the helm when they take on Cleveland Barons Friday night.

The young Shore would say only: "I guess I'm next in line."

Pidhirny has said that he will remain as coach for the 10 days notice required in his contract. He has said that he will not continue as coach beyond that even if Shore asks him.

So far, Shore has refused to comment.

Ted Shore was only a mediocre player at American International College in Springfield and has had little coaching experience.

Most of the time he has been limited to running errands for his 64-year-old father, a former National Hockey League great with Boston Bruins.

Kings Crush Hawks 7-2

PEMBROKE, Ont. (CP) — Pembroke Lumber Kings handed Hull Hawks a crushing defeat in Central Junior A hockey action Wednesday.

Doug Moyes scored the hat trick as two goals in the first period.

Pembroke led the action all the way, scoring five goals in the first period and adding the final two in the third period. Bill Murray scored twice for the Lumber Kings. Singles were added by Al Sarault, Terry Gunn, Tom Watkins, Tom Richards and Larry Mick.

"Knock 'Em Down--Then Lay On 'Em"

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Kansas City Chiefs and Green Bay Packers will both show up for Sunday's Super Bowl game, but the anticipated sellout crowd probably will not.

"I thought we would have a sellout and we might still have," said football commissioner Pete Rozelle Wednesday. "but it would be hard to get a sellout at this point."

Rozelle said that 55,000 to 60,000 seats have been sold for the game, leaving more than 30,000 seats to go to fill the 93,000-seat Los Angeles Coliseum.

"But I've seen gate sales here the day of the game that went as high as 40,000 or 50,000. If the weather is good we could get a large gate sale."

Meanwhile, Kansas City quarterback Len Dawson took apart the Green Bay defence without throwing a pass, and found that in Sunday's game he'll be firing against the equivalent of Boston Patriots' front four, Buffalo Bills' linebackers and Oakland Raiders' secondary.

Ticking off attributes and personality of Green Bay's defensive forces, Dawson drew a comparison with the units of three American Football League teams.

"The Packers front four are extremely quick, like Boston's," Dawson said, "and like Boston they're a veteran group which plays extremely well together."

The comparison aligned Green Bay's front four of 245-pound Willie Davis, 260-pound Henry Jordan and 245-pound Lionel Aldridge with Boston's 250-pound Larry Eisenhauer, 270-pound Houston Antwine, 245-pound Jim Hunt and 240-pound Bob Dee.

The Green Bay linebackers are like Buffalo's—big, strong, fast, and they tackle well. The ball carrier doesn't take them out.

The Green Bay defensive backs are most like Oakland's.

"They're real solid at the corners and they all react very well."

Green Bay's cornerbacks are Herb Adderaley and Bob Jeter, while Oakland has Kent McCloughan and Dave Grayson. The Packer safeties are Willie Wood and Tom Brown, the Raiders are Rodger Bird and Warren Powers.

"There's no doubt they're going to present a problem. They pressure you extremely well, and like Boston they have a lot of second effort. If you knock them down, you've got to lay on them—or they'll get back into the play."

BRITAIN MOVED FAST

In the first 20 years of the nuclear era, Britain generated twice as much electricity from atomic power as the rest of the world.

GORDIE HOWE'S HOCKEY

One thing in hockey that takes a bit of getting used to is the way different linesmen and referees drop the puck on faceoffs.

They all do it differently and you get a quick refresher course in each game. By that I mean you don't, to borrow a baseball term, "book" on the puck-dropping style of each official. But when a game starts you sit up and take notice.

Some of them float the puck down and others fire it down. Then there is the third type that keep shouting at you "More back, more back" and while they are shouting they drop it . . . and there you are.

I like the type who put a little mustard on it when they drop it. Of course, with this type the puck hits the ice and bounces and you can miss the bounce. That's happened to me, too.

But the floaters are tough. You've got two guys trying to hit the thing in the air. This can lead to confusion.

I remember one linesman . . . I'm going back a number of years now and I've forgotten his name . . . but he'd stand beside you and kind of throw the puck.

There was one game he was standing shoulder to shoulder with me and I said: "Please, would you mind standing on the other side because I think I'll be going in that direction."

He did and when he threw it he moved it in the direction I was going. Which was pretty nice. In fact, I wish that linesman was still in the league because throwing it for you that way is helpful.

But it's funny the habits you can pick up and not be aware of them. That's where a coach can really help; he spots them.

Like this season Normie Ullman has been button-hooking at the blueline. I mean by that, he'll go over the other blueline, turn, stop and pass. That's not his style, but it was something he was doing subconsciously.

It was a bad habit, just like the one my favorite linesman had.

TORONTO (CP) — Ferndale Prince, driven by Keith Waples, nipped Donna's Chanop at the wire to win the first race Wednesday night at Greenwood Raceway.

It was the sixth driving victory of the 1967 season for Waples and sent him to the top of the driver standings at Greenwood.

Ferndale Prince paced the mile in 2:11 2-5 and returned $5.10 for the win.

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Glenurquhart, an Ontario invader driven by Real Cormier, scored a three-quarter length victory over Diplomat Boy in Wednesday night's $4,000 feature pace at Yonkers Raceway before 14,132. Time for the mile was 2:07 1-5.

Masters Cuts Gallery

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Fewer spectators and higher prices will be the rule for the prestige-laden Masters golf tournament April 6-9.

The Augusta National Golf Club says the number of admission credentials will be cut sharply and that series badges, good for the four rounds in the 72-hole event, will be limited to patrons—persons on the club's mailing list.

Chairman Clifford Roberts of the tournament committee said the price of series badges will be raised to $20 from $15. The badges will not cover practice rounds.

No tickets will be available to the general public for the tournament. The club said, unless patrons fail to fill the spectator quota, which was not disclosed. This was thought unlikely.

The tournament, considered one of the world's great golfing events, annually draws the top national and international amateurs and professionals on an invitation basis.

Officials said overtaxed accommodations in Augusta during recent tournaments led to the decision to sell fewer admissions.

Clay Starts Grind

HOUSTON (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay began training Wednesday for his title fight with Ernie Terrell by taking what he called his "first hard workout since the November fight with Cleveland Williams."

Clay meets Terrell, the World Boxing Association heavyweight champion, Feb. 6 in the Astrodome. Clay stopped Williams in the third round of their title match here Nov. 14.

Clay sparred two rounds each with Jimmy Ellis and Mel Turnbow, who also were his sparring mates for the Williams fight.

The champion spent considerable time on the heavy bag.

He said he wants to lose 15 pounds and enter the ring against Terrell at 210.

Terrell is scheduled to arrive Monday.

Aces Buried In Russ Avalanche

KINGSTON (CP) — Kingston Aces may have proven a point in absorbing an 11-2 defeat at the hands of the touring Soviet Union national hockey team Wednesday night.

The loss proves that the Russians are capable of walloping the best senior teams in Canada.

There has been contention during the last week that the Russians, wireless in three games against Canada's national team, may be losing the prowess that has made them a world power in international amateur hockey during the last several years.

Canada first put together a national team of university students for the sole purpose of winning the world hockey title in 1964. The Allan Cup champions—the country's top senior team—had always represented Canada in world competition before that.

The practice was discontinued when it became evident that the best senior team was no longer able to handle the developing strength of other European countries in hockey.

The Russians finished third behind Canada and Czechoslovakia at Canada's Centennial hockey tournament in Winnipeg last week, losing 5-4 to the Canadian nationals.

The same teams battled to a 3-3 tie in Montreal Sunday night and Russia beat 4-3 to Canada in Toronto Tuesday.

They meet in the final game of the Russians' tour at Kitchener tonight.

The Aces, fourth place team in the Ontario Hockey Association senior series, held the powerful Russians scoreless during the first period. Kingston goaltender Tom Mercer deserved most of the credit, blocking 14 shots.

Mercer allowed five goals in the second period while handling 19 shots and Neil Perry, who replaced him in the third period, blocked 17 shots.

Victor Yakushov and Victor Starshinov each scored two goals for the Russians, while Boris Mayorov, Anatoli Firsov, Igor Romishewski, Victor Popiopanov, Bitoliv Davidov, Juri Moisiev and Alexandre Alemtsv got the others.

Tom Carty and Pete Wesson were the Kingston marksmen.

It was the fifth victory in nine games in Canada for the Russians, who also lost to Czechoslovakia at the Centennial tournament last week.

Marlins Turn Trick

Blues Finally Beaten

HAMILTON (CP) — Mc Master Marlins dealt University of Toronto Blues their first defeat of the season as they edged the Blues 2-1 in an Ontario-Quebec Athletic Association hockey game Wednesday night.

The Marlins scored after only 31 seconds of the first period on a goal from Mike Ker.

Hank Monteith tied the score for the Blues at 10:20, but Mike Brierley fired the winning goal for Marlins three minutes later.

Marlins held their one - goal lead throughout the second and third periods with brilliant netminding by Jack Young.

Young foiled Gord Cunningham on a clear-cut breakaway in the second period and stopped dangerous shots by Paul Laurent, Jim Miles, Steve Monteith and Bob Hamilton in the closing period, when the Blues outshot the Marlins 17-3.

Meantime, Archer ended a two-day layoff at his camp at Grossingers, N.Y., by boxing two rounds. The challenger weighed 164.

Ontario Horsemen

Urged To Increase Attendance

TORONTO (CP)—Eric F. C. Wallace of Toronto, chairman of the Ontario racing commission, said Wednesday horsemen can help solve their financial problems by working towards increased attendance at race meetings.

Guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Ontario Harness Horsemen's Association, he was commenting on a brief submitted to the Ontario government asking for tax relief and a more thoroughbred and harness racing.

He said it costs a harness horseman "an average of about $800 a year above his winnings to maintain his horse. The question is: How is that gap going to be closed?"

He said: "We've got to get the attendance up. By increasing interest and attendance, we can generate sufficient cash—with a little help from the government—to bridge this gap."

Brig. Wallace said attendance at harness and thoroughbred racing in Ontario last year was 3,700,000, more than half the total for all of Canada.

SEEKS TAX RELIEF

Earlier, Leslie Ehrlick of Toronto, president of the OHHA, appeal'd to the government to support demands for tax relief from the government.

The harness horsemen, along with thoroughbred owners and breeders, are asking the government to turn back half of the six per cent tax collected in racetrack at Ontario tracks.

Ehrlick said the horseman's only source of revenue in pastpurses — hasn't provided enough.

Ehrlick said tax revenue from horse racing in Ontario last year was in the neighborhood of $12,000,000, of which $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 came from harness racing. Ehrlick said the $12,000,000 covered harness horse purses by $2,000,000 to $4,000,000.

Ehrlick was re-elected president. F. Scott Borchell of Perth first vice president, Eric Medley of Grand Bend second vice - president and Dr. John Findlay of Ayrshire third vice-president.

Perry Pay Hiked To $40,000

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gaylord Perry, a 24-9 performer with San Francisco Giants in 1966, has signed a 1967 baseball contract at an estimated $40,000.

Perry, the first pitcher to win 20 games last season, earned a raise of about $10,000. The Giants boosted his pay last season when he posted his 20th victory Aug. 20.

Only three major league hurlers won more games in 1966 than Gaylord, lanky 28 year-old right-hander.

They were Sandy Koufax of Los Angeles Dodgers with 27, the Giants, Juan Marichal and Jim Kaat of Minnesota Twins, each with 25.

Super Bowl May Not Be Sellout

LOS ANGELES (CP)—Football Commissioner Peter Rozelle said Wednesday that a big-boost backlash had cut into the sale of tickets for Sunday's Super Bowl game and said it would be hard to get a sellout at this point" for the event.

Rozelle estimated that between 30,000 and 40,000 seats already had been sold for the game, leaving more than 30,000 to go Sunday. The game between the National Football League champion Green Bay Packers and American Football League champion Kansas City Chiefs is to fill the 50,000 seat Los Angeles Coliseum.

Sport Under Revival

Seek Basketball League

An effort to revive senior basketball in Belleville has produced a city team and hopefully a small league in this district.

The Belleville Aces, backed financially by a number of local businessmen and individuals, has come into being.

The Aces scored an 85-52 exhibition victory over Trenton RCAF at the BCIVS gym last night.

Another exhibition game is scheduled for Saturday, Coxbourg will visit the Aces in Moira Secondary School gym. Game time is 7:45 and a meeting will be held following the game in an effort to form a league.

Only the three clubs, Belleville, Trenton RCAF and Coxbourg, have announced intentions of entering right now but those involved are hoping for a fourth entry.

At any rate, the Aces will play exhibitions and enter various tournaments prior to competing in the Ontario Basketball Association Intermediate "C" playdowns this spring. A short schedule will likely be drawn up if only the three teams enter a league Saturday.

The Aces jumped into a 10-0 half-time lead against the Flyers last night and went on to win with playing coach and manager Bill Green leading the way.

Green hooped 27 points, Rick Donovan followed with 18, Bill Latchford 11 and Bob Michaud 10. Gary Duggan and Don Smith each collected eight points and Gary Davis had three. Other members of the Aces are John Guthrie, Clare Leahy, Arlen Burleigh, Brian Langshaw and Earl Naismith.

RCAF, missing starry Ernie Clarke and a couple of other regulars, found the small BCIVS gym a handicap. They received 16-point performances from Hargreaves and Brennan. Luker scored eight, Terrell and McNicol six each. Other players were Veillett and R. Wydzyk.

Statutory Prohibition of Picketing Suggested by Labor Relations Lawyer

TORONTO (CP) — A lawyer specializing in labor relations recommended today the licensing of all trade unions, statutory prohibition of picketing in labor disputes and authorization of all strikes by an administrator of the Labor Relations Act.

J. C. Adams, general counsel for the Central Ontario Labor Relations Institute, made the recommendations in a submission to the Rand royal commission investigating labor relations in Ontario.

Mr. Adams recommended abolition by legislation of all picketing except when specifically permitted by the Labor Relations Act administrator in granting permission to strike. The nature and extent of picketing, when permitted, should be prescribed by the administrator, he said.

Before granting approval for a strike or lockout, he said, the LRA administrator should first require the parties to resort to conciliation. In cases where the inconvenience of the public outweighs all other considerations, permission should be denied.

Sympathy strikes, lockouts and strikes resulting from jurisdictional disputes should be outlawed, Mr. Adams said.

But, he said, strikes during the term of a union contract should be permitted because genuine grievances may arise which cannot be solved by arbitration. Such strikes now are outlawed in Ontario.

The lawyer said licensing unions would prevent operation of organizations which are not true trades unions, would confer complete legal status on unions and would facilitate law enforcement.

He said picketing in labor disputes was originally permitted "on the assumption that strikers had a right to obtain and communicate information"

But he said that as a means of communication, picketing is "as obsolete as the town crier" and is no longer an essential part of a strike.

In calling for stronger law enforcement, Mr. Adams said the Ontario Labor Relations Board is not permitted under present law "to initiate any proceedings for the purpose of invoking the penalties prescribed by the act for most offences."

In cases where the board declares a strike illegal or grants a disputant leave to prosecute, "the board is more concerned with getting the strike settled than with enforcing the law. . . ."

He called on the government to assume "complete responsibility" for the enforcement.

Beat Centennial Twice

Moira Hoopsters Win

BY BARRY CAMPBELL

Moira's bantam and junior Trojans played host to teams from Centennial High School last night and emerged with a double victory. Both games were completely one sided as the bantams won 54-22 and the juniors won by an even bigger margin 81-36.

The first quarter of the bantam game was completely controlled by Moira as they moved into the early lead. However Centennial picked up in the next two quarters and fought to relinquish the lead. In the final quarter the Trojan team once again took command of the play and they went on to win 53-22.

Paul Hayes led the winners piling up 22 points. He was aided by Dave Thompson, Bert Loveless and Martin Wormald who each scored 5 points. Frank Johnson was the high scorer for Centennial as he hit for 13 points.

Following last week's disappointing show against B.C.I., Moira's juniors made a much improved showing in their defeat of Centennial's junior team.

The first quarter made the difference in the teams rather evident as Moira hit for 23 points while Centennial was held to only 1 point. Moira's Bill Probert was outstanding in the early portions of the game as he led his team into a large lead. Centennial finally gained a degree of organization in the second half and they fought back to slightly reduce Moira's lead. This pattern carried over into the third quarter of play and going into the final portion of the game Moira carried a 54-27 lead. Once again Moira moved to dominate play and in the fourth quarter they scored 27 points to their opponents 9.

Michael Chalmers was the biggest spark to the junior Trojans in the last half and scored a total of 26 points for the game.

Minor Hockey Results

Wings whitewashed the Leafs 3-0 and Rangers tripped Canadiens 6-2 in a pair of BMHA midget games last night.

Goalie P. Hopkins chalked up the Wings' shutout. Their scoring support from Sero, Drummond and Mulvihill with a goal each. Clark and Sero drew assists.

Thompson led the Rangers to victory with two goals while Ioners were scored by Murray, R. Cousins, Arnott and B. Cousins. Murray had two assists, Budge, Elmy and Wilkinson one each. Morrison and Potts scored for Canadiens. Lambert and Revill had helpers.

Shutouts were the order of the day in the BMHA novice division.

Dukes blanked Police Rangers 1-0, Wings shutout the Canadiens 5-0 and Tip Top Canadiens whitewashed the Aces by a big 9-0 count.

Rick Hutchison was in goal for ANAF Dukes in their tight win. Peter Ijeisz triggered the game's only goal.

Brent Babcock registered the Wings' shutout. Robert McCoy and Stephen Hedge were the goal-getters. Dean MacCormack and A. Huard drew assists.

Edward Finlan got plenty of scoring help while blanking the Aces. Canadiens' goals went to Rick Barbeau who enjoyed a four-goal night, Terry Calnan and Pat Wright, each with two, and Gord Forgie.

GORDIE HOWE'S HOCKEY

With the All-Star Game being held at mid-season this year, I've been asked if there isn't a chance lumpers may be higher than usual because more than half the schedule has been played. The inference, of course, is that some hard feelings may have developed since the season started.

The best way to answer that is to say there are never hard feelings off the ice. Always remember we never hold a grudge . . . or never forget.

Seriously, though, it's a thrill playing in the All-Star games. There is the prestige of it and the opportunity of playing with the best in the league.

During the season you have a pretty good idea of whether or not you are going to make it. Like the years I won both the Hart and the scoring championship, I was sure I would be named, but I can't describe it, it just gives you a wonderful feeling to see your name when the teams are announced.

And what could be better than playing on a line with Bobby Hull and Jean Beliveau. You know you are with the best.

Of course, the All-Stars do not have a chance to practice together, but it's not hard to adjust to the other players in the lineup. You discuss things. You always talk with your linemates and you might tell them "Don't look for me in the crease because I generally like to play about 25 feet out." Things of that nature.

Personally I have some pretty fond memories of last year's game in Montreal. I don't think I could all be like that one. If you remember, we defeated the Canadiens, 5-2, and the part that made me especially happy was that I managed to get two goals and two assists.

But then I was playing with a pair of pros, Hull and Normie Ullman. It's tough to miss with linemates like that.

EDITOR'S NOTE

Going into this year's All-Star Game, Gordie Howe takes the following records with him: Most games played, 127; most goals, 9; most assists, 7 (shared with Red Kelly); Most points, 16; Most penalties, 9 (shared with Gus Mortson); Most penalty minutes, 21.

Town Council Holds Inaugural Meeting

CAMPBELLFORD — Campbellford town council held its inaugural meeting Monday morning with Rev. O. G. Barrow of Christ Church conducting a brief devotional service.

The regular meeting was held on Monday evening. Three new members sitting on council this year are David Wilson, Dunte Pace and A. C. Newman.

Reeve Free, chairman of the nominating committee gave the following report of committees for the year, with the first named as chairmen: road and bridge — Sharp, Pace, Free; property — Newman, Pace, Free; finance — Free, Wilson, Sharp; welfare — Nicholas, Dunk, Newman; legal — Pace, Newman, Nicholas; police — Dunk, Sharp, Deputy Reeve Locke; fire, water and light — Deputy Reeve Locke, Wilson, Nicholas; industrial — Wilson, Dunk, Deputy Reeve Locke.

REPRESENTATIVES . . . . . APPOINTED

Under the new Public Library Act the board of Campbellford Public Library has been reduced in number from ten members to four. They are Mrs. A. Whitfield, Miss W. Hay, Miss M. Anderson and Mr. E. M. Ibey.

Local Court of Refision members appointed were Reeve Free, Deputy Reeve Locke, Councillors Newman, Pace and Wilson.

Representatives to L.O.D.A.'s Reeve Free and to the hospital board, Mayor Tanner.

Council representatives on the recreation commission are Pace and Wilson; on the community centre board, Dunk, Sharp and Mayor Tanner.

Delegates to the Good Roads convention are Councillors Sharp and Wilson; to the Mayors' and Reeves' convention in Niagara Falls, May 14 to 17, Mayor Tanner.

Discussion took place regarding a letter from the Ontario Water Resources Commission stating that O.W.R.C. would not finance the installation of a water main to the new sewage disposal plant 15 to be built by O.W.R.C. as excavation could be used on different levels by both sewer and water main and as sewer cost would be borne by O.W.R.C., some council members felt the two operations could be carried less expensively if surveyy and tender operation could be combined.

As no building operation has been started as yet by O.W.R.C. the letter was filed.

NEW BRIDGE DISCUSSED

The construction of a new bridge over the Trent River and canal in Campbellford has been under discussion for some months. Reeve Free explained that when the present bridge was built, the cost was split three ways in varying proportions among the Provincial government, the Counties Council and the town of Campbellford. This arrangement was established by an act of Parliament and is still in force.

At the present time when it is necessary to construct a new bridge, Reeve Free said he thought Counties Council should be requested to have this act repealed. Other municipalities do not have to give any financial assistance to a bridge built over a river in their municipality. The Federal government will give a grant on a high level bridge but nothing on a low level bridge with a lift portion over the canal, because the lift portion and maintenance is a Federal responsibility.

Councillor Newman criticized the delay in construction as the counties engineer had previously declared the present bridge unsafe for heavy traffic. Reeve Free sponsored a motion to contact Counties Council as soon as possible to have act of Parliament removed and further negotiations take place as soon as possible.

Mitchell Construction Company, builders of the new Community Centre, asked for eight per cent interest on outstanding accounts with a time limit of three months. The centre, started last year, with the Campbellford portion $38,000 and Seymour township portion $28,000. These debentures were approved some time ago by the O.M.B.

Council is waiting for written approval from Seymour township as to the amount they will assume of the increased costs. The building is estimated at $70,000 three - quarters completed. Councillor Sharp said continued expenditure of money on Campbellford Council to too great an extent, Mayor Tanner said council would wait for word from Seymour Township Council before calling a joint meeting.

An ambulance service in Campbellford is supplied by the Hastings Legion it was decided at, regardless of age or disability.

DOG CONTROL DEBATED

Councillor Newman again brought before council matters concerning dog control in the town. As dogs picked up in Campbellford are taken to Stirling, Mr. Newman had tried to visit the pound in Stirling and had been refused entrance. Mr. Newman asked council for authority to visit the pound. It was refused.

Clerk E. M. Ibey and Mayor Tanner were appointed co-signers for bank business and permission was given to borrow up to $15,000 for council purposes until sufficient taxes came in.

Reserves Eventually to Go' Indian Leader Complains

OTTAWA (CP) — Governments of the white man have failed continually to keep their agreements with Indians and treaties signed in good faith "have been desecrated to the point where they are barely legible," an Indian chief charged Wednesday.

Ted Plain, leader of a band at Sarnia, told the Union of Ontario Indians that those same governments are dealing with Indians in such a way that eventually there will be "an abolition of Indian reserves."

He was critical of agreements last year between the federal and Ontario governments whereby the province would take over certain welfare and community development programs formerly the sole responsibility of Ottawa.

"We were approached with a finished project," Chief Plain said of the federal agreement with Ontario. He predicted that Indians eventually would be subject solely to municipal authority rather than federal.

John McGilp, Ontario regional supervisor for the Indian affairs department, told the meeting of more than 75 persons that under the agreement "we have protected the rights of Indians to choose for themselves."

Chief Wilmer Naduan of the Cape Croker band near Owen Sound said "poverty has overtaken our people" as the result of federal programs.

He said that in the Ontario-Ottawa agreement an attempt was being made to get a "better life for the people."

SEES UPLIFT AS DUTY

"It is a duty for my people to see that their future is better."

Chief Naduan, chairman of the two-day talks which end today, urged Indians to "please find out everything you can to take advantage of welfare programs."

He offered the advice after indications were given that some Indians are not aware of the full welfare rights.

Alfred Jones, also of the Cape Croker band, said many Indian communities are isolated, Federal and provincial authorities would go a long way in helping the Indian if accessible industries providing employment could be encouraged.

Ralph Bruyere of Fort Frances said the Indian hadn't anything to celebrate in the last 100 years but he could look forward to the future.

Chief Plain said the white man had "heaped abuse" on the Indian while trying to impose on him a civilization that was "utterly foreign."

His people had been subjugated by the white man "and the same government that subjugated the Indian should be made to look after him."

Today, the union, representing more than a third of Ontario's 25,000 Indians, will present a brief to Indian Affairs Minister Laing.

Headache Pill Controls Planned

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—New safety measures are being studied and may be applied in Canada this year to headache remedies, apparently the greatest poison danger in the country.

A special advisory committee examining the problem is expected to make safety recommendations to the federal health department this spring as a result of a year-long study of the problem.

Informants said that among the possible safety steps being considered are limitations on the number of pills in a bottle, safety caps and drastic warnings about keeping pills out of the reach of children.

In the United States, the federal food and drug directorate has reached voluntary agreement with the drug industry and the medical profession on such safety measures. They include reducing the number of flavored children's headache tablets per bottle to 36 from 50. The limitation applies to preparations containing acetylsalicylic acid.

OVERDOSE IS 35

One U.S. study indicated that the peak of severe illness or death from such pill poisonings among children came when 35 or more pills were consumed.

The U.S. standards also will require a new warning in addition to the present injunction to keep medicines out of the hands of children. Labels will have to state:

"Caution—cap is 100-per cent childproof. In case of accidental overdose, contact a physician immediately."

Safety caps have been a controversial subject in the poison safety field for some time.

A U.S. expert, Dr. Alan K. Done, associate director of pediatrics and director of the Poison Information and Therapy Center at the University of Utah, advocates individual wrapping of pills in strips or sheets on the theory that children are likely to lose interest or be detected before taking an overdose.

MISHAPS INCREASE

Poisonings reported to Canadian poison centres have been rising—23,000 in 1964, 32,000 in 1965 and higher than that last year although complete figures aren't yet available.

Federal authorities say 25 per cent of poisonings reported in 1964 involved headache tablets. Eighty-four per cent of these were among children age five or less and 33 per cent in the years of greatest child curiosity —two and under.

However, the authorities caution that while these figures are reports mostly from children's hospitals they don't necessarily represent a full picture of poisonings and some aren't serious cases.

Rand Is Concerned About U.S. Control

TORONTO (CP)—Royal Commissioner Ivan C. Rand said Wednesday he is concerned that some of Canada's international unions must submit jurisdictional disputes to Washington.

Mr. Rand, 82, retired puisne judge of Ontario Supreme Court, said he was concerned that labor had not yet reached the stage where it could settle "such insignificant disputes" here. He is conducting a one-man inquiry into labor relations in Ontario.

He told David Archer, president of the Ontario Federation of Labor, that "if you can't settle jurisdictional disputes, you'll have difficulty settling questions with management."

The commissioner made the comments during discussion with Mr. Archer on jurisdictional disputes.

The labor federation president said there are complex factors involved in such disputes and said that sometimes there have been conflicting decisions by the Ontario Jurisdictional Disputes Commission and a board in Washington to which building trades unions refer their disputes.

The Washington board is made up of labor and management representatives. The Ontario Jurisdictional Disputes Commission was scrapped last year and its role taken over by the Ontario Labor Relations Board.

Mr. Rand said: "I'm afraid I am tainted with a certain Canadianism. It has a humorous tone that they have to go to Washington to settle something that's insignificant."

Wednesday's proceedings completed questioning of spokesmen for the Ontario Federation of Labor. Today, the third day of the inquiry, Mr. Rand will receive a submission from L. C. Adams, general counsel for the Central Ontario Labor Relations Institute.

Praises Flow Like Sweet Wine as House Lauds Sir John A.

By KEN CLARK

OTTAWA (CP)—Tributes to Sir John A. Macdonald flowed like sweet wine Wednesday in a Commons oratorical flourish marking the 152nd anniversary of the birthday of Canada's first prime minister.

Back - benchers joined party leaders in the all-sides salve to the "architect of Confederation," a Scots-born immigrant who died in 1891 at 76.

External Affairs Minister Martin said the existence of Canada itself was due more to Macdonald than any other man. NDP Leader Douglas summed up Macdonald as an "immigrant who made good and made Canada in the process."

If it was a day for Macdonald, it was also one for Conservative Leader Diefenbaker, the ranking Commons expert on Old Tomorrow.

Mr. Diefenbaker, a collector of Macdonald mementoes, lamented that Macdonald's birth date, Jan. 11, had not been set aside as a national holiday. The government had declared it a day of commemoration only for the Centennial Year, without a holiday.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that too often Canadians forget their own dramatic days while other countries remember theirs.

"I had hoped that we would set aside the natal day of Sir John, the founder of this country, as a national holiday.

"Lincoln did his part, in preserving the United States, torn apart by civil war. So did Washington, the father of his country. Their natal days are remembered."

Mr. Diefenbaker said Macdonald possessed a sense of humor without which the conduct of Parliament would be impossible.

One anecdote told by Mr. Diefenbaker made an oblique reference to Macdonald's drinking habits.

"I can imagine him being here today, were he able to be with us, looking at the government without a majority.

"At one time in his day he had a government with a majority of two. 'Why' he said, 'it is not even a drinking majority.'"

While other leaders of his time included Bismarck and Lincoln united their countries in bloodshed, Macdona'd did so "by consultation, co-operation, compromise and common sense."

Macdonald's contribution included the establishment of the principle that Canada would be an independent nation "willing to co-operate in freedom, but insisting on the right that policies for Canada be made by Canadians."

TOOK HIS TIME

The first prime minister never did today what he thought could be achieved tomorrow with co-operation following consultation, Mr. Diefenbaker said.

Mr. Diefenbaker concluded by quoting the poetical tribute in the British magazine, Punch, after Macdonald's death. It ended:

"Canada's Old Tomorrow lives today

"In unforgetting hearts, and nothing fears

"The long tomorrow of the coming years."

Mr. Martin delivered the government's tribute in the absence of Prime Minister Pearson, attending another Macdonald ceremony at Kingston, Ont.

He said the Conservative prime minister recognized the touchstone of government policy to be an understanding and co-operation between the English and French founding peoples in Canada. Canada was still grappling with unity problems.

CREATED NATION

Mr. Douglas said it was Macdonald's genius that produced the framework of Confederation and made Canada a single nation in 1867.

"More important, it was his patience and persistance that built on that framework what is now Canada," he said.

Macdonald faced two big problems when he led Canada: The possibility of disintegration from within and absorption from without by the U.S. Those problems in substance were still with Canadians.

Creditiste Leader Real Caouette said Macdonald wanted to build a strong and united nation. Confederation had its faults, but it had brought benefits to Canadians of both languages.

Quebec separatists were wrong when they spoke of "100 years of injustice."

He said young separatists who engage in demonstrations in Montreal are in the hands of university professors, from "Marxist countries" who "teach revolution."

Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson expressed the hope that Canadians "will show more respect in future for their constitution and their historical heroes.

Douglas Alkenbrack (PC — Prince Edward - Lennox) followed the party leaders to remember Sir John as Parliament's first member for the old constituency of Lennox, west of Kingston.

David Gross (L — Victoria) drew the attention of the House to the fact that Sir John

Efficiency of Crossing Barrier Is Questioned

DORION, Que. (CP)—Jurors and lawyers at a coroner's inquest Wednesday questioned the efficiency of CNR level crossing equipment.

In the hot seat was Lewis Hawkins, 38, of Ottawa, chief signal officer of the board of transport commissioners.

The inquest began Monday into the Oct. 7 collision between a CNR freight train and a charactered bus that caused the death of 20 young persons in the bus at a level crossing on one of the main streets in this community 25 miles west of Montreal.

The westbound train hammered into the bus at 7:30 p.m., split it in half and dragged the flaming portion 2,000 feet down the line. The crash caused the immediate death of 18 teenagers and driver Marcel Fleury, 20. Another student died of injuries eight days later.

Mr. Hawkins first described the level crossing equipment in use at Canadian level crossings as "fail-safe."

Later, under extensive questioning from Judge Marc-Andre Blain, several jurors, lawyers and Crown Prosecutor Claude Nolin, he admitted the equipment could have drawbacks under certain situations.

COULD LIFT GATE

He said in answer to a question that a boy of 13 or 14 could lift a barrier to an elevation of 45 degrees—sufficient elevation at the Dorion crossing, to permit a bus to pass underneath.

Judge Blain's question evidently was prompted by testimony Tuesday night from crash survivor Carole Trudeau, 16, that she saw two boys aged about 13 or 14 standing facing the barrier seconds before it swung up to let the bus move into the collision position. She said she looked through the window of the bus and saw the boy nearest the bus with his arms underneath the barrier as it moved up.

Mr. Nolin asked Mr. Hawkins whether the use of a crossing by about 110 trains a day could possibly make the barrier mechanism go "berserk."

The signals expert said railroads had teams of expert maintenance men checking the equipment regularly.

"Each barrier also has a locked box in its mechanism which records the number of times the barrier is activated. It does not record any other information."

He told one juror that "a failure is highly improbable" and another who asked if one bar could go up while another remained down: "Outside of malicious tampering I would have to say no to that question."

RECALLS EXPERIENCE

To another questioner he said that "in 28 years" he had never seen the system malfunction to allow a barrier to be up as a train passed.

Mr. Hawkins said a "fail-safe circuit" means that "the barrier equipment is built and wired according to the best scientific method so that any part of it that fails will result in the gate being down and across the road."

He said tests by a team from his department that began Oct. 14 showed that the barrier signal circuit system was operating correctly. Two CNR trains were used to simulate the events leading up to the tragedy.

Evidence was heard Wednesday for the first time from the crews of the two trains that passed through the crossing at the time of the collision.

The chief engineman on a CNR passenger train that sped through the crossing at 60 miles an hour moments before the accident told of seeing five young boys on the tracks at the crossing while his eastbound train was 300 feet away.

"Three ran to the south and two ran to the north," said Harold Bohart, 47, of Montreal.

The fireman on the 101-car freight train which approached the crossing westbound at 55 miles an hour and hit the bus said he shouted "speak it" to chief engineer John Luchuk when the train was 400 feet from the crossing.

Fireman Harold Nicholson, 45, of Brockville, had just seen the bus slowly moving over the tracks into their path.

Mr. Nicholson, sitting on the left side of the engine with a good view forward, had to tell Mr. Luchuk of the danger because the chief engineer was on the right side and could not see the crossing at the time.

"Immediately he applied emergency braking, grabbed the whistle and started blowing. He didn't know what in the world was going on."

The inquest continues today.

Doctors Fear Pill May Bring More VD Cases

OTTAWA (CP) — Doctors are beginning to worry about the effect of contraceptive" pills on venereal disease rates in Canada.

While the VD figures show a relatively little increase or decrease, some doctors say they probably aren't a true reflection of the extent of the disease.

They estimate that thousands of single women are taking contraceptive pills, opening the way to greater promiscuity and consequently greater danger of infection and spread of venereal disease.

The biggest danger appears to be gonorrhea, once curable in 24 hours with penicilin. The bacteria are building up resistance to the drug and now it may take up to three weeks to effect a cure.

"I've seen only one case of syphilis in 15 years but I see lots of gonorrhea," says one physician. "There's lots of that around and it's spread a lot easier than syphilis."

A Canadian doctor says he believes many unmarried girls are taking contraceptive pills and are getting them from physicians.

The doctor is faced with the difficult problem of deciding whether it's better to give the pill to an apparently promiscuous unmarried girl or deny it to her at the risk of pregnancy and birth of unwanted children.

The decision is complicated by worry about the effect this may be having on the true VD rates.

The federal health department reports that the number of cases of syphilis increased slightly between 1958 and 1963 but has been declining in the last few years.

INCIDENCE DOWN IN 1966

There were 2,297 cases reported in 1965. Last year 1,940 cases were reported up to Dec. 24, compared with 2,349 in the corresponding period of 1965.

No particular trend has been noticeable in the rate of gonorrhea. In 1963, the rate was 102 per 100,000 population. It rose to 105 in 1964 and slipped back to 103 in 1965 when 20,137 cases were reported. To Dec. 24 last year 20,802 cases were reported compared with 19,829 in the corresponding period of 1965.

Sharp Unveils Plan to Insure Deposits In Banks, Trusts and Loan Companies

OTTAWA (CP)—The legislative wheels started a slow roll Wednesday toward Canada's first system of insurance on the public's deposits in banks, trusts and loan companies.

The government is not putting a high priority on its bill to set up the Canada Deposit Insurance Corp. It will probably not go back on the Commons agenda this session.

But Finance Minister Sharp supplied details of the bill in the Commons Wednesday so that a parliamentary committee can consider it as legislation complementing proposed changes in the Bank Act.

He also promised action on a joint basis with the provinces to protect the public interest in other ways—through new securities regulations and improved control over finance companies.

The deposit insurance scheme has three goals:

—To guarantee the safety of individual accounts up to $20,000.

—To provide loans to financial institutions that may run into trouble meeting their obligations.

—To improve minimum financial standards of deposit-taking institutions across the country.

The insurance will apply at two levels, and it is this distinction that provoked opposition MPs to complain that the government is treating the whole issue timidly.

For the chartered banks and federally-incorporated trust and loan companies — institutions that lie within federal jurisdiction—the insurance will be mandatory.

For provincially-incorporated trust and loan companies, the scheme is available on a voluntary basis. These institutions can join if they want to, and if their provinces agree.

All member institutions will have to meet minimum standards. They will be subject to federal inspection a lever Ottawa will use to upgrade practices of the so - called near-banks.

The reaction of all parties to Mr. Sharp's statement struck one theme—that Ottawa should move boldly to assert direct control over all financial institutions.

The $20,000 maximum for an account compares with $15,000 in the U.S. insurance scheme, now more than 30 years old. The effective U.S. premium rate is 1-32nd of one per cent of deposits. The Canadian rate will be 1-30th of one per cent, with provision for lower premiums if the deposit insurance fund grows favorably.

The corporation will have an authorized capital of $10,000,000 and access to as much as $200,000,000 to assist members in "times of crisis."

The scheme will also cover two Quebec saving banks but not credit unions and caisses populaires. All the usual forms of savings and deposit accounts would be insurable, but formal definition of what deposits can be insured would be subject to change by cabinet so that new financial instruments could be brought under the legislation in future.

The government will choose a chairman of "proven financial experience from outside the public service" to head a five-man board of directors. The other four members will be the governor of the Bank of Canada, the deputy minister of finance, the superintendent of insurance and the inspector-general of banks.

Marcel Lambert (PC — Edmonton West) said that by defining the word "banking" in the Bank Act, the government could bring under its control all deposit - taking institutions in Canada.

Andrew Brewin (NDP—Toronto Greenwood) said insurance should be made compulsory for all institutions. If a province challenged the step, the government should refer the case to the Supreme Court of Canada for a decision on jurisdiction.

The Commons passed the government's resolutions on the scheme and gave first reading to the bill itself. The House returns today to clause-by-clause study of the government's transportation bill.

Another Week of Wondering

Teachers' Strike Likely

MONTREAL (CP)—The parents of about 217,000 pupils in the Montreal area have been told by the schools to keep their children at home Friday because there appears to be little chance of averting a planned strike of 8,000 teachers.

The teachers, employed by the Montreal Catholic School Commission, have been told by their union leaders not to report to school Friday unless they hear to the contrary from their executive.

Hopes for a settlement dimmed after the teachers' negotiators turned down a new wage offer by the commission, making the strike appear inevitable.

Parents, meanwhile, have sent an urgent appeal to Quebec Premier Daniel Johnson and Education Minister Jean-Jacques Bertrand calling for government intervention.

They asked the government to appoint a special mediator to help resolve the contract dispute.

The appeal was made in a telegram signed by Mr. Cecile Jacob, president of a joint committee representing parent-teacher associations and other groups.

The strike would close 500 elementary and high schools.

The Montreal Catholic commission also administers Catholic public education in several suburbs as well as in Montreal itself.

About 700 French and English - speaking teachers employed by Chambly County Regional School Commission, just east of Montreal, have also voted to strike but no date has been set. Their strike would affect about 12,000 pupils in 14 municipalities.

In the adjoining St. Hubert area, 350 teachers have been on strike since Nov. 24, keeping 10,000 students out of classes.

Teachers in the Montreal area are represented by the 7,500-member Alliance des professeurs catholiques de Montreal and the 1,500-member Federation of English-speaking Catholic teachers, who hold a joint bargaining licence.

They are seeking a two-year contract with an average wage increase of 18 per cent and improved working conditions.

Current salaries range from $3,800 a year for a beginner teacher with two years' professional training after high school graduation to $10,400 a year for a teacher with two advanced degrees and 14 years' classroom experience.

The teachers are seeking a salary range of $4,400 to $12,200. The commission has offered a 1966-67 scale of $3,900 to $10,500 and a 1967 scale of $4,000 to $10,700.

The latest offer Tuesday would have given a further $300 a year to teachers in the top two categories on the scale and a revision of definitions of other categories, with all increases effective immediately.

Warning Given By OPP Re Road Conditions

NAPANEE — With road conditions slippery this time of year motorists are warned to follow other vehicles at a safe distance, warns the OPP detachment of Napanee.

In their effort to keep roads and highways safe, officers of this detachment spent 945 man hours patrolling 8,055 miles, in the first week of 1967. During that time they laid 18 charges under the Highway Traffic Act, performed 49 vehicle safety checks and issued 486 warnings. In addition they investigated 18 property damage accidents, in which two persons received minor injuries. A number of these accidents occurred last Saturday during the heavy snow storm and the resultant slippery driving conditions.

There is every hope that the two safety programs instituted in the H. H. Langford School Bus Safety Patrol and Bell Bus the other 31 schools in this area.

During the week, officers investigated six thefts, one break and enter, eight disturbances and one case of harassment, delivered three compassionate messages, and complied with one request for assistance.

During the 144½ hours local officers spent in court 12 convictions were registered. Only one charge under the Liquor Control Act was laid during the week.

T. E. Middleton Heads High School Board

NAPANEE — The Napanee and district Collegiate Institute Board held its initial meeting for 1967, Tuesday evening, Dr. A. E. Pyke, chairman of the Board, asked that his name not be included among those nominated for chairman for this year. The work took up too much time and he had been forced to neglect his practice last year because of this.

T. E. Middleton, last year's vice-chairman was elected to the position, and Stanley Allore will be vice-chairman. Mr. Middleton is a county council appointee, and Mr. Allore represents the Township of Camden.

Representatives Appointed at Comcil Meet

NAPANEE — At Monday night's first Council meeting of the Napanee Town Council several appointments were made. Deputy Reeve Knight was named as reeve, is the town's representative to the Napanee Area Conservation Authority. Mr. Knight had been secretary of the body for several years and is conversant with its workings.

Stewart Esdon was re-appointed to Napanee and district Collegiate Institute Board. He was last year's chairman of the property committee and was a member of the management and of the rules and regulations committee.

Because of required changes in the Library Board, Deputy Reeve Knight and members now is allowed only five, of which the mayor is an ex-officio member. Appointed as representatives were Mrs. Jack Brett, Mrs. Ralph Ham, Mrs. Norman Hutchison, and Judge G. F. Smith.

David Roffey and Ralph Bell were appointed to the Town Planning Board for another three-year term. Mayor Gordon MacGregor are the other non-council members. Donald Holmes and William McAllister were appointed to represent the council.

Critics Rap Everybody

Author Fires Bolt at Director Over Centennial Play

OTTAWA (CP)—Theatre critics give The Centennial Play a rough reception Wednesday night and the author-in-chief said he was staggered by the premiere performance.

Of the five authors, only Robertson Davies attended the premiere, and he left the reception that followed without speaking to director Peter Boretski.

He complained in an interview that Boretski had done "everything from tampering to completely rewriting" the series of regional sketches.

Boretski has no feeling for the spoken word," said the playwright. "He seemed to despise the material he worked with."

At the other end of a room filled with the black-tie audience of 500 that attended the opening, director Boretski defended rewriting the play but said it was heavily cut "so we got the essence rather than the verbiage."

An amateur cast of 55 Ottawa Little Theatre players presented the $35,000 production, which is being paid for by the federal government.

Centennial officials said it was written for amateur troupes — and 60 have asked for the script. It will be distributed without cost.

The writers were Davies, who co-ordinated the work, Halifax surgeon - playwright Arthur Murphy, Yves Theriault of Montreal, W. O. Mitchell of High River, Alta., and Eric Nicol of Vancouver.

Audrey Ashley of the Ottawa Citizen said that aside from "a uniform level of dullness" the script lacked unity.

Marilal Dassylva of Montreal La Presse found it a "bastardized, hybrid, bloodless" work that reminded him of a college revue.

Ron Evans of the Toronto Telegram called the play a bomb.

Herb Whittaker of the Toronto Globe and Mail found Dr. Murphy's pre-Confederation debate between Nova Scotians Joseph Howe and Sir Charles Tupper "uninteresting" and Nova Scotia's B.C. saloon satire "flat."

Mitchell's "gullible westerners listening first to a medicine man and then a rainmaker, finally to a seller of genuine gopher tails" smacked more of Oklahoma than of Saskatchewan, he said.

Both the Ontario and Quebec sections drew some laughter from the audience and some good words from the critics.

Whittaker noted that only the "lively" Quebec scene lacked period costumes. It had actress Charlotte Gobeil in platinum hair and silver mini-dress telling Canada "to recognize its most swinging province."

Robertson Davies' scene in s 1912 Ontario school room with a huge Union Jack "won some genuine laughter." The accent was on arithmetic and the evils of alcohol.

Davies himself reacted grimly to the satirical interpretation and said that wasn't his intent at all.

"The director treated us like incompetents," he said.

Canadian Ballerina Requires Bed Rest

LONDON (CP) — Lynn Seymour, 21-year-old Canadian ballerina who left the Royal Ballet here last fall to become leading dancer with the Berlin troupe, has returned to London for treatment of an ailment which is likely to curtail her performances indefinitely.

Miss Seymour is suffering from glandular fever, a debilitating illness that requires lengthy rest and convalescence. She is staying at the home of Georgina Patterson, a British dancer and long - time friend at the Royal Ballet.

Speaking by bedside telephone today, Miss Seymour said she first began noticing symptoms of fatigue and nausea about six weeks ago in Berlin. When the symptoms failed to clear up, she flew to London late last week to consult a specialist who had previously treated her for thyroid trouble.

He ordered her to bed but could give no indication of how long she must remain there.

"The big danger, apparently, is in trying to start again too soon," she said. "It's better to rest a little longer than necessary and take no chances of making it worse."

Miss Seymour said she is in frequent contact with Berlin by telephone. "It's chaos there, I gather, because everyone has to be shuffled into new roles."

She had already begun preparation for a new production of Tchaikovsky's Sleeping Beauty and said she still hopes to take part in the premiere, scheduled for May.

Daughter of a Penticton, B.C., dentist, Miss Seymour came to London 12 years ago to train at Covent Garden and graduated to starring roles in recent years. She went to Berlin at the invitation of British choreographer Kenneth Macmillan, who had left the Royal Ballet shortly before to become ballet director at the Berlin Opera House.

CBC Film To Review Retarded

A special CBC documentary, One In Every Hundred, dealing with the problem of mental retardation, will be telecast in the regular time spot of Sunday at 10 p.m., Jan. 15.

In addition to showing what is being done to help the 15,000 mentally defective children born in Canada each year, the film studies the plight of retarded children at home.

Cameras will focus on various methods of care and training in the two nations, and reveal the obstacles which must be overcome in providing retarded children with adequate and progressive centres for treatment.

Quintie area viewers will be able to watch the program on channel 11, Kingston, or on Peterborough's channel 12.

Score for Doctor Zhivago Now All-time Top Seller

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Composer Maurice Jarre met another deadline last month, as in his custom.

The amazing Frenchman recorded the final cadenza for the MGM auto racing spectacle, Grand Prix, a few days before the film received its premiere in Hollywood.

"This has been a crazy year," he said. "I have written five complete scores — Grand Prix, The Professionals, Is Paris Burning, Night of The Generals and Grand Prix. I also composed a long ballet on The Hunchback of Notre Dame for the Paris opera.

"Now I think I would like to rest for six months. The only trouble is that after a week's rest, I am anxious to get back to work."

On the basis of one score alone, Jarre doesn't need to work for a long time. His compositions for Doctor Zhivago have become the all-time top seller for the score of a dramatic film, dominating album sales all year with a total of 1,000,000 copies sold. That, too, was a hurry-up job.

"I spent two months on the location in Spain, which helped me get the atmosphere and feeling of the film," he said. "But the actual composition and scoring took place in six weeks in David Lean's studio tying Zhivago together for the premiere."

Jarre has come a long way for a lad who never played an instrument until he was 16. Young Maurice listened to his sister's piano lessons in their Paris home and decided he would seek a career in music rather than engineering.

Networks Struggle to Attract Biggest Audiences on Sunday

NEW YORK (AP)—The big battle next Sunday, as far as CBS and NBC are concerned, is not between Green Bay Packers and Kansas City Chiefs at the Super Bowl. It is between the two networks and the struggle is to attract the biggest audience.

This struggle is reflected in the constant promotion and frantic plugging of the game that is currently cluttering the networks.

The game itself is a pool arrangement to which CBS contributes and produces. Crews have been assigned. So the basic picture of the game will be the same on NBC and CBS.

This leaves the viewer to decide which channel provides the clearest picture and which announcers he prefers — Frank Gifford and his CBS colleagues or Paul Christman and his hookers on NBC.

NBC is more worried about the outcome of the Sunday battle than CBS, mostly because it regularly broadcasts Green Bay games and pro football League. A younger league that does not have the same big-city coverage built by the National Football League, which has been covered by CBS. Hence, the NBC executives fear, will result in hardcore NFL fans turning to their accustomed station, a CBS affiliate.

This rivalry is similar to the fierce news battle between NBC's Huntley - Brinkley and CBS' Walter Cronkite. Both early evening programs are basically similar in news coverage. The viewer's choice usually is a personal one—and it usually works out close to a tie.

Sportscasters Christman and Gifford are both former profes-sional football stars. Their partners in reporting the game are all seasoned in the specialty.

Both are making a strong bid for the casual viewers by announcing they will avoid pursuing football jargon like "shiner" and "red dog", Gifford says he is aiming his commentary directly at the Fan. Christman says he will keep in mind some advice received early in his broadcasting career: "Always talk to the ladies."

Non-fans might even enjoy the Sunday afternoon game if they remember the advice given by both experts: Keep your eye on the ball.

CBC Film To Review Retarded

A special CBC documentary, One In Every Hundred, dealing with the problem of mental retardation, will be telecast in the regular time spot of Sunday at 10 p.m., Jan. 15.

In addition to showing what is being done to help the 15,000 mentally defective children born in Canada each year, the film studies the plight of retarded children at home.

Cameras will focus on various methods of care and training in the two nations, and reveal the obstacles which must be overcome in providing retarded children with adequate and progressive centres for treatment.

Quintie area viewers will be able to watch the program on channel 11, Kingston, or on Peterborough's channel 12.

Dozens Plays Given Centennial Funds

OTTAWA (CP) — Thady O'Sullivan.

As a Centennial Year play, it may leave the nation limping.

More than a dozen new plays—The Charm of Thady O'Sullivan among them—are being produced in 1967 with the aid of federal subsidies.

If they're as inspired as some of their titles, they should pay theatrical dividends.

Thady, is one of five new plays being tried out by the Holiday Children's Theatre of Vancouver. Two of them will be taken on a Canadian tour next fall.

Vancouver humorist Eric Nicol has contributed an eartoucher called Beware of the Quickly Who. Paul St. Pierre, writer of the fine Caribou Country TV series, has written one called Skeleton.

The other plays being tried out by the Holiday Children's Theatre are The Riddle Machine by Betty Lambert and The Magic Donkey by Luan Aaliani.

St. Pierre has written another play—How to Run the Country—being produced by the Vancouver Playhouse and set to open March 2.

The Playhouse will also stage two other new Canadian plays, one titled Countdown to Armageddon and written by James Clavell.

Grants as high as $40,000, as low as $300, have gone from the federal centennial commission's performing arts division to authors and companies.

The known and the unknown are being helped.

NEGRO'S NEXT SUBJECT

One of Canada's older, quieter minority groups will see itself in Halifax Negro David Clifton's historical play Coming Here to Stay. It has been written for production in Nova Scotia's Negro communities.

The one full-fledged federal venture into theatre came Jan. 11 with the premiere of The Centennial Play at Ottawa's Little Theatre.

The five authors commissioned by the government to write it — Eric Nicol, Halifax physician Arthur Murphy, Montreal playwright Yves Theriault, fiction writers Robertson Davies of Peterborough, Ont., and folksy Saskatchewan humorist W. O. Mitchell.

Mitchell, famed for the Jake and the Kid radio series, is collaborating with Morris Surdin on a Calgary-produced musical called Wild Rose. It opens May 2.

The Dark Unfathomed Cave, one of Dr. Murphy's plays, will be taken on a tour by the touring Neptune Theatre of Halifax this year.

Quebec playwrights have a spate of productions on the boards, including a bilingual play called And Now in the Time to Drink. Written by Guy Fournier and Jacques Monique Lepage, it is being produced at The Piggery Theatre.

GELINAS WRITES PLAY

La Comedie Canadienne is producing new plays by Gratien Gelinas, Marcel Dube and Guy Dufresne, all proven playwrights.

Montreal's Theatre du Rideau Vert has Il Est un Pays (There is a Country) by Jean-Paul Pinsonnault.

A floating showboat called Le Theatre de l'Escale will carry bilingual entertainment to seaway ports as far west as Windsor, Ont.

Charlottetown's Circle Theatre Players are being helped with the production of a new play by Adele Townshend called Whistle in the Wind.

The Vagabond Intinerant Players of P.E.I. will present The Dandy Lion to children. Grants have also gone to major companies for the production of established works.

The Manitoba Theatre Centre will present Bertholt Brecht's Galileo in Winnipeg Jan. 20.

The Stratford Shakespearean Festival plays cities in eight provinces with new productions of Twelfth Night, and Gogol's The Government Inspector.

Le Theatre du Nouveau Monde, a major Montreal company, is in tour Quebec and the Prairies with Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme by Moliere.

It is all part of Festival Canada, a centennial program aimed at giving as many Canadians as possible a look at the country's creative talent.

The new plays and productions are just a part of a $3,600,000 subsidy program that also is pumping funds into new operas, symphonies and other musical works.

By paying travelling costs of touring companies and subsidizing the box offices, officials hope to keep ticket prices low enough to attract a general audience.

It Is A Poster War

Written for The AP
By ALEXSANDER CASELLA

China has literally turned red.

In Canton red flags hang from every house. The arcades have been painted red. Quotations from Mao Tse-tung appear in red in every shop window, on every wall, in every sampan they are glued to the windshield of every car and hang from the handlebars of every bicycle. Some quotations hanging from high buildings are 60 feet high. Others, fired to people's lapels, measure only an inch.

The streets of Canton were thronged with people, as 500,000 Red Guards, coming from all parts of China, had flooded the city. All had arrived by train and 50,000 of them had gathered around the station. It was closed to all other traffic.

At the bus stops—the buses had been supplemented by trucks—Red Guards waited patiently for their turn in queues up to 300 yards long. Although the streets were overcrowded there was no pushing or shouting.

Any appearance of disorder was due only to the multitude of people in the streets and on closer observation, the main impression derived was one of order and surprisingly good manners, especially in people so young.

The main activity of the Red Guards, besides the study of the works of Mao, is the writing of posters and the printing of leaflets from simple wax stencils. The production of posters has reached such a point that the whole city has been transferred into a gigantic bulletin board.

These posters, all dealing with the current "cultural revolution," obviously do not always express the same opinions. I was photographing a poster when a Red Guard approached me to say that I should not take a picture of that particular poster as he did not agree with what it said.

To this another Red Guard replied that if he did not like it he had only to put up one of his own.

Many of the Red Guards came from small towns and were very curious about foreigners. On the whole I found them friendly and easy to talk to. While visiting a new settlement I started a conversation with a Red Guard who happened to be present. He led me to the school where he was quartered. There I met about 20 of his friends and we spent two hours talking.

The Writing on the Wall

Passersby stop to read posters plastered on walls in Peking where the Red Guard demonstrators are carrying on their cultural revolution. Many of the events are reported to world with information contained in these signs. The huge Chinese characters are the sayings of Mao Tse-tung, Red China's leader.

Peking Arrests Army Officers

PEKING (AFP) — A number of Chinese army officers—regarded as supporters of the "reactionary bourgeois line"—have been arrested and publicly paraded through the streets with their heads bowed, reliable sources said here today.

These reports, coupled with the official reshuffle of the committee set up to conduct the cultural revolution within the army, proves that the army, far from being monolithic, is seriously divided at the top.

Observers here believe that this apparent division could lead to real troubles, more serious than the isolated clashes which have taken place and the alleged atrocities reported in posters appearing here.

These posters are apparently designed to create a fear psychosis aimed at forcing the people to accept more easily the protection of the army, officially described as "right arm of the proletarian dictatorship and defender of the great cultural revolution."

The composition of the new committee set up to conduct the cultural revolution inside the army emphasizes the importance in the movement of Chairman Mao Tse-tung's wife, Chiang Ching.

The committee is, in fact, headed by former marshal Hsu Hsiang-chien, a veteran of the Long March in 1927, who was wounded three times and who is believed to be in poor health, having suffered from tuberculosis.

This old soldier is backed in his new duties by Chiang Ching —whose star is definitely on the ascendency—as an adviser, and a host of powerful seconds.

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese correspondent reported from Peking today that Chinese workers, including both supporters and opponents of Mao Tse-tung, are pouring into the capital, raising the possibility of violence there.

A correspondent for the newspaper Yomiuri telephoned his paper that more than 1,000,000 workers already had arrived in Peking and more are coming in daily.

"The situation in Peking is fluid and the centre of the storm appears to have shifted from the militant Red Guards to these workers," he said.

"It is certain that the situation in Peking required Mao's return. There is a possibility that the violence which hit Shanghai and other cities will spread to Peking and other cities throughout mainland China."

Japanese newspaper, men reported that wall posters in Peking said Mao has returned to Peking to take personal command in his struggle against the faction headed by President Liu Shao-chi.

The Peking correspondent for the Kyodo news agency said one poster announced that the central committee of the Chinese Communist party had decided to strengthen the powers of the security police.

This report said new measures included arrest for anyone hindering Mao's continuing purge or of hampering production, and the arrest of anyone ridiculing Mao or Defence Minister Lin Piao, Mao's heir apparent and chief associate in the purge.

Backroom Boys Do Job on Mao

MOSCOW (AP)—In the backrooms of the Soviet Communist party headquarters, a plot has developed to try to ruin Mao Tse-tung's reputation.

The outlines are gradually becoming visible as the Soviet press whittles away at various claims to greatness made on behalf of the Chinese leader.

Informed sources report that the sharpest attack is yet to come: A Soviet contention that Mao stole Russian ideas of guerrilla warfare to establish his reputation as one of history's great military theorists.

Other parts of the plot range from assertions that Mao's regime is soft on capitalists—to a Communist, the blackest sin—to scoffing at his much-vaunted poetry.

The plot is just one part of the current Kremlin attack on "Mao Tse-tung and his group," who are accused of following an increasingly dangerous anti-Soviet policy.

There never has been any love lost around the Kremlin partly result from inflation.

Mao, who rose to prominence in the late 1920s by ousting Moscow influences from the Chinese Communist party, has repeatedly defied Soviet thinking on the proper course toward victory on China. Success proved him right.

Things got nasty in 1947 when Liu Shao-chi, then Mao's deputy but now his opponent in the Peking power struggle, made a bold claim for the leadership.

"Mao Tse-tung's great accomplishment has been to change Marxism from a European to an Asiatic form," Liu said.

Lenin's Soviet heirs never have been willing to admit that anyone but themselves has the right to interpret Marx.

Wage Curbs May Be Imposed

LONDON (Reuters)—Political sources said today that the British government is deeply split over whether to make permanent its powers to control wage and price increases after current emergency laws end this summer.

They told the Labor administration now seems willing to run the risk of alienating much of its traditional support in the trade unions by incorporating the emergency powers into permanent legislation.

Prime Minister Wilson has yet to commit himself on this crucial question but he is known to be determined to break the nation's traditional cycle of balance-of-payments crises, which partly result from inflation.

One powerful group of cabinet ministers is pressing hard for an early decision to maintain at least some of the massive controls imposed last year to enforce Wilson's year-long freeze on wages, prices and dividends.

But the sources said another faction, believed to include Foreign Secretary George Brown, former head of the economic affairs department, is against permanent direct government interference in the traditional pattern of collective wage bargaining.

The group in favor of continuing controls, currently believed to be winning ground, argued that any significant easing of the restrictions could lead to a fresh upsurge of higher wages and prices, which would be harmful to the nation's export drive.

The existing controls, the most severe ever imposed by a British government in peacetime, were introduced as a vital part of Wilson's July 20 austerity program to bolster the pound and the nation's economy.

Dieppe Vets Dislike Germans Joining Them

TORONTO (CP)—A Royal Canadian Legion official said Thursday flight participation by German veterans in ceremonies marking the 25th anniversary of the battle of Dieppe "would be like dancing with your killers."

Harry Lister, president of the Legion's General Wingate Branch here, was commenting on a report in The Globe and Mail that the Germans want to join in paying tribute to the memory of Canadians who died in the 1942 landing on the French coast.

The Globe and Mail story, by Allen Harvey, quoted a French informant as saying the German request is being considered by the French ministry of the interior. The story said the Paris decision will probably hinge on Canadian approval.

"I would not want anything to do with ceremonies that included the German troops who were at Dieppe," Mr. Lister said. Governments seem willing to consort with former enemies, if the men who fought there can't think that way.

"I think it would be terribly out of place. The idea is almost humorous."

R. R. Labatt of Hamilton, a lieutenant - colonel with the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry at Dieppe, said the presence of Germans at the ceremonies would be asking for trouble.

"Personally, I wouldn't mind having a chat with some of the Germans who were there. They treated us very well after the show was over. But many of the people who will attend the ceremonies will not...be those who were at Dieppe."

Army Seizes Togo

COTONOU, Dahomey (CP)—The tiny west African state of Togo had its second coup in four years today with the army reporting seizure of all civil powers.

The takeover was announced in a broadcast from Lome, the Togolese capital, by the army chief of staff, Lt.-Col. Etienne Eyadema. He warned the public to refrain from any political demonstrations and ordered all public offices closed for the day.

Informed sources in neighboring Dahomey said President Nicolas Grunitzky resigned during the night. There were no reports of violence but a blackout of the radio - telephone circuit to Paris prevented any check on the situation.

Eyadema said free elections will be held in about three months. Until then a "committee of national reconciliation" will be set up to run the country.

Vietnam Problem
Inflation Big Threat

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. officials say continued inflation is the worst threat to Vietnam's fragile economy in 1967. No knowledgeable Vietnamese or American pretends the economic crisis is past. Tax collection is inadequate, heavy rice imports are necessary, labor unrest continues and corruption is widespread.

The sidewalk black market near the U.S. Embassy, worked out with publicity in November, has slowly reappeared.

Inflationary pressure weighs heavily on the piaster, Saigon's monetary unit. Experts agree they will have to settle for "mild" inflation this year, perhaps as much as 20 per cent.

Living costs in Saigon are up almost 40 per cent since January 1966.

One official estimate is that each additional U.S. soldier adds $1,000 a year to the Vietnamese economy. There now are 389,000 soldiers. Much of the money that goes directly into Vietnamese pockets and is soon exchanged for goods and services.

Consumer goods are high in price but plentiful. There is none of the austerity that marked cities near the fighting fronts in the Second World War.

Saigon's abundantly stocked stores reflect the main thrust of the anti-inflation program. Instead of urging Vietnamese to tighten their belts for the duration, the government has—with U.S. backing—encouraged massive quantities of consumer goods to absorb purchasing power.

The idea is to add somewhere near $1,000 in imports for each soldier brought in so the spending for and by that soldier can be absorbed without inflation. One economist calculates that 10,000 troops cause a two or three per cent inflation unless there are additional imports.

Montreal Teachers Strike

MONTREAL (CP)—A strike of 9,000 teachers today closed 500 schools in the Montreal area, affecting the education of 217,000 students in elementary and high school classes.

The walkout, involving teachers employed by the Montreal Catholic school commission, officially began at 8 a.m. EST when classes normally start in most of the schools.

A union spokesman said there was no possibility of any of the teachers showing up for classes today. No plans had been made to set up picket lines.

Sticking Pins Into People
One Form of Asian Medicine

NEW YORK (AP) — Amazing through Asia discloses a tremendous variety of native treatments for anyone seized by aches and pains.

In Vietnam there are simple remedies such as two fingers to be used for pinching, say, creamy peanut butter jar or glass tumbler plus a candle, or a coin held between thumb and forefinger.

In India, there are thousands of practitioners of ancient Ayurvedic and Unani medicine, of yoga and homeopathy. All have many patients.

In both countries, and elsewhere, there are faithful adherents of acupuncture—sticking of pins into the skin in certain precise patterns to cure varying ailments.

In Vietnam, it is not uncommon to see men or women with bruises across the bridge of the nose, or at the sides of their eyes — bruises produced by pinching the skin repeatedly or by having a friend perform the pinching by the nose. The idea is to draw out the pain where it seems to be localized from a sore throat or headache.

Scratching lines on the chest or back or other parts of the body with a metal coin is based on the same concept.

And so is the practice of cupping. The inside of a glass jar or tumbler is heated with a candle and then the tumbler is placed open-end down on the skin. Suction is created as the air cools within the glass. Capillaries break down, leaving a circular bruise on the skin.

Western - trained doctors are doubtful that the bruising really can do any good, other than psychological.

Auyrveda, India's ancient science of life medicine, was flourishing 4,000 to 5,000 years ago. It was brought to a remarkably intelligent stage of observation and development during an 800-year period between 600 BC and 200 AD.

Ayurvedic medicine flowered in both medicine and some ingenious aids in surgery. One doctor sewed deep black ants to bites the edges of a wound or perforation with their jaws, while their heads were chopped off to make their bites permanent. This was a precursor of soluble thread or sutures.

Today's Chuckle

If the politicians keep on "improving" living conditions in this country, it is going to reach the point where a great man won't be able to find a humble beginning.

Farmers Take Advantage of Program to Return to School

It's "back to school" this winter for approximately 170 farmers in the Bay of Quinte district.

Each school day (Monday to Friday) after the day's chores are completed, farmers all the way from Cobourg to Napanee and from Picton to Eldorado head for Quinte Secondary School in Belleville where until 11:15 p.m. they study subjects ranging from soils, to farm mechanics, financing and farm management.

The course is the only one of it's type being held in Ontario and will run for 18 weeks or until late in April.

The ages of farmers attending the course range all the way from 20 to about 55 with the majority being in the 30 to 40 year bracket.

But Ed. Buckley, co-ordinator for the Program 5 retraining courses in Belleville, says he never saw a more eager or interested group of men.

"Absenteeism is almost negligible and out of the 160 farmers enrolled seldom is anyone absent," he says.

The concentrated four month course started directly toward agriculture is sponsored by the Federal Provincial Training Agreement through ARDA (Agriculture Rehabilitation and Development Act.)

The purpose of the course is to upgrade farmer's knowledge of agriculture and to acquaint them with the latest in farm operating techniques.

The farmers attending the course are generally from "marginal" farms where in many instances operators find it necessary to accept part-time jobs to make a go of it.

Because many of the farmers attending the course had to leave their "other" jobs, they are being paid by ARDA to attend. The daily rate ranges from $7 for single men to a maximum of $10 for married men with children.

According to Mr. Buckley, many of the farmers were at first a bit skeptical about returning to "book learning" thinking that instructors would be professional teachers with no farming experience.

But when they found the instructors were mostly practical farmers themselves (although many with agricultural college training) there was a change in attitude.

Then they started to show real interest, and according to Mr. Buckley, the results are already starting to show.

One of the subjects being taught in the course, is language and communication, which according to one of the instructors is merely a polite term for plain English.

On the surface, the study of English might not seem to have any direct relation to agriculture, but the purpose is to increase word power and upgrade reading habits so that the proper meaning will be gotten out of newspaper and other articles on farming.

Other subjects taken include agricultural arithmetic, farm management, making out of income tax forms, farm and auto mechanics, welding, farm machinery and electricity.

They also get basics on carpentry as it is related to the construction of farm buildings, metallurgy and soldering.

Another subject is insects, and farm animal diseases along with control measures.

Farm water supply is also studied, including the construction of farm ponds and dams, drainage wells and the operation of pumps.

Crop production soils, fertilizers and horticulture round out the curriculum.

Insofar as farm mechanics are concerned, the idea is not to try to make expert mechanics out of the student farmers. Rather the purpose is to give them the basics so if the farm makes the farm pay, might do- tractor stops they will be able to get going again without a trip to town for a mechanic.

"In this way the farmer will save himself both money and time," commented one instructor.

And it is also just possible that some of the farmers taking the course might decide that he is in the wrong vocation, or possibly in the wrong phase of agriculture.

For instance a man who has had tough sledding trying to

They include Robert Williams of Bloomfield, swine; Kenneth Wright, dairy farm management; Lloyd Sheppard Foxboro, horticulture; Grant Hutcheon, Madoc, beef cattle; Roger Rednere, Rednersville, farm water systems; Lyle Cancelell, Ameliasburgh, soils, fertilizers and crop production, and Stephen Flindall of Brighton, farm carpentry.

Other instructors in shop practices are mechanics in local garages and repair shops, or shop instructors in local high schools.

Mr. Buckley says the government thinking on the agriculture training scheme is that it is an investment in human resources.

If the standard of living of "marginal" farmers can be increased, the government feels it's investment will be returned through taxes.

"After all," he says, "human beings are the only natural resource that can be upgraded."

Farm Management

District Farmers Return to School

Purchasing Agents Meet

The fifth meeting of the Eastern Ontario Purchasing Agents Association was held at the 401 Inn in Kingston on Wednesday evening.

William Blake, Purchasing Agent, Brockville General Hospital spoke on communication. He outlined some of the more obvious barriers to effective communication: badly expressed messages, faulty translation, loss by transmission, and poor retention. Inattention, poor listening, unclarified assumption, inattention, different periods, distrust of the communicator, premature evaluation, fear, failure to communicate.

Mr. Blake went on to say that one great barrier which we run up against in our day-to-day communication involves distinguishing between our observations and our inferences about these observations.

Poor listening habits have been found to engage in six bad habits which have been primary causes in destroying good listening:

1. faking attention; 2. "I-get-the-facts" listening; 3. arguing for difficult listening; 4. premature dismissal of subject as uninteresting; 5. criticizing delivery and physical appearances and 6. yielding easily to distraction.

The average rate of speech is said to be 125 words per minute, but the brain works much faster. The average listener is capable of receiving more than 300 words per minute. What we do in our spare time in this lapse of delivery and capacity level of receiving holds the key to concentration in listening.

Those members attending the meeting from the Belleville area were: Mr. Peter Stalker, Purchasing Agent, Stephen Adamson Mfg. Co.; Bruce Nicholson, Purchasing Agent, H. Corby Distillery; Fred Newman, Purchasing Agent, Stewart Warner Corp.; Dennis Laundry, Purchasing Agent, Wilson Concrete; Herb Burley, Purchasing Agent, International Hardware; L. G. McRitchie, Director-Materials Management, Quinte Secondary School and J. B. Harns, Purchasing Agent, Mead Johnson Canada Ltd.

F. G. Chamberlain Attended Funeral for Sir John

A half holiday for school children this week marked the 122nd anniversary of the birth of Sir John A. Macdonald but otherwise the day went unobserved by most people in Belleville.

However, for one man in the city the day recalled memories of the funeral of Canada's Father of Confederation as he was held to his final resting place in the Cataraqui Cemetery at Kingston.

The day was June 11th, 1891 and for Fred Chamberlain, 127 Bridge Street East, the funeral which saw more than 40,000 people watch the funeral cortege passed a high point of his young life.

Mr. Chamberlain recalls that he was but a lad of seven years, when he made the trip to Kingston with his father on the excursion boat "North King". The boat which plied between Belleville and Kingston was loaded with passengers on the way to the funeral.

After a state funeral in Ottawa, the body of Sir John A. Macdonald was returned to his home city of Kingston for burial in St. Geo. State for a day at the city hall.

On the day of the funeral people bought tickets into the city at 4:00 o'clock in the morning and by the time the funeral cortege passed Bridge and Front Street on the way to the cemetery an estimated 40,000 lined the route.

Mr. Chamberlain is one of the few Bellevillians now living who actually attended the funeral of Canada's first prime minister 76 years ago.

For life's a mess that's new to us,
Since you were called to rest.
You faced death with patient effort,
To hide the tears that start,
But cannot help the longing
That lives within my heart.
Sadly missed by husband Stanley,
and everyone does miss you,
I seem to hear you whisper,
"Don't forget me dear."

We'll meet again some day.

HILL — In loving memory of a dear husband, Ted Hill, who passed away January 13th, 1964.
The shock we received that day,
No one can ever know.

He left us suddenly, our thoughts unknown.
But left us memories we are proud to own.
—Lovingly missed and always remembered by Mom, Ded and Ronnie.

Gordon Leggat Given Award

Group Captain R. P. Bridgland, Commanding Officer of 6 Repair Depot, Trenton, recently made the presentation of a cheque and a Certificate of Award to Mr. Gordon Leggat. The presentation was made on behalf of the Suggestion Award Committee. Since 1963, Mr. Leggat has been the Civilian Co-ordinator at 6RD's Central Registry. Since 1964, he has resided in Belleville.

This award was for a signed notification card, used to notify mail runners that classified matter is awaiting pick-up. At 6RD, mail of an unclassified nature is transported from point to point on a "Mule Train" — a group of flat-bed trailers and a pigeon-hole trailer for mail. This technique cuts down the number of manhours required to transport both material and correspondence from point to point. It means that an alternate means must be employed for classified matter, which can only be handled by authorized runners.

According to the Suggestion Award Committee Recommendation Report "at 6 Repair Depot the cards have performed a useful function and . . . have increased administrative efficiency . . . Originating this suggestion is not considered to have required any of the required duties of the suggester."

With this award, Mr. Leggat joins a relatively small group of civilians who have received an award from the DND's Suggestion Award Committee. Accompanying the award, the appropriate files, he joins R. H. Curran of CFB Trenton, the only other civilian to have a suggestion accepted during the calendar year 1966.

Mr. Leggat is currently employed at 6RD received similar awards, J. A. Wright in 1965 and H. Strohl in 1964. Mr. Wright and Mr. Strohl are technicians. Mr. Leggat refers to himself as a "paper pusher."

Decision on 'Split' Campus May Be Known Next Week

Whether or not the Ontario Council of Regents and the Department of Education will approve of a "split" campus for the proposed College of Applied Arts and Technology for this area, is expected to be known next week.

Father H. J. Maloney of Bancroft, chairman of the college board of governors, said today that the proposal for a "split" campus had been placed before the Council of Regents this week and was expected to be made known at next Wednesday's meeting of the college board of governors to be held in Peterborough.

On Tuesday of this week, Father Maloney with board of governor members Frank Rabel of Frankford, Dr. T. H. B. Symons and W. Dadel of Peterborough, met with a sub-committee of the Council of Regents in Toronto to submit the proposal.

The sub-committee was to meet with the Council of Regents and Education Department officials on Thursday but Father Maloney today said he had received no word regarding their decision.

Father Maloney said the board of governors were still open to proposals for temporary accommodation for college classes which are scheduled to get underway next fall. Board members have already looked at accommodation offered in the Centennial Secondary School at Belleville.

He said that he understood from TV and newspaper reports that temporary accommodation had also been offered at Peterborough, but said he had received no official word of the offer.

Ideologies in Conflict

In the struggle between western democracy and the communist world, between the United States and its allies and the now somewhat splintered alliances of the Marxist camp, there are stresses and strains and ironies aplenty. And on both sides at that — as well as in the often hesitant and acrimonious attempts that are made to achieve understanding between the opposing sides.

China is in the grip of political ferment, of a power struggle involving Mao Tse-tung and President Liu Shao-chi as well as a number of other political leaders.

Russia, meanwhile, is maintaining the relatively quiescent and accommodating stance it has evolved toward the west in recent years, while at the same time keeping a close watch on events in China. Peking's potential for making trouble in the next decade is recognized by both the western powers and the Soviets. This is epitomised by China's entry into the nuclear club and by a vast system of military training involving all able-bodied citizens from small children on up.

The United States observes the two Communist giants warily, and while Russia is not the problem it was a few years ago both it and China are accorded maximum attention by Washington political and defence experts.

The administration's attitude to the Communist world continues to remain fairly flexible, though perplexing to many people depending on their own viewpoint. President Johnson, in a State of the Union message reminiscent of Churchill's one promising nothing but "blood, sweat and tears" wants Congress to increase taxes to help pay for the Viet Nam war.

In that costly and bitter conflict Mr. Johnson envisages "more cost, more loss, and more agony."

But at the other end of the variable scale where east and west come together (and the pragmatic approach to co-existence is the feasible) the United States is trying to improve relations with the Communist nations of Europe.

In his address President Johnson called it "bridge-building" while at the same time he asserted the United States "will stand firm in Vietnam."

It is a complex world, as swift-changing and unpredictable as any period in its long and astonishing history. Strife and misunderstanding seem to come more naturally to man than do peace and concord. And the paradox is that this still represents progress — of a kind.

What may be termed the balance of nuclear fear serves to avoid the ultimate kind of war that would destroy all and everything. There could be an Armageddon one day — but not yet, and there is always the hope that the big powers may reach better understanding than is apparent today, and particularly where China is concerned.

Police Supervision

While there appears to be some support for the idea of replacing one-man local police units with the Ontario Provincial Police — at no direct cost to the municipalities concerned — there is also understandable caution, as well as a preference in some quarters for maintaining the status quo.

The offer of OPP supervision comes from Attorney-General Wishart, and in Hastings County there are four police departments — Madoc, Marmora, Stirling and Frankford which could be affected.

Supervision by the OPP might be of a more remote, less personal nature than that afforded by an officer who is on the spot. As pointed out in this newspaper Wednesday, replacement of local constables would rule out detailed police work among the door-to-door and by-law enforcement. There is also the personal element of the town constables' livelihood being at stake.

An encouraging factor is the fact that co-operation between the OPP and the smaller communities is not lacking. In the event of emergency, assistance from the OPP is always forthcoming.

There are advantages from either viewpoint — maintenance of the present situation, or acceptance of OPP supervision. But a key to any decision in the matter is the one already mentioned — the job security factor.

In at least two of the County municipalities there is unqualified support for retention of the existing police system. In Frankford, Reeve Ray Moran said he felt few municipalities would fall for the offer. In this regard, the absence of serious crime in the County of late is as good an indication as any that police supervision is of a high calibre.

Stress Is One Cause of High Blood Pressure

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 35 and always had normal blood pressure until a severe emotional crisis sent it up to 175 over 145. Later it went back to normal, but when the problem came up again, my pressure soared again.

Is this as dangerous as high blood pressure from other causes. Is it possible to tell when your pressure is up, say from headaches or the heart thumping? Would it help to take phenobarbital (which the doctor prescribed) at such times even though the emotional problem is far from solved? — Mrs. K. B.

The abnormal pressure — and the figures you cite are high — is the important thing, regardless of the cause.

One potentially favora ble thing about high blood pressure from emotional causes is that if the emotional storms can be quelled, pressure is reduced. Some of the physical reasons for H.B.P. are less easy to control.

Subduing those emotio nal problems can be far from easy, and individuals vary widely in the way they respond to nervous stress. Some take such tendency pretty much in stride. Others are so sensitive that blood pressure soars.

Sedatives, including the one you mention, can help the patient relax somewhat in such episodes, so it is reasonable for you to take it at times. However, sedatives can't do it all, nor should they be taken in large quantities or too often.

The important goal is to find some way of resolving whatever your emotional problem is, and furthermore (if possible) learning to accept such problem more calmly. If there is something we cannot change, we must try to bear up under it and not let it upset our nerves and our health. I grant this advice may not be easy to follow, but it is valid.

Yes, a person can often sense a rise in blood pressure by such symptoms as thumping heart, headache, ringing in the ears, a feeling of fullness of the head, or a flushed feeling.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am slightly confused. I have been told that birth control pills are used for regulation to regulate the menstrual cycle and other disorders. I was under the impression that they were used for what the name implies, birth control. — Mrs. K. C.

Those hormones were used for the other purposes first — "trials," I had to look it up in my dictionary. But so what?

We get three million visitors here each year. They leave $200 million and that represents 5 percent 80 per cent of that. And furthermore, we find that English-Canadians from outside the city are not upset by the signs in French. They come here because Montreal is different. It French and they like it.

It doesn't bother me when I go to Toronto and see all the English signs. Why should it? Montreal is French.—Mayor Drapeau of Montreal, quoted by Weekend Magazine.

Old at 45? Just Ain't So

St. Thomas Times-Journal

Thousands of job applicants over 45 years of age have been told they're too old to be hired. It won't help, starts of action to invite that a number of the Monthly Labor Review (the American publication) suggests that the beneficiaries of the Social Security Administration rolls are the years old or older.

Many then 300 of these matters adults are getting benefits based on their own old age checks and must be between 72 years old. Some of them are still employed or unemployed, and they object to the.

One of them retired last year after going into the longshore gang in Duluth at the age of 100.

So, let's hope that 45-year-old job seeker given the steps to retirement. Can't we see he's smiling?

Mr. Drapeau Is "With It"

The only people who don't like it (all-French road sign in Montreal) are the English Montrealers, and I believe they know the meaning of the words they themselves shout. You know, the first time I saw the word "Vivlal," I had to look it up in my dictionary. But so what?

We get three million visitors here each year. They leave $200 million and that represents 5 percent 80 per cent of that. And furthermore, we find that English-Canadians from outside the city are not upset by the signs in French. They come here because Montreal is different. It French and they like it.

Strictly Personal

Good Guys and Bad Guys

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

One of the most sickening aspects of the news coverage in the Viet Nam war is the daily summation: "11 Viet Cong ambushed; Only 2 Yanks Killed." That sort of thing.

It makes the war seem like a football game—so many downs, so many yards gained, so many opposing players knocked out. Only the players are knocked out forever.

Apart from the vulgarity and banality of listing such figures, there is the psychological impact upon the public. After a time, we no longer regard the contending soldiers as human beings; they are numbers, just like the numbers galloping down a football field.

But the Viet Cong are not just numbers, any more than our soldiers are numbers. They are boys, no better and no worse than ours. They are fighting because they are told to fight, and most of them are just as confused about the reason as our boys are.

We dehumanises people as it progresses, and it dehumanises the noncombatants. We are in the stands, cheering as the other side fumbles the ball and our side makes a recovery. And our cheers mingle with cheers from the other side of the field, and after a while it is hard to tell the fans apart.

Every day we read the scoreboard; and every day we see the same movie insensitive to the fact that these are our sons — and their sons — being killed. There are not "Yanks" or "Viet Cong"; they are boys who were meant for better things, who were not born to fight in senseless conflict over policies that could change in the next Congress.

Twenty-five years ago, we were fighting the "Japs." They were terrible people then, just as now they are our friends. But that war resolved nothing, any more than the First World War did. There is more trouble all over the globe today than at an time in our century.

Nor will the end of the Viet Nam war resolve anything. The Bad Guys will continue to be the Bad Guys and the Good Guys will be the Good Guys. The old wars, and the Good Guys will always win the fights. The old men will plan, and the young men will die. The power structure will grow fatter and richer, and the people will blow up.

So many of us are worried about "escalation" and "commitment," but few seem to be worried about the greatest power of all: the power to call and conduct a war. And this is the one power the people of the world can no longer afford to grant their governments, for nobody can be trusted with the weapons of warfare.

War is not only too serious to be left to the generals; it is too dangerous to be left to the politicians. In the next World Bowl, the game will be 60 and the stands will be empty.

Success—On a Limited Education

Stratford Beacon-Herald

Roland Hoederich, new president and publisher of the Toronto Star and Star Weekly, began his newspaper career at 13, delivering the Kitchener Record to Baden. When in 1953 he became editor-in-chief of the Star he succeeded George H. Mitchell, who had started out with The Stratford Herald and Jolliffe Star at 16. Mr. Hoederich is fourth president since Joseph E. Atkinson, whose first newspaper job was that of Newcastle correspondent for the Port Hope Times.

All dedicated in these instances of early connection with newspapers, the three men mentioned achieved success in their chosen profession with a minimum of academic background. Young Hoederich had two years in high school. Joe Atkinson worked in a wooden mill and "attended high school for a time." Maitland evidently cut his schooling short.

Roland Hoederich was a reporter in Kitchener at 17, joined the Star at the age of 24, became its financial editor, city editor-in-chief at 37, and at 43 has reached the top as head of great newspaper which many have desired to own including Lord Thomson, E. P. Taylor, Lord Kemsley and the Southam newspaper chain. At the time of the sale of the Telegram, after Mr. Atkinson's death, the price was stated to be $25,555,075. The Star reached present circulation and prestige from a small beginning. It had been established during a series of years and had a circulation of 7,000 when J. E. Atkinson took over at the end of the century. He had been for two years managing editor of the Montreal Herald, and moved to Toronto at the invitation of prominent Liberals who wished to develop more support for Sir Wilfrid Laurier, three years in office as prime minister and not yet fully accepted in Ontario. Atkinson shrewdly specified that he should be paid in part with stock in the paper. Thereafter he built the newspaper property steadily from profits of the business.

Atkinson had been an editorial writer and W. F. Maclean's Toronto World in his 20's. He was invited to join the Globe, and became its Legislative reporter at $17 a week, $2 more than the World paid. Later he became the Globe's Ottawa correspondent. The Globe editor who thought enough of Atkinson's ability to send him was John S. Willison, another of the relatively unschooled group which achieved success in the newspaper field. Born at Hills Green, Huron county, 110 years ago, he was "educated locally" in a biography states. He worked on farm and in the country stores until finally attaining his ambition to write by joining the London Advertiser at the age of 25. Later he was editor of the Globe, and on resigning because of an independent tone, his was with The News from 1903 until, under the title of The Times, it ceased publication in 1917. Willison was knighted, and a plaque in Huron county courthouse honors his memory.

It is interesting that all these men achieved success without ever having been inside a college or university, unless in the course of duty. It is not intended to imply that lack of formal education was an asset — quite the contrary. Appropriate comment upon this point was made by Sir John Willison's biographer, A. H. U. Colquhoun, could apply to some extent in the other cases as well:

"It is at least debatable whether the obstacles to be surmounted were not unusually deterrent. To pass one's years before maturity lacking adequate education; to engage perforce in occupations uncongenial and far from remunerative — these conditions, prevailing until one reaches 25, are not the springs from which hope gushes forth. Yet in spite of them all, young Willison fought and conquered."

Airports Are Too Congested

Paul Cherrington in the Connecticut General Flight Forum

In some respects the greatest challenge posed to the entire commercial aviation industry lies in the design of passenger and freight facilities on the ground. Many of the newer airports appear to have taken into consideration the convenience of just about everyone except the passenger or shipper. The passenger is subjected to long queues and marathon walks. To be sure, at places like O'Hare the exhausted traveler can find an oasis halfway down the finger, but at most airports the hike is unrelieved. At Dayton, Ohio, for example, a walk of nearly a quarter of a mile is required to get from the ticket counter to the farthest gate and somehow it is that gate at which most departures are concentrated. (The Wright brothers would surely have brought their bicycles.) Nor does the satellite terminal appear to be the ideal solution. At Kennedy, where the satellite idea has been carried farthest, most interline passengers are required to take a bus around the perimeter of the terminal area. The designers thoughtfully provided an artificial lake in the middle of the area which precludes a more direct route.

Part of the congestion problem of airports stems from the enormous number of ramp followers which they seem to attract. It is not clear why Aunt Jane must be seen off by eight to ten members of the family, dressed in garments that should only be worn in a heavily-wall heated patio and accompanied by children whose behavior suggests that they were the prototypes of Dennis the Menace. Perhaps it is for this reason that it is the airport roadside and not the flight info which becomes congested first.

The advent of larger planes, especially those in the class of the B-747 and C-5A, will require some drastic changes. It is clearly possible to load and discharge 500 passengers into or from a vehicle. Steamship lines and railroads have been doing it for years. But it may be hard, and perhaps impossible, to do it with DOT procedures and terminal design concepts that are rooted in a bygone era. The solution lies partly in a series of new airline ticketing and check-in procedures, the segregation and control of the airside lers" from "spectators" and a different approach to the terminal facilities them s elves. Exotic means of moving around the terminal, whether they be moving sidewalks and ramps or other devices, may help, but they will not solve the problem. A complete re-thinking of the problem is called for, and the inventor of the terminal finger should be publicly banned from having any part in the process.

No Frills for Maritimers

Saint John Telegraph-Journal

A recent survey of new facilities under construction or to be started at once at some of Canada's universities produced a total of more than $600,000,000 worth. The actual overall figure is much larger. The Canadian Press, which rounded up the reports, touched only on major programs at some of the larger and fastest expanding institutions.

The biggest single undertaking is a $36,000,000 medical science building at the University of Toronto. But tiny Trent University at Peterborough, Ontario, which has just passed the 300 mark in student enrolment, has $35,000,000 earmarked for five spending plans.

The University of Waterloo, at Kitchener-Waterloo, Ontario, a mere seven years old and with a $25,000,000 campus already, proposes to invest another $82,000,000 to double the number of buildings, including a $7,500,000 mathematics and computer science centre that will house Canada's first mathematics factory next year.

Bro c k University at St. Thomas, Ontario is beginning its build ing $2,000,000 - volume library, 14 storeys tall.

Such awesome academic magnificence leaves the three provincial Atlantic area universities, most of which are hard pressed to provide anything approaching residence space for the borders of youngsters beating at their doors. It is not a mere matter of envy. It is closer to being a question of survival.

How do you hang onto an adequate professorial staff when other universities offer much tempting facilities? How do you do a space-age job without space-age tools?

Atlantic universities depend heavily now upon loyalty to hold their senior staff members. Salaries run $1,800 to $2,000 lower than central and western universities pay. Even the lowest of younger staff is already heavy; the growing facilities gap is bound to increase it.

Industrial Index Jumps

Pessimism Blown Away as Markets React to LBJ Address

TORONTO (CP)—A number of stock market experts now have climbed onto the-road-to-recovery bandwagon—a sharp reversal in thinking from three weeks ago.

It isn't surprising since major stock exchanges in North America have run up sizeable gains since Jan. 1.

At Toronto, industrials have made seven advances in eight sessions in 1967 and the key indicator of the market's performance, the industrial index, has jumped 8.08 points to 155.71.

As usual, Canadian markets have been taking their lead from the New York Stock Exchange.

David Bryson, an analyst with J. H. Craig, a Toronto brokerage house said: "There has been signs of an easing in the money supply, which suggests that the peak of tight money was reached in November, 1966."

In the closing days of 1966, a number of Canadian market analysts were pessimistic, seeing little chance of a sustained rally in stocks after the average price of Canadian industrials fell 32 per cent during the year.

Others were not as gloomy, but weren't committing themselves on when the market would start to rise.

There were worried about a number of factors, including tight money, the effects of so-called inflationary wage settlements on profits, whether the United States would be forced to raise taxes to finance the Vietnam war and the lack of U.S. investor participation in Canadian issues.

Two of these questions were answered Tuesday night in President Johnson's State of the Union address.

He proposed a six per cent surcharge on income and corporate taxes to help finance the war, but also pledged to ease the money supply and lower interest rates.

Wednesday, the National City Bank of Minneapolis cut its prime lending rate to 5¾ per cent from six per cent—evidence of easing credit conditions.

Other brokers said that the fact major exchanges were able to bounce back from President Johnson's tax proposals indicates growing investor confidence in securities.

They said that because of the easing in the money supply, the economy will be able to maintain its steady growth rate, despite possible squeezes on profits from increased taxation.

Another factor that has helped markets has been price increases in primary metals, especially steel and aluminum.

Industrials shares showing marked improvements in Toronto include Moore Corp. up 5½ to 92, Falconbridge 4⅝ to 81½ and Alcan and CPR 3¾ each to 53½ and 86½.

Western oil stocks remain in demand by investors and speculators as interest continues in the Rainbow and Zama Lake regions of northwestern Alberta.

The index has jumped 10.08 points to 160.46 so far this year.

Mr. Meltzer on Real Estate

"What's Your Problem"

By BERNARD C. MELTZER

From the mail, the author has become aware that some lending institutions have become very quick on the foreclosure trigger whenever a low-interest mortgage is involved. The experience below is recited as a warning to those readers who have low-interest mortgages. They should be most careful to make mortgage payments in the present tight money market on time.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I'm in trouble because I made my mortgage payment two days later than is my normal custom. I know my payment is due on the 1st of the month, but for seven years, I've been making payments at the end of the first month without any squawk from the bank. However, because of an oversight, this time I didn't make my mortgage until the 2nd day of the following month.

When I went to make the payment, the bank told me that my 30 days period before default had expired and that they had sold the mortgage to a private individual who would now deal with me directly. I don't mind being penalized, but I'm being murdered. Here's the proposition offered me:

Since my mortgage contains a 5 per cent collection charge upon default, I owe him $750, (5 per cent of a $15,000 mortgage). Also, he will allow the mortgage to continue if the interest rate is raised from 5¼ to 7 per cent. In addition, he wants a 5 per cent fee for placing the mortgage (another $750.), $100 for credit investigation and appraisal, a $300 legal fee, and additional miscellaneous costs that total $1350.

Since my house is worth over $25,000, I tried to get a new mortgage at several banks. I was refused because this individual had already started a foreclosure action and every bank told me it was their policy not to refinance a mortgage that was in the process of foreclosure.

The thing that cuts deepest is that the individual to whom my mortgage was sold turns out to be a brother of the assistant officer in the lending institution that held my mortgage in the first place. I'm really in trouble. W's going to cost me over $2,000 plus a much larger interest rate, befause I was two days late. I've been taken. What can I do? — Mrs. S. N.

ANSWER: The above tragic episode is not an isolated case. Many readers have writ t en about similar disasters. The fact is that today some lending institutions are using every excuse batch to rid their portfolios of low-interest mortgage.

The action of the lending institution apparently is perfectly legal, although they can be criticized from a moral viewpoint. The mortgage in question contained a 30-day default clause, and the moment this Bad lapsed the action was taken. The mortgage probably was sold because the bank preferred that somebody else be the "hatchet man."

I can offer our reader a faint glimmer of hope. From her letter it is apparent that a very "cozy" arrangement exists, between the mortgage officer and his brother. I would recommend that the first effort be to contact the president of the bank.

Although, as previously stated the lending institution is on firm legal ground, the potential criticism from the banking supervisors may cause the bank to reconsider their action. At least, it may cause the mortgage officer to have second thoughts the next time.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: After six months of searching, I've found the right house at the right price. However, I must be dealing with an eccentric owner. I want to know if I must meet his unusual condition.

He insists that the sales agreement contain a clause requiring me to paint the house at my own expense before settlement. Also, he insists that the color be white.

He says that he has been painting the house and that during his neighbors. Accordingly, he wants to right the wrong, before he moves. He thinks white is the color that will best blend with the other houses. I agree that the house needs painting, but I resent being told when to paint and what color to use. Am I required to comply with the idiosyncracies of this peculiar individual? — Mr. N. N.

ANSWER: Conditions and exceptions are quite common in real estate transactions. My experience is that they are valid provided that they are not unreasonable, contrary to existing law, or against the public interest.

Although as owner insisting on a house being painted with a standard color before settlement is unusual, in my opinion it is not an unreasonable condition. Besides, the cost of painting is reflected in the asking price. In summary: If you want the house, you will have to agree to paint it white.

Heart Fund Drive to Open February 12th

A meeting of the Belleville Chapter of the Ontario Heart Foundation was held this week to continue with plans for the forthcoming financial campaign being conducted February 12th to 19th with an objective of $4,000.

Our honorary president, Mayor Jack Ellis, is being asked to make a proclamation declaring Feb. 12th to 19th "Heart Foundation Week."

Plans have been made for a TV appearance in Kingston on Friday afternoon, February 10th.

Present plans call for a house to house canvass as well as some direct mailing to men's and women's organizations and local industries.

Mrs. R. D. McDonald the campaign chairman is busy with her team captains endeavoring to get more canvassers to cover the city. All who would like to offer their services for this worthy project should phone Mrs. McDonald at 962-2856.

Heart disease can be, and is being controlled, but this is only possible through medical research. The rate of progress however towards the elimination of heart attacks and strokes depends entirely on the funds available to underwrite this work in our University Hospitals.

Major Aluminum Firms Try Price Boost Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The four major U.S. aluminum producers have posted price increases despite a government request that they defer the action "on grounds of the important national interest involved."

Gardner Ackley, chairman of President Johnson's council of economic advisers, criticized the price increases as "untimely and unnecessary in view of the industry's continually-improved earnings."

The increases announced Thursday by Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., Reynolds Metals Co., Aluminum Corp. of America and Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp. are effective Jan. 16. They are nearly identical to those posted by the same producers 14 months ago, then rolled back in the face of Johnson administration opposition.

There was no immediate indication the administration would seek to roll back the latest increases, although Ackley said in a statement:

"I want to assure the American public that this ill-timed sequence of price increases—for tubular steel products, copper, molybdenum and now aluminum—does not mark the failure to the end of the government's effort to obtain responsible pricing restraints by large corporations."

France Nixes Uranium With Strings

OTTAWA (CP) — France will not buy uranium from Canada or any other country with strings attached, French Finance Minister Michel Debre said Thursday.

His government has made it clear "no system of control will ever be acceptable," he told a press conference.

Canadian policy is to sell uranium only for peaceful uses.

Mr. Debre did not say whether or not purchase of Canadian uranium had been a subject during brief discussions earlier in the day with Finance Minister Sharp and Trade Minister Winters.

U.C.W. Meetings

EASTMINSTER U.C.W.

In honor of Canada's 100th birthday and the tenth anniversary of Eastminster United Church ,the U.C.W., at their January meeting, voted to purchase a stained glass window for the church.

A pot-luck supper opened the meeting, followed by a gospel sing-song, led by the president, Lois Edey and Mrs. Marion Smith, with Mrs. Mildred Graham as pianist.

The worship service was given by Mrs. Verna Harrison and Mrs. Marion Smith, with the theme of service and devotion.

Mrs. Phyllis Diamond introduced the guest speaker, Rev. Alex McDowell, minister of Eastminster, who gave a short talk on church government. The United Church is governed much like Canada. The highest court is the General Council, composed of an equal number of laymen. This Council meets every two years in a different city across the Dominion. The 11 provincial conferences meet every year; these conferences are second to the General Council. These, too, are composed of an equal number of clergy and laymen. Each provincial conference is divided into different presbyteries. Since local conditions govern the church, the presbyteries hold a great deal of power and meet often during the year.

Each church has its own session, which governs the "spiritual charge" of the church. It is this group which informs the minister how the order of worship is to be held. It also sets down the custom of its particular church. The board of stewards is only concerned with the finances of the church. The official board, of which the minister is chairman, is made up of both the Session and stewards and representatives of each church organization. The board meets periodically to discuss any spiritual or financial changes in the church.

The Book of Common Order is the guide by which the minister carries out communion and conducts marriage, funeral and christening ceremonies. This book protects the beliefs of the local churches.

Mr. McDowell went on to tell a little of the union of the churches in 1925 that resulted in the United Churches of Canada. The union actually began in western Canada due mainly to the vastness of the prairies and sparse population. Gradually it engulfed the whole of Canada, and is now made up of 40 denominations; every year brings new denominational additions. Union with the United Churches did not take away the right to the customs and worship of any joining church; but, when a new United Church is built, it is expected to follow the United Church Manual.

Following a question and answer period, Mrs. Joan Dickson thanked Mr. McDowell for his talk.

Accident Brought Nurse Retiring Into Profession

OTTAWA (CP) — An insect that flew into Dorthy Percy's eye at a memorial service for a king made her decide to become a nurse.

Miss Percy, retiring in January as chief nursing consultant to the department of health and welfare, says people give all sorts of idealistic reasons for their choice of a career, but she clearly recalls why she made her decision.

"It was May 10, 1910, at the memorial service for King Edward VII on Parliament Hill. I remember the purple and black draperies and the bands playing dirges.

"I was just a little girl and I suppose I must have been standing there wide-eyed. At any rate, a fly flew into my eye.

"A lady standing nearby took out the whitest, stiffest handkerchief and deftly removed the insect. She was a nurse, and I decided then to be a nurse and never wavered."

A grey-haired, bespectacled woman with a matter-of-fact, good - humored manner, Miss Percy graduated from the University of Toronto school of nursing in 1934.

She has worked with the Victorian Order of Nurses, taught at the University of Toronto nursing school and nursed in military hospitals here and in England.

In 1947 she became the first head of the health department's nursing division and in 1958 chief nursing consultant, interpreting government policies to nurses across the country and bringing their point of view to the government's attention.

She says that although she has seen terrific changes in her 43 years in the field, the aim is still the same—the best nursing care for the patient.

"Nurses now need a great deal more knowledge of background sciences, but the emphasis is still on personal care and person-to-person relations."

She would advise a young girl entering nursing to take a university general-degree course in nursing science and then go into special training.

"I regret I haven't had more formal preparation."

If a girl is the "sort of person who enjoys dealing with people, finding out what makes people tick," opportunities for her in nursing are "unlimited—it offers everything."

With the beginning of her retirement, she plans to give up all nursing consultancy, part-time or committee work for a while.

"I need time to stand back and see the color of my soul."

Gem, Mineral Club Hears Talk on Jewels

The first meeting for the New Year of the Quinte Gem and Mineral Club was held on Wednesday evening at the Research Laboratory, Dundas Street when approximately 40 were in attendance.

President Gordon Alyea presided. A most informative letter from the Bancroft Club was read by the secretary, Lew Andrews, giving some new locations to local members.

The guest speaker for the evening, Mr. Ronald Vanderveide, was introduced by Charles Jeffs. Mr. Vanderveide is employed as a jewellery maker at Avon Jewellers. The making of jewellery in this family goes back three generations. Both Mr. Vanderveide's father and grandfather were diamond cutters in Holland and Belgium.

Mr. Vanderveide talked on ancient diamond cutting and the methods used. First was the chipping method, next the cutting method, then the cabochon method of the 18th century. In the 19th century faceting was discovered and later it was found that diamond cut into 58 facets would produce a dazzling appearance of fire.

Mr. Vanderveide also talked on jewellery making, tools needed in the process, and methods used such as hardening with centrifugal force, and the last wax method in which extreme heat is involved.

In the fall, Mr. Vanderveide is hoping to teach a night school course on jewellery making.

At the close of the meeting some samples were traded by the members.

Avoid Double Trouble, Stay Home Friday 13th

What's so unlucky about today, Friday the 13th?

Nothing, unless you happen to be a fisherman, sailor, traveller, lover or blood donor. Everyone else can breeze through the day with no fear of dire consequences.

Only within the past 100 years has Friday the 13th been considered a day of doubly bad augury. Although Friday had ominous connotations for Christians,because of its connection with the crucifixion of Christ, fear of 13 applied not to dates, but to gatherings of 13 people or collections of 13 objects.

After the Protestant Reformation, much of the fear of Friday abated. A general superstition remained against fishermen and seamen setting out on a voyage, landsmen taking a journey or domestic servants entering into new employment. Doctors avoided opening veins to let blood on Friday. Bleeding on that day or at a cure for disease or a tonic was not sure to ensure good health, was sure to cause death.

Brahmins of India shared Christians' aversion to Friday. For them, embarking on a business venture on the ninth day was bad luck. Muslims, on the other hand, regarded Friday as lucky.

The malevolence of the number 13 goes back to the Last Supper, when 13 were present, one betraying his Master and afterward hanging himself in remorse. Throughout Christendom the belief grew that if 13 sat down at table, one would die before the year was out and the rest would suffer unhappiness.

Over 100 years ago a wit began to debunk the superstition by observing that it was truly unlucky for 13 to sit down to a meal prepared for only 12.

To all Europeans, the number held terror. After all, everyone knew 13 was a quorum for a hideous gathering of witches. Some carried the superstition so far, remarked an author in 1852, "as to look upon 13 as in every way ominous of evil, and if they find 13 coins in their purse, cast away the odd one like a pollut- ed thing."

No one knows why, during the last century, Friday and the 13th day of the month were linked in popular superstition. As a researcher says, "Like much of what is old and quaint and strange among us, our superstitious beliefs have their roots deep in the soil of the ancient homes of the race."

But our younger son is completely different and we are worried sick about him. He is hell-raiser like you wouldn't believe. Freddie is seven years old and he can outrun, outsmart and outmaneuver both his brother and sister. This child is fast as lightning and he never seems to get tired. He hasn't taken a nap since he was three years old. Even when he stays up until 11:00 p.m. he is up at 6:00 in the morning tearing the house apart.

I cannot keep track of Freddie, much less discipline him. His teachers have the same problem. He spills things, cuts things, breaks things, teases the other children, finishes the assignment in half time (of course it is poorly done) and then he looks for mischief to get into. Please tell me what to do. I am on daily doses of tranquillizers. — END OF MY ROPE.

* * *

DEAR ROPE: Have you taken Freddie to a physician lately? If you have not done so I strongly recommend it.

Medical science has made tremendous progress in the field of child behavior. Thirty years ago, overly active children were considered "spoiled" or "mischievous." They ran wild, were everyone to'e trunk and the doctor put the frantic mothers on medication.

I am not attempting to make a medical diagnosis but from your description of the boy, there is a chance that he might be a hyperkinetic child. Please ask your physician to check him. Maybe the wrong person is getting the medication.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Although I have been married a couple of times I am still an ignorant male. Will you please tell me how is it possible for a man to know a woman until he has lived with her?

You are opposed to men and women living together without the benefit of clergy and have said so repeatedly, maybe it's time you changed your mind, Ann. With so many phonies running around loose these days how can a man learn what a woman is really like by merely enjoying her company socially? — ALSO A FOOL.

* * *

DEAR RAN: Many marriages fail because people choose to ignore glaring faults and severe character defects which are quite obvious during courtship. After a few months, when the glamor wears off and what's underneath begins to show through, the disillusioned one yells, "I've been robbed."

And then there are the fools who believe that marriage will transform a liar or a lush or a selfish, willful woman into something wonderful. They are the blindest of all. People who keep an eye and an ear open during courtship can learn all they need to know — if they want to, that is.

* * *

Confidential to TOLD YOU ALL: You sure did, lovely, and my advice is to do as your doctor suggested. And please, no more 6ft page letters. If you must cry over spilled milk, kindly condense it.

Successful Living

16-Year-Old Girl Too Young to Make Correct Choice of Life-long Mate

Dear Doris: My granddaughter (16) whom I have raised since she was a baby has told me she wants to become engaged.

My answer was certainly not and, of course, she was very much annoyed. She called me an old-fashioned woman. I asked the young man what his parents thought of such an idea. He said: "Oh, they think R's fine!" Can I stop her from being engaged? She is 16 and he is 21. They have only known each other three months. — Old Fashioned.

Dear Old-Fashioned: All you'll do is get her back up. When a girl of tender years falls for a brawn man, the glamor and wonder that he finds her irresistible may be irresistible to her. The awakening comes later.

To tie her self to one partner, at 16, means cutting off all opportunity to find out whether you are right or not. She simply does not know enough about men, right now, to make a sound choice.

I'd suggest you permit friendship between them, with an agreement from her to keep free of any promises. Help her by welcoming parties and get-togethers in your home, so that she is able to make some comparisons.

For your own comfort, she cannot marry for some years yet without your consent.

Dear Doris: We moved out on my father five years ago. We two sons went to visit him at Thanksgiving and found he had a lady friend. We really liked her. After we came back we wrote to her our thank-you notes and entered into a correspondence with her. (Her relationship with Dad is on a purely platonic level).

DORIS CLARK

Now Mom found out about this, and I know it hurt her to think we are friends with this interloper, so to speak.—Pulled Both Ways.

Dear Pulled: Then keep your loyalties straight. I'm not surprised that your mother was hurt to learn you were writing to your father's girl friend, platonic or not.

There is plenty of sensitivity where there has been love, and where there are children to be go-between. Better stop the letters; write to your Dad instead. And try talking things over with your mother. Get closer to her.

Dear Doris: I would like to know how I could improve my spelling. I am not too good at it. — Vic.

Dear Vic: I know one lady, a writer, who takes one new word a day. She prints it big and pastes it up in her kitchen. That day she learns what it looks like and what it means. So that is one hint for you.

Another is to get yourself a good dictionary; and just never fail to look up any word you don't know. Then you sit by TV or radio, keep a pencil handy. Write down the words you wonder about.

A good old spelling drill once a week is probably best of all. Someone reads out a list of words. You spell and define each one. No use knowing how to spell a word if it means nothing to you in conversation!

Has Doris helped you with a problem? Write and tell her so!

The address will be given by Father Robert Stewart of St. Paul's Anglican Church,and prophlets will be distributed before the service.

The spiritual director also outlined plans for discussion groups on Sunday evenings in Lent, for adults and young people. He suggested the parents should support activities planned by the youth group.

Spiritual convener, Mrs. Charles Brady, read an article, which described school conditions in an orphanage at Saigon.

Correct Use of Baking Powder Results in Light Fluffy Cakes

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I enjoy your friendly home helper column very much and feel I really know you. I like your recipes, try many of them and a good number of them have found a place in my "Favorite Recipes" file.

I do have a question though. What is the difference between single - acting and double-acting baking powder? I have been unable to purchase the former and wondered if only half as much, "double-acting" baking powder should be used. I think many of your readers would like your reply as I have spoken to quite a number of friends who also wondered why your preference. Keep up the good work and may your column long be a part of our daily newspaper. — May I.

ANSWER: Thank you May. In all baking powders there must be an acid and an alkaline material reacting with one another in the presence of moisture in the batter to form a gas — carbon dioxide — which takes the form of tiny bubbles in the dough or batter. When heat is applied in the oven, when they are baked, these gas bubbles quickly expand the batter which is set by the heat to make light-textured cakes or breads.

Single-acting baking powder is phosphate-type baking powder, somewhat slower in reaction than double-acting but releases much of its carbon dioxide in the cold dough or batter and must be baked as soon as mixed to release remainder in baking. A fairly dependable rule is to allow 2 tsps. single - acting baking powder to each cup of flour.

Double - acting baking powders are usually composed of sodium aluminum phosphate, calcium sulphate, calcium acid phosphate. They start to work in the cold dough but the greatest rising action does not occur until heat is applied in the oven. In some recipes where double-acting baking powder is specified, you are directed to add a baking mixed batter for as much as 30 min. This activates the rising action in the cold dough. A fairly dependable rule is to allow 4 tsps. double-acting baking powder to each one cup of flour.

Today's Coifs Rise or Fall As Occasion Dictates

By Rebs and Bonnie Churchill

1. Today's coiffures refuse to be classified. They literally rise or fall as the occasion and hairpiece dictate. The only point of agreement is their relaxed silhouette. International stylist Bill White previews a trio of coifs, featuring this new, easy-flow direction, which finds hair more curved and swing-free than precise and teased. Such fluid lines spotlight texture and sheen, so whether hair is natural or tinted, first ask its baby shampoo for lustre lights, then spin-set in a roll-under pattern. The initial style boasts a coronet of hair at the crown, parted and overlapped bangs, and gently curved end sips.

2. The next design, devised for short to mid-neck length bobs, features a two-inch side part (yes, parts are "in" again), banked by a full, rounded crown. Front and side areas are shaped with thumb and index fingers for a fluid, swerving effect that dips half onto the forehead (but not to the brows as last season) and then shifts in the direction of the contours of cheek and chin. As cover-girl Almo Korvs illustrates, this versatile coif's airy appearance, wave set or guiche liquid is placed on cheek tendrils, not last tips. This controls strands without giving them a clamped, glued look.

3. The same feather-fingered approach is evident in the award-winning stylist's puffed hairdo that tumbles hair across the top of the head and cascades it down the sides. Tresses are backcombed at the crown and anchored. The ends are shaped in stand-up loops that are inverted and overlapped. A few of the ringlets spill over the sides to tease the tips of the ears. They are strategically positioned with hairpins on the underside and a satin filter on the right side. The coif, like its predecessors, requires only a few deft strokes of brush and comb, and your "ready-do" is done!

Dear Susanna: Hot chocolate and cold weather go even better together, with my simple no - pot - to - wash recipe.

Put the right amount of chocolate powder (or cocoa and sugar) in a mug, add about ½ cup of undiluted evaporated milk and mix until smooth. Fill with boiling water.

A hot drink in minutes with very little preparation or clearing up to do.

MOP UP

Dear Su: Summer and winter (when it isn't freezing) our two boys are expected to keep the family car washed.

This last time, armed with two pails and only one car brush, the big question was, which one of them was going to have to do the hard way, with cloth in hand.

Neither of them had the heart to let them use my kitchen string mop. It was especially good for the top and hood, and my young fellow did appreciate not having to put his hands cold and wet. — Mom

Officer's Views on Service Unification Likely to Play Role in Promotion

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian Forces headquarters has issued orders which indicate that an officer's views on service unification may play a part in his appointments and promotions.

Confidential reports are made annually on each officer in the services by a superior officer. This has long been a standard practice, as in the business world.

These "performance evaluation reports" are written on a standard form known as CF255.

Last September an order went out from headquarters amending CF255. Part of this order reads:

"You will appreciate the need to assess the tri-service potential of all officers. Accordingly a sub-para C has been added to para 18 entitled employment—suitability for employment outside of their normal service environment—in which the assessor will record his opinion of the assessee's potential for employment in integrated position."

Another order dealt with the new provision for fast promotion of officers of exceptional ability.

The order says in part:

"All recommendations in this category must be accompanied by a covering letter setting out in complete detail the reasons why the individual is considered to deserve such rapid and extraordinary promotion and why it is in the interest of the unified force to do so."

The letter order also says:

"Because officers promoted in this category must have truly exceptional qualities, the most extreme care possible will be taken in selection procedures. The unit commander, base commander, area or formation commander, chief of personnel, and finally the chief of defence staff must all agree and the chief of the defence staff personally will be the final approving authority.

"This policy will apply only to those officers who have clearly demonstrated truly exceptional intelligence, ability and potential.

"Statistical evidence indicates that personnel in this exceptional category constitute less than one per cent of any group."

A bill to unify the armed forces into a single service has not yet cleared second reading —approval in principle—in the Commons

Ontario's Indian Tribes Ask Rights Be Restored

OTTAWA (CP) — Ontario's diverse Indian tribes presented a lively and impressive front Thursday in asking Ottawa to restore native hunting and fishing rights as a centennial project.

The spectrum of the province's Indians, from the Mohawks of the St. Lawrence to the Chippewans of the northwest, were present as a brief on the subject was read to Indian Affairs Minister Laing.

Backing them were delegates of a number of non-Indian organizations, ranging from steelworkers and auto workers union men to Rt. Rev. Neville Clarke, Anglican bishop of James Bay.

A scattering of delegates from Indian groups in other provinces and from major national bodies also faced Mr. Laing in a crowded hotel room.

Canadian Indians have been objecting for 50 years to the Migratory Birds Convention Act signed in 1916 by Canada and the United States.

The Supreme Court of Canada recently has upheld lower court decisions that the international agreement overrules Indian rights to shoot ducks and geese for food at any time on reserves or on unoccupied Crown lands.

UP TO PARLIAMENT

The brief said legal argument can be carried no further and it is now up to Parliament to restore the rights it shrugged through the agreement.

If public interest required a modification of the treaty rights, then Ottawa should negotiate with the Indians to "devise appropriate compensation."

Mr. Laing said a "sorry and clumsy oversight" was made in 1916 when Indian rights weren't taken into account in the agreement.

He said the situation is complicated by the fact that the 1916 convention is international, that treaty rights vary from province to province and because the provinces have jurisdiction over fish and game.

Ottawa has been paying court costs for Indians charged with fish and game infractions and has a report on the situation from a committee of senior officials.

An attempt was being made to develop "a basic body of law to say what we have to do to right the situation."

"We do not yet have the answer."

MAY SEE U.S. OFFICIALS

The government is "considering the possibility of having discussions with U.S. authorities to hear their views," Mr. Laing said.

When a delegate said that U.S. Indians aren't bound by the convention when hunting on their reserves, Mr. Laing said he wasn't aware of this. If it was so, the Canadian case would be helped.

The brief said it was the unpleasant role of the delegation "to introduce a note of discord into this symphony of national centennial merriment."

"The last 100 years have vilified as unimaginable deterioration in the life of Indians," it said, listing living standards that would "stagger the imagination" of most Canadians.

Mr. Laing said that, like every previous minister of Indian affairs, he will undoubtedly leave office a failure because the Indian social problem is so great.

But Parliament was setting aside more money than ever for Indians, a five-year $112,000,000 housing program was well under way and Indians had educational opportunities no other Canadian could benefit from.

"Oh, come off it," muttered an Indian delegate as the familiar statistics were read. "Change writers or something."

Sunday School Lesson

Science Not Everything

By CLARENCE W. CRANFORD

The tallest building in Europe is the new building of the University of Moscow. It contains over a thousand scientific laboratories. Every one of the 25,000 students who attend classes in this building is studying some branch of science. Other subjects are taught in the old building downtown. The new building, which is the pride of every Russian, is dedicated completely to the teaching of science. In this way, the party leaders hope to produce scientists in such a way as to give them the scientific knowhow that can help them control the world.

Science is important. To remain free, the free world must never let its interest in science lag. But science isn't everything. The world needs more than a knowledge of science if it is to know peace. It needs leaders who have spiritual vision, and whose primary purpose is to serve men, not to exploit them.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for January 15: "The Marks of a Christian," Luke 6:12-49.

It was this kind of leadership Jesus had in mind when He chose His disciples. Many have wondered why He chose the men He did to be His closest followers. They were not men of prestige or power. They were not theologically trained. They were ordinary people following ordinary vocations. But it has been suggested that in a world where there is so much prejudice, Jesus sought to train men to serve. They were not to "lord it over" others the way so many political and military leaders tried to do, but were to follow Jesus' example in learning to serve those whom they would minister. (Matthew 20:25-28)

CHOOSING RIGHT SUIT

Having chosen His disciples, Jesus set about to train them. He pictured Himself as a character He wanted them to possess if they were to be His faithful followers. Perhaps they had already heard Him tell the story of a man who was not permitted to stay for a supper banquet because he did not have on a proper wedding suit. (Matthew 22:11-13) Now Jesus was about to describe the kind of a wedding garment, that is, the kind of a life, a Christian is expected to wear.

Jesus' appeal was not to the proud and the haughty. Their pattern of life was already established. It was hard for God to use them. It was to the plain and the humble Jesus directed His words. They were the ones who could be malleable in God's hands. He was frank to say that to follow Him might be costly. But the rewards would be great. Though they might suffer for the sake of Him, they would rejoice in the rewards they would experience in His service.

They were not to wear the garment of conformity. "Woe to you," He told them, "when all men speak well of you." (Luke 6:26 RSV) If there is any garment for which most people strive, it is approval and praise. It is never easy to court criticism by taking an unpopular stand. But Jesus insisted that a Christian's life must be cut according to God's pattern, not men's.

Moreover, they must evidence a superior kind of love, even toward their enemies. (Luke 6:27-36) A certain man was very fond of yellow. He decorated his room entirely in yellow. He had yellow walls, yellow drapes, a yellow rug. He even had a yellow couch. One day the poor man got yellow jaundice. The doctor went to see him, and came out of the sick room looking startled. "How's he, Doctor?" asked his wife. "I don't know," replied the doctor, "he can't find him."

If men love only those who love them, what credit can they claim? asked Jesus (Luke 6:32) On that basis, they would be like every one else. They would never stand out from the crowd. But if they expressed good will where they might have been expected to show resentment and hate, then they would stand out from the world in which they lived.

We often read about athletes who have bold-outs, that is, they hold out for a larger salary before they sign a contract to play. Christians are expected to be stand-outs. That is, they must stand out against the greedy and selfish in the background of the world. They must look first to their own lives. A person cannot take a speck of sawdust out of his neighbor's eye if there is a log-jam in his own eye. (Luke 6:41-42) He must judge others less harshly than he judges himself. (Luke 6:37) His function is not to condemn as it is to set an example. In this way, he bears a witness to his faith, and builds his life on a solid foundation. (Luke 6:47-49)

By MAURICE SWITZER

The world of sport was somewhat taken aback when a number of prominent hockey coaches recently announced their players would receive figure skating lessons as part of their basic training. No one could be more in approval of this turn of events than Mrs. E. Driscoll, president of the Quinte Figure Skating Club.

Mrs. Driscoll feels that figure skating is too often touted as a "girls' sport", adding: "If we could only make young boys realize that taking skating instruction would greatly improve their potential as hockey players."

The great majority of the local club's 106 members are, of course, female, but also several men and boys who take advantage of some of the eight hours skating time each week purchased at the arena by the club.

Members, at present ranging in age from three years and up, have the opportunity this year of receiving instruction from two qualified professional skaters, Mrs. Bonnie Boundy of Port Hope, Gordon Crossland of Toronto travel t the city three times a week to offer local skaters guidance in dance and figures, as well as to give them helpful advice with respect to the more relaxed freestyle skating.

Mrs. Boundy has been a regular instructor at club skating sessions for some five years. This is Mr. Crossman's first Belleville teaching assignment.

Until eight years ago, club members did their skating at the Quinte Skating Club, an open-air ice sheet at the corner of Queen and Dufferin streets in the city. In all, the Quinte Figure Skating Club has been doing Dutch Waltzes and "Camel spins" in Belleville for about 20 years.

The most illustrious club "graduates" were Jane and Peggy McCutcheon, at present performing professionally with the Holiday On Ice skating revue in the United States.

Renovation of Tilbury Docks Will Restore London Port Role

By CAROL KENNEDY

TILBURY, England (CP)— For a Britain under economic siege, heartening things are happening down on the flat lands of the Thames estuary where, in an era shadowed by a different threat, Queen Elizabeth I rallied her troops with a famous speech on the eve of the Spanish Armada.

Tilbury Docks, long the Cinderella of the great complex of wharfs ruled by the Port of London Authority, is in the midst of a bounding new development that experts claim could make it the most modern port in Europe by 1970.

More than that, says Dudley Perkins, director-general of the PLA: The success of Tilbury's £20,000,000 ($50,000,000) extension, planned to increase cargo-handling capacity by four or five times, will re-establish Britain as the premier centre of maritime trade and save millions of pounds in foreign currency.

"This may be the decisive answer as to whether the U.K. is going to remain an important maritime country in its own right or become an appendage of Europe," Perkins told reporters on a recent visit to the half-completed scheme. The new dock is scheduled to begin operation in early 1968.

The great Continental ports of Amsterdam, Rotterdam and Antwerp had been growing at the expense of Britain, said Perkins. With the spread of container - type cargoes, requiring special handling methods, there was the danger that more and more big transocean shippers would use European ports and transfer goods to Britain by local feeder services.

"I may not be exaggerating when I say that what we have done at Tilbury is to strike a blow for the independence of the U.K. against the competition of northwestern Europe and reverse the process by which we have lost international trade," said Perkins.

The Tilbury extension, being built on 900 acres reclaimed from Thames marshland, involves two miles of quays and will provide five major container berths as well as facilities for other types of unitized cargo. Capable of handling ships up to 850 feet long, it is the biggest new dock development in Britain since the end of the First World War.

A new 12-lane highway and a freightliner rail terminal linking Tilbury with every major industrial city in Britain will provide access to the port, hitherto poorly served by communications.

Canadian timber shippers can take at least part credit for moves to modernize Tilbury, a bleak, depressing sprawl of sheds and quays 26 miles east of London which annually handles about 240,000 passengers and 850,000 tons of cargo.

When Canadian ships grew too big for London's Royal Surrey Docks, centre of the timber trade, Pacific Coast exporters in effect gave the Port of London Authority the choice: Either develop suitable handling facilities for the bigger-draft ships with their loads of packaged timber, or we go to other British ports.

The result was berth 34 at Tilbury, converted to become the first packaged timber terminal in Britain. Opened last July, the £250,000 berth immediately ran into labor troubles over its 16-man permanent work force that handles every quayside operation.

This conflicted with the traditional, wasteful British system of casual dock labor which would have employed about 60 men to do the same job and taken twice as long.

Flouting a higher-pay and - productivity agreement signed by the dock unions, 1,200 Tilbury dockers struck as the first ship entered the new berth from Vancouver, paralysing the port for three days.

The solution of the dispute, winning acceptance for the principle of more efficient use of dock labor, is regarded by Port of London officials as "a breakthrough in labor relations" in a field that has bedevilled British industry for nearly a century.

The berth, which in five months has handled 15,121 tons of packaged timber, is saving money for Canadian shippers by as much as two-thirds the former dock charges. Owners can achieve much quicker turnround of their vessels and the peak unloading speed of 90 tons per hatch per hour is four or five times faster than old methods of handling timber in piece form.

The success of berth 34, said docks manager Stanley Turner, was directly responsible for the leasing of two berths in the new extension to Vancouver's giant MacMillan-Bloedel company and the Svenska Cellulosa company of Sweden.

The MacMillan - Bloedel berth alone is expected to handle between 400,000 and 500,000 tons a year. PLA officials will say only that the lease has been signed for "a considerable number of years."

Another major feature of the Tilbury extension will be a £3,000,000 grain terminal with two 180-foot discharging towers of a combination dual-purpose pattern pioneered by Canada. The terminal will be one of the fastest discharging plants in the world, with a maximum unloading rate of 2,000 tons of grain an hour.

Last year, according to a Chinese friend, was "The Year of the Horse."

This year, spilling over from 1966, could be the "Year of the Underdog."

That is the opinion, in very small print, of a well-known American sports columnist. This hinterland correspondent concurs.

"The moving finger writes — and having writ — moves on."

It "writ" more than one sensational upset, setback, call them what you will, in the year that recently sunk below Time's horizon.

Last year, to paraphrase my Chinese friend, was also "The Year of the Red Face" as far as sports columnists, writers, ex-champions and the ever-present galaxy of experts were concerned.

Not a few favored "Indians bit the dust" in a turn of events that put many of the sooth-sayers on an enforced — if temporary — diet of "crow."

Practically the only sure thing on the calendar of the predictional swamis was a guy called Cassius Clay. But the Black Muslim minister, as he now terms himself, was one of the first to institute the "Order of the Red Face" when he toppled the so-called mighty Sonny Liston to the mat of defeat in their first meeting.

And the second fiasco surprised a few when Liston, almost as ageless as Satchel Paige and Ole Arch Moore, refused to leave his stool in Lewiston, Maine and slid down the skidways into near oblivion.

Prior to the world series had anyone called the Baltimore Orioles to eliminate the Koufax-led Los Angeles Dodgers in four straight games, he would have been rushed to the nearest mental institution.

And who would have had the audacity to wager that the once mighty Yankees, the proudest baseball champions of them all would have finished in the American League janitor's quarters.

Arnold Palmer, seven strokes up on Bill Casper in the final round of the US Open, sent many of the faithful of "Arnies Army" and scoop-hungry reporters to telephones with an "It's in the Bag" message.

Their faces grew longer than the afternoon shadows as Casper whittled and gnawed at the lead to wipe it out, finish in a tie and win the sudden-death playoff.

And Canada's George Knudson upset many a pre-tournament prophesy when he captured the individual honors of the Canada Cup Golf Tourney in Tokyo from the cream of the professional crop.

Outside of the prairie perimeters and the city of Regina, few would wager the season's crop that the Saskatchewan Roughriders would take the measure of vaunted Russ Jackson and his Rouch Riders from Bytown in the famous Grey Cup Classic.

Or previous, to that the same Jackson and Company would bury the alleged rugged, tough Hamilton Tiger Cats under an avalanche of points in a lopsided Eastern final.

While a soccer world wondered the international champions from Brazil went down to defeat in one of the most fantastic World Cup Classics yet staged. England, given a secondary chance in pre-series betting, copped the honors.

Truly, the Year of the Red Face.

Before the savants and swamis of the news-gathering horde here turn me over to the guys in the white coats, I must note, I will not be surprised to see the Kansas City Chiefs send the Green Bay Packers "packin'" and one Ernest Terrell pin the first defeat on Muhammad Ali before he learns to "about face" in a GI uniform.

And with Bobby Hull getting around to the point where things go better with "poke," watch the Chi-hawks and the Stanley Cup with the Rangers as runners-up.

All right men, I'm ready.

Giacomin Chalks Up Shutout No. 5

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It's one down and four to go for New York Rangers.

The Rangers, the biggest surprise of the National Hockey League season, have been ousted from Madison Square Garden because of an ice show.

That forced the club to play five straight on the road, starting with a game in Boston Thursday night.

Now the Rangers have only four games left on their road swing, and if they get the same solid netminding performance from Ed Giacomin they shouldn't have trouble keeping their current pace.

Giacomin, the lanky 27-year-old goalkeeper, kicked out 21 shots to register his fifth shutout of the season as the Rangers downed the hapless Bruins 3-0.

Jim Neilson, Bob Nevin and Vic Hadfield scored for the Rangers.

In the other NHL game Thursday night, Detroit Red Wings downed Chicago Black Hawks 4-3. Paul Henderson paced Detroit with two goals and Dean Prentice and Bruce MacGregor added one each. Bobby Hull scored Chicago's only goal.

Giacomin's fifth shutout against the Bruins gave him the lead in that department. He was tied with Detroit's Roger Crozier before Thursday's game.

Giacomin made brilliant saves on Gilles Marotte, Bobby Orr and Pit Martin in the third period to preserve his shutout.

Neilson gave the Rangers all the goals they needed when he scored on a 50-foot shot in the second period after the clubs battled through a scoreless first.

Nevin made it 2-0 at 1:09 of third period and Hadfield put the game out of reach just over six minutes later.

The victory moved the Rangers back into sole possession of first place in the standings. They were tied for the top spot with Chicago going into the game.

There was hard hitting by both sides during the game but out. Boston's John McKenzie and Boston's John McKenzie was sent off for elbowing in the first period.

The Rangers fired 26 shots at Boston's Ed Johnston. The loss left the Bruins in fifth place with 23 points.

The Wings came up with a 55-shot barrage at Chicago goalie Glenn Hall as they gained revenge for a 6-1 Wednesday night setback at the hands of the Black Hawks.

The Red Wings, who moved to within five points of the fourth - place Montreal Canadiens with their victory, fired 12 shots at Hall in the first period, 19 in the second and 19 again in the third.

Prentice gave Detroit a 1-0 lead but Hull tied it at 7:43 of the second period with his 23rd of the season, tops in the NHL.

Henderson put Detroit ahead 2-1 less than five minutes later and MacGregor increased the lead to 3-1 with his goals in the last minute of play in the second period while the Red Wings held a manpower advantage.

Henderson closed out the scoring with his second goal of the night early in the third period.

The Hawks, who slipped to second place because of the New York victory over Boston, had 28 shots at Detroit goalie Roger Crozier.

The victory was Detroit's third against the Hawks this year in nine meetings. Last year, the Red Wings managed only one win and two ties in 14 games with Chicago.

On Saturday, Boston is at Montreal, Detroit will be in Toronto for a game with the Maple Leafs and the Rangers play in Chicago.

On Sunday, Montreal is at Boston, Toronto at Chicago and New York at Detroit.

Packers, Chiefs Eye Loot

Pride, Pot O' Gold Up For Grabs

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Speculation on whether Paul Hornung will play heightened interest today in the Super Bowl game as both Green Bay Packers and Kansas City Chiefs went through final workouts in preparation for Sunday's first clash of U.S. professional football champions.

The first major question on the battle between the National and American football league champions developed when the rival coaches pointed to Green Bay's Hornung as player who could make a difference in this rich struggle for supremacy.

Not only will pride be on the line in the long-awaited game, which will be televised by the CBC at 4:05 p.m. EST, but record payoffs of $15,000 to each member of the winning team and $7,500 to each loser.

With that substantial pot of gold up for grabs, the Hornung bunch first cropped up at the Chiefs' Long Beach training camp, where coach Hank Stram said:

"I don't have any particular reason for saying so it's sounds like a feeling — but I think Hornung will see a considerable amount of action."

Asked about Stram's speculation at the Packers' Santa Barbara training site, coach Vince Lombardi said:

"I really don't know who will star. "But I'm a real hunch player. The game will indicate who plays and who doesn't. I'm not going to tell who will get in or who won't get in. I probably won't know until Sunday.

"I'll have to say this though. Hornung may be the best pass receiver we have as far as running patterns. He knows when to stay on 'em and when to break them off. He reads defences better than anyone else I know."

Hornung has not started in eight weeks and has lost his starting job to Elijah Pitts, who gained 393 yards rushing and 460 on 26 passers while joining quarterback Bart Starr, fullback Jim Taylor and flanker Boyde Dowler in the Green Bay backfield.

The Chiefs received good news from the medical department early today: Tight end Fred Arbanas may be able to play in the game.

Arbanas suffered a slight shoulder separation two weeks ago, but the veteran star looked much improved in practice Thursday, when the Chiefs stressed passing.

"Although a sellout had been expected at the 93,000 - seat Los Angeles Coliseum, 70,000 seats still are available and a sellout is unlikely.

As in all title games, there will be a sudden-death overtime period if the game remains tied after regulation time.

The players will be battling for the biggest single payoff in the history of team competition. The highest payoff for losers in the 1963 Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Packers already have received $8,500 for beating Dallas Cowboys in the NFL title game while the Chiefs grabbed $5,300 for beating Buffalo in the AFL title game.

Minor Hockey

A pair of late goals broke a 4-4 deadlock and gave Bruins a 6-4 decision over the Hawks in a minor BMHA midget division game.

Blatchford's third goal of the game clinched the win after Mallory had broke the tie with his loner. Wallie and Richardson potted other Bruin goals. Popeye Ser I Waite each drew two assists. Blatchford had one.

Mallory fired two Hawk goals and helped on another. Roy and Bonneville also scored. Lebow and Roy had assists.

Nationals Defeat Rideaus

OTTAWA (CP)—Ottawa Nationals jumped into third place in the Eastern Canada Senior A hockey standings by walloping Perth-Smiths Falls Rideaus 7-3 Thursday.

Only four points separate the league's five teams.

John Bonnar and Gary Goyer netted two apiece for the winners, helped by singles from Gordon E. Larry Baker and Gilbert Seguin.

Macs Shoot For Second Spot

Peterborough Petes and Quinte McFarlands, battling for second place in the red-hot OHA Eastern Junior "B" race, meet headon tonight in a 9.00 o'clock battle at Memorial Arena.

And the Macs will be putting a perfect record on the line as far as Belleville games are concerned. They have played three home games in the old Memorial and have won all three of them, topping Kingston 5-3 Cobourg 5-3 and Trenton 6-2.

They are hoping to keep the streak going since they also meet league-leading Oshawa here next Friday and Trenton here on Tuesday, February 31.

"In such a tight race, we are not even sure of a playoff spot yet," said manager Jim "Sabre" Matthews the other day, "so we just have to keep winning. We could still finish anywhere from first to fifth."

As well as team points, the Macs will be out to help Ron Riley and linemate Ernie Sharpe in their bids for the league scoring championship.

Riley leads Sharpe and Oshawa's Phil Solomon by two points right now and is also the hop's top goal-scorer with 23. Along with Billy Hopkins, Riley and Sharpe help form a fine line to watch.

Defenceman Harold Townsend and Doug Potts, moved up to centre between Pete Fleming and Steve White, are also playing well for the Macs. "Doug seems to be giving his linemates a little more confidence and I think this line will really be heard from," coach Fiori Gogan told following Monday's 7-4 win in Cobourg.

Don Byes has been going great guns of late, led by Rick McLeish and the Chilick brothers, Ron and Perry. They want a win tonight to stay close to Oshawa.

To add up to what should be a great game here and the Macs are hoping for a crowd to match.

Broda Exchange

Dollars For Pounds!

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — No matter how you look at it, when Turk Broda learns a head, it says learned.

And that holds good for goal-keeping, coaching or working your way into the public prints.

Broda, once billed as the "fabulous fat man" when he starred goal with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, now is coach of London Nationals of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

Taking a page out of history, Broda has weighed Stanley Allan, 18, on a crash diet with orders to be down to 180 pounds by Sunday.

"If he doesn't make it, then it's going to cost him dough," Broda says.

"But he does make it, I'll be very happy to pay him $1 for every pound he loses."

The "lose-it - or-else" order went out to Allan about a month ago. Broda called an unscheduled check of player weights and found Allan about 15 pounds over. The cost will be $1 a day for every day he remains overweight after Sunday.

Allan dropped five pounds after spending Christmas in Toronto with his family.

"But I'm not saying how many I put on over the holidays," Officials of the league claim it was in 1949 that Broda, just about the same weight as Allan is now, was suspended by Toronto Maple Leafs and told by coach Hap Day and manager Conn Smythe not to darken their nets until he had dropped 14 pounds.

"They suspended five others that same day—Garth Busch, Vic Lynn, Harry Watson and Cal Gardner. They were just a little overweight and it didn't take them long to get down to where Smythe was happy again," Broda says.

He missed one game but he made the weight.

"Now Listen Fatso!"

Turk Broda, left, former Toronto Maple Leaf goalie who was once ordered to shed weight by Leafs' owner Conn Smythe, passes on the same order and a little sympathy to Stan Allan, a forward with London, Ont., Nationals of the Ontario Junior "A" League. Broda, who now coaches the Nationals, tells Allan he must take 15 pounds off his 195 by Jan. 15.

Self-Help Pays For Goalie

BOSTON (AP) — Ed Giacomin's self - help plan has him leading the National Hockey League in goaltending and the defensive prosperity has spread to his New York Ranger teammates.

Giacomin lowered his average to a sparkling 2.09 Thursday with his fifth shutout of the season—five for Rangers, regained sole possession of first place with a 3-0 victory over Boston.

"I was very disappointed after last season," admits Giacomin, who struggled through a woeful rookie season.

"I figured the only way I could improve was with more practice."

So the Ranger goalie went to coach Emile Francis, an old netminder himself, to talk over the problem.

"We decided," said Francis, "that the best thing for Ed was to face more shots in practice."

New York forwards were instructed to blast away at Giacomin in workouts. The Ranger goalie now gets about three times on shots as he ever had before.

The additional work and Giacomin's desire to break the roaming habit which plagued him last year have resulted in a major cut in New York's goals allowed. The Rangers had the best defensive record in the NHL the year the first half of the season.

"He's done the job, no question about that," said Francis. "He's a dedicated worker and it's paid off for him."

Russians Turn Tables On Nationals

KITCHENER (CP)—Like Napoleon, the Canadian national hockey team has discovered they still face a long, cold winter against the Russians.

Napoleon led his triumphant French forces into Moscow, but the Russian winter and the endurance of its people forced him to vacate the city and the country, losing half his army en route.

The Canadian nationals, who gained two victories and a tie against the touring Soviet Union's national team during the last week, were defeated 5-3 by the Russians here Thursday night.

It was a morale victory for the world champion Soviets, who had played four games in the last five days, and a reminder to the Canadians that they can't count on upsetting the Russians in the world championships at Vienna in March.

It was the final game in Canada for the Russians and their seventh victory in 11 games. They also lost to the Czechoslovakian national team during the Canadian Centennial tournament in Winnipeg last week.

And, while the Russians are returning to the U.S.S.R. to resume play in the country's strongest league, the Canadians will be working out against senior clubs for the next eight weeks.

Canada's coach, Jackie McLeod, says his team has nine games scheduled during that time against senior clubs "which unfortunately can't provide us with the kind of opposition we need.

"We should be playing professional clubs actually, but they just aren't available."

McLeod explained that the Canadians will play six games in Europe before the world tournament, "so we should have a chance to get squared away again."

Thursday's loss was only the second of the season for the Canadian team, which lost to New York Rangers. They also defeated the Rangers twice.

Vladimar Tursinov, Alexandre Stringanov, Edvard Ivanov, Anatoli Firsov and Viacheslaw Starshinov were the Russian marksmen Thursday, Fran Huck, Roger Bourbonnais and Gary Dineen replied for Canada.

The Canadians controlled play in the first period, taking a 1-0 lead, but the Russians came back to outscore their opponents 4-2 in the second period. Stringanov's goal late in the third period gave the Soviet team the victory.

Both teams fired 23 shots and received five penalties.

4-3 Scores Feature Gas House League

A pair of tight 4-3 games featured action in the Gas House Hockey League as the schedule draws near a close.

Mustangs, with first place already in the bag, edged Mahroney's Sunoco while Comets, in last place, nipped Marysville B.A.

Sunoco and Marysville will go right down to the wire in next week's final scheduled games to settle second and third positions.

Nytie Brant scored three goals to pace the Comets' second over Marysville. Bill Williams had the other goal and single assists went to Fred MacDonald, Chuck Rowbotham, Harold Babcock, Glen Hegle and Dave Hurst.

John Holgate had a goal and assist, Harold Pascoe and Jim Woodcock a goal each for Marysville. Ray Summers and Doug Olsen drew assists.

Lyall Asselstine sparked the Mustang victory. He scored once and assisted on two others. Jim Horwood got the other, a goal and assist while Tom Meeker and George Ferguson also scored. Leo Holland and Doctor Bates drew assists.

Doug Bolte and Dalton Lambert had a goal and assist each for Sunoco and Doug Reid added the other goal. Hugh Petrie, Gerry Brennan and Stu Craig had helpers.

Bryant and Asselstine won the "Dew Mugs" as the night's top players.

Thunderbirds Climb Out Of Cellar

Everybody loves the Wallbridge Warriors these days.

Thomasburg, Thunderbirds climbed out of the cellar and into a tie with Plainfield in Centre Hastings Hockey last night by topping Wallbridge 6-3. It was the Warriors' eighth consecutive defeat.

The Thunderbirds scored three unanswered goals in the third period to snap a 3-3 tie. Wallbridge had led 2-0 after one period.

Don Henderson scored twice for Thomasburg, giving him 18 goals for the season, while Jerrys went to Bob Barendt, Gaston Sherry, Gary Rutherford and Rick Belch.

Earl Reid, who played a strong game for Wallbridge, had a goal and assist. Tom Bennett and Dennis Gould also scored.

It was the night's only league game, played at Tweed.

In an exhibition, before a big crowd at Stirling, SACO of Belleville's Quinte Hockey League, edged the CHHL's leading Glen Ross Rebels 4-2.

Don Forsythe scored twice, Doug McCrorie and Art Delise once each for SACO. Jack Wright and Andy Fenlon got Glen Ross goals. SACO is one point out of first place in the QHL.

Nancy Adds Another

GRINDELWALD, Switzerland (AP)—Canada's Nancy Greene, the ski sensation of 1967, decisively won the downhill race of the Swiss International ski championships today against a field comprising virtually the entire world elite.

Miss Greene, 23 - year - old Notre Dame University student from Rossland, B.C., beat her closest rival, Isabelle Mir of France, by nearly 1.5 seconds, to become the top contender for womens' skiing honors in next year's Winter Olympics at Grenoble, France.

It was her fourth victory in five major international races in Europe this season. Today's 2,350-metre-long downhill race, with a field of 67 women from nine nations, was the first run for international downhill race of the season.

Miss Greene was clocked in two minutes, 5.32 seconds. Miss Mir's time was 2:06.79. Florence Steurer of France finished third with 2:07.48.

Nancy was lucky to draw the No. 3 starting position behind Italy's Giustina Demetz and her most dangerous rival, Annie Famose of France.

Signs Contract

With Wills, Pirates Team To Beat!

By ED SCHUTLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Maury Wills is ready for another stormy National League pennant race.

Wills, the shortstop who fell into disfavor with Los Angeles Dodgers after the 1966 season and was traded to Pittsburgh, signed with the National League Pirates Thursday for an undisclosed amount. He received about $90,000 last season.

"He signed with a smile on his face," general manager Joe L. Brown of the Pirates said. "I didn't have to twist his arm. So obviously he's satisfied, or he wouldn't have signed.

If the occasion struck a happy note for the Pirates and the 34-year - old shortstop, who is batboy for third base duty with Pittsburgh, it brought a chorus of the blues from at least one other National League manager.

Leo Durocher of Chicago Cubs said the acquisition of Wills linked with the Dodgers, makes the Pirates the team to beat.

Wills will "give 200 per cent" instead of just 100 per cent" for the Pirates, "a good club to begin with," Durocher said.

Furthermore, who gave up batboy-outfielder Bob Bailey and infielder Gene Michael to the Dodgers, said Wills' base trouble is cleared up.

The Wills signing was only one of many to be announced Thursday, Boston Red Sox leading the way with 13.

Pitcher Jack Fisher, being counted on heavily by New York Mets, came to terms. The right-hander posted an 11-14 record last season.

St. Louis signed veteran center fielder Curt Flood and rookie right-handed pitcher Joe DiPabie. Flood needs to play only the last two games of next season without an error to be a new National League record of 187 straight errorless games for an outfielder. He hit .267 in 1966 after three consecutive .300-plus years.

San Francisco also signed a key pitcher. Bob Bolin, a right-hander who was 11-10 last season with four of his losses being shutouts, came to terms for an estimated $20,000.

Clay's Lawyer

Demands Appeal Reopening

NEW YORK (AP) — Cassius Clay's lawyer sent telegrams to high selective service officials today asking them to direct a Kentucky draft board to reopen the heavyweight boxing champion's appeal for exemption on grounds he is a Black Muslim minister.

Local Board No. 47 of Louisville decided Thursday not to reopen Clay's appeal on the ministerial plea.

Hayden Covington said he sent the telegrams to Lt.-Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director of the selective service, and to Col. Everett S. Stephenson, Kentucky state director.

Covington said he felt certain that either Hershey or Stephenson would order the local board to reopen the case "because they know I can go into court and demand that it be reopened." He claimed that ministers are exempt from the draft by the selective service law.

He said that Clay, who embraced the Black Muslim faith three years ago under the name Muhammad Ali, devotes about 90 per cent of his time to lecturing and seeking converts to the faith.

Covington said that if the latest move fails, his second step would be a suit in federal court.

RE-OPENING UNNECESSARY

Allen Sherman, chairman of the local board, said the board has had information submitted by Covington last August concerning the ministerial appeal, and that the board felt it "unnecessary" to re-open the case.

Clay originally was classified 1-Y after he twice flunked army aptitude tests three years ago. But last Feb. 17, he was reclassified 1-A under new, lower qualifications established to make more men eligible for the draft.

The Kentucky board of appeals three days ago rejected Clay's request that he be reclassified as a conscientious objector.

Sherman said he did not know when Clay would be drafted.

Outdoor Tips And Tricks

Not much done in the way of ice fishing this past week in the Quinte part of the country but what little was done was fairly productive.

Consecon Lake is yielding some nice pike, Moira Lake and Stoco, Lake good pickerel and in Bay of Quinte at Conder's Hill some good pickerel are being caught.

Shiner minnows are being used in most cases.

On Consecon Lake a small fishing village has sprung up this season comprised of about 20 fish shanties.

Two local boys have built a good sized fish tote and transported it to Lake Simcoe where they are fishing for white fish.

These fellows know this lake as they have successfully fished it for years.

It is very funny thing about ice fishing. This outdoors sport has caught on like wild fire around the country but one of the better pike fishing areas known, at Gananoque is fished very little in the winter, I don't know of any other part of Southern Ontario where fishing is as active in the summer, that there is not good ice fishing, in the winter months.

With all the snow the last week or so, rabbit hunters are having a tough time in the few places they can hunt. Snow in the bush is up to the knees and makes tough slugging.

The Belleville Fish and Game Protective Association is holding their annual dinner meeting on Tuesday next at the Club Canara. Presentation of prizes for biggest fish and deer will take place at this time. All entries must be in by Sunday next.

These cold snowy evenings is a good time to check your tackle for the coming season.

Sharpen or replace hooks on lures and spoons, polish silver nickel, brass or gold lures and remove tarnish. Clean, oil and grease your reels, replace any worn part and adjust the reel or take or send to your local tackle repair shop.

Check over your rod guides and tops for grooves and sharp edges. If any are worn replace check the windings on the guides and give a coat of rod varnish.

Replace that old line, even monofilament line deteriorates with age and should be replaced each year.

Put a good line on your reel. It would be a crying shame to miss that record fish because of an inferior line.

Be sure that tackle box and throw all the old junk in a box or better still give it to the young lad.

Now all you have to do is wait for the fishing seasons to open and you are ready to start.

Members Rat Patrol Series Said Lucky to Be Alive

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"By all rights, we should be dead," said Christopher George, star of the desert war television series, The Rat Patrol.

"It's a miracle we aren't," agrees co-star Gaby Rodgers. They and another actor in the series, Justin Tarr, are survivors of a bus accident that might well have been the end of their careers, as well as Hollywood.

It happened last week on a dry lake bed at Rosamond, Calif., where they were shooting a scene in which Tarr drove a jeep around a wrecked German half - track during a battle. George was seated beside Tarr, and Raymond stood on the rear with a mounted gun.

The whole thing happened as if in slow motion" recalled George. "I could feel the right side of the jeep lifting, and I began to think we were going to roll over.

"I thought Gary could probably leap clear, since he was on the back. I looked over at Justin and guessed he would get killed, and probably I would, too.

"The jeep flipped up and over and then started to come down on us. I said to myself, 'This is it.' But the jeep didn't come all the way down. The gun mount on the back had acted as a roll bar."

Raymond, the British member of the cast, had jumped on the jeep started so roll. He lay on the ground with a broken ankle. Crew members rushed over to lift the jeep from the other two actors, who were pinned under it. George seemed to be the most seriously hurt; Tarr had escaped with only an injured arm.

All were taken to a desert hospital, and it was feared that George might have suffered a fractured skull and broken vertebrae.

"Now it appears that I had a concussion, tore something in my neck and may have a hairline fracture of the vertebra," said George at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital in Hollywood. "I also had abrasions all over my body."

The future plans of Rat Patrol depend on his recovery.

Something will have to be done within a month or so. The series has enough backlog to extend only into March.

Old Magic Seen Lacking In New Dragnet Series

NEW YORK (AP)—All the familiar elements were there—the dum-de-dum-dum theme, Badge 714, and even Jack Webb wearing a sport jacket and a puzzled look.

But either something has happened to Dragnet in the years it has been away or something has happened to this viewer. The old magic just wasn't there.

What was particularly awkward was the premiere of the NBC series Thursday night was the rigging of dialogue so that Sgt. Joe Friday, now promoted from lieutenant during his absence from prime time—could come in with a cynical crusher.

Typical was a final scene as Friday and his partner, now played by Harry Morgan, caught up with a boy who had been using the peddling LSD.

GOT WAY OUT

"He's been taking them—the pills—all day," explained the boy's buddy. "He kept saying he wants to get even farther out."

"Well, he's made it," said Friday. "He's dead."

Thelma Chatten Bowls a 408 In League Play

Thelma Chatten bowled a 408 in the Quinte Mixed League at the Bowl-O-Drome Thursday Night.

Thelma who has an average of 208 in the league just bowled one night a week.

She had identical first and second games of 193. Then the big one.

Starting with a double strike, she spared in the third ball, followed by consecutive strikes and left the right hand corner on her last ball.

This is the highest single girls game at the Bowl-O-Drome this season.

Last year it was Lois Calcutt 386; 1964-65 it was Verna Jenkinson 393 and in 1963-64 it was Marg Fairbairn 410.

Centennial Tournament Readying

TORONTO (CP)—Nearly 250 boys and men will converge on Kingston in Easter Week in a $45,000 centennial project.

The project is the centennial midget hockey tournament which will bring in a single game each consisting of 18 boys and two referees.

"Only two contestants have been chosen so far," said regional Jack Chittick on Thursday.

"Fredericton Red Wings will represent New Brunswick and Toronto Butler Beeps will be one of three Ontario representatives."

The tournament is sponsored by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association aided by an $18,000 grant from the centennial commission. It will bring together teams from each province and territory. Ontario, which has three CAHA zones, will have three representatives.

Play begins March 24 and winds up April 1.

The boys, aged 14 to 16, will live in private homes.

Christie said transportation alone for the boys will cost $38,000.

MPs Agree That Boards Getting Excessive Power

OTTAWA (CP)—Members of the three major political parties in the Commons agreed Thursday that perhaps too much power is being placed in the hands of government boards, agencies and Crown corporations.

"As the result of the immense growth of governmental activity, one can ask whether expert public servants are becoming the masters of the people," was the way it was put by Gerald Baldwin (PC—Peace River).

The growth of uncontrolled power in the civil service cropped up as the Commons continued to whittle away at a massive government bill which establishes a 17-member board to control land, sea and air transport coming under federal jurisdiction.

Debate on the bill continues today.

Mr. Baldwin won support from his own party, the liberals and the NDP in calling for a committee to watch over activities of the so-called "super board."

Its powers would include the spending of about $400,000,000 over the next eight years and the right to impose penalties for those disobeying its regulations. It also would assume the authority of board of transport commissioners and other federal boards it will displace.

GAIN POWER

"Never before have so few non-elected people been given so much power in relation to the economic characteristics of this country and the right to deal with all aspects of transportation," said the Alberta lawyer.

Transport Minister Pickersgill said he agreed with the thrust of Mr. Batchelor's criticism. But he objected to Mr. Baldwin's proposal to have the committee established by statute rather than by order of the Commons. He said the Commons transport committee could do the job.

Mr. Baldwin's amendment was put aside for debate later on. He hopes by then differences on how the committee will be established would be overcome.

Mr. Baldwin kicked off the debate by saying there was too much apathy and indifference in Canada about the way Parliament was giving the public service "the almost unconfined power to regulate and deal with various aspects of our social and economic life."

Alvin Hamilton (PC—Qu'Appelle) said Parliament has accepted that it must delegate the powers to the board. But the rights of Parliament to maintain some say in the board's doings had to be preserved.

Establishing the committee by statute meant that it could meet at the start of each session of Parliament without waiting for the government to take action. Too often governments delayed setting up committees for political advantage, Mr. Hamilton said.

Herb Gray (L—Essex West) said there was no question that all MPs agreed in the principle that the super board should come under the continuing surveillance of the Commons.

But the way to do it was to follow the precedent committees backed by professional and permanent staff.

J. W. Herridge (NDP—Kootenay West) favored a committee of the Commons to watch over the board. He called Mr. Baldwin's amendment an attempt "to change the constitution like Alice through looking glass."

Under his amendment, the board must be assured the takeover is in the public interest before allowing it.

Dorion Crash Accident

DORION, Que. (CP)—A five-man coroner's jury is to present recommendations today following its finding that an Oct. 7 school bus-train collision that claimed 20 lives was accidental.

A hushed crowd of 200 spectators, witnesses, lawyers, policemen, reporters and photographers heard Jury Foreman Paul Carrier read the verdict Thursday night after the jury had been out for two hours and 15 minutes.

The whirr of TV cameras and the pop of flash-bulbs punctuated his statement that the jury had "unanimously found the collision "not of criminal origin but accidental."

Mr. Carrier said that in the opinion of the jury it seemed there was negligence. Following testimony given principally by the operators and employees of the CNR, it had been demonstrated beyond any doubt that the level crossing concerned was extremely dangerous.

The jury recommended that security measures taken after the accident be maintained. Since Oct. 7, CNR trains have been instructed not to exceed 25 miles an hour while passing through the crossing at Dorion, 25 miles west of Montreal.

TESTIFY ON SPEEDS

The fireman of the 101-car westbound freight train which hit the bus testified his train was travelling at 55 miles an hour shortly before the accident. The engineer of an eastbound passenger train which passed through the level crossing seconds before the freight train testified that his train went through at 60 miles an hour.

The freight train hit a chartered school bus taking 45 students aged between 14 and 17 to a dance in Hudson, Que. Eighteen students and Marcel Fleury, 20, the driver, died immediately. Another student died eight days later.

The bus moved on the railtracks after the automatic barrier on the south side of the tracks rose while the north barrier remained down.

The force of the collision split the bus in half and flaming wreckage from the front half was dragged 2,000 feet down the line.

Thursday, Jean Lapointe, Dorion police chief, said in answer to a question from junior Carrier—an engineer—that an attempt had been made to check whether that person had been seen tampering with the south barrier just before it rose to let the train move forward.

QUESTION 136

His men had questioned 136 persons and taken statements from 63 others but had been unable to come up with any more information than had come out in the course of the four-day inquest.

Five witnesses testified they saw flashes in the vicinity of the south barrier just before the 7:30 p.m. collision.

In his summing-up for the jury, Judge Blain referred to the fact that four of the five had described the figures as shadowy and the fact that 21 other witnesses did not see the figures.

One of the five, however, Carole Trudeau, 16, stated positively that she saw two boys of 13 or 14 standing facing the barrier. The one nearest the bus had his arms underneath the barrier as it was rising.

Miss Trudeau was seated by the window four or five rows from the back of the bus. A girl seated beside her died in the crash.

CNR MAKE STATEMENT

A pre-jury statement issued by the CNR after the verdict said:

"The evidence during the hearing at Dorion brought out the point that the protection in operation at the railway crossing and the way in which it operated conformed to the standards laid down by the Board of Transport Commissioners.

"Canadian National is quite ready to co-operate with any scheme approved by the board which will improve safety at this or any other crossing."

'Damn Knuckle Thing' Extends Man's History 800,000 Years

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)— Man may be older than he thinks—by some 800,000 years.

Bryan Patterson, a paleontologist at Harvard University, announced the discovery Friday. Patterson said he came upon a fossilized chunk of an upper arm bone while walking near Lake Rudolph in Kenya.

"I found it about 4 p.m. on a hot afternoon lying on the surface," he said. "I saw this thing and said 'ho-hum, another damn knuckle thing.'"

A few hundred steps later "a light went on inside my head," Patterson said, "and I thought, 'by God, this must be it.'"

It was. Special measurements showed the bone was about 2,500,000 years old—give or take 200,000 years.

Up to now, scientists have proof of man existing about 1,700,000 years ago. It is based on the discovery of man-like fragments in Tanzania several years ago by African paleontologist Louis Leakey.

Patterson said Leakey's discovery was called infanthropus, or the Nutcracker man.

After Patterson made his find in August, 1965, a Harvard computer cleared up any doubts by him and other scientists that it may have been a bone from a chimpanzee or other ape.

He said the bone structure was closer to modern man's than those of apes or even Leakey's discovery.

Professor Ernst Mayer, director of Harvard's museum of comparative zoology, said the Patterson discovery indicates that the bone is from a type of early man called Australopithecus, believed to be in the main line of man's evolution.

Leakey's find, he said, is from a branch line of man which became extinct.

The scientists have nicknamed their find HH-1 and surmise he was about five feet tall, walked erect, had human-like teeth and possessed a small brain and large jaw.

Hideout Raided

TOKYO (CP) — A Chinese military unit has stormed a hideout of military officers opposed to Communist Chairman Mao Tse - tung and arrested "scores" of the officers, a Japanese newspaper reported today.

It appeared to be the first report of violence within China's 2,500,000-man People's Liberation Army over Mao's purge of his opponents.

Peking radio reported earlier that an "acute and complicated" struggle involving a small but influential group of anti-Maoists has built up within the army.

Other Japanese reports said President Liu Shao-chi, the top anti-Mao leader, recently demanded before the Communist central committee a retraction of his "self-criticism" widely publicized last December.

The reports said the demand could indicate that Liu was confident of maintaining his power and that he had launched a counter-attack against Mao and Defence Minister Lin Paio.

HAPPENED IN LANCHOW

The Peking correspondent of Mainichi Shimbun said the officers were arrested last Tuesday in Lanchow, a city of more than 150,000 700 miles west of Peking on the Yellow River.

The correspondent quoted a wall poster in Peking and signed by the 750th Lantzu Red-mont. The regiment is stationed in Lanchow.

The poster said the captured officers were "black military elements loyal to Gen. Liu Chih-chien, ousted by Mao's

Ilsley Dies Today

HALIFAX (CP) — Chief Justice James Lorimer Ilsley of the Nova Scotia Supreme Court, a former member of Parliament for Digby - Annapolis-Kings and wartime minister of finance, died in hospital early today. He was 73.

Dr. S. T. Lauler, Chief Justice Ilsley's personal physician for several years, said, he died suddenly at 5:20 a.m. in the Halifax Infirmary from cardiac complications.

The chief justice was admitted to the hospital late last month after spending several days in Winnipeg's Misericordia Hospital. He was returning here from a visit to the West when he fell ill.

An austere man of simple tastes and almost spartan personal habits, he rose from a rural law practice to direct the financing of Canada's war effort before returning to serve his native province as chief justice.

Mr. Justice Ilsley, who later admitted that his government responsibilities drove him three times to the verge of a nervous breakdown, was appointed finance minister in July, 1940, and remained in the post until the end of the Second World War.

MP 22 YEARS

A Liberal, he was first elected to the House of Commons in 1926 and was re-elected in 1930, 1935, 1940, 1945—a total of 22 years in Parliament.

To finance Canada's part in the war, he piled tax upon tax on the Canadian people. As minister responsible for the prices board and the Mackenzie King government's general anti-inflationary policy, he was the man behind many measures such as rationing and restrictive controls, although most Canadians cheerfully accepted them as inevitable during the long emergency.

The Nova Scotia chief justice, former prime minister Louis St. Laurent and Senator C. G. "Chubby" Power were the last surviving members of the wartime cabinet.

Moon Base Site to Be Picked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said today a camera - equipped spacecraft will be launched next month to take a sharper look at the most promising potential landing sites on the moon.

Lunar Orbiter III will carry the wide-angle and telephoto cameras as it whirls around the moon scanning only the most promising of the potential Apollo spacecraft landing sites photographed by Lunar Orbiters I and II.

NASA tentatively scheduled the new launch, from Cape Kennedy, Fla., for Feb. 2, or the four days following.

"Unlike the earlier flights which represented mainly a site search in the none of the moon on which Apollo landings are planned, this will be a site confirmation mission," said Clifford H. Nelson, project manager at NASA's Langley Research Centre, Hampton, Va.

Of 13 primary and 17 secondary sites that have been photographed by the two spacecraft, Nelson said about 10 look especially promising.

NASA made public Friday more than 20 photographs taken by Lunar Orbiter II in late November. Among the new pictures was one showing the crater left when Ranger VIII plunged into the moon two years ago, and another showing the trail, one-third of a mile long, left by a 40-foot-wide rock that had rolled from a crater rim down a slope in the crater's level interior.

The latter picture, particularly, was considered a good indication that the moon's surface has considerable bearing strength and in some areas at least can support the weight of a spacecraft and its crew.

Dr. Leonard Reiffel of NASA's office of manned space flight said scientists are looking for smooth oval areas three to five miles in diameter, with a 20 - mile long approach area clear of mountains or craters that might interfere with the spacecraft's radio altimeter.

Dr. Lawrence C. Boyan, head of the geological survey team that is working on the project Apollo site selection, said one particular site looked favorable in photographs from both Orbiter missions. It is in the sinus Medii area, in the centre of the moon just above the equator.

CPR Conductors Threaten To Hold French Study Classes

MONTREAL (CP) — A union official said Friday night a few conductors on Canadian Pacific Railway commuter trains have threatened to hold study sessions if they are forced to speak French to passengers.

J. L. Harris, general chairman of the Atlantic and Eastern regions of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, said in an interview the dispute stems from the actions of Montreal lawyer Marc Briere.

Mr. Briere has been conducting a campaign to get ticket collectors on the Dorion-Montreal suburban route to ask for his ticket in French.

His campaign became public last week when he was thrown off a train for his continued refusal to hand over his ticket because it was not requested in French.

The ticket collectors recently capitulated and began asking for his ticket, in French. Mr. Briere said he is satisfied now.

If Mr. Briere is content, Mr. Harris and his ticket collectors definitely are not.

Mr. Harris said most of his men come from Smiths Falls, Ont. and speak no French. Mr. Briere was "trying to get publicity at the hands of a workman."

Judge Induces Jury to Alter Murder Verdict

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—Ronald Ernest Eagleson, 33, of Sault Ste. Marie was found guilty of manslaughter Friday night in the stabbing death Sept. 27 of William McKnight, 30, his neighbor. He was remanded a week for psychiatric examination and presentence report.

After 8½ hours, the jury delivered a verdict of guilty of non-capital murder. But Justice E. L. Haines of the Ontario Supreme Court, asked them to return to see if they could amend it. He said he felt the verdict was more in keeping with a manslaughter decision than one of non-capital murder.

Iron Triangle Losses Mount

SAIGON (AP)—Sharp fighting flared up and down South Vietnam today and the big American drive in the Iron Triangle pushed Communist losses beyond 450 men.

The U.S. and South Vietnamese Commands stated many small clashes and these other developments:

—A Norwegian motorship and a U.S. Navy minesweeping boat collided in a river 20 miles southeast of Saigon and the navy boat sank with the loss of three of her seamen crew.

—U.S. B-52 heavy bombers struck at a suspected concentration of North Vietnamese troops less than a mile south of the demilitarized zone.

—Bad weather continued to hamper U.S. air raids over the North but pilots attacked coastal targets and reported putting 54 junks and barges out of action.

A South Vietnamese military spokesman said two battalions of Viet Cong—a force estimated at 400 men—over-ran a military post 325 miles northeast of Saigon and the defending platoon of 20 militiamen pulled out.

The spokesman said the militiamen "dispersed" and he had no report on casualties. At last report, the post was still in Communist hands.

Elsewhere, however, South Vietnamese troops reported killing 38 enemy troops in four small clashes ranging from 34 miles southwest of Saigon to 276 miles northeast of the capital, Saigon.

U.S. marines operating in the northern provinces of South Vietnam reported killing 74 of the enemy in a series of light skirmishes and with artillery barrages.

In Operation Cedar Falls, the week-old drive to clear out the jungles of the Iron Trie 20 to 30 miles north of Saigon, U.S. forces counted 286 Viet Cong dead so far, 64 captured and an additional 106 who surrendered.

Can Canadians Forget Bitterness of Dieppe?

LONDON (CP)—Can Canadians forget the bitterness of the disastrous Second World War Dieppe raid 25 years after it happened?

The question appears to be the crux of reaction to a German request that 100 veterans be allowed to attend Canadian ceremonies at the French town marking the anniversary of the raid that cost 1,000 Canadian lives.

Harry Lister, president of the Royal Canadian Legion's Wimbledon branch in Toronto, was blunt when he heard of the request. He said it would be "like dancing with your killers."

The request was made by the Stuttgart Association of Veterans of the German 302nd Infantry Division who fought at Dieppe. It is reported that the association wants to honor the dead as a demonstration of Western comradeship and unity.

Hundreds of Canadian veterans plan to attend ceremonies at the Canadian cemetery at Dieppe Aug. 19. Many will be veterans of the assault of 6,000 members of the Canadian 2nd Division that was designed to test German defences. In addition to the dead, 600 Canadians were wounded and about 2,000 taken prisoner.

A few Germans have been present at previous ceremonies commemorating the raid, but never as many as 100. This year the Canadians will take over the ceremony and the request of the Stuttgart association has been passed by Dieppe officials to the Canadian government.

Reaction from other Canadian quarters:

R. R. Labatt of Hamilton, a lieutenant - colonel with the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry at Dieppe: "The presence of Germans would be asking for trouble."

Sandy Shusterman of Toronto, organizer of a reunion for Canadians captured at Dieppe: "I don't think the men will like that and I can speak for most of them. These ceremonies are to honor our dead, that they killed."

"I am astonished that people object to them attending," said mining engineer Jerry Wool, who won a Military Cross in the battle. "The raid has been over for 25 years and I think they have the right to be there."

"I lost a lot of good friends at Dieppe, but I have no hard feelings for the Germans. They were only doing their duty as soldiers and they lost a lot of men in the set-up, too."

Col. C. C. I. Merritt, who won a Victoria Cross as commanding officer of the South Saskatchewan Regiment during the battle, said Friday he did not wish to take any position in the controversy.

"I don't think it would serve any purpose if I offered an opinion," said Col Merritt, now the argument is of no consequence."

Franco-German Co-operation Appears to Be Step Nearer

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle and West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger today wound up two days of talks that they hope will launch a new era of closer feelings between Bonn and Paris.

The visit was Kiesinger's first trip abroad since assuming office Dec. 1. The 63-year-old chancellor has pledged to try to revitalize the 1963 Franco-German co - operation treaty without harming relations with Washington.

Kiesinger was to return to Bonn today after a final round of talks.

After the initial meeting of the two leaders Friday, it appeared the emotional aspects of Franco - German rapproche-ment during the Second World War had given way to a more practical view.

The French described the talks as frank and cordial. The Germans said the discussions were to the point and free of any philosophical discourses.

In a television interview, Kiesinger said he and de Gaulle were not in accord on all problems, but that there was a wide area of common ground.

At a French foreign ministry dinner Friday night, Kiesinger said: "We do not expect anything spectacular but the realization and application of the French-German treaty."

The French have been cool toward the pro-American policies of Kiesinger's predecessor, Ludwig Erhard. Bonn and Paris still have conflicting views about what Paris calls West Germany's special relationship with the United States.

At the dinner, Kiesinger conceded that Bonn may well be to blame for the decline in relations since Chancellor Konrad Adenauer left office in 1963.

Kiesinger said:

"There has been an uneasiness and Mr. Maurice Couve de Murville (the French foreign minister) told me that, if things did not always work well, the French were not responsible. There is no doubt, something true in that."

Earlier, at a luncheon in the presidential palace, Kiesinger appeared to distance himself from the Erhard era of Franco-German relations.

A former chairman of the Bundestag's foreign affairs committee, he reminded the French he had been absent from Bonn politics for eight years.

During that time he said he was minister-president of the state of Baden-Wuerttemberg, gained perspective and was free of the prejudices and misunderstandings that often handicap issues in Bonn.

Grand Jury Satisfied With Jail Conditions

Members of the Grand Jury which sat this week at the Supreme Court assizes in Belleville are satisfied with the conditions at the county jail and also with maintenance of the century old building.

The Grand Jury in their report to Mr. Justice King said that all prisoners were accounted for and keeping in mind that the jail building will be closed when the new regional jail is put into use, had no recommendations in connection with the present jail.

The Grand Jury also visited the magistrate's court and division court office in Trenton and reviewed plans for the renovation of facilities on the second floor of the Trenton Police Station.

The report quoted Trenton Clerk-Comptroller O. W. Larry as advising that the project would be submitted to Trenton council for consideration this year.

But "despite the proposed improvements the building is old and antiquated and court will still be disturbed by the noise of trains as the track is across the street," the Jury report stated.

Canada's Centennial Will Be Marked By Service in Westminster Abbey

LONDON (CP) — Westminster Abbey will mark Canada's Centennial this summer with an "ecumenical" service attended by royalty.

The Dean of Westminster, Very Rev. Eric S. Abbott, says the Archbishop of Canterbury will preach the sermon and there will be "full participation" by Roman Catholics.

The Archbishop of Canterbury preaches rarely in the twin - towered Gothic abbey, which is one of two churches in Britain that come under the jurisdiction of the Queen rather than the head of the Church of England.

"It will be one of our more splendid services," the dean says.

It was decided to hold the service June 30, the eve of Canada's birthday, the dean said, because July 1 falls on a Saturday and many of the London diplomatic corps head for the country at weekends.

The Queen and Prince Philip will be in Canada at the time, but the monarch will be represented by a member of the Royal Family, perhaps the Queen Mother.

The request for a special service came from Canadian High Commissioner Lionel Chevrier.

"We want to do this for Canada—it will be our contribution to Canadian unity," Dr. Abbott says.

300 YEARS OLD

"Unity"—in its ecumenical meaning, in the sense of international understanding and in gestures of goodwill towards non - Christians — was the watchword and driving force behind the Abbey's 800th anniversary celebrations in 1966.

This historic symbol of the marriage of church and state, its origins as a Thames island monastery lost in the mists of antiquity, was built on its site in what now is Parliament Square by Edward the Confessor, the Saxon sanctuking. It was consecrated Dec. 28, 1065, a few days before Edward died.

Rebuilt in its familiar Gothic form in the 13th century, the abbey is a treasury of England's noblest traditions. Kings and queens have been crowned, wed and buried here; poets, statesmen and warriors have their tombs and stones; and the earliest British Parliament met in the Chapter House of the abbey adjoining the towering nave.

During the year that ended Aug. 24, 1966, the ancient church in a series of 50 special services embraced the world and its affairs, as it always without protest from a rearguard faction among Anglicans.

Dean Abbott expresses quiet satisfaction with the year's achievements.

"On the ecumenical side, certainly we have made progress. The abbey has been thronged with Christians of all traditions, notably in the week of Christian unity held last January, when prayers were said by Anglicans, Roman Catholics, Orthodox, Baptists, Congregationalists."

SET OPPOSITION

Opposition was swift and angry, however, when the abbey chapter chose a non-Christian ecumenism in pursuit of unity.

Anglican Archbishop Fisher of Westminster on Human Rights Day, Dec. 10, when the dean took part in a service for members of non - Christian faiths, including Jews, Moslems, Buddhists and Hindus.

Dean Abbott went out to meet the picketers and offer greetings.

"Some of them were friends of mine," he recalls with a grin.

The service was one of "silent intercession," broken only by readings from the holy books of the various faiths. About 250 attended.

"There were no spoken prayers, so that no one's faith was compromised," Dr. Abbott says.

"It was an extremely significant occasion."

Later The Church Times, leading journal of the Church of England, registered strong disapproval of the move. Its objections boiled down to a feeling the Christian faith and Anglican tradition were somehow being diminished, "watered down," the dean says.

"That is an understandable point of view, but there is another, positive one to be considered.

"The abbey belongs to mankind, and I feel we are moving into a phase where men and women of goodwill are really willing to work together without telling any one has a monopoly of truth."

Magistrate's Court Clerk Honored

Long a familiar figure around Hastings County court offices, Mrs. Letitia Kathleen Cooper officially enters retirement today after serving as Justice of the Peace and clerk for Magistrate T. Y. Wills for the past 18 years.

Mrs. Cooper ("Kay" to her many friends in the county building), was honored in an informal get-together Friday afternoon by those same friends, who presented her with a token of their esteem.

Judge J. C. Anderson and Magistrate Wills expressed their gratitude for the competence of Mrs. Cooper's court house service, and at the same time their reluctance to see her taking her leave.

Hastings County Crown Attorney John Pringle said Mrs. Cooper had carried out her often inconvenient duties with a spirit of utmost self-sacrifice and that she was to "credit to the administration of justice."

Tourist Freed On Bail

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Buel Ray Wortham, young American tourist given a three-year sentence on currency and theft charges, was freed on bail today from a Leningrad prison.

The U.S. embassy said the 25-year-old former army officer, from North Little Rock, Ark., would remain free on bail until the Russian Supreme Court hears his appeal against the sentence, at the end of this month or early in February.

He was released by the Leningrad city court on bail of 20,000 rubles (£22,222) collected in a public subscription by citizens of his home town.

Wortham was sentenced to three years in a labor camp Dec. 21 after pleading guilty to changing money on the black market, and stealing a statue of a bear from a Leningrad hotel.

The embassy said Wortham and Harlin Moen, U.S. consular officer, who attended the trial hearing, would arrive by train in Moscow Sunday morning, and Wortham would stay in the embassy until the Supreme Court meets to consider his appeal.

Mayor of Picton Proposes Memorial for Sir John's Grave

OTTAWA (CP)—The historic sites division is studying the possibility of erecting monuments at the graves of the Fathers of Confederation, a spokesman said Friday.

A spokesman plan to honor the memory of all the Fathers likely will be announced by Northern Development Minister Laing by the end of the current fiscal year March 31, he said. The graves have been frequent sites

He said the grave is in a "dis graceful" condition and marked only by a stone cross. This was in sharp contrast to memorials of late American presidents.

FUND EXISTS

The government spokesman commented in an interview that the historic sites division maintains the Macdonald grave with a modest trust fund.

"We're studying an overall program for the Fathers of Confederation in which some thing more impressive could be done," he said.

The division has allocated $16,000 for the purchase and restoration of Sir John's Kingston home, which will open for public inspection May 24. The house will be furnished in the style of 1867.

Mayor McFarland said in an interview that Macdonald was the architect of Confederation and that his grave should be marked in a way that would make Canadians proud.

"He practised law in my town," he added with a smile.

Nine Members Of One Family Perish in Fire

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A fire that engulfed a three-storey row house in a hail of flame killed nine members of one family today, police said. Three other persons were injured or unaccounted for.

The fire was a few blocks from Girard College in the predominantly Philadelphia section of the city.

Neighbors, who stood in a light rain as firemen sorted through the blackened wreckage, said the fire broke out about 6 a.m. Within seconds said the neighbors, the house was a mass of flame. Some said they tried to rush the front door but the intense heat drove them back.

One boy jumped from a second floor and was taken to hospital.

Neighbors said they heard a man, "the Drumms' house is burning."

Hurrying outside, they saw flames consuming the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Drumm.

Big Entry in Sportsmen's Spiel Enjoys Fun, Food Provided

There was an eight - ender, a draw by curling, there was a plenty of food but above all plenty of good fellowship as the annual Sportsmen's bean spiel opened at the Quinte Curling Club on Friday afternoon. This is an event eagerly looked forward to by every member of the club and from the competition provided in the first draw there will be a merry race for possession of the Steve Flintoff trophy and accompanying prizes. The real fining will be today in the early afternoon and then the boys will relax to lick their wounds and talk over the games played.

The committee of Jack Oliver, on as chairman with Dick Beare, Dr. McCorquodale, Ron Benn, Robert Smith, Dr. Bill Beattie, Everett Black, Robert Lanning, Dr. Jim Loynes and Douglas Ashley has arranged with little change of personnel since the spiel was incepted and they are to be congratulated on the work they put into this project. Ev Gowsell has been the drawmaster for many years and all these members work without any thought of remuneration.

The food was in abundance as the curlers took to the ice and it was forcibly shown that curlers have good appetites. Hamburgers, hot dogs, ham sandwiches enriched by homemade bread (and for this luxury spiel in time to make the service and start the celebration thanks go to Mrs. Lois Ashley who did the baking of the bread) fine and anniversary of the were consumed with all the founding of Canada and also the trimmings and all this topped 100th birthday of the Curling off by tasty cheese and snacks. supporters as director of the military revolution committee and No. 1 man in charge of ideological matters in the army.

The officers' documents were reported confiscated.

Correspondents of the Yomiuri and Sankei newspapers, quoting wall posters, in Peking, said President Liu had defended his sending of "work teams" about the country last year.

Posters put up by Mao's Red Guard supporters last December said Liu had confessed at a central committee meeting in October to disbanding work teams opposed to Mao's purge while Mao was absent from Peking for 50 days before last July 18.

According to the Japanese reports today, Liu said:

"The dispatch of work teams was not erroneous.

"If the dispatch of work teams was erroneous, the current situation is left in form but actually leading to right."

The 69-year-old Liu, Mao's comrade-in-arms and close adviser during the Chinese revolution, had been considered Mao's successor before the purge developed last summer. Lin Piao now is thought to be Mao's heir.

Peking radio said today anti-Maoists within the army were "staging a counter - attack" while military and "revolutionary rebels" throughout China were rallying to Mao's support.

"There are a handful of authorities within the army who are following the capitalist road together with a small group of stubborn elements of reactionaries," a broadcast said. "These authorities and stubborn elements are using various methods in an attempt to cause disturbance." +

CALLS FOR PURGE

Peking radio also broadcast an editorial by the Liberation Army Daily, the official Chinese Army newspaper, calling for a complete purge of army leaders opposing Mao.

But the newspaper warned an "arduous struggle" lay ahead in order to weed out the reactionary elements.

In other developments, a Japanese report said Red Guards and workers loyal to Mao had seized the Peking central radio broadcasting station on grounds that since the start of 1965 it had broadcast "black programs that suppressed Mao Tse-tung's thought and followed the reactionary line."

Following reports that supporters of Mao and President Liu were pouring into Peking, Yomiuri said a bloody clash had occurred Tuesday when anti-Mao mobs stormed pro - Mao forces protecting secret documents inside the State Council (cabinet) building. Some of the anti-Maoists were said to have been armed.

Peking radio said workers loyal to Mao had taken over the railway and a big electric power plant in Shanghai. Strikes and sabotage had been reported in the city earlier this week.

WILL BE WOMEN PRIESTS

TORONTO (CP) — Cecilia Wallace, secretary of the Centre of Ecumenical Studies at St. Michael's College, says women will be eventually ordained as priests in the Roman Catholic Church. Speaking Friday to a women's professional club, she predicted the change would occur when there is enough support in all areas served by the church that the downward trend is expected to be reversed by the early 1970s when the large number of young people born in the immediate post-war period will be reaching marriageable age.

Of the nearly 147,000 immigrants who came to Canada last year, Ontario got more than 50 per cent, although there is some concern that nearly one in eight was an unskilled laborer.

"The rapid technological changes occurring in Ontario during the 1960s are making it increasingly difficult for those who lack basic skills and a working knowledge of the language of the community to obtain steady, long-term employment."

Ontario, which now has a population of about 7,000,000, more than one-third of the national total—is one of three provinces gaining a significant number of persons from other parts of Canada.

The report says there have been "substantial movements of people out of the Atlantic region and Saskatchewan into Ontario, British Columbia and Alberta."

At the same time there has been a change in the pattern of population within the province. Ontario's population now is 77.3 per cent urban. And since the beginning of the century the Toronto and Niagara regions have become home for an increasingly larger proportion of the province's population while the share has declined in the Lake Ontario, Lake Erie, Upper Grand River and Georgian Bay regions. The proportion of people in Northern and Northwestern Ontario has remained constant in recent years.

Another factor in Ontario's over all population increase is the death rate. It was 10.4 per thousand in 1941 but by 1964 had fallen to 7.9 and this year is expected to be 8.1.

The average age at which men die was 61.8 years in 1964 compared with 42.2 in 1921. And the average for women was 66.8 compared with 43.6. In all cases they are higher than the national average.

Don't Leave Your Moose Loose About the House

WINNIPEG (CP) — You really walloped him, and there you are with your feet firmly planted on a mountain of moose meat or some other big game prize.

Feel seven feet tall, do you? Just wait till you get home and your wife, nostrils atwitch, returns you gently to civilization.

Something like—"Get that stinking mess out of my kitchen. What do you want to do? Poison us all?"

Never mind. Your game need only face a taste resembling late-prowling alley cat. Nor must it carry with it the aroma of discarded wet moccasins.

To help the hunter, the conservation education section of the Manitoba natural resources department has brought out a new booklet called Field Hardling of Game.

The advice is engagingly presented and simple to follow. The booklet is aptly subtitled, How to Care for Wild Meat to Prevent Spoilage. So Your Wife Likes the Flavor.

In this first edition, diagram detail on dressing out game for a feast is limited to the moose—which is the weight department on the Manitoba game roster with some downed quarry reaching 1,500 pounds.

NEED RIGHT GEAR

Other species will be added later, but the general advice offered applies equally to handling anything killed in the wilds.

The free 16-page pamphlet draws its first head on the hunter whose only gear besides his rifle consists of "a few matches and a pipe reamer."

"These fellows," says a distainful summing up, "aren't even equipped to handle a soft-boiled egg let alone a moose or deer."

The hunter going after anything deer-weight or bigger is advised to carry:

A six-inch hunting knife and a small sharpening stone; a properly sharpened belt axe; 30 feet of strong rope and some strong string or twine; several pieces of clean wiping cloth; four muslin sacks, each large enough to hold an animal quarter. And black pepper to keep flies off the meat while it is hanging in camp.

Don't forget to bring some blaze-orange to put on the carcass before hauling it out. This is to prevent you from becoming an accidental trophy. And, for elk or moose, bring along a medium-sized block and tackle.

Once back on the road, have a car-top carrier to cart your kill. "Draping the carcass over the fender of a car or stuffing it in the trunk is a sure way to keep it hot and thereby spoil the meat."

The same free warning applies for small game and game birds. Anything brought home in the car trunk should not be put on the floor above the exhaust pipes—just one bit of heat will result in spoiling. Leave space between cars for stored-for-travel game birds.

A few other pointers:

In dressing big game, don't wash the carcass with water except if necessary to clean out the body cavity of a gutshot animal; a glaze of the animal's blood resists bacterial action and water removes the glaze.

Trim away all parts of the animal that were damaged by gunshot. Meat that is shot up tends to spoil and is likely to affect the meat surrounding it.

When a moose is killed in the warm weather of the early season, skinning must be done quickly because the heavy hide holds the body heat and sours the meat.

But them all together and the tips add up to a more satisfying outcome to the hunt. As the booklet says: +

"We think the joys of hunting carry with them a responsibility —the responsibility to look after your kill and to not waste it either wilfully or through neglect. Such waste is both legally wrong and an offence to good sportsmanship."

Experiment With LSD

TORONTO (CP) — A University of Toronto college registrar said Friday students are experimenting with the use of home-made LSD.

Dr. Geoffrey Payzant, a philosophy professor and registrar of Innis College, said in an interview students have spoken freely to him about the use of the drug and of marijuana.

Dr. Payzant said the home-made drug was no rough, however, that there is no danger of addiction — the body system won't accept it — only more than two or three times.

Two Charges Laid Against Bridge Builder

OTTAWA (CP)—Two charges by the City of Ottawa were laid Friday against O. J. Gaffney Ltd. of Scotland, Ont., in connection with the Ileron Road bridge collapse that took nine lives.

O. E. Andrew, city construction safety inspector, swore out the charges before a justice of the peace. Summonses ordering the company to appear in magistrate's court Jan. 26 were to be issued.

The company is charged under regulations of the Construction Safety Act of Ontario with:

1. Failing to brace the structure in a safe manner to withstand all loads likely to be applied to it during the placing of concrete by failing to provide diagonal bracing in a longitudinal direction.

2. Not supplying sufficient bracing and supports to ensure that the progress or any part would safely support all loads to which it might be subjected.

A fine of up to $5,000 is the penalty for conviction under either charge, a city official said.

Esquires Have It Made But for Three Problems

OTTAWA (CP) — Three problems bug the Esquires, Ottawa's most durable rock 'n' roll group.

—Their fans throw things at them.

—There's a constant turnover in the combo's membership.

—They keep getting tossed out of restaurants.

What the restaurant-owners don't like is the shoulder-length hair on band leader Brian Lewis, 21, and his three colleagues. They evidently fear that long-haired customers will scare off the more traditional clientele.

"They're probably just jealous," says Brian. "After all, we make in a weekend what most of them make in a week."

The Esquires charge about $300 for a local one-night stand and add $100 or so if they go out of town. With two or three nights work a week the lads can run to $1,000. That's split among the four musicians and manager Harold Kudlets.

Most of the money goes into the bank. Each band member gets $50 a week and the rest is saved. Brian frankly admits he's only interested in the money.

Helping him make that money are lead guitar John Cassidy, 20, bass guitar Doug Orr, 19, and drummer Bob Coulthart, 18.

NOT ORGANIST

They're still looking for an organist to replace their last one. Which brings up the problem of turnover.

When the group was formed five years ago there were five members. Not one of the originals remains.

They wander into other bands, or get married and settle down or go to better jobs in other cities.

Each time the personnel changes it means new fan photos, personality readjustments and more rehearsals.

Their midnight practice sounds drift from the little rooms above and below their manager's record shop on Ottawa's Sparks Street mall.

"We go to Montreal and they really like us," says Brian. "Here they throw pennies at us and make paper airplanes out of our fan pictures.

"But they'd complain if we didn't give them the pictures."

But what Bugs the Esquires most is their own fans.

Ontario's Birthrate Is Low But Population Increase Tops

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario has Canada's third-lowest birthrate but the population is increasing faster than anywhere else in the country.

The reason: Immigrants are streaming in from other provinces and from overseas, outweighing the effects of the relatively small annual natural increase.

The trend is disclosed in a population report prepared by the Ontario Economic Council. It gives Ontario's average population increase during the last 100 years at two per cent compared with the national average of 1.8.

Last year, when the national birthrate was 23.4 per thousand population, Ontario was an even 21, only British Columbia and Manitoba were lower.

"Indications point to an even lower birthrate for Ontario in 1966 of 18.9 per 1,000 population which would be the lowest rate registered since 1940."

The report says the significant decline of the last three years results mostly from the relatively smaller number of young people in "the family formation group."

"The fertility rate, which increased steadily after the Second World War, has fallen in Ontario, and may decline more as a result of increased urbanization and birth control."

The report adds, however, that the downward trend is ex-

Problems of Upbringing

Jaycee dinner speaker George Wishart's seemingly contradictory point about there being a relationship between the increase in juvenile delinquency and the proliferation of public agencies established to prevent it is an interesting one.

Mr. Wishart, chosen by the Jaycees as Belleville's Man of the Year in 1965, says moreover that the preventions of "these manifestations of rebellion can be implemented at a much earlier age."

He believes with most people that such virtues as honesty, co-operation, and respect for the property of others are learned by the age of six, before the child goes to school. In other words they learn these things in the home.

But Mr. Wishart sees "an ever-increasing tendency to shift more and more responsibility for the training of the child to the school and other public agencies." Furthermore, he detects a "tendency for the schools to add more and more subjects to "an already overloaded curriculum." In this context he mentioned such extra-curricular subjects as the operation of automatic household devices.

The result of this — indeed of all the academic and other pressures the modern student must cope with on his way to Grade 13 and university — is what might be termed acute mental indigestion.

"Leave Your Mind Alone" is a piece of advice we came upon some years ago. If it seems trite, it also makes considerable sense. Too many students simply have too much on their minds. But it is not enough simply to ease their work load. They need some other contrasting outlet, and in this regard it may be said that too few students are caught up in any serious involvement in sporting activities.

Sport, in its best sense of friendly competition, and not something that others carry on professionally, and which the rest of us watch on television, is the one real balancing factor in any young person's life. In its many forms sport provides not only physical release for tensions and the enjoyment of healthy exercise, it also helps the participant to "forget," to leave behind for a while the problems and pressures of the classroom, and gives him renewed energy to tackle them afresh.

In our opinion this is the one major area of neglect in upbringing today, and which if rectified could mean a substantial upgrading of the lives and characters of the modern generation.

Young Folk Get Around

Young Canadians are on the move this Centennial Year. And it is fitting that they should be — even if it is to travel only within their own big land, and with Expo at Montreal the main centre of attraction.

Take the students of Fergus in western Ontario. About 90 per cent of the 770 pupils at the amalgamated schools in Elora and Fergus will visit Expo with their teachers in May. And a student committee has been formed to find jobs for students so they can pay their own expenses.

School principal R. B. Gilman, who originated the idea, believes the students will learn more in a week at Expo than they could in a month in a classroom.

Expo certainly will be an education for all who have the good fortune to attend. Moreover, this initiative on the part of the young people is in itself an admirable illustration of the thesis that if something is worthwhile it is worth making sacrifices to be able to participate in it.

But young Canadians are travelling even more widely afield these days. For instance, there is a coast to coast exchange of students between the holidays in New Zealand. Two Edmonton students are currently working as waitresses at a hotel in the scenic Bay of Islands area. They are Christine Carlton, an ex-pictorial draftsman at home, and Nicole Ernst, a legal secretary. They are following in the tradition of the Australian girls who traditionally have kept the New Zealand hotel industry going. The labor shortage in the New Zealand mountains is more attractive jobs are open to local girls, both European and Maori, so that few find much appeal in working as waitresses and housemaids.

Hence the attraction of New Zealand for girls from Australia — and now Canada — who wish to see the country, particularly when winter in the northern hemisphere can be left behind for summer down under.

Like that radio station in Brampton which is proving such a success with its all-female cast of disc jockeys, the Canadians are impressing New Zealanders with what one guest has described as the girls' "maple syrup voices." Not only that, but the word from the hotel manager is that although they have never worked as waitresses before, "they are perfect at it."

Government's "Budget-In-Reverse" Costs More Each Year

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — Shortly, Finance Minister Sharp will present the Federal Estimates to the Commons.

It will be the initial cost of Federal works and services for the coming year — there will be other subsequent accountings — and should run some thing not far off $10,000,000,000.

That is right, ten billion.

The bill will be address-ed to you.

And later on — in the odd, backwards way the Federal Government does its business — Mr. Sharp will be front and centre of Parliament's national stage with his Budget.

Along about early March.

And in that Budget, he'll give you the news of how he has calculated you are going to pay for the near - $10,000,000,000 Government spending bill.

Who else but a government would finance that way?

And then — and only then — figure how you are going to raise the money to pay for it.

Imagine doing business yourself that way.

Or your wife running her household budget on such a basis. We cannot spend first-pay later system.

But then, neither of you have Mr. Sharp's easy access to that supposedly bottomless goldmine, the taxpayer's pocket.

And likely a good thing, too, or you would be so deep in the red — just like the government with its ever-mounting national debt to be paid (if ever) by future generations — you would not see financial daylight if you lived to be 100-plus.

So what happens after the Finance Minister presents the Commons with his Federal Estimates?

Well, each of the 70-or-so Federal departments, boards, commissions and assorted agencies have contributed to them—with their plans for spending on this and that — and it will be up to each of the individual Cabinet Ministers responsible to justify the cost.

Through the closing months of the year, from about September on, the various Ministers, responding to the ambitious spending demands of their departmental deputies, have been hemming their dollar needs for the Finance Minister.

Every department, dedicated to the proposition that it performs the most incalculably indispensable public service, is equally committed to the bureaucratic faith that it can be improved only by expansion.

And during these same four months, Mr. Sharp, with the skilled scalpel of Revenue Minister Benson's Treasury Board, has been doing his best to amputate these expanded demands.

It is a good, solidly economically sense-making idea to keep projected spending within remain reach of anticipated income.

But the Finance Minister, Sharp though he is, likely won't be able to cut any deeper than Finance Ministers who came before him and discovered that in government the spenders always work faster than the earners.

For it seems long to have been the established ground rule in this governmental tax-and-spend race that the departmental deputies always manage to get rid of it faster than the Deputy of National Revenue can bring it in.

Which usually has made for taxes having only one way to go — up.

As Prime Minister Pearson, in one of his recent more puckish moments told a press conference, the government spending-tax always outfoot the savers — the Finance and Revenue Ministers and their Treasury Board money-managers.

'It isn't hard, grinned the Prime Minister who spoke from his years of experience as a departmental deputy — he was External's Man-in-Charge — to outfox Treasury Board's moneybounds when they chase through the department's spending programs hoping to catch and save a few dollars for the taxpayer.

All you do, the PM confided, is "pad" the department's Estimates. Stick in the additions for spending programs you do not want — and then, when in triumph, the Treasury Board axe-men chop it, make a big deal of you "sacrifice" for economy's sake.

So now you will know when the Finance Minister presents his Estimates why, unless all the rules of the game are broken, and wasted this coming fiscal year, is going to cost you more than ever.

Hypochondriacs Are The Worrying Kind

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is hypochondria? My sister says I have it because I go to the doctor when I have pains. If I have it, what causes it and can it be cured? — Mrs. N. S.

Hypochondria is excessive belief that one has some illness or other. In extreme cases it becomes a matter of emotional illness and requires psychiatric treatment.

It is much more common in smaller degree, though, and many folks are labelled hypochondriacs because they are a bit more than average worried about health. They go racing to the doctor with small aches or pains or minor symptoms which other folks would ignore.

I suppose that for every hypochondriac there is another person who is just the opposite, and puts off going to the doctor when he really should go.

If, repeatedly, you find the doctor telling you that there's nothing really wrong with you, then it's time to suspect yourself of thinking about yourself too much — and worrying.

Shifting your interest to making other people happy instead of worrying that something awful is happening to you is about as close as I can come to telling you what to do about it.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: Are lighted candles on the dinner table for long periods harmful? I have been told that besides flickering on a person's eyes, they also use up all the oxygen in a closed room. — N. W.

No to both. Candles burn with a steady flame and flicker only if there is a breeze — and a breeze means that there is some circulation of air.

It is rare for any room to be so air-tight that the oxygen would be used up. Even if you had such a tight room, you wouldn't be shortchanging oxygen on the candles. Think how much is used just by a person's breathing.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: Three months ago our 18 - month - old son pulled a hot iron down on his face and sustained a third-degree burn. His face was not badly scarred. What results should we expect from a plastic surgeon? Should we consult one now or when he is older? How may we check the qualifications of a plastic surgeon? — Mrs. M. S.

I'd consult a plastic surgeon now, if he chooses to delay, that is easily arranged. He can estimate the probable results after he sees the child.

The basic method of checking the qualifications of any specialist — surgeon or other — is to find out whether he is "board certified" meaning that he has had the required training and passed an examination by experts in his specialty.

But as I have said before, the simplest method is to ask your regular physician to refer you to a specialist whose qualifications he already knows.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: My niece is 17 and menstruates only four times a year. Her chest is not developed. She won't go to a doctor. Please tell me what causes this and what to do for it. — Mrs. L. Z.

Erratic menses earlier in the teens are common, but at 17, most girls have settled down. An endocrine gland problem could easily be involved; the only answer is that the girl must see a physician to determine whether she has a glandular problem. She might then be referred to an endocrinologist.

Note to Mrs. L. F.: I fully agree with what you were told at Mayo Clinic — routine douching is not necessary when you are in good health. Medicated douches may be prescribed for some ailments, however.

The regular monthly dinner meeting of the St. Andrew's Men's Club was held in the Sunday School room, with club president, Fred Reid presiding. The meeting was well attended. Guest artist for the evening was Len Foxard, Belleville's ranking amateur magician with George H. Stokes introduces the artist and Arthur Hill expressing the club appreciation.

President of Belleville Agricultural Society for the past three years, Elmer Sandercock was returned to office for his fourth term by fair directors at the annual meeting and election of officers held at the city hall.

Judge Deroche and Mrs. Deroche will leave tomorrow to spend the winter months in Florida.

Miss Margaret Burrows, Dufferin Ave., is visiting her sister, Dr. Stephen Leacock, of Montreal.

Harold Sandford, one of Madoc township's oldest and most respected residents, who resides at the village, celebrated on January 13, the 86th anniversary of his birth.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson of Evanston, Ill., is the guest of Miss Niblock, John St.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Faxon left today to reside in Hamilton.

40 YEARS AGO

January 14, 1927

In a game of hockey at the arena last night the Intelligencer team defeated the Bulleters' team, the score being 3 to 0. The referee was "Gilly" Goyer and the first half saw Percy Arnott in the second half. Jack Arnott, Geno Doyle and Brown were the other Intelligencer team, with Dan Donahue showing flashes of his old form. Lorne Cook of the Bulls played a hard game. For the Butchers' team, Bob Miles and "Feather" Nadon were best, their starr rushes were always stopped at the printers' defence.

Mr. Fred Ketcheson, manager of the Bank of Montreal here, has returned from Toronto where he spent several days.

50 YEARS AGO

At the annual meeting of the Belleville Cemetery Company the following officers were elected: president Stewart Mcnaught, K. C.; secretary - treasurer Mr. Sharp.

At a public meeting which was called for the purpose of arranging plans to raise $15,000 for patriotic purposes, it was decided to ask the city council to grant a loan of $10,000 at the rate of $5,000 per month and to raise the balance of $15,000 by public subscription.

For years, farmers who produce food have been subsidizing the consumers by static prices. At the same time, their production costs have been rising.

Sarnia—Affluence and Pollution

Kingston Whig-Standard

Sarnia has the highest average family income in Canada: $127 as of last June. The value of various industrial projects under construction in the Sarnia area is $250 million. Most of the big industry in the district is petro-chemical and therefore notoriously given to exuding noxious effluvia of various descriptions. The area can be bad and so can the effects on people.

Next year the International Joint Commission is going to undertake a study of the Sarnia-Windsor - Port Huron - Detroit area. The purpose of the study will be to subject air pollution to medical and other investigation.

Sarnia, like all other Ontario municipalities, is ostensibly governed by a democratically elected local government. But when it comes to anything which might in any way affect the earnings of the big industries in Sarnia, the direction comes from industry. That direction reaches all the way from the city government to the local medical fraternity and even finds its way to the Ontario Department of Health.

It is these last facts which make the present big flare-up over Sarnia air so fascinating. Starting at the top, Mr. W. B. Drowley, Director of the Air Pollution Section of the provincial Department of Health, gets regular "confidential" air-pollution reports from Sarnia, issued by the St. Clair River Research Committee which, over the Ontario Research Foundation to collect the data. This privately gathered information, according to Mr. Drowley, must remain secret: "It's their information, I can't release it without their authority."

The responsible official of the St. Clair River Research Committee is its chairman, Dr. J. Norton, a chemist. He gives out no information, either, probably because the big industrialists who employ him have forbidden it.

It is legitimate to wonder why the Department of Health doesn't go out and collect its own pollution data instead of accepting the figures meekly from the very people who cause the pollution. It is unfortunate that law does not permit the Department to take action on its own, although it is permitted to disapprove of new industrial installations which are potential hazards.

As for the Mayor, he says "We mustn't do anything here that would make our industries less competitive." He did suggest, perhaps, that the International Joint Commission would be able to prove that the industries "aren't policing themselves enough."

Turnips Came With Cartier

Ottawa Journal

It depends upon the point of view. Grandfather claimed the best thing about farming was that one always had work. A 12-year-older knew that work was always waiting, but he did not necessarily agree that this was the best angle about farming.

Half a century ago many solid farmers believed sliced turnips were good for the milkers and meatsters. "Keep them in good flesh," father said, "and balances the dry hay and grain." A lad's opinion was not asked but he knew that as soon as he reached home from school and changed into barn clothes, one of his jobs was to slice the rutabagas.

The history of turnips goes far back. Romans raised many kinds at the beginning of the Christian era. Jacques Cartier brought seeds to Canada and planted them in 1541. But a turnip was a turnip was a turnip to a lad in the 1910 era. The fact that a regular turnip has 20 times more cells in its cells and a rutabaga has 28 may be interesting to scientists, but not to a boy who operates a turnip slicer.

The Peerless Root Cutter may have had the best sized knife of any cutter on the market as the catalogue said, but that did not seem to decrease the labor. Each rutabaga had to be picked up, placed on the table, and the knife pulled down to cut off three or four slices.

Still, one admits, looking back over the years, that the cows and heifers seemed anxious for the vegetable. Perhaps their low moos of satisfaction and the long tongued reaching for the juicy slices was an expression of thanks. But when corn silage came to the farm and the old turnip slicer was stored in the back of the machinery shed, a lad was not sorry.

Coal Mines Will Close

Windsor Star

The Canadian Government has taken an unprecedented action in taking over the coal mining industry in Cape Breton for the purpose of gradually shutting it down. Only a most urgent situation could justify such action.

It is a dying industry in that area. Private enterprise has failed to keep the coal profitable basis. Millions have been spent in support of private industry, in transportation subsidies, etc. The alternative to pouring more and more millions into it would be for the owners just to close up the mines completely.

Yet a whole area has dependents on these mines for its well-being. If private industry just closes out there will be an awful sequel of unemployment and poverty. The eastern end of the Nova Scotia peninsula as well as Cape Breton Island, is involved.

Details of the Government's plan are not yet available. They may, however, be to promote other economic developments in the area to compensate for the shutdown of the mines, so that the people who have relied on the coal mines just won't find themselves on the welfare estate cold while sitting atop the sources of heat.

The trouble that always has plagued our coal mining industry is that the deposits, both in the West and East, are situated far from major markets. Thus it has been unable to compete with other sources of heat and power. The private operators have been unable to answer, even in such alternatives as producing electric power from the abundant coal.

A Lift for Living

Man Becomes Most Free When Totally Mastered

By REV. HAROLD E. KOHN

One of life's inescapable problems is that of finding a peaceful settlement of the civil war going on within us.

The famed statue of The Belt Wrestlers in Stockholm shows two athletes bound together by a belt. Each man holds a dagger in his hand, and they must fight until one wins. The statue is a parable of human existence. No one of us is uniformly good. Each of us has a better self and a worse self struggling with each other for victory. And the lives of good men, as well as bad, illustrate this dilemma.

The evangelist Dwight L. Moody declared, "I've had more trouble with D. L. Moody than with any other man I know." And Thomas A. Kempis spoke from his own experience when he said, "Be not angry that you cannot make others as you wish them to be, since you cannot make yourself as you wish to be."

Many forms of self - control rise from one of two factors in our lives. First, everyone finds it necessary to adjust himself to his social environment — his parents and other members of his family, people in his neighborhood, school, church and wider human contacts. He can not hit or kick people whenever he chooses, or call people bad names whenever he is offended by them. He cannot take whatever he covets from other people. His impulses conflict with other people's freedom and rights, and he must control these impulses if he is to get along well, indeed if he is to live at all.

ADJUST TO NATURE

In the second place, everyone must learn to adjust to nature if he is to survive. He can never break the law of gravity. He can only illustrate it. If he steps out of a tenth storey window, he does not break the law of gravity—He breaks his neck. The law of gravity is not even bent, let alone broken. The laws of health cannot be broken, either, but we can break ourselves on them.

But even mature adults, who've learned these lessons well, still have problems of self-control. Everyone who tries to manage an unruly temper, and those addicted to alcohol, dope, gambling, etc., realize this.

Self-control is seldom spoken of in biblical religion, simply because great men of faith believed God's sovereign rule over man is better than self-management. No one understands Christianity who does not recognize that behind all the creeds and theologies rests the experience of putting life under God's control.

Nothing about Christianity is more surprising than what happened in ordinary people when they made an extraordinary surrender of their minds and hearts to the mastery of Christ. The New Testament is startlingly, almost embarrassingly, candid about the kind of people the first Christians originally were. Their slowness to comprehend Christ's teachings, their hard tempers, crude manners, and inordinate, self - seeking ambition, are all realistically pictured in the Gospels. Then they became Christ's men, and from such exceptional dedication of unexceptional people the Christian church was built.

TAMINGTHE UNTAMED

...Real progress, personal and historical, depends upon a superior power mastering untamed, uninhibited forces, making them serve some worthy end.

At one time fire was as wild and destructive as lightning striking in a tinder-dry forest. One of the most epochal events in human history was when fire was first tamed and used to cook food and warm a cave or hut.

The industrial revolution was launched when man discovered that the explosive force of steam could be managed to drive mighty engines.

Electricity was here on earth long before man's coming. Man has domesticated wild electricity, bringing it under control.

Strangely, fire and steam and electricity are free to do important work only when they are harnessed and disciplined. So are the skills, talents and personality traits of men. It is a basic Christian conviction that man is free to find the highest truths, to see the greatest of life's goals, and to serve the common good only when he utterly belongs to God.

We are most free when we are most completely mastered.

Lines on Life

Learning Is Dangerous

By Dr. Stuart E. Rosenberg

Goethe once said that men will always continue to make mistakes as long as they are striving after something. The converse is crystal-clear: it is much safer to stand pat than to try to learn something new.

Perhaps that is at the root of the reason why mature people are more likely to learn less than younger people. Learning after all, is a dangerous business, with many lacing failures lurking. Apparently, the older we grow, the less venturesome we become, because we are more concerned with what failure might do to our thinning skin.

Watch an infant and see how rapidly he learns! He will never ever in his later years, match the fantastic learning rate of his early childhood. Why so? Because unlike adults, little children are unconcerned with their failures. Observe these tots and see: they try many many things, fail and fail. But, then, they try again!

As we grow into youth, we become less willing to take on the possibility of failure. Indeed, very often, adolescents are restrained by their doting parents from learning through failure, by consciously instilling fears that success may elude them. By the time most of us have reached our middle years we have already accumulated a long list of things we will never try again. Why won't we start again — painting, studying French, reading novels, or doing any of other things we once said we would try again. Obviously, because we must have tried these before and failed or else we did not succeed with them at the first, as we would have liked.

It is true that learning takes place wherever there is a willingness to be open to the world, to hear new sounds, and to see new visions. Learning is never confined to the classroom, and... Yet, one special value of formal instruction is that it makes demands of the student beyond the choice of the student himself. Students in schools are put to the test in many areas of thought and activity that would not necessarily have been undertaken by them, of their own volition.

Most adults, on the other hand, will only select undertakings and activities for self - testing which are tried and true. Increasingly, they confine themselves to those things they have done well before, avoiding the pain that comes from doing things in which they have already failed, or never before tried.

Said one astute teacher: "If you want to keep on learning, you must keep risking failure — all your life. It's as simple as that."

Those who refuse such wisdom grow older but not wiser. The fear of failure prevents us from exploring and enjoying new territories of mind and spirit, narrows our breadth, and hardens our arteries. As a result instead of growing up, too many of us are growing down.

Lighting The Way

By Walter S. Crone

When dog and car collide, the dog usually comes off second best, but sympathetic dog lovers can now take heart.

Russ E. Cargill, of Spokane, Washington, was driving down a residential street in his city, when a large German shepherd dog ran into the street and slammed into the back of his car. The dog bounced off, rolled over, and ran off. But Cargill was left with a crumpled rear fender. The repair bill was $70.

Cargill must have been a most surprised man. Like us, he would have expected that the dog . . . got his car . . . would suffer damage. Many of us are prone to travel life's road, taking too much for granted. We may persist in taking undue advantage of another's love and kindness. Or, we might even be tried by God's patience for granted. If this is true, then like Cargill, we are in for a surprise. When it hits, it won't be pleasant.

ST. MICHAEL'S C.W.I.

"The community of mankind is a program of human and personal advancement. Societies converge on one another, but all of us belong to a community."

This was the statement made by Mrs. Freeman Burrows, who gave an "Outline of the Work of the New Volunteer Bureau in Belleville," to the Catholic Women's League of St. Michael's parish, following the annual dessert party and exchange of gifts at the January meeting in the junior school.

Mrs. Burrows is a native of Saskatchewan but has been a resident of Belleville for the past 21 years. She is a member of Bridge St. United Church, the Women's Hospital Auxiliary, Canadian Mental Health Association and University Service Committee of Belleville.

The speaker interviews volunteers at the community office, gives information and arranges to have the volunteers meet an agency member who will provide work for Big Canadian Arthritic Society, Y.M.C.A. Youth Programs, Ontario Society for Crippled Children and others. "It is hoped," she said, "that the bureau will attract people who have something to offer."

For citizens, who are interested in volunteer work on community projects, concerned with individual participation, such as speech therapists, programs for the elderly, etc., help is given to obtain jobs to suit their particular talents. The people concerned on the line work accomplished by the Civic Action Committee and United Appeal.

It was pointed out that people volunteer for different reasons, such as personal status, relief from boredom, personal achievement, etc. In this way, they learn to love together, to love and serve together.

In conclusion, Mrs. Burrows remarked that by participation in community services, we learn to get along with others, and we pattern our lives after One who has suffered and loved the unlovable.

Mrs. P. J. Kelly introduced the guest and she was thanked by Mrs. L. Buckley, who presented her with a gift.

At the business meeting, which followed, the president, Mrs. G. F. O'Brien, thanked all for their co-operation during the past year, and extended good wishes for the New Year. She introduced the visitors to the assembly, and a special welcome was given to Miss G. Lee, who has celebrated her 80th birthday, and is still keeping up her interest in the League.

A suggestion was made that the group sends to the National Film Board, for critic reviews of CBC programmes, but appreciation of good ones, as well.

Mrs. M. Kelly and Mrs. H. Soden are over-all conveners for the Centennial Dance, and Mrs. J. Murray will convene the dinner. Mrs. J. Farrell is in charge of tickets for the event.

Volunteers are still needed for "Meals On Wheels." The CWL membership stands at 570.

ST. JOSEPH'S C.W.L.
SOCIAL ACTION PROGRAM

St. Joseph's parish council held its January meeting Monday evening in the parish hall based on a social action program.

"The Christian in the Community" was the theme of an address given by Father C. Gazeley. This was followed by group discussion with several groups in attendance.

In Father Gazeley's summation of the various ideas, he pointed out the importance of prayer in all undertakings. Once personal needs are met, by example can do much to make a better community.

Mrs. Manning, social action convener, thanked everyone for their interest in the program and hoped that each one would leave the meeting resolved to do her part in whatever needs the community presented.

At the business meeting plans were completed for the dessert bridge to be held in February. The spiritual convener advised that the Communion luncheon would be held Sunday, March 12. Mrs. C. Murphy, citizenship convener discussed plans for the citizenship meeting in February and reminded all of the Centennial presentation, "Portraits of the Past" to be held March 6.

Congratulations were in order for Mrs. Chartrand who has been made District Commissioner of Girl Guides. Efforts were made to fill her place as leader of St. Joseph's pack.

Mrs. Duminie thanked the wedding committee for the fine effort during the past season.

Secretaire Has Developed From Writing Material Box

BRAIDH and TERRY KOVEL

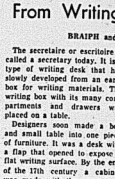
The secretaire or escritoire is called a secretary today. It is a type of writing desk that has slowly developed from an early box for writing materials. The writing box with its many compartments and drawers was placed on a table.

Designers soon made a box and small table into one piece of furniture. It was a desk with a flap that opened to expose a flat writing surface. By the end of the 18th century a cabinet was made with the same type of fall front. It was about 1650 that a china cabinet was mounted on the top of a bureau desk. The large secretaire held either china or books on the top shelves. This basic style has been popular ever since.

Q. How old are the earliest American postal cards?

A. The post card became popular in America during the 1870's and was all over Europe. Congress permitted the use of the post card in the United States in 1898. No written message could be placed on the card until about 1904.

Most of the picture post cards



This secretaire was made in England about 1730 from mahogany. On the shelves were displayed the prize porcelains of the owner.

FORT CHURCHILL

". . . reminds us what a creator man has been, and how little comparatively a destroyer." — Bernard Berenson, (1865 - 1959.)

* * *

"Yes, that is a scene of Hudson Bay as seen from Fort Churchill where we lived from June 1962 to April, 1965," Mrs. E. A. (Kay) Manderville explains in describing a painting in her home, 219 Parrott Drive.

Interest mounts and increases, as Kay vividly relates:

"My husband chose this northern post as part of his three year military service as a doctor in the Canadian Army.

"We left Halifax, by motor, June 1962, with our two children, Peter, aged two and Cathy, one and a half months. We arrived some two weeks later at Le Pas, Manitoba.

"From here, the only way to reach Fort Churchill is by train, (running Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays,) which, along with our Volkswagen, we boarded.

"It was a rare experience; as if stepping into a colorful movie script, where the actors were miners, prospectors, Indians and Eskimos, for whom the train obediently stopped to let on or off, all along the way.

"One day and a night, later, (the train was most adequate, complete with sleeping compartments and a diner), we arrived at Fort Churchill (population 3,000) prettily situated right on Hudson Bay flecked with icefloes in the middle of June.

"Nearby is a large rock on which the explorer Samuel Hearne wrote his name way back in the 1700's.

"Had he ever dreamed that here — three miles from Churchill — such a Fort (or Base) established by Canadian Research Army, Air and Navy Personnel (along with the American Air Force Rocket Testing Ground, locally known as Little Canaveral) would flower into being?

"Or that it would have one Main Street complete with a school, chapels, Officers' Mess, a movie theatre, with a gift shop and a good library upstairs (with good books supplied by both Canadian and American services) a curling and skating rink, and a hospital.

"There is also a two storey building which contains a sort of 5 and 10 cent store and Children's Shop upstairs. Below, a bank, a grocery store (where a quarter of good western beef may be ordered and stored throughout the winter in an outdoor refrigerator at each apartment).

"Last but not least, an Eaton's Order House, the Base's main link with civilization, (where the wives may order (and return if necessary) dresses, suits, shoes, hats, etc., of the latest fashion.

"We were assigned a three bedroom, two storey modern plenty of cupboard space. The furniture of occupants is usually transported at government expense.

"Such apartments are arranged in groups of four, to form an apartment block These blocks stand in rows that run at right angles from Main Street. The blocks are connected at regular intervals by an enclosed hall way which enables occupants to walk from one block to another without stepping outdoors, quite a concession in subzero weather.

"For the weather is a formidable factor: 20 degrees below is considered rather mild, 20 degrees below, just average, though 40 degrees below is considered really cold.

"The wind from Hudson Bay is greatly feared and respected, especially when combined with low temperature and is known as the wind chill factor. On these days, exposed flesh will freeze in a minute or less. The daily radio wind chill broadcasts are a concern to all the inhabitants."

Apparel Makers Agree Skirts Will Be Shorter

NEW YORK (AP) — Skirts will continue to diminish. Pants will be acceptable to everyone. Paper will revolutionize knitty fashions, but not necessarily couture fashions.

Nearly every designer will have a hand in improving the face or archaically - dressed men.

All this was made clear at a luncheon meeting of New York's House Christian Dior, expressed hope that the opening of European collections next week might promise some heartline surprises. Americans offered the consolation that the eye would eventually get used to the escalating skirt.

As skirts get shorter we will concentrate on the leg as a whole," said Oscar de la Renta, shown here on with glittering knee pants tights and silver stockings in his current collection.

He complimented Rudi Gernreich, of topless bathing suit fame, for paving the way with bright leotards and striped stockings to complement his dresses. Her latest collection concentrates the eye on the leg by means of pasties and decals from chin to thigh-high hem line.

The belted waistline will return, Donald Brooks promised. "We have had all the little shifts we can stand. I think we will all go back to what nature intended a mollern woman to look like."

As for pants—partly kinds or slack suits—designers feel that they have done such a good job of retaining the femininity that all objections will be withheld, even by headwaiters at posh places who hitherto have hesitated to admit a lady in any kind of skirt that divides in the middle.

Because workmanship is costly, paper is not practical for high fashion, insisted Gernreich. But he is convinced that it is tomorrow's answer to utilitarian and travel clothes.

Disposable paper shirts for men would be ideal, if properly packaged, said John Weitz. "Men have back their shirts 30 times over through their laundry," he said.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Sugarless Desserts for Diabetics

Letter: . . . enclosed are sugarless recipes which I have worked out myself . . . Mrs. J. C. McC.

ANSWER: Thanks a thousand! We tested the following two recipes and found them excellent and eminently satisfactory to at least one diabetic patient.

SPICE AND FRUIT DROPS
(Sugarless — courtesy Mrs. J. C. McC.)

1 cup sifted all - purpose flour
¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. single-acting baking powder
1 tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. nutmeg
1-3 cup butter
¼ tsp. baking soda
2 tbsps buttermilk or sweet milk
1 large egg
2 tbsps Sucaryl liquid
3-4 cup raisins
1-3 cup walnuts, chopped

Sift together flour, salt baking powder, cinnamon and nutmeg. Cut in butter with pastry blender until crumbly. Add soda to milk, add egg to soda-milk and beat slightly with fork. Stir into flour mixture along with Sucaryl solution and blend in. Fold in raisins and walnuts. Mix well.

Drop by rounded measuring teaspoonsful onto greased cookie sheets, one inch apart. Dip your spoon into water to prevent dough sticking to it. Ease dough off spoon with tip of another wet teaspoon. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. 8 min., switching pans on racks and end - for - end at halftime. Cool on racks. Makes - 32 cookies.

CHIFFON CAKE (sugarless)

2½ cups sifted all - purpose flour
1 tbsp. single-acting baking powder
1 tsp. salt
½ cup cooking oil
8 eggs — yolks and whites separated
½ cup water
2 tbsps. lemon juice
2 tsps. grated lemon rind (or 1 tsp. bottled rind)
2 tsps. vanilla
½ tsp. cream of tartar
2 tbsps. Sucaryl liquid
¼ tsp. yellow food coloring

Sift into medium bowl flour, baking powder and salt. Make well in centre and add oil egg yolks, water, lemon juice, rind and vanilla. Beat until smooth. In a very large bowl beat whites until foamy. Add cream of tartar, Sucaryl and yellow food coloring and beat until stiff peaks form. I beat it 6 min. altogether. This beating is extremely important when making a chiffon cake. Fold in batter, smoothing out puffs of egg white. This takes patience. Do not stir — fold. Pour into 10" tube pan, sides ungreased, with removable bottom. Line bottom of pan with buttered paper. Bake at 300 deg. Fahr. 40 min. Hang upside down to cool. Loosen cake from sides and lift out on removable bottom. Run knife under bottom of cake and remove.

FOR COOL SPRING DAYS — Coats with the military look, and the stripes to go with them, were part of the New York Couture Group's Spring '67 collection. The all-weather ensemble at left by Kasper is in red, white and blue stripes. The coat has a placket front and slash pockets and is worn over an A-line skirt and navy silk linen overblouse. The crisp military look comes from Dior in a striking contrast of citron and black at centre in a double-breasted coat of double faced jersey. Dior continues with this look in a red wool loose coat at right, set off by gold buttons. (CP Photo)

Deplores the Amount Of Food Wasted

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: For the past several years I have been working as a practical nurse. I have had a rare opportunity to observe what goes on in dozens of American families and it is pretty sad.

If you could see the perfectly good food that is dumped daily into garbage disposers and trash pails, it would make you sick. There were four children in the last place I worked. I had to cook four different dishes for dinner almost every night because Willie didn't like roast beef, Tillie didn't like liver, Millie couldn't stand meat loaf and Gilly had to have something different than the others.

When I was a child we ate what was on the table or we went without. Nobody put in special orders like at a restaurant. And nothing was thrown out. My mother used to say, "You'd better eat it tonight, kids, or you'll see it again tomorrow."

Please print this letter, Ann. It might give some American mothers something to think about. — MRS. EYEFUL

DEAR MRS. EYEFUL: Finicky eaters are made not born — and mothers who cater to the gastronomic whims of their children do them no favor.

There should be one menu for the entire family and if Tillie or Willie don't want what is put before them, let them eat bread and butter.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I like the way you put down the chaspakazes, meddlers, pests, nags and blabbermouths. One group you haven't hit for a long time is the meanest of all and I wish you'd go after them again. I refer to selfish children who won't want their widowed father to remarry, for financial reasons.

It never fails. If Dad has no money the children try like crazy to push him off on some nice woman who will take care of him in his old age. If Dad has a little cash or owns some property they tell him to be careful because every woman in town is after his money.

I am 58 and have been going with a wonderful widower who is 63. I shouldn't say I am going with him because we never go anyplace. He comes to my place almost every night for home-cooked meals or we watch TV together. He says he can't take me out in public because his children wouldn't like it.

I am very fond of this man and he is very fond of me. We could have a good life together but he has made it plain that he will never remarry because his children are against it. I don't go with anyone else because he has asked me not to and I'd hate to make him angry.

Don't you feel this man is stupid to allow his children to run his life? Please say so. — MRS. ALONE TOGETHER

DEAR MRS. He's not stupid. You are. The man has told you that marriage is out, yet you cook for him almost every night, allow him to burn out your TV tube, and you don't go with anyone else because he might get angry. I'd say he is pretty darned smart.

Successful Living

Girl of Wavering Affections Urged to Break Engagement

DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: I am 20 and have been engaged for a year. My boy friend is 25. But there is another boy on the scene. The boy I am interested in is my boy friend's brother. Sometimes my boy friend will say to me, "You have a crush on my brother, haven't you?" Of course I say, "No, he's just a good friend." And he believes me.

I do have a crush on him and a very big one at that. Every night I can't go to sleep for the longest time. I just lie awake and think of his brother. When my boy friend and I are at his home I take more interest in his brother than in him and want to be around him more. I don't think he feels the same way as I do or half as much.

Now it worries me because I wonder how to act when I see him in front of my boy friend. — Dill Emma

Dear Dill Emma: There's nothing for it but to clear the air. Your wandering thoughts suggest to me that you are not as much in love as you thought you were. Either that or you are now so used to your fiance that you are taking him for granted.

Better tell him you want to part company; that you are not sure enough of your feelings about him. And do this knowing full well that it may mean losing both.

If the brother is attracted to you he will be glad he is free to come around. Perhaps you will come running back to the first one; such is the perversity of human nature!

* * *

Dear Doris: Could you tell us where we could buy a book on how to learn the old time dances such as waltz, fox trot, three step, heel and toe, polka, also square dances for young folk to learn at home? — H..S. Dancing Group.

Dear Group: Look in your library or book store. Without name or address — which you did not supply — I can't be very helpful, since we do not give book titles in the column.

* * *

Confidential to Betrsyed: Some people try to justify doing what comes naturally by saying that anything else would be just too shiding by "foolish man made restrictions." But remember; the restrictions, in this case, were set up over the years to avoid chaos.

Perhaps your husband thinks his youth has fled and has to keep proving himself. How much you will forgive depends on how much you care about him. And your steadfast loyalty may well help him over the hump.

* * *

Confidential to Choosy: You liked the nursing until you got sick. You were glad to do office work, for the money, but can't bear to think of it as a career. Modelling intrigues you, but taking the course doesn't.

Could it be you are looking for a vocation with little work and much glamor? Whatever you choose will have its tough moments and routines. No one ever reached the top without making a climb. Go back to that counsellor and do a retake.

Belleville Minister Member Of Notable Anglican Family

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—When Rev. William Wright arrived in this country from Northern Ireland in the 19th century he started a remarkable tradition of family service in the Anglican Church in Canada.

Thus far three generations of Wrights have served in the ministry. Seven other persons connected with the family by marriage have also been active in the church.

Church records show William served in the diocese of Ontario for 47 years and Athens, village in Leeds County, fits two sons both entered the priesthood. Rev. S. B. Gillard Wright served at Maitland, Ont., and later at St. Luke's in Kingston Church of the Comforter in Toronto. John was rector of St. James at Kemptville, Ont., and later at St. Luke's in Kingston.

Gillard's son became Canon R. B. DeBlois Wright, now rector of Christ Church in Belleville, Ont. John had two sons and they too entered the ministry. One is Canon Joseph DePencier Wright, rector of St. Cuthbert's in Toronto, and the other is Most Rev. William Lockridge Wright of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Archbishop of Algoma and Metropolitan of the Province of Ontario.

Others who joined the Wright traditional through marriage are: Most Rev. Adam Urias DePencier, late Archbishop of British Columbia; Canon Theo DePencier of New Westminster, B.C.; the late Rev. Theodore DePencier of St. George's, Ohsawa, Ont.; the late Revs. Theophilus DeBlois of Prince Edward Island; Rev. Thomas Des Brissey of P.E.I., Audrey DeBlois, for 30 years head of a girls' school in Kangara, India, who became a deaconess, and Rev. R. C. Cotton of the Yatenpalian Order of the Holy Cross, New York City.

There are indications the tradition will continue. Among the 10 great-grandchildren are some with definite interest in the priesthood.

Slumping Car Sales Bring Auto Layoffs

TORONTO (CP) — Slumping car sales were blamed Friday for layoffs involving 21,000 workers in four Ontario centres.

Robert Young, public relations director of Chrysler of Canada, said shutdowns this month at General Motors, Chrysler and American Motors of Canada plans are a sign that auto industry sales are down.

"It is an indication that auto makers are juggling staff to keep pace with sales," he said.

General Motors announced Thursday that it will lay off 10,400 men at Oshawa for six days starting Jan. 27. McKinnon Industries Ltd., a GM subsidiary, plans a week-long shutdown affecting 3,000 workers at St. Catharines starting Jan. 30.

In Windsor, a McKinnon plant will lay off 900 and a GM plant 50 for similar periods.

Chrysler laid off almost 3,000 men in Windsor at the start of the year. They are now back at work.

American Motors' plant near Brampton is to reopen Jan. 23 after a 10-day closure involving 1,200, and when production resumes it will be on a two-shift basis. Some 350 workers have been told not to report back.

A spokesman for Ford of Canada said, however, that sales are ahead of 1966 figures and no layoffs are planned.

DETROIT (AP)—Early January sales of U.S. autos, the first important economic barometer of the new year, showed a 21.1 per cent dip below January, 1966.

All four major U.S. auto makers Friday reported sharp sales declines for the first 11 days of the month.

It was their deepest percentage dive for any 10-day sales period since 1962 models went on the market last fall. The decline interrupted more than a year of solid successes.

Wife's Cash Value High But --- She Needs House Habits Changed

By THOMAS COLLINS

The claim that some retired husbands are worth $80,000 in cash to their wives, as stated here recently, has brought some wives who would be happy to sell theirs for 10 cents on the dollar. Maybe less.

The column on "How To Housebreak a Retired Husband" has brought forth some men who hope somebody shoots me before I write another one like it.

These reactions were expected. Not expected was the response of a retired man named E. J. Watterson, whose wife maynot allow him eating privileges for the next week.

"Wives do not need to be housebroken when a man retires," says Mr. Watterson. "They've made the place their castle all these years when you've been working. They own it, they boss it, they run it . . . don't they?

"But they have some cockeyed notions about a home that a man should correct as quickly as possible after he retires. The worst of these is that they think they are married to the house instead of to you.

"They clean it. They dust it. They mop it. They vacuum it. They go after the cobwebs. They think the bathroom must be scrubbed Mondays and Thursdays. That muddy feet can't come in the door. That the bed must be made by 9 a.m. That the dishwasher must be turned on immediately after dinner at night, no matter what it does to the television set . . ."

Mr. Watterson admits he likes to be civilized and live in reasonable cleanliness. "But for Goodness Sake, a house is only a brick and lumber. It's something to live in, not something to clean. And a retired man can't retire better if his wife isn't burring around all day with detergents . . ."

It is his considered opinion, he says, that labor unions learned featherbedding from house wives. "The stretch-out they apply to their household chores makes a Federal case out of many jobs a man would do in 15 minutes.

"And the arrangement of furniture — a wife doesn't want the chairs and sofa, the bed and dresser arranged for the comforts of two retired people who use it. No, Sir! She wants them arranged so they'll look attractive to her friends."

With these little matters off his chest, Mr. Watterson would like to equalize the claim that a retired husband is worth $80,000. . . and this may get him back his eating privileges.

"We have had maids in our house over the years. My wife is a better maid than a maid, and I would say she works 5 hours a day at maid duties. At $1.25 an hour, seven days a week, that's $43.75 a week-at least I would have to pay if I tried to hire the same services.

"Then she sews things for me, and darns socks. Another $1.25 a week.

"Probably her greatest service to me — more important than being a maid is as a secretary. She covers the phone for me when I'm out. She buys and writes our Christmas cards. She writes the letters to our children. She accepts and issues all our invitations. She does our shopping. She plans our parties. She calls the repair men. She lets the meter-readers in.

"She is willing to spend evening after evening with me without it costing me any money. I don't know of any secretary who will do that . . ."

Mr. Watterson figures the secretarial, etc., services of his wife at $75 a week, which brings her worth up to $120 a week. "But I don't have to fill out income tax and social security forms on my wife, as I would on a maid and secretary. I don't have to do any labor negotiations with her — at least not often. And I don't have to worry about some contemptible character down the street trying to hire her away from me."

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, JANUARY 14, 1967

How would you like a brief tenure of employment — say a couple of hours — that pays off at $125 per minute?

Or would you settle for the same job at, say, $62.50 a minute?

Of course there might be overtime in it — but this would merely reduce the minute rate, according to the length of time.

It's fairly simply. All you do is get yourself a spot on the rosters of the Green Bay Packers or the Kansas City Chiefs and you're on the way to the bank — or the hospital or both.

These are the pots o' gold that hang at the end of the Super Bowl Classic, the world football championship slated for tomorrow at Houston, Texas.

The winnahs will pocket $15,000 each while the losers bank accounts will swell some $7,500.

Player-wise the classic is the greatest loot-gathering tussle in the history of pig-skin punting.

But it is far from being the greatest payday in the history of sport.

That came to Gene Tunney, former world heavyweight boxing champion, when he defeated Jack Dempsey in a return title bout on September 22, 1927.

Tunney's share of the world record box office take was $990,445. Dempsey collected $425,000 as the loser's share.

The bout went the scheduled ten rounds or actually 30 minutes of ring labor.

Figure it out. Tunney toiled that length of time for a fabulous $33,015 per minute.

Even the Brinks bandits and the jolly boys of Britain who engineered the Great Train Robbery didn't get a pay cheque like that for the amount of time and labor involved.

But the Maunassa Mauler had the last laugh when it came to trundling the bank. His ring earnings amounted to a mere $2,712,673. But the most popular champion of his time and perhaps of all time went on to capitalize on the homage of his fans.

He tacked on a cool $2,000,000 to his fictic funds through the exercise of affiliating, master-of-ceremonies astics, public appearance and endorsements. And there was no training involved.

But back to the Packers-Chiefs gridiron hassle. The oddmakers are sticking solidly behind the Packers but in American League circles they figure the Chiefs can pull off the upset through motivation, size, strength and speed.

Green Bay can hit through the air with Starr tossing to Dale, Dowler, Pitts, Taylor or Fleming. It can strike along the ground with Taylor breaking tackles and Pitts slipping through a hole and disappearing.

And they haven't forgotten the scare tossed into them by Dallas when the Cowboys scored 27 points against a club that had yielded only 102 in 14 regular season games.

The Chiefs have the underdog motivation. They are bigger physically than any other team in pro football and considerably more so than the Packers. As a matter of fact counting offensive linemen, the defensive front four and the linebackers the Chiefs are bigger at 10 of the 14 positions.

The Packers are proud but it is doubtful that the National League champions pride can match the fierce desire of the American League titleholders.

In Otis Taylor and Mike Garrett, the Chiefs have the threats Green Bay will have to stop. They are the core of the strike force and have the breakaway speed the Packers cannot match offensively.

As was noted the Packers are quite heavily favored but don't forget they can be beaten. Dallas nearly proved that.

As this column stated yesterday this is "The Year of the Red Face", upsets and spills.

The Green Bay Goliaths could fall beneath the darts and slings of the Kansas City Davids.

I'm looking for it.

Mo-Hawks "Bull" In Chinas' Shop

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

COLLINGWOOD — The Belleville Mo-Hawks chose this home of the OHA Senior "A" League leaders to turn in one of their strongest two-way efforts of the campaign last night.

Ahead from the game's early minutes, the Mo-Hawks shattered the Georgian Chinas with a convincing 6-2 victory.

The Mo-Hawks were as good as the score indicates while handing Collingwood its third consecutive loss. Two of them have been at the hands of the Belleville squad.

It was a 3-1 game after one period and 5-2 going into the third when the winners turned in a solid two-way checking chore and added the only goal.

The Mo-Hawks return to Belleville arena for a key battle with the Guelph Regals on Tuesday night. These two clubs are battling it out for fifth place so the game amounts to a "four-pointer".

At last Friday when Belleville beat the Chinas 7-4 on home ice, the Crawfordmen came up with a fine team effort.

"It's tough to pick out any outstanding players in this one. Everyone of them played so well," said coach Cras ford.

Defenceman Lionel Bottey and centre Gary Darling were two of the leaders but Bob Taylor, "Weiner" Brown and several others were close behind.

Darling scored two goals and Botly was in all the right places at the right time, blocking shots, clearing pucks and cutting off China threats.

Point-wise, Brown, Gary Gresdahl and Taylor led the way with one goal and two assists each. Ralph Plane potted the other goal. Greg Marchen, John "Shaker" Baker and Eddie Marineau drew assists.

Steve Rexe robbed the loop's scoring leader, Dave McGrath, on at least three occasions and pulled off a couple of big saves when it was a tight 3-2 game. Collingwood had a slim 26-25 shots-on-goal edge.

"Rexe" Brainard cut in on the fly from the port side for a powerplay goal that cut a 2-0 Belleville lead in half at 12.24 of the first.

Fern St. Onge took advantage of a defensive lapse to bat home a loose puck when the Mo-Hawks were up a man at 3.05 of the second.

The Mo-Hawks took it from there.

Darling connected on a low side-boards shot at 15.22 after the winners had pressed for minutes without getting a clear shot on goal.

Brown made it 3-2 at 17.14, picking a small opening to fool Chuck Jewell from in close on the left side. Jewell, who did not enjoy a strong game, appeared set for a sizzler.

Belleville forechecked and intercepted passes, keeping the home squad completely off balance in the third.

They got a scoring break when Collingwood went all out on a powerplay midway through the period. Brown's long clearing pass up the centre found Taylor at the redline. He raced in ahead of a defenceman to dyke Jewell beautifully.

Collingwood argued the play was offside and McComb earned a misconduct for his troubles. Taylor had taken the pass from the Mo-Hawk zone right on the centre line.

Back in the first, Plane darted in front to steer home Brown's corner passout at 7.19 on an alert play.

Darling's first came at 8.56 when he and Gresdahl broke in behind the defence. The shifty centreman bisited his mate's short pass high into the net as Jewell moved out to block.

Gresdahl had his "Friday the 13th luck" working in reverse at 16.58 for the 3-1 count. John Baker fired a shot at Jewell and the goalie steered it to the side, only to have Gresdahl bat it back quickly. It deflected in off Jewell's goaltstick with Gresdahl behind the net. The officials refused to credit Baker with an assist on the play.

The winners absorbed seven minor penalties to the loser's four but Rexe and his defensive skating mates rose to the occasions.

Packers 13½ Favorites

Millions Will Video Super Bowl

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Green Bay Packers and Kansas City Chiefs are perched on the long awaited, much ballyhooed Super Bowl, a game that likely will establish—for the moment, one except the coaches involved—which football league is superior.

While fan interest for this first meeting between the 47-year-old pro football league and seven - year - old American Football League entities could be the supreme question, neither Green Bay coach Vince Lombardi nor Kansas City coach Hank Stram were viewing it exactly that way.

"It's a big football game," said Lombardi, "but winning or losing won't mean the end of the world as far as the Packers are concerned — or Kansas City either.

"Superiority of one league over the other will be hard to determine after the game," Stram said. "But it will give people a better picture than they've had.

"With the public it probably will 'prove' that."

There's little doubt that the viewing public will be the farcest in the history of any sporting event despite the fact there probably will be empty seats in the Los Angeles Coliseum when the game gets under way at 4:05, EST.

But, with both NBC and CBS televising and broadcasting the game across the United States and the CBC across Canada, the AFL ball is supposed to be easier to watch. The NFL ball is a little smaller. Chiefs will use the American League ball when they are on offence and the Packers will use the National League ball when they're on offence.

Sudden Death will be in effect if the two teams are tied at the end of regulation time and the leagues have agreed to use the NFL one-point conversion rule instead of the AFL's two-point conversion option.

Lombardi's biggest man running back Paul Hornung, his one-time Golden Boy, may see action at the halfback spot while there still remains some question about the status of Fred Arbanas, Kansas City's all - league tight end who suffered a slight shoulder separation in the AFL title game.

Oddmakers have made the Packers almost a two-touchdown favorite to grab the pot of gold.

Harmony has been the key word at the Super Bowl site.

Since the football used in the two leagues vary slightly—the AFL ball is supposed to be easier to grip; the NFL ball heavier kick—the Chiefs will use the American League ball when they are on offence and the Packers will use the National League ball when they're on offence.

NHL Faces Sticky Problems

MONTREAL (CP)—The National Hockey League governors will meet Tuesday and Wednesday, prior to the 20th annual All-Star game, in an effort to solve several sticky problems which must be decided before expansion becomes a reality for the 1967-68 season.

Clarence Campbell, NHL president, said Friday he hopes the problems can be cleared up at the meetings.

Three subjects take priority. The first is a proposed three-year, $3,600,000 television contract with the Columbia Broadcasting System of the U.S.

The second is player allegiance to the six United States clubs that join the league this fall.

The third is ratification of the pro - amateur agreement between the NHL and the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

Bill Putnam of Philadelphia will represent the six new owners during the television contract discussions. The governors of the six existing clubs — Boston, New York, Toronto, Montreal, Chicago and Detroit —will have the final say in the other matters.

The player allocation problem appears to be the toughest.

Last year Rochester were awarded Los Angeles, St. Louis, Minneapolis-St. Paul and San Francisco - Oakland each new club put up $2,000,000 as its entry fee. For this each will receive 20 players.

Glen Buck, Montreal Canadiens' general manager, was designated to work out a formula for stocking the new teams.

So far the current owners have refused to agree how to stock the new clubs.

However, Campbell said he believes they're working with Polluck on the formula "that will have it two-thirds nailed down."

"One fundamental principle we feel we must follow is that each new team must have a starting lineup of established NHL players made available.

"However, we must also make sure that teams are not allowed to denude the present clubs of all their talent." While he will not quote figures on how many players he feels should be made available to each new entry, he said that the existing clubs should be allowed to retain a goal tender, four defencemen and six forwards. That would leave seven players from each of the current clubs available for the expansion draft.

Marlies Stop Petes

Rangers Blank Oshawa

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kitchener Rangers shook off the effects of a four-game winless streak by smothering Oshawa Generals for a 5-0 victory Friday night in an Ontario Hockey Association Junior A game.

They also gave their rookie goaltender Robbie Irons something to remember—it was Robbins' first shutout this season.

In other games Friday Toronto Marlboros stopped Peterborough Petes 7-4 to move back into first place and Niagara Falls Flyers scored four third-period goals for a 6-4 comeback victory over the Hamilton Red Wings.

In Kitchener, the Rangers started slowly but hit Oshawa with three goals in the second period and two in the third to wrap up the shutout.

The line of Don Luce, Tim Keeler and Jack McGregor led Kitchener with a goal each. Jim Krulicki and Walter Tkaczuk got the other goals.

The Marlboros outshot Peterborough 43-36 as they climbed back in front of London Nationals in the fight for top spot. Frank Hamill led the winners with three goals, Gerry Caffrey with two and Gerry Meehan and Tom Martin with one each rounded out the scoring.

Your Turn, Cassius

"Clay's True Color, Yellow"--Terrell

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

PLEASANTVILLE, N.J. (AP) — Ernie Terrell is firmly convinced he has the right answer to Cassius Clay's remark that Terrell is a "one - armed bandit."

The 6 - foot - 6 giant let loose with some solid right - hand punches, including one to the chin that floored spar mate Leotis Martin, in a brisk workout Friday.

"Clay will see plenty of them in Houston if he comes to fight," said the grimly - determined Terrell. They meet for the heavyweight title in Houston Feb. 6.

Clay, a bright ballyhoo artist, has dubbed Terrell the "one-armed bandit" because he claims his towering opponent fights strictly with his left hand.

"He can call me anything he wants, except that "Uncle Tom' stuff," said Terrell.

DOUBTS APOLOGY

Told there was a news story from Houston that Clay had apologized for calling him an "Uncle-Tom," Terrell snapped, "His advisers must have told him to apologize. It was a stupid thing to say. But I think he meant it. I haven't heard him apologize.

"He doesn't bother me because I know I'm going to beat him.

"I've got a better jab than he has and the jab is most important. You open up your opponent with it, and you can do a lot of damage with a stiff left jab."

In his five-round workout—three with Martin, a main-event fighter, and two with Bill Morrison—Terrell used his left like a machine. He rammed it in hard, fast and on-target.

"Clay has had hand - picked opponents," said the 27-year-old Terrell. "Most of them have been too old—over the hill.

"You will see five matches with him and you'll see his true color—yellow."

Now it's your turn, Cassius.

HE HAD A BALL ! — Dr. Frank Ryan, the Cleveland Browns' scholarly quarterback, submits to a test to show he can tell the difference between National Football League footballs and American League footballs. But Ryan, who tosses the ball in the NFL picked the wrong one. The AFL ball is on the left — the NFL ball on the right. (AP Wirephoto).

Blues Crush Gaels

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Nobody likes losing, but not everybody reacts the way University of Toronto Blues did Friday night.

Blues took on Queen's University Golden Gaels in an Ontario - Quebec Intercollegiate Athletic Association hockey game just two days after being nipped 2-1 by McMaster Marlins for their first loss of the season.

When it was all over the Gaels, who had been bolstered by a victory earlier in the week over the second-place University of Western Ontario Mustangs, were on the wrong end of a 14-1 crusher that was never in doubt after the first minute of play.

In other games Friday three third-period goals gave McGill Redmen a 3-1 squeaker over the Manitoba and University of Waterloo Warriors found their less lute for a 7-2 victory over Laval Rouge et Or.

Blues, Hawks In Top Spot Tangle

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Chicago Black Hawks have so many things going for them, it's something of a mystery why they always seem to be battling for first place in the National Hockey League.

Center Stan Mikita is setting a blazing pace in the individual scoring race with 53 points, including a league - leading 38 assists; Ken Wharram is second, 16 points behind Mikita, Bobby Hull is tied for third place with four other players.

The Hawks are getting solid netminding from Glenn Hall and Denis DeJordy and their defence corps is led by Pierre Pilote, one of the league's star defencemen.

Still, Chicago always seems to be battling it out with someone for first place and this season is no exception.

The Hawks, who have never won a league championship, fought it out with Montreal Canadiens for the championship last year and Montreal clinched it with an 8-3 victory over Chicago in the next-to-last game of the season.

This year, they are battling for first place with New York Rangers, the biggest surprise of the season.

The Hawks will be trying to grab a share of first place when they meet the league - leading Rangers in Chicago tonight. In other games, Boston Bruins will meet the Canadiens in Montreal and Detroit Red Wings will clash with the Maple Leafs in Toronto. Sunday, Montreal is at Boston, Toronto is at Chicago and New York plays in Detroit.

The Rangers have 45 points, two more than the Black Hawks, who have two games in hand over New York.

The two clubs were tied for first place before Thursday's action but the Rangers blanked Boston 2-0 and the Hawks lost their share of first place by losing 4-1 to the fifth-place Red Wings.

Bobby Hull has picked up six points in Chicago's last two games, including five points against Detroit in the Hawks' 6-1 victory Wednesday night.

He has 23 goals, tops in the league. At the halfway point in the schedule last year, Hull had 32 goals and went on to score a record 54.

The game will be New York's second of a five - game road trip. The Rangers' road record so far this year is eight victories, six losses and four ties. They have won three and tied one in seven meetings with Chicago this year. Two of their three wins over the Hawks have been shutouts for Ed Giacomin, who leads the league with five.

New York may be without Bernie Geoffrion and Reg Fleming for tonight's game. Geoffrion has chilled stomach muscles and Fleming has a bruised ankle.

The Red Wings, with one tie in 18 road games this season, will be looking for their first road victory when they meet the Leafs in Toronto.

Detroit announced Friday that Parker MacDonald was being sent to Pittsburgh of the American Hockey League. MacDonald joined the Wings Dec. 10 and scored three goals, all of them game winners.

Sid Abel, coach and general manager of the Red Wings, said the move was being made so he could open spots in the lineup for left wingers Val Fonteyne and rookie Pete Stemkowski, who have been used sparingly in recent weeks.

The Maple Leafs have been coming around since Bob Pulford ended a scoring slump last weekend. He now has three goals in his last three games.

Toronto is in third place with 40 points, three less than Chicago and five points behind the Rangers. They are six points ahead of the Canadiens.

The Canadiens have brought up centre Andre Boudrias from Houston of the Central Professional Hockey League for tonight's game. He has 11 goals and 28 assists with Houston this year.

Aces Win

Regals Wallop Oaks

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Depending on who you were, Friday the 13th was either a good day or bad day in the Ontario Hockey Association senior series.

It was a good day for Bob Garner and Corby Adams as they both scored their 13th goal of the season as Barrie Flyers defeated Orillia 8-3.

But it was a bad day for Oakville Oaks as they lost their 13th consecutive series game on Guelph ice 8-6 to the Regals.

Collingwood Georgians lost 6-2 to Belleville Mo-Hawks but still lead the 10-team series by five points over Woodstock Athletics. In the other game, Kingston Aces defeated Galt Hornets 10-5, to move into a third-place tie with the Hornets.

Tempers flared in two of the games as four players were given match penalties following third-period brawls.

Guelph lost Dave Lucik for the rest of the game when he tangled with Brian Pryce in the penalty box. Pryce was also banished.

Kingston's Bob Olajos and Don Snider of the Hornets were given match penalties following a stick-swinging duel in Kingston.

It was a big night for Kingston defencemen as Dennis Kearns had three goals, John Ford two, and Jim Gerlach and Olajos one each. Forwards Keith Watson scored twice and Davey Jones once.

Ralph Hergott scored three times for Galt. Single goals went to Fern Belanger and John Beechey.

Guelph, with two goals from Tom Smola and Bob Pole, came from behind twice to win. Walt Bradley, Keith Worrall, Rich McCloskin and Lucik got the others.

Don Currie, Doug McGowan, Bob Bishop, Jim O'Brien, Jack Price and Gus Mortson signed the Oakville goals.

Discuss Sports Centre

Day Lead Federation rdp Bel

OTTAWA (CP) — Discussions on a proposed national sports centre is expected to get priority today as the Canadian Amateur Sports Federation concludes its two-day meeting.

Dr. Joseph W. Willard, deputy minister of the federal welfare department, told delegates Friday night that their opinions would be of importance and value in the department, which administers the fitness program.

For a number of years both Ottawa and governing bodies of amateur sport have considered establishing a centre where Canadian athletes could train for both national and international competitions.

Dr. Willard said there were a number of questions to be answered about the proposed national centre—should there be one or should there be regional centres?

PRAISES LEADERSHIP

He also praised the federation for its leadership in promoting winter and summer competition for Canada.

He was sure the first Winter Games scheduled for Quebec next month would be a success. But the department wanted to see their outcome before considering a Canada Games recommendation for the first Summer Games, tentatively set for Halifax in 1969.

Discussions Friday revolved around the dress athletes will wear at opening ceremonies at the Quebec games. The 10 provinces and the Yukon Territory all provided indoor uniforms for their teams.

Unfortunately, the ceremonies, expected to be presided over by Prime Minister Pearson, will be held outdoors.

Several delegates feel the image of amateur sport would be harmed if competing athletes all dressed differently for the ceremonies, which are to be televised nationally.

Others felt there should be no worry about the TV cameras. Finally it was decided to ask the Quebec committee to limit the number of athletes appearing on camera. The few who do should be dressed so as to be identified by province or territory.

Soccer Stars Warned

LONDON (AP)—The English Professional Footballers' Association warned its members Friday they could be banned for life if they play in one of North America's two new soccer leagues.

The association warned its players not to join teams of the National Professional Soccer League which has said it plans to begin operations next year. The league is not recognized by the World Soccer Federation (FIFA).

Cliff Lloyd, secretary of the English body, said, "It would be unwise for our members to be attracted by American offers in view of what could happen when their contracts expire. They could outlaw themselves in the eyes of FIFA and might never be allowed to play anywhere else again."

Some British sports writers warned that players migrating to the United States might be liable to the military draft.

Several British players have signed to play and coach in the league and Phil Woosnam, former Welsh player who has signed as player-coach of the Atlanta team, said the warnings were meaningless.

He also said none of the players would be subject to the American military draft.

The other league which plans to begin operations in the United States this year, the North American Soccer League, has received FIFA sanction.

Says Nats Could Beat Habs

"Come, Come Mr. Fleury!"

OTTAWA (CP) — Lionel Fleury, past president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said Friday that Canada's national hockey team could beat Montreal Canadiens of the NHL "in three out of five games."

The Montreal hockey executive added in an interview that he was referring to the Canadiens "without the services of Jean Beliveau as they now are."

Mr. Fleury, associated for many years with hockey, also ranked Gary Dineen of the national team "as the second-best centre man in the world behind Stan Mikita of Chicago Black Hawks."

In the capital for the meeting of the Canadian Amateur Sports Federation, Mr. Fleury said Canada's better showing against the Russians in exhibition games here is because of a vast improvement in the national team, and not because the Russians are slipping.

Mr. Fleury has attended most of the Canada-Russia games and said the Canadian team is "20 per-cent improved over last year."

The Russians are as good as they were in the past, he said. He refused to predict a win for Canada in the world championships this winter. He said Canada is in for tough competition from Russia, Sweden and Czechslovakia.

"Will Beat Leafs, Habs"

Russ Parting Shot

KITCHENER (CP) — Coach Anatolij Tarasov of the Russian national hockey team fired a parting shot at the referees Thursday night and warned Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens to watch out.

"I can understand that these officials wanted your team to win the centennial tournament in Winnipeg," he said after his team defeated Canada 5-3 for its first victory in four games this season against the Canadians. "After all, it's the 100th birthday of your country and everybody should do his best to help celebrate it.

"When we celebrate 100 years of Russian hockey we'll invite Montreal Canadiens or Toronto Maple Leafs and we'll beat them—without help from the referees."

Tarasov said he could not understand why referees were partial during exhibition games.

"They think they are helping Canada, but they are not. In Vienna a game of the world championships in March), Canadian referees will not be able to handle the games of your teams and your players will find things much tougher with neutral officials."

The game was Russia's last on its tour.

Petes Crushed 'Em 9-2

"Black Friday" For The Junior Macs!

By GEO. H. CARVER
Sports Editor

The Quinte MacFarlands can chalk up Jan. 13 as Black Friday.

They didn't need black cats, walks under ladders or spilled salt to put the whammy on them. They had it from the start of a 9-2 rout at the hands of the Peterborough Don Byes here last night.

The victory put the Petes within two points of the league-leading Oshawa Crushmen with Cobourg breathing down the Macs' necks a point behind.

The Petes were full value for their win. Opportunists, they took advantage of disorganized play, senseless penalties, defensive lapses and power-play ability.

The winners coasted to a 4-1 first-period lead, added three unanswered goals in the second and added two more against a single return in the third frame.

Cheap Belleville penalties, twelve all told, from both ends of the whistle paved the way for six of the Petes' goals.

Calver and White each drew four, Neil got hotheaded and drew a five minute misconduct while Schwager drew a major for fighting. The Petes were assessed seven sentences, one a major to Blasdorah for scrapping.

Blewett and Blasdorah led the Petes' attack with two goals and an assist, Glynn, McLeish, Craigs and Mackness were the other scorers.

P. Chilick had two assists, Banks and Stabler one each.

Potts and Riley were the Quinte marksmen with White getting two assists, Fleming and Sharpe one each.

The Petes, after Potts' fast goal at 13 seconds of the opening frame tied it up within 10 seconds after Calver got his first penalty and never looked backwards. The Macs were seldom in the picture after that.

Two of the Petes' goals were scored on "shooper" shots that bounced over Forrester's stick. Two others were widely deflected efforts of shots that were ten feet off the target.

In fairness to the Macs, Ronnie Reid in the Peterborough goal was at his best and choked off not a few doorstep efforts when the homesters got within range.

"It was the worst game they have played this season," said manager Jim Matthews, "and they're going to hear about it." He benched Neil after the misconduct.

Three times the Macs had two men in the hoosegow and the fast-skating sure-shot Petes took every advantage. Their defence was almost impregnable and they were dangerous the few times they were shorthanded.

After Potts scored his 18-second screened-shot opener the Petes' Blewett came back with a pair to give the lead. Glynn and R. Chittick added two more to pave the way for the 9-2 debacle.

Six Macs' sentences in the second period gave the Petes the chance to score three more from McLeish, Craigs and Mackness.

A sparse crowd had little to enthuse about even when the Macs started a spirited attack in the second frame. The alert Petes proved masters of interception while their The passing and shooting was excellent.

They took over in the middle frame with McLeish, Craigs and Mackness doing the fitting.

Blasdorah fired the eighth Petes' goal seconds after the third frame opened, then Riley potted one from assist in for the Macs' second counter. Blasdorah got that one back minutes later. Three Petes outshot the Macs 27-24 (question mark).

Shore Offers Bonus

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Springfield Indians apparently are taking seriously owner Eddie Shore's bonus offer as an incentive for the club to make the American Hockey League playoffs.

Shore said Friday he will grant the team a minimum $10,- bonus if it wins 22 of its final 38 games and the Indians responded Friday night by edging Cleveland Barons 3-2.

The victory, under new coach Eddie Shore Jr., left the eight points behind the third-place Quebec Aces. There are three playoff spots in the Eastern Division.

In other games, Rochester Americans defeated Providence Reds 8-2 and moved into a first-place tie in the Western Division with Pittsburgh Hornets, idle Friday night, and Baltimore Clippers beat Buffalo Bisons 5-1.

FINES FOOTBALLER

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dick Fouts, 22, of Honolulu Argonauts former defensive end of the Eastern Football Conference, was fined $200 Friday in magistrate's court for impaired driving. Johnson Scores 4 For Blades

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Vancouver Canucks and California Seals wound up in a second-place tie in the Western Hockey League after each posted a victory Friday night.

The Canucks defeated visiting Los Angeles Blades 6-4, and California beat San Diego Gulls at Oakland 7-0. The wins gave each 40 points, 15 behind league-leading Portland Buckaroos and one ahead of the idle Seattle Totems, who were in second place until Friday.

In Vancouver, the Canucks recovered from a three-game losing streak and charged to a 5-1 second period lead before Los Angeles' Norm Johnson got it wired up. Johnson scored all four Los Angeles goals.

Riders Get Line Coach

HAMILTON (CP) — Kelley Mote, who divides his life between football in Hamilton and teaching retarded children in New York and running a peanut and citrus farm in Georgia, is going to Ottawa Rough Riders as line coach.

He will fill the position left vacant by the death last fall year of veteran Bill Smyth.

Mote, who spent four years as assistant to head coach Ralph Sazio of Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Eastern Football Conference, said his move to the rival Ottawa club was prompted by "personal reasons."

Sazio, interviewed in Houston, Tex., by The Spectator, said he had asked Mote to consider moving to Hamilton to handle off-season club business.

Trojans Defeat Picton

By BARRY CAMPBELL

Moira Trojan basketball teams swept all three games last night when they hosted teams from Picton. The seniors won 43-30, the bantams were victorious by a 44-34 count and the juniors won the evening's most exciting contest 47-42.

In the bantam game Paul Hayes scored 28 points to lead a much improved team to their most impressive victory of the season.

Moira's junior Trojans started out well and completely outplayed their opponents for the first quarter of the game. However, the Picton juniors retaliated quickly and fought back to trail by only six points at half time.

The third quarter saw much the same pattern prevail to end with Moira still in the lead at 30-25. Picton came on strong at the beginning of the final quarter of the game to momentarily take the lead. But once again Moira took command of the play to win.

Moira was led by Robert Chalmers who scored 12 points, Don Curzon with 11 and Bill Probert with 10. Picton's best were Dulmage with 21 and Lee with 11 points.

Ron Banting who hit for 13 and Gary Swan with 12 led Moira while Sharpe was high for Picton with 10.

MOIRA 43: Banting 13, Swan 12, Dobso 11, Findlay 2, Mc Pherson 2, Detenbeck 2, Brummel 1, Loder, Hayman, Longstaff.

Racing Official Fired

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York state harness racing commission dismissed William Bloome as administrative steward Friday.

Bloome's conduct in the investigation of Ontario-born William Gilmour has been under scrutiny by the commission and the Nassau County district attorney's office, the commission said. Bloome was reported to receive $30,000 a year.

Gilmour, one of the leading money-winning drivers in the U.S., and Robert Shuttleworth, another driver, have been under investigation by the commission and the Nassau County grand jury. The inquiry has centred on a race in which Gilmour won unexpectedly.

The commission said that Bloome appeared at the Nassau County grand jury pursuant to subpoena and refused to sign a waiver of immunity. "The commission considers his refusal sufficient cause for dismissal," a statement said.

Juniors, Bantams Win

Quinte Drops Squeaker

By ROBT. SNEFJELLA

Trenton Tigers squeezed out a narrow 56-55 victory over Quinte Secondary School at Trenton last night. The senior "A" thriller was decided in the closing seconds of the contest, when Proctor of Trenton made good on a foul shot.

The win put Trenton into sole possession of second place, behind BCI, in the loop standings.

In the junior tussle, Paul Goodfellow led Quinte to a 52-47 win over Trenton, while in bantam Quinte swamped their opponents 47-29.

Quinte had led throughout most of the senior game by a narrow margin. It was 16-12 after the first quarter, Trenton came back to tie it at the half, and Quinte grabbed the lead again in the third quarter 45-39. Trenton, however, made nincement of the Quinte lead in one minute of the final quarter with four straight baskets, and from there on in it was either team's ball game.

In the closing minute of the battle, the score was tied twice. Trenton drew a foul with the score 55-55, and made the best of their opportunity.

Pat Larry led the winners with 21 points, his seasonal average. Gibson netted 11 points, and Schaufeler added eight, while O'Neill and Stewart hooped four each.

Phil Buddle played a strong game for Quinte and led them in scoring with 17 points. Mike Reddick had 16 points, Terry Wellesley eight and Ted Clarke five.

Paul Goodfellow netted 20 points and played a strong game throughout to lead the Quinte team.

In bantam, Peter Middleton led Quinte to their impressive victory with a 20 point performance.

The visitors led all the way in spite of very poor foul shooting. Quinte managed only two out of 16 attempts from the charity line.

Hewie Van Allen and Tom Churchill scored 10 and eight points respectively for Quinte. For the hosts, Heaslip and Turtle notched 11 points each.

Transport Debate Moves at Yard-engine Pace

OTTAWA (CP) — Debate on the government's bill to establish a national transportation policy got side-tracked in the Commons Friday and Transport Minister Pickersgill despaired at its yard-engine pace.

As opposition members sought changes in provisions for abandonment, of branch rail lines and the powers of the commission that will administer the legislation, the minister hinted at obstruction and said he was beginning to wonder whether there ever would be a commission.

Both Alvin Hamilton (PC—Qu'Appelle) and NDP Leader Douglas asked the government to allow the transport commission authority to order railways to abandon lines or to exchange branch lines. Under the bill it would only be able to recommend such actions.

Mr. Douglas said there was no attempt to hold up the legislation but an interest in improving it.

The minister said the 54-clause bill had been examined by the Commons transport committee before presentation to the House and that members should have expressed their views about its provisions more forcibly then.

The NDP chief said that if the bill is not strengthened the commission will "go on recommending" and that will be all.

He said there is nothing infallible about the railways and that there must be control.

Mr. Hamilton said the inefficiency of the railways has been the history of Canada. He saw no reason why they shouldn't, under certain circumstances, be made to follow certain policies.

The government paid large subsidies to railways and should have some say in their operations.

Mr. Pickersgill said he didn't like to interfere with the decisions of private business and added that his transport bill was proceeding so slowly he was "beginning to wonder whether there ever will be a commission."

Committee study began before Christmas and four days were spent on it this week, but only the half-way mark had been reached by adjournment Friday.

Mr. Pickersgill assured members the interests of communities on branch lines would be protected but they continued to press demands that the railways not be granted too much freedom.

Ed Schreyer (NDP—Springfield) proposed, but later dropped, an amendment that the use of the word uneconomic as a test for a company's abandonment application should be replaced with "actual loss occurring." He was supported by David Orlikow (NDP—Winnipeg North) and Gerald Bidwai (PC—Peace River).

Debate on the bill continues Monday.

If Anything Can Go Wrong, It Will

OTTAWA (CP) — Murphy's Law is plaguing centennial planners.

The law, simply stated, is that if anything can go wrong, it will.

A series of silent screens, foam rubber cakes and glaring gaffes in the last two weeks presages a year of Murphy Madness.

Centennial officials have tried to plan for every eventuality but this is just asking for it.

Murphy's Law seems to thrive on any planned human activity.

This was the case Wednesday night during celebrations of the 152nd birthday of Sir John A. Macdonald here.

A whole evening of praise and speeches was dominated by the huge "Sir John A. Mc-Donald" on a banner across the rostrum.

The spelling was pure Murphy.

Television carried the Queen's centennial message and Prime Minister Pearson's speech to the nation New Year's Eve.

However, no one tuned in the crowd that showed up on Parliament Hill.

They saw the Queen on a silent screen and anyone more than a couple of yards away couldn't hear Mr. Pearson.

The city talked a crowd of 1,500 into paying $3 a ticket for a party at Ottawa's Centennial Centre, the old Union Station.

It turned out to be the toughest place in Canada to get a drink on New Year's Eve.

One wicket was set aside for the sale of bar tickets.

That meant 1,500 people had to stand in line if they wanted a drink, which was served at a couple of other wickets.

Those who got one found they couldn't take it into the dancing area. That didn't matter much because the sound system kept frying and with it, the music.

The city later alienated Alderman Charlotte Whitton, the former mayor, by deciding upon a foam rubber cake for a senior citizen's party.

Only Murphy's Law could account for a foam rubber cake.

Then there was the Centennial Play, product of a committee of five authors commissioned by the federal centennial commission.

The one part critics enjoyed most upset the author responsible.

Robertson Davies' scene in a 1912 Ontario classroom had them laughing. It featured a 15-foot Union Jack, a satirical glorification of the Empire and an hilarious connection between hygiene and the evils of liquor.

The miffed playwright said he meant the scene to be gentle rather than satirical.

That's Murphy's Law.

Care Needed In Installing Spark Plugs

By EUGENE B. MILMOE

Many cases of gas waste, power loss and rough performance develop because spark plug cleaning, regapping or replacement are mishandled. Do-it-myselfers aren't the only ones at fault — careless mechanics are guilty, too. But usually it's because the car owner who tackles the job is short on knowhow — especially about plug installation.Some do not even use the proper tools.

Plugs are often installed with insufficient torque to provide a gas-tight seal. Too much torque is almost as common. This will change plug gap settings, and when new plugs run too hot, fail to give good performance and have to be replaced long before they would ordinarily be.

Failure to clean dirt, carbon and corrosion from the plug-hole threads and seats is another installation mistake. As a result, normal torque isn't enough to obtain a perfect seal.

B. L. writes: "Two months ago I bought a '61 sedan which runs fine, except that the battery always seems to need water. Maybe you can tell me why."

The voltage regulator must be set too high.

From B. W.: "Engine noise and loss of power has developed in my '63 sedan, and garage said it's due to the hydraulic valve lifters. I thought the hydraulic type couldn't develop trouble."

They certainly can — and the most common cause is gummy or dirty engine oil.

S. N. asks: "Over the weekend I noticed that my rear stoplights stay on when the brake pedal is released. Does this mean the brake-stoplight switch isn't released?"

It could. Other possibilities are brake drag and insufficient brake-pedal clearance.

L. T. writes: "Is it normal for distributor points to turn bluish after some use?"

Normally, their color is gray. Blue points indicate they've been subject to excessive heat — most often due to incorrect alignment.

Province Will Not Intervene In Montreal Teachers' Strike

MONTREAL (CP) — Education Minister Jean - Jacques Bertrand said Friday there will be no immediate intervention by the Quebec government in the strike of 9,000 English- and French-speaking Roman Catholic teachers in the Montreal area.

But Mr. Bertrand added that the government will not wait until the situation is "completely deteriorated" before taking action.

Up to now, the two unions involved in the strike and the Montreal Catholic School Commission still were in negotiation as far as the government was concerned.

The strike of elementary and high school teachers began Friday and closed down almost 500 schools attended by 217,000 youngsters.

The teachers walked out after bargaining, which has been going on since last June, failed to produce a new contract. They want higher salaries and improvements in working conditions.

Mr. Bertrand told reporters he is looking over the situation and plans to report to the provincial cabinet next week. Then the cabinet can decide on any possible action.

Aime Sauli, president of the French-language FAlliance des Professeurs Catholiques de Montreal, warned that the 7,500 members of his union as well as the 1,500 English-speaking instructors would consider it unfair if the province decided to seek an injunction as the means of intervention.

The only reason for an injunction would be a jeopardizing of the students' education, Mr. Sauli told a Friday strike rally.

Only a "very long strike" could endanger the educational process, so that an injunction now would be unjustified.

Support for the strikers has come from a variety of sources —including spokesmen for the Socialist Party of Quebec and the separatist Rassemblement pour l'independance nationale.

About 6,200 Protestant teachers in the Montreal area are not affected by the strike. In Quebec, schools are organized along religious lines.

The English-language union involved in the strike and bargaining along with the alliance is called the Federation of English-speaking Catholic Teachers.

TALKS MAY GO ON

Negotiators have said that talks could go on during the weekend.

Federation President Philip Shore said Friday the teachers are determined to stay out "until a settlement is reached."

With parents on all sides expressing anxiety about the situation, Mr. Shore found it impossible to forecast how long the strike might last.

Many areas of dispute still remained to be resolved and "we will go to arbitration on" the minor points if the major differences are first settled between ourselves and the commission."

There have been forecasts that the Montreal stoppage could be the first of a series across the province.

ONE STRIKE ON

Already, in the nearby St. Hyacinthe area, there are 500 teachers on strike in a walkout that began Nov. 24, depriving 10,000 students of classes.

There are crises in labor situations involving 1,200 teachers in Pointe Claire, Beaconsfield and Chambly, all near Montreal — though no strikes have been declared there yet.

The Montreal teachers turned down an offer which would have increased salaries by an average of six per cent. They want an average increase of 18 per cent in a two-year contract.

The last contract, which expired in June, provided for salaries ranging from $3,900, a year for beginner teachers with two years of professional training after high school to $10,600 for teachers with two advanced degrees and 14 years of classroom experience.

Finds Error In Webster

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — An 11-year-old girl has discovered a mistake in the elementary-school edition of Webster's New World Dictionary.

Veronica Sulewski, a sixth-grade pupil at the Park Avenue School, found the error after a recent school exercise in which boys and girls go to the blackboard with a word and write what it means.

After a classmate defined "gutter," Veronica objected. In the edition, one definition of "gutter" is a device to return bowling balls to bowlers. Veronica wrote to Webster's and said:

"The word 'gutter' is in error. The gutter does not return the ball to the bowler."

John N. Jackson, an executive editor at the publishing company, wrote back last week that she was right. The next edition will have the correct entry, he promised. It is, according to Webster's Unabridged, a trough or narrow channel on each side of an alley to catch balls rolled wide.

Beginners' Luck Topsy-Turvy

NEW YORK (AP) — Beginners' luck is all topsy-turvy this Broadway season.

During the first half, a dozen hopefuls — more than the average number — won key roles. Four — again unusual — won exceptionally warm critical ecstasies for skill in shows otherwise deemed lacking in general charm or appeal.

In contrast, two hyped appeared in box office successes that won them just so-so personal notices. Neither had ever performed on a stage before.

Most persistent newcomer of all was Lee Lawson, who reached Broadway in Agatha Sue, I Love You, which lasted just five performances. Miss Lawson, a tiny titian - tressed New Yorker of 24; was making her third try.

Two of this season's recruits, Mary Tyler Moore and Richard Chamberlain, suffered similar disappointment with the last-minute cancellation of another musical, Breakfast at Tiffany's.

The oldest arrival, Gloria Foster, 28, continued to make a talent for sultry emotion in Yerma, a study in feminine frustration put on to a limited duration by the Lincoln Centre Repertory Company. With the title role in Yerma she established herself as a coming star of impressive emotional range.

Youngest star was Heather Menzies, 16. She was chosen over hundreds of rivals for the ominous role in We Have Always Lived in the Castle. In previous performances, Born in Canada of Scottish parents, Miss Menzies learned about acting and dancing in Los Angeles where Robert Wise found her for The Sound of Music. After that she appeared in another film, Hawaii.

Perhaps the warmest natives of all were garnered by Bonnie Bedelia, 18, striking the awesome challenge of a two-character study about racial conflict in the deep south. My sweet Charlie. The general reaction was typified by a veteran actress who after the opening said, "she is my idea of a youthful wonder."

Another semi - rookie was Brilon James Bolam, 28, who took part in an abortive British import, How's the World Treating You? Bolam made headway although his show did not.

Another fortunate male arrival was Richard Benjamin, 28, teamed with Anthony Perkins and singer Connie Stevens (also a stage lyre) in Neil Simon's latest comedy, The Star Spangled Girl.

Among other arrivals, Myrna Labow, 19, and Ann Sheckdale, 20, found the going a bit rougher, respectively at Hooray That Play the Cowls and Hair, Scrawdyke! Winners in the incoming plaudits were Jill Haworth, 29, of England, leading lady of the musical Cabaret, and Pamela Tyffin, 24, of New York, in a revival of Dinner at Eight. Each has compiled a fairly formidable list of screen credits.

Negro Star Expounds On His New Position

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Two years ago, Bill Cosby was a former athlete trying to make a name as a comedian.

The first of his race to succeed as co-star of a TV series, Cosby expounded on his new position during the lunch break of I Spy.

Cosby seemed tired. He admitted that the rigors of an hour-long drama filmed on far-off locations and the pressures of being a civil-rights symbol, had left him mentally exhausted.

"You do what you can without killing yourself," he said. "Every Negro has a stake in the civil rights movement, and each of us has his own way of operating. Muhammad Ali has his way, Martin Luther King has his, Stokely Carmichael has his."

The Cosby way is less vocal. He figures he is advancing the Negro cause by his partnership with co-star Robert Culp in I Spy.

"Of course there are people who will ask, 'Has Bill Cosby done more for himself or for the cause?' he said. "I won't argue that. But I do think that the sight of two men, one white and one black, working together and living together in a dramatic context of weekly television must be doing some good racial understanding."

Cosby also plays benefits for Negro causes and spends some time at Studio Watts, an organization to help Negroes in the Los Angeles neighborhood torn by rioting in 1965.

School Band Seeking Funds To Visit Expo

BANCROFT (Special) — A high school band here is raising around for $3,000 to match the honor of playing at Expo.

Timothy Hastings High School Concert Band has been asked to give several concerts on the big exhibition site May 5-6 and is currently busy with daily rehearsals for the event. Action already is being pushed to garner the estimated $3,000 needed to underwrite expenses for the 65 players, conductor William Hennig and chaperones.

Already $100 have been donated by the Bancroft Lions and $50 from Madoc High School where band has recently gave a concert.

Further assistance is looked for from the school board and local councils.

The students themselves are planning a number of fundraising events while formation of a parents association to assist them already is being mooted.

The band is considered among the top 10 of its kind in the province.

Safety Issue Made Excuse For Strike

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Labor Relations Board Friday ruled that a complaint about safety practices at a $226,000,000 power plant being built by the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission at Pickering, Ont., was used as a smokescreen by steelriggers to justify an illegal walkout.

The board rendered a declaration that Local 721, International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Ironworkers, and 84 members are engaged in an illegal walkout.

The walkout by the riggers had led to the layoff of more than 100 other tradesmen and could eventually bring the project to a halt.

Aubrey Golden, counsel for the ironworkers, said Friday afternoon that the men are not on strike over their jobs and accepted other jobs proffered.

He said Ontario Hydro is refusing to hold discussions with the men.

Applications by Ontario Hydro to prosecute the local, its officials and members will be heard by the board Monday.

The walkout, which began Dec. 7, was precipitated by a 2½ - day suspension of John Winkler, a union steward, for using foul language in an argument with a foreman.

Last Pay-day Comes at Soo's Algoma Steel

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—Friday was the last payday at Algoma Steel Corp. Ltd. and it left 8,000 workers and their families faced with the bleak prospect of trying to live on unemployment insurance.

Algoma shut down its operations Dec. 16 after 39 breakaways, members of the International Association of Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers, left their jobs and two railway unions refused to cross their picket lines.

The company and all three unions are separated by a seemingly unbridgeable gap. John D. Sperannini, provincial conciliation officer, Friday said negotiations have been completely broken off, with no settlement in sight.

Mr. Sperannini said the two groups adjourned their talks because "there appears to be no hope of settlement."

He said he was returning to Toronto to report to the minister of labor and the director of conciliation services. He plans to make one more attempt to resume negotiations.

World's Fair to Provide Canadians With Biggest Beanfeast

MONTREAL (CP)—The 1967 world's fair promises to be the biggest beanfeast Canadians have seen in the 100 years of Confederation.

Food, in exciting and exotic forms, may be one of the major cultural benefits of the six-month gathering of the world's nations.

The $2.50 entrance fee to the grounds will give the food-conscious visitor a global tour ticket to the foods of at least 38 different countries, with prices ranging from 85 cents to $5.

Everyone from the food snob to the food snob will be catered to in a choice range from hot dogs to pork chops a la Jurassienne (stewed with tomatoes under melted cheese).

In addition to the national restaurants, Expo will provide 38 restaurants and 65 snack bars.

Expo's restaurant division, under Maurice Novek, intends to keep an iron hand on specifications for types of restaurants, their size, locations, hours, minimum food portions and prices.

"Our primary concern is to see that visitors aren't gouged," says Mr. Novek.

Expo restaurant-inspection teams will check on service and price standards throughout the period of the fair.

Variety will be the keynote for the food adventurer.

Thailand's pavilion restaurant will ignore the shrieks of bird - lovers and feature nightingale dishes, Asian country's greatest delicacy.

A whiff of the days of Ivan the Terrible will be created in the Russian pavilion's three indoor and three outdoor restaurant at the fair. There's a chance to help clear out their preliminary order of 20 tons of sturgeon, 2,000 tins of caviar and 28,000 litres of vodka.

The fabled onion soup of Pierre Parker, the French-man who ran the tiniest restaurant at the 19 -N wes614 York world's fair, will be the specialty at one of Expo's restaurants, which he will run.

Apart from his onion soup, whose fame spread all over the world during the New York fair, there will be creole gumbo, potage St. Germain and other soups, as well as bouillabar whisht is beef meat balls cooked in white wine, sour cream and cheese sauce and served with beans and mushrooms.

Pastry-lovers will have a field day in the Austrian pavilion, where a Viennese cafe will serve apfelstrudel, sacher-torte, krapfen and palatschinken.

Fish fans will gravitate to the Atlantic provinces pavilion, where a 220-seat restaurant will serve lobster, oysters, scallops and halibut. A special 20-seat chowder bar will feature inexpensive servings of clam chowder.

Japan will offer Tempura (shrimps, fish and vegetables) Mishoshiru soup, washed down with sake (rice wine).

Switzerland's bill of fare will include alpine dried beef and ham, Schoppa da Giotta (barley soup made with fresh cream), onion soup Baloise served with cheese toast, chicken Chateau Chillon in a creamy tarragon sauce, baked cheese tartlets and croustade Oberland (cheese and ham with creamed mushrooms). For dessert you could try linzera da mucha (honey and walnut pie), or kirschwasser cake.

Canada's $21,000,000 pavilion will include a 600-seat restaurant complex including the Tundra Restaurant, where overseas visitors will be able to try Manitoba wild rice, clay-baked Prairie grouse and New Brunswick fiddleheads.

The two restaurants in the Scandinavian pavilion will offer foods representative of Finland, Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Iceland, including herring, smoked eel, reindeer steak and lingonberries and salmon, smoked or salted.

An eyecatcher in the International Carrefour—a group of eight restaurants to be run by participating countries and located in the La Ronde amusement area—will be the Koliba, operated by Czechoslovakia.

The Koliba — Czech for smuggler's inn — will have three rooms with meat roasting on spits over open fires. The menu will include stuffed pork, stewed venison steak, mutton a la shaslik, goose, duck and suckling pig, to be served with black bread and poultry soup.

And the kiddies haven't been forgotten. The Children's a special restaurant for them with child-size portions and fixtures.

FIND ANCIENT BONE

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Harvard University scientists reported Friday the discovery in Kenya, Africa, of a human bone estimated to be some 2,500,000 years old. The university's museum of comparative zoology said the find "appears to antedate fossils recovered from the Olduvai Gorge in northern Tanzania, and thus represents the oldest Pleistocene member of the human family yet found."

The question of purchasing chairs for the church was discussed, and Mrs. Gordon Gould and Mrs. Bockwell Hawley were appointed to investigate the matter.

An interesting report was brought in regarding the operation of the inter-church White Gift Store which had been set up in support of Centennial Park. Close to $1,000 had been raised through combined efforts of representatives of the women's organizations of all the churches of the town for this project.

By J. R. STAVELEY,
Employer Relations Officer

The local demand for artificial workers, either male or female during the past week, continued to present a stable labor market.

In view of this condition, attention is drawn to the "Don't Delay — Do It Now" phase of the Winter Employment Campaign, directed at alleviating winter unemployment.

This program is aimed at the provision of additional jobs for those persons who may be temporarily out of work and for others who, for various reasons, are not interested in the employment opportunities elsewhere in Canada.

Therefore, this is the time of year when businessmen, industrialists, farmers and home owners, can support the local winter employment campaign by how new winter work banner will have the slogan — "Keep People Working — Do It Now."

Here are some of the ways you can assist in this campaign: repairing, decorating or renovating your home, plant, office or farm buildings; maintenance work on your garden equipment, electrical appliances, outboard motors and other recreational equipment; repairs to furniture and the dry cleaning of rugs and drapes.

The local Winter Employment Campaign Committee is interested in making all of us aware of the problem of winter unemployment and the necessity of keeping people working by "Do It Now."

Dorion Jury to Make Safety Proposals

DORION, Que. (CP)—An inquest into the deaths of 20 youngsters ended Friday after two experts gave special testimony intended to help a coroner's jury make recommendations about safety measures at level railway crossings.

The jury earlier ruled that the Oct. 7 collision of a school bus and a CNR freight train which claimed the lives of the 20 young people was accidental.

Civil engineer Paul Bolte said it would cost at least $1,000,000 to replace Dorion's two level crossings, including the one where the collision took place.

During the special session, Jules Fortier, general counsel for the Board of Transport Commissioners, said he estimates the board spends 25 per cent of its annual $15,000,000 budget for maintaining and improving level crossings in Quebec while 40 per cent is spent in Ontario.

"The reason for this is that Quebec does not ask for more," he told the five-man jury.

EXPECT REPORT

Safety recommendations from the jury are expected to be handed to Session Judge Marcel Andre Blain, who presided at the inquest, in about 10 days.

Since the accident, the Board of Transport Commissioners has kept in force an order that CNR trains must not exceed 25 m.p.h. while passing through level crossings in Dorion.

Witnesses testified during the inquest that the CNR train which collided with a school bus carrying 45 students to a dance was travelling 55 m.p.h.

Eighteen teen - age students and driver Marcel Fleury, 20, died at the scene. Another student died eight days later.

In its verdict of accidental deaths, the jury added Thursday that there was negligence by unspecified persons and that the level crossing concerned was extremely dangerous.

Mr. Fortier is in the process of preparing a separate inquiry for the board. It is expected to investigate the testimony of several witnesses that persons were seen tampering with the crossing barrier moments before the collision.

Municipal Borrowing Will Be Curbed

TORONTO (CP)—J. A. Kennedy, chairman of the Ontario Municipal Board, says the board will exercise its judgment more stringently than in the past when municipalities submit their borrowing plans for 1967.

This means many major Ontario municipalities will have to cut back capital spending this year in one way or another or the OMB will do it for them.

"Local governments cannot continue to increase the debt burden indefinitely," Mr. Kennedy said in an interview.

"There is a point where the financial responsibility of owning a property goes beyond being onerous and becomes unconscionable. That point is very near in several of our bigger cities.

"Unless there is a marked change for policy, I expect we shall have to ask for reductions in the capital budgets of eight or nine cities this year compared with only two or three last year."

After the debt has been contracted, it is too late to begin worrying about the percentage of tax dollars needed for debt servicing, Mr. Kennedy said.

"The time to worry is before the borrowing takes place and not enough municipal leaders realize this. Debt ratios in this province have been climbing steadily for years and it is time somebody took a stand."

If municipalities cut back their own budgets, "it will save us a distasteful task," he said.

Debt ratio is that percentage of taxable assessment which covers the net debt. If a city has a total taxable assessment of $1,000,000,000 and its total net debt is $200,000,000, the debt ratio is 20 per cent.

"Money now costs more to borrow than it did five years ago," Mr. Kennedy said. "This places increased burdens on the property tax. An extra one per cent in interest can mean millions of dollars of dead money to future taxpayers.

"Municipalities have a duty to examine their borrowing requirements very carefully indeed this year. We shall be watching them very carefully too. The taxpayer has a right to look for extreme prudence on the part of elected representatives in the light of today's economic conditions."

Canadian Stock Markets Run Up Another Whopping Gain This Week

By LARRY DWORKIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canada's stock markets ran up another whopping gain this week, adding fuel to investors' hopes that the markets are about to break out of an 11-month slump.

It was a week which saw investor confidence overcome the shock of President Johnson's tax proposals, even though much of last week's strength was based on the belief that there would be no increase.

Overriding the increase was a pledge by the president of an easing of the money supply as well as consideration by a number of major U.S. banks of lowering of their primary lending rates.

Also contributing to the upswing were price increases in primary metals such as steel, aluminum and molybdenum.

At Toronto, the industrial index, the key indicator of the market's performance, jumped 6.22 to 156.71 on five consecutive daily gains. It was the eighth advance for the index since the beginning of the year.

Brokers said the rest of the market's strength came Wednesday when it went into a tailspin in the morning following President Johnson's announcement, then rebounded for a healthy gain.

Trading showed marked improvement as 18,240,000 shares changed hands compared with 10,964,000 last week.

Canada Cement led the advance, up 7 to 42 after the company announced record profits for the year ended Nov. 30.

Falconbridge moved up 4 to 92, Alcan 3½ to 33¾, Inco and Alberta Gas Trunk 2 each to 55 and 34 and Massey Ferguson and B-A Oil 1¾ each to 26¼ and 36¼.

Bank stocks posted one of their best gains in the last six months as Imperial-Commerce rose 3 to 61½, Royal 2¼ to 72½, Toronto-Dominion 2½ to 61, Nova Scotia 2 to 66½ and Montreal 1¾ to 56.

High-flying western oil issues continued to receive much attention from investors and speculators and the index jumped 10.09 to a fresh 6f 142.37.

Record drilling and activity in the Rainbow and Zama Lake regions of northwestern Alberta plus sales of oil and natural gas leases in the province later this month are responsible for the group's surge.

Dome increased 4¼ to 47, Home A 2 to 20½, Central-Del Rio 1¾ to 14¾ and Canadian Oil Sands 1¼ each to 32¼ and 21½.

Pyramid plunged 1.90 to 3.80 on base metals after the company announced it had received a letter from the department of national revenue which proposes to tax the gain on the sale of assets to Pine Point Mines, Ltd.

In 1966 the company received $26,400 shares of Pine Point for its properties in the Pine Point area of the Northwest Territories.

Dennison, up most of the week, fell sharply Friday to finish down ¼ to 58¼. The drop followed a statement by French Finance Minister Debre that France would not buy Canadian uranium as long as there were strings attached.

However, the base - metal group managed a 2.06 gain on index to 89.38 on the strength of Noranda's 3¼ jump to 54¼. The company is planning a $122,000,000 takeover of Kiser Wire Corp. of the U.S.

Golds moved up 2.27 on index to 153.37 despite an announcement by U.S. officials rejecting any idea of raising the price of the metal.

Campbell Red Lake added ¾ at 22 and Giant Yellowknife 45 cents at 8.85.

On the speculative side, Canadian Keeley advanced 3½ to 10½ cents on 1,262,000 shares and PCE Explorations 9 to 47 cents on 1,207,000.

At Montreal, industrials were up 6.91 to 156.50, utilities 4.69 to 135.70, banks 4.36 to 114.76 and papers 7.45 to 112.38. Volume was 5,215,000 shares compared with 3,286,000 last week.

Rand Is Told Union Denies Membership

TORONTO (CP)—The Rand royal commission on labor disputes was told Friday that the Kitchener local of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers is arbitrarily denying membership to qualified candidates.

William Morrison, a Kitchener electrician, told the commission that work card holders who have passed qualifying exams have been unable to obtain membership and the benefits and privileges conferred by union membership.

He said he worked his trade as a card holder in the union. He originally paid $1 a day for the card privileges and after five months he was told the $102 he paid had taken care of his initiation fee.

The work card was reduced to $10 a month in July, 1966.

Mr. Morrison said a temporary card holder can be bumped from his job by a full union member. He said only three of 75 men passed the latest qualifying exam, but they were denied membership until they passed a provincial examination.

"Do you suggest that the union has more or less monopolized the work," Commissioner Ivan C. Rand asked.

"I don't think this is unionism at all," Mr. Morrison replied.

He said a group of temporary card holders had formed study classes to advance their technical knowledge, but the union had barred members from attending classes with threats that cards would be taken away.

Commission counsel Marshall Pollock asked whether the card holders were seeking to form another union. Mr. Morrison said that might have been the intention of some but not the majority.

He said the study group was known as the Canadian Association of Electrical Technicians.

"It sounds like a high-powered name for a study group," Mr. Pollock said. "Perhaps the union had some jurisdiction for fear that it would lose members to another organization."

Lone Fireman Fights Losing Battle Against Raging Blaze

Half Bata's Spring Stock Lost In Fire

TRENTON — Investigators today were probing the cause of yesterday's fire that gutted a fully-stocked Bata Shoe Co. warehouse here.

The blaze wiped out a $600,000 consignment of the company's latest shoe products, awaiting shipment as new spring fashions.

"The loss is about fifty per cent of our spring lines and had all been sold," said Bata merchandising manager Fred Hofmann.

The loss would necessitate the company plant at Batawa working extra shifts to make it good.

Officials believe the fire may have started in the furnace room of the warehouse. Fire Chief Cecil Ellis promised an immediate investigation.

The building, on North Murray Street in East Trenton, was a former CPR roundhouse on the railroad right-of-way. At the height of the blaze CPR telegraph lines, including news wires to The Intelligencer and Radio Station CJBQ, were burned out.

The blaze was visible for more than 10 miles in the surrounding countryside and drew hundreds of outsiders into town to watch the battle.

About 2,000 people pressed against police cordons and road blocks as Trenton firemen were reinforced by units from Belleville and Batawa in the five-hour losing battle.

The rubble of the frame building was still smouldering this morning.

The fire was first spotted about 4:30 p.m., and the Belleville and Batawa fire units were called in under the Quinte Mutual Aid scheme.

Salvation Army workers set up a canteen behind a fire rent to serve coffee and sandwiches to firefighters during the stubborn battle.

Israel Warns It May Strike

TEL AVIV (AP) — Foreign Minister Abba Eban warned today Israel cannot tolerate any more "aggressive acts" by Syria and that it has "both the will and the strength to halt the activities."

Speaking to foreign correspondents in Jerusalem, Eban repeated an Israeli offer for an informal emergency meeting of the Syrian-Israel mixed armistice commission to discuss outstanding issues, but said "shooting and bombing has first to stop to make such a meeting possible."

UN Secretary-General U Thant appealed to both Syria and Israel to restrain their military forces, warning that a large-scale clash could result from continuing tension along their border.

Thant's appeal, sent to the two governments Sunday, said he had received word of a big military buildup along the border from Lt.-Gen. Odd Bull of Norway, chief of staff of the United Nations truce supervision organization in Palestine.

Eban said the buildup "was originally caused by Syrians establishing tanks and heavy armor in defensive areas on the Syrian side of the border and by activation of their arms against Israel . . . We are compelled also to bring tanks into our defensive area-reluctantly, but inevitably."

Deployment of troops, heavy arms and armored vehicles along the 50-mile-long border area was reported as daily violence continued along the frontier.

An Israeli army spokesman announced today that a water aqueduct leading to Idnit, a village in upper Galilee, was blown up Sunday night.

Israel accused Syria of opening fire Sunday on an Israeli fishing boat in the Sea of Galilee. The Israeli side returned the fire, an army spokesman said, but there was no mention of casualties.

Viet Cong Slay 44 Captives

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. supersonic jets flew past Communist MiGs today to bomb an oil depot 144½ miles from Hanoi. It was the closest major strike to the North Vietnamese capital since the controversy over civilian casualties arose last month.

Ground fighting flared deep in the Mekong Delta as South Vietnamese rangers reported killing 74 Viet Cong today in a clash two miles from where government forces uncovered a massacre at a Communist prison camp.

A Vietnamese military spokesman said the Viet Cong killed 44 Vietnamese prisoners, most of them civilians, in a camp about 108 miles south-west of Saigon before they pulled out of the area in the face of advancing South Vietnamese troops.

SOME ENJOYED

Most of the prisoners, he said, were killed by gunfire and grenades but some showed marks of knifing or bayoneting. The deadlinedded two women and two children, the spokesman said, and added that some of the prisoners were tied up.

Six of the prisoners—five civilians and one soldier—survived and were rescued by Vietnamese troops.

Apostles of Love Hide Children From Police

STE. AGATHE, Que. (CP)—The head of a monastery operated north of here by a religious sect said during the weekend that 55 children from the institution are being kept elsewhere, away from searching members of Quebec's police and welfare organizations.

Father Jean de la Trinite said 15 other children who had also been living at the monastery have been located by the out-side officials.

Insp. Gerard Forget of the provincial police said 20 children were found. It is believed they since have been handed over to welfare officials.

Behind the provincial actions are believed to be allegations about conditions affecting the children in the monastery at St. Jovite.

But the bearded Father Jean, head of a community called Les Apotres de l'Amour infini—the Apostles of Infinite Love—said in an interview that such allegations are incorrect and that conditions for the children suited both their educational and their general living needs.

At Ste. Agathe, police officers spoke of having participated in a search of the monastery Dec. 28, and of a general inspection of the premises—both in line with requests from the department of family and social welfare.

There were reports of some disputes between residents of the monastery, thought to number about 300 in all, and police as the operation proceeded.

Some of the monastery inhabitants were taken into custody but there was no immediate report of whether they were arraigned on any charges.

Father Jean, whose followers call themselves fundamentalist Roman Catholics separated from Rome, vows he will go to jail before handing over the children to provincial authorities as "certain relatives and religious opponents" would have him do.

Insp. Forget said an all-out search for the youngsters, who apparently lived with their parents at the monastery, was under way and would continue until they could be found.

He said they were scattered across Canada and the United States, but Father Jean said they were being kept together in a safe place. There were no indications that the children had come to any harm.

Mao Paper Says Foe Forms Private Army

TOKYO (AP)—One of Mao Tse - tung's mouthpieces, the theoretical journal Red Flag, reported Sunday that President Liu Shao-chi has formed a private army against Mao.

Red Flag described Liu's force as the "army of defenders of red state power" and said it was created to protect a handful of persons practising "bourgeois dictatorship."

It gave no details and did not say whether the army was military, paramilitary or just political in nature. But it said the 2,500,000 - man Chinese army is "infinitely loyal to Chairman Mao, loyal to the people."

The article confirmed what has become increasingly apparent in the last two weeks, that Liu's men "in varying degrees . . . still hold party, political and financial power in the localities and units in which they are entrenched."

It said they have to be rooted out, one by one, and "the positions recovered by the proletariat (Mao's supporters) have yet to be consolidated, one by one."

STRUGGLE ACUTE

Mao's publication also disclosed during the weekend that counter - revolutionary forces exist within the Chinese army and said the struggle against the usual "small handful" in positions of power was "acute and complicated." It said that "every day we are staging a counter-attack."

3 Children Die in Fire

HUNTSVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Three children died Sunday morning in a fire which destroyed their frame home just north of here. Their mother and three other children escaped injury.

Wayne Rowe, 10, Joanne, 9, and Lorrie Ann, 6, died. Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Rowe, were killed in the fire which followed an explosion in a propane heater at Mrs. Rowe tried to light it.

Myrtle Rowe, 14, threw breakfast dishes, 4 out of a second - storey window into the snow and jumped out after him.

Allan Tobin, 14, was next door at the times of the fire.

French Deny Giving U.S. China's Terms

PARIS (AP)—The French foreign ministry denied today having anything to do with a reported military understanding between China and the United States.

The report, in the magazine U.S. News and World Report, said a Chinese diplomat in Paris asked the French foreign office to give the United States a message saying that China would stay out of the war in Vietnam.

The writer of the article, Rene Dabernat, foreign editor of the magazine Paris Match, said: "France transmitted the message. I verified this in Washington."

"The Quay d'Orsay denies any intervention," a foreign ministry spokesman said.

China's conditions for staying out of Vietnam, Dabernat said, are that the United States (1) does not invade China, (2) does not invade North Vietnam, and (3) does not bomb North Vietnam's Red River dikes.

State department officials in Washington declined to comment on the report.

Eatons, Rockefellers Plan Trade Between America and Reds

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rockefeller brothers and Cyrus Eaton Jr., representing two of the richest families in the U.S., plan to build a better trade bridge between the Western Hemisphere and Communist countries in Eastern Europe.

The financial alliance, linking Wall Street and the Midwestern U.S., was disclosed Sunday and confirmed by Richard Aldrich of the Rockefeller interests:

It will involve co - operation between the International Basic Economy Corp., controlled by the Rockefeller brothers, and Tower International Inc., headed by Eaton, a cleveland industrialist.

Eaton's father was born in Pugwash, N.S.

Aldrich, a vice - president and director of IBEC, said his organization's objective "is to improve the standard of living of the peoples of the world," adding:

"An initiative that creates a commercial and industrial dialogue between the East and the West cannot help but contribute to this end."

The trade exchange plan encompassing the United States, Canada and Latin America brings together the enormous investment skills of the Rockefeller and the almost unique relationship the Eatons have with the Soviet Bloc.

Cyrus Eaton Sr., long an advocate of closer ties between the United States and the U.S.S.R., has cultivated some support behind the Iron Curtain by his trips to Russia. He has entertained Soviet leaders, including former premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The IBEC, organized in 1947 by Nelson Rockefeller, now New York's governor, specializes in investments in underdeveloped nations. It has interests in 29 nations, but none in the Communist bloc.

Tower International has specialized in promoting and arranging the financing of projects in Eastern Europe.

Eaton, through Tower International, currently is building a 600-room luxury hotel in Belgrade, Yugoslavia. Last month it completed arrangements for the financing of a $6,000,000 hotel in Budapest.

The younger Eaton said his organization had "firm inquiries" from five Eastern European countries including the Soviet Union, for building 10 rubber-goods plants, including two synthetic-rubber plants.

"These people," said Eaton, "are setting up new automobile plants and know they have got to have tire factories."

Romania, said Eaton, has approached Tower International about a re-fit of its tire plant equipment and technical knowledge for a large glass plant.

FIRST CALL with Bowslie

"It's agreed then. No more wars!"

CANTON, China (AP) — Though 1,500,000 Red Guards throng Canton's streets and are in effective control, there are no civil disorders. The opposition to the guards is covert, spotty and virtually underground.

Police are still on duty, most of them wearing armbands to show they are to the Red Guards anyway. But traffic in the streets of southeast China's biggest city is limited to a handful of trucks, packed buses and trolley-buses.

On my way to Canton I wondered if I would meet any Red Guards. By now I have seen thousands upon thousands and shaken hands with hundreds who wanted to be friendly.

Their fervor is pathetic but self-sustaining. Primed with the thoughts of Mao Tse-tung they solve all problems, they see the golden classless future as theirs to inherit. Their movement is a pilgrimage but the only deity is Mao.

Out in the countryside I saw dozens columns of youths marching to join their comrades.

One group of 50, with bedrolls on their backs and mostly barefoot, had been walking behind their red flag along dusty roads for four days. They said it may be a year before they see their village again.

Apart from their teacher, not one of them was over 18.

I was told the influx into Canton has built up steadily during the last two troubled weeks — ever since Mao and Defence Minister Lin Piao said the cultural revolution must spread to every work bench and rice paddy in the land.

Apparently, all major cities have been under a similar flood of marchers. The disruption of traffic, normal working and food supplies is unimaginable.

Older men who must keep working to feed their families are growing impatient with events, I was told. So are some young workers who are not students and who want to get on with learning a trade.

The Red Guards are everywhere in Canton. I strolled on the pavement outside my hotel, lined in continuous procession along the main street, and seeing everyone during them to daily May 1 thoughts. They tolerate no opposition.

Committee Formed

Area Maple Syrup Producers Start Program to Boost Sales

Syrup producers in the Bay of Quinte area have named a 10-man steering committee with the view of setting up a local chapter of the Ontario Maple Syrup Association.

The action was taken at a meeting in Madoc Friday attended by well over 100 district farmers who heard delegates stress the need to strengthen the industry by seeking grants from the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Administration.

Formed about two years ago, the Ontario Maple Syrup Association now has a strong local in the North Hastings-Peterborough area (the Madawaska Maple Syrup Co-Operative) which has done much to revive the syrup industry in that area.

The association helps the industry compete with other areas such as Vermont where producers have been in business since before the turn of the century.

Named to the steering committee at the Madoc meeting Friday were Kenneth Holland, Crookston; Bert Hubble, R.R. 5, Belleville; Griffin Ketcheson, R.R. 1, Foxboro; Cyril Shaw, Eldorado; H. Ruth, Orland; Donald Kerr, R.R. 2, Picton; Max Humphries, R.R. 2, Hastings, and Jack Woods of Ivanhoe.

Associate members are Douglas Tipper, Hastings county agricultural representative and an appointee from the department of lands and forests at Tweed.

* * *

Speakers at the Madoc meeting included Walter Humphries, maple syrup specialist with the Ontario department of agriculture; William Hiscock, department of lands and forests at Tweed, and Wallace Croft, president of the Ontario Maple Syrup Association.

* * *

William Steele and Father Cullinane who took a leading part in the formation of the Madawaska Valley Co-operative, also attended, as did Clarke T. Rollins, MLA for Hastings East.

The meeting was sponsored by the Ontario Food Council, the Ontario department of lands and forests, and the department of agriculture.

The meeting was told that the syrup industry in Eastern Ontario has been dormant for many years because of the high labor costs involved in the collection of sap by hand.

Modern equipment, including the plastics, spiles and pipeline for sap collection could cut costs in half, it was stated.

The need for quality production and uniform prices for syrup was emphasized. It was felt that the traditional gallon can was too large a container for popular sale. Smaller type bottles are gaining in favor.

The meeting was told that there are at least 500,000 maple trees in Eastern Ontario which could be tapped for syrup production.

The largest producers in South and Central Hastings are Cyril Shaw at Eldorado with about 1,900 trees, the Robinson farm at Eldorado and the Ketcheson brothers of Sidney township, both with 1600 trees of which about half are tapped.

Tap Hole Pellet Stimulates Run

That much publicized "pill" which one hears so much about in the news these days has extended to the maple syrup industry.

Only in this instance the "pill" works in reverse with the purpose of stimulating production.

At a meeting in Madoc held to discuss the formation of a maple syrup co-operative in this area, speakers referred to the recently developed "pill" the flow of maple syrup and to spy pellet which was used to stimulate

However, because of possible association with the much publicized birth control pill the sap pills have been designated as "tap hole" pellets.

The method of use for the sap pellets is to drill the tap hole into the tree and insert the pellet before driving in the sap pile.

Besides the sap pellet, other modern syrup making equipment, including plastic spiles and pipelines for collection of sap, was displayed at the meeting.

Curling Club Opens Centennial Week With Service at St. Thomas' Church

The celebration of the 100th birthday of the Quinte Curling Club in conjunction with the 100th anniversary of the founding of Canada was opened on Sunday with a church service at St. Thomas' Church with Archdeacon A. S. McConnell in charge assisted by Rev. David Sinclair. During the week several functions will take place at the curling club culminating in the invitation bonspiel Friday and Saturday with 24 rinks entered from all parts of the Province. The highlight of this function will be the banquet and social evening arranged for the Shrine Club on Friday night.

The celebration was opened on Friday and Saturday with the Sportsmen's spiel in which a rink of Bob Lansing, Murray Mowat, Doug Bennett with Dr. Jim Loynes as skip won the Steve Flintoft trophy and this rink was the only one that won its three games. Dr. Loynes curled with three members of his rink for two games with Bob Lansing throwing lead stone in the final game. The skip had only been out of hospital for a week and this was all the more remarkable against the stiff opposition that was thrown up against him. He and his rink received the congratulations of the members for his brilliant win in a tough event.

There were three two-game winners that followed and they were in first place Bob Byrne, Jim Thicke, Bill Downing and Ron Beers as skip; Bill Kelsey, Dr. Bill Beattie, Jim Petticrew with Phil Dyble as skip; and Dave Dreyer, Jack Tait, Bill Gault and "Pat" Houston as skip. In the two-game winners class a rink of Jack Otaveson, Everett Adamson, Abe Tobe with Al McCallum as skip was in first place, a rink of Al Cameron, Fred Rawson, Bill Henderson and Harold Wilkinson as skip in the second spot. A rink of Bruce Parliament, Bob Patcharson, Ken Monson with Gordon Edwards as skip won the one-game high and a rink of Earl Cousins, Dr. Frank McCoe, Bud Drury with Bob Alexander won the prize for the high no-game winners.

The boys enjoyed a delicious turkey, roast beef, ham and baked beans dinner on Saturday and it was a pleasure to see so many of the older curlers, now retired, in attendance and it included Fred Mason, Frank Creeggan, Harry Fuke and many others. It was a splendid spiel and the boys deserve a great deal of thanks for a couple of days of entertainment.

SERVICE WELL ATTENDED

A large number of the members of the Quinte Curling Club attended the church service at St. Thomas' church and Archdeacon A. S. McConnell, padre of the club, welcomed them in the name of the church board and spoke on "Freedom" which he stated must be controlled and he used examples of curling to demonstrate his points. Fred Mound, president of the club and Bob Freestone, church warden, who is leaving for a new position in Toronto, read the lesson. Mr. Freestone was presented with a plaque for his faithfulness to duty during his years as church warden and he made a suitable replay. It was a splendid gathering for the celebration in the coming week and the members were congratulated in opening the week on a Christian note.

On Sunday afternoon, the president and his board of directors were on hand at the club to welcome the visitors at the "Open House" that was held. This morning a women's bonspiel got under way under the direction of Mrs. Agnes Benn, president of the Women's Section and with Mrs. Gwen Sutton and her committee in charge of the arrangements. The general chairman of the Centennial committee, Claude D. Tice, officially welcomed the visitors.

Area College...Peterborough Warehouse ...A High School Here...or Both

Industry Helps in Pitch

Outboard Marine, one of the largest industries in Peterborough, has offered this warehouse as a temporary site for the proposed area college. City council has endorsed the offer.

Peterborough strengthened its bid last week to have the proposed area college of applied arts and technology, or part of it, established in that city.

A special committee of Peterborough city council unanimously recommended acceptance of industry's offer to provide a building for the temporary accommodation of college students.

A Peterborough Examiner article said a committee would present their proposal to the provincial board of regents this Wednesday. Outboard Marine Corporation made the Peterborough proposal possible by offering a former warehouse for sale to the city. Mayor-elect Joseph Behan said that the province would pay rent for the building as well as the cost of converting it to classroom use.

At the same time, Mayor Behan conceded that Belleville had presented a "strong case" in its proposal to the college board of governors. Belleville "delegates" told the board that temporary accommodation for 500 students could be available in the new Centennial Secondary School by the planned fall opening of the community college.

Permanent college facilities are to be constructed later.

Both Belleville and Peterborough are awaiting a decision by the provincial council of regents this Wednesday concerning a "split-campus" proposal submitted last week.

Mayor Jack Ellis said today a split campus would mean the Quinte area will almost certainly accommodate part of the community college.

Even if officials decide upon a single campus, Mayor Ellis felt that the excellent 125-acre Sidney Township site offered last week by the township school board would keep the Quinte area in the running.

He said the "big push" by Belleville and Peterborough regarding respective temporary college facilities would come after the announcement by the board on whether there will be one or two campuses.

The Outboard Marine building, used for some time in the assembly of snowmobiles, is located about two miles from high school shop facilities offered for college use by the Peterborough board of education.

With the establishment of Trent University three years ago, Peterborough made its debut in the field of higher education. The first of 12 proposed colleges on the permanent site is just now nearing completion, and residences and classrooms to this point have been "improvised" using a number of city buildings either purchased or expropriated.

University enrolment this year is around the 500 mark, but the student population is expected to eventually surpass 3000.

School Board Offers Modern Facilities

Belleville's Centennial High School could be the temporary site for the area college if the offer to use facilities adequate for 500 students is accepted. Decisions on the college site — or sites — are expected this week.

One-time S-W President L. A. Young Dies Here

A ranking city industrialist, for four decades, Leo Arthur Young died in Belleville General Hospital Saturday.

The former president of Stewart-Warner Corporation of Canada Ltd. was 67 and had been in failing health for some time.

Mr. Young, familiarly known as "Art" to many Bellevillians, made his business mark in the city where he was born.

Son of William Young and Harriett Gilbert, he went on to the University of Michigan after his early education in city schools. He continued further studies while playing professional hockey for a period in Hamilton.

He first joined the Alemite Products Company — later to become Stewart-Warner — in 1921. Promotion followed rapidly.

The next year he became superintendent of the plant and in 1925 he was named factory manager and assistant general manager. In 1928 he became vice-president and general manager and two years later was appointed president — a post he held until his retirement in September 1956.

His service with the company spanned the years of its growth from a small enterprise to one of the city's more important industrial manufacturing complexes.

Throughout his career, Mr. Young took an active role in numerous community projects and organizations.

A director of the YMCA, he was a Rotarian, a member of the King Baldwin Preceptory, Ramesis Shrine Temple and the Belleville Club.

On a broader level he was a one-time president of the Radio Manufacturers' Association of Canada, past chairman of the Quinte-St. Lawrence Branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and a director of the CMA.

An ardent sportsman, he contributed to his home community's sport endeavors as a sponsor of hockey and baseball.

He was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church.

Mr. Young leaves his wife, the former Viola Rose Frost and a son, Ernest Arthur Young.

The body is resting at the Thompson Funeral Chapel. Service will be held at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Dairy Farmers May Unite In Federation

TORONTO (CP)—A proposal to merge Canada's two largest farm organizations is expected to cause controversy at the annual meeting of the Dairy Farmers of Canada in Winnipeg this week.

The 10 delegates from Quebec will propose that the dairy organization merge with the Federation of Agriculture.

Strong opposition is expected from western delegates.

George McLaughlin of Beauharnois, Ont. the dairy farmers' president, said Sunday that delegates from the West probably will argue that an industry as large as dairying needs specialized attention which it might not get if the two groups were merged.

The merger proposal results from attempts to cut expenses in both organizations.

Officals Checking Fire Cause

FRANKFORD — Fire investigators today were probing cause of a blaze that took the life of Richard Monaghan, 41, at his Wooler home, four miles west of here Friday night.

Del Hoge, Ontario Fire Marshal's office inspector at Belleville, ruled out any suspicious circumstances surrounding origin of the fire.

Mr. Monaghan was alone at the time of the blaze.

His body was found on a chesterfield in the living room after Frankford firefighters temporarily controlled the blaze.

Shortly after the discovery, flames erupted out anew and destroyed the two - storey frame home.

Loss was estimated at $10,000.

The fire was discovered about 11:30 p.m. by passing motorist Allan Riley, R. R. 1, Trenton.

The dead man's wife was visiting a friend in the area at the time.

A post-mortem later was held at Belleville General Hospital.

Coroner Dr. O. W. Elliott, of Brighton, gave the cause of death as acute asphyxiation.

A U.S. Problem

The United States, with its big population of varied origin, its accent on materialism and the competitive spirit in all things, suffers perforce from both the best and the worst that such elements inevitably bring in their train.

The best, for example, in the sphere of education and devotion to the creative arts and sciences, has enriched the entire world. It has broadened the spectrum of knowledge and established levels of excellence in many spheres for the rest of the world to follow.

The worst, unfortunately, finds its counterpart in few other areas of the western world. Consider for one thing the current breakdown in law and order in the United States — the fact that in big cities in particular citizens are never really safe from the hoodlum and other shadowy characters in whom dark forces are at work.

Last year a score or more people were gunned down by a student firing a rifle from the tower of the University of Texas campus in Austin — an event succeeding by only a few weeks another horrible day (in Chicago) when eight young nurses were brutally murdered by a man who entered their residence.

These are but two incidents in a country where every day countless other people die violently.

A year or so ago the situation in Philadelphia, to name one city, had become so bad that police dogs and handlers were ordered into the city's subway trains where many assaults had been taking place.

In New York city, streets are never entirely safe. Danger in one form or another is always present. Nor does the fact of it being a Sunday make any difference. Last Sunday a group of teenagers attempted to snatch a purse carried by Mrs. Flora Negri, 55, of Brooklyn, as she and her husband were about to board a bus. Racing from the scene the would-be robbers shot and fatally wounded Mr. Negri.

The same day in New York, four men turned a Brooklyn coffee shop owner into a human torch after robbing him of $100. Joseph Prochilo, 33, rolled on the ground to put out the flames and then stumbled several blocks to hospital. Although listed in critical condition he is expected to live.

Law enforcement authorities in the United States are facing an increasingly formidable task. Incidents such as the ones mentioned above are commonplace, while every now and again there are mass killings which compound the sense of helplessness which many law-abiding American citizens feel. Of the many problems the U. S. faces on the domestic scene today this is one of the most urgent.

Centennial Play

In the theatrical world a flop is a flop. And that by all accounts is the fate that has befallen The Centennial Play (as it was termed for want of a more original title).

A sort of glorified Spring Thaw, without the wit and humor that the latter contrives to communicate, the play bids well to become the first casualty of this year of celebration in Canada.

The critics had a field day following its initial presentation in Ottawa. Indeed, if it survives to be presented by amateur groups throughout the country, it will be a triumph of pioneer spirit. Produced at Government expense, the writing of the play had been assigned to five authors on a regional basis. Thus, the Maritimes had Halifax surgeon Arthur Murphy at the literary helm, and British Columbia had humorist Eric Nicol.

Out of this pot pourri only Quebec (Yves Theriault) came out with honors. Quebec wisely illustrated a contemporary, rather than a historic, theme. The sketch had a pretty girl (and good heavens, she was wearing a mini-skirt!) and it generally showed up the Anglo-Saxon scribes for the gloomy lot they tend to be.

Argument and dissension between cast, writers and the director, Ed Boretski, were reported even before the show had its premiere. Each writer had been commissioned to present his own idea of his region, and Mr. Boretski was left "to interpret." It is also said he tried to "write out some of the lumpiness."

How prophetic were these words is now borne out by the spectacle of author-in-chief Robertson Davies publicly washing in public criticism of Mr. Boretski. Mr. Davies got a panning along with most of the other writers, but he is blaming the director for the whole catastrophe, complaining that he had done "everything from tampering to completely rewriting" the sketches. "The director treated us like incompetents," says Davies.

It is a sad requiem for a birthday production that deserved a better fate.

Hysterectomy Surgery May Involve Ovaries

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: When a hysterectomy is performed, is it advisable to remove the ovaries too? Otherwise one has to go back for another operation.

Please explain what good the ovaries are without a uterus, and what harm can they do, too. — Mrs. J. L.

Whether to remove ovaries during such an operation requires judgment and common sense.

Remember that the ovaries have one function. They produce ova, or eggs. With the uterus gone, the ova no longer have any significance.

But the ovaries also secrete hormones, and they keep on doing this regardless of whether the uterus remains. With menopause, the ovaries' production of these hormones dwindles, and this change in hormone level is what causes the symptoms of menopause — hot flashes and so on.

Therefore when a hysterectomy is performed, the surgeon has several questions to ask and answer. If the woman is still below the expected age of menopause, the ovaries often (when sex left, so as to allow the menopause to come gradually at its normal time instead of happening right away — removal of the ovaries produces what we call "surgical menopause."

If the woman is just about at menopause age anyway, the ovaries are important. If they are healthy, that is an argument for leaving them in. If there is indication that they are diseased, then it may be wiser to remove them regardless of the patient's age.

When they are healthy and left in, there may never be any reason to bother with them further. Your comment that "otherwise one has to go back for another operation" is not necessarily true. It will be true only if the ovaries become diseased in some way.

Dear Dr. Molner: Ever since I was a child I have had a complex because of my long, crooked nose. I have often thought of cosmetic surgery but we are of moderate means. Could you enlighten me on this type of surgery, cost, etc? Would you advise it at age 34? — Mrs. J. B.

There is no reason why you should not have it done at your age, and otherwise you may always wonder and regret not having it done.

It will cost some money, because this is specialized surgery. The precise amount would depend on what has to be done. Best way is more exactly where you stand is to have your regular physician refer you to a qualified plastic surgeon. He can estimate the cost, make sketches to show what can be accomplished, and tell how long it will take.

Since health insurance generally does not cover this, it will involve some cash outlay. However, I have heard many times of people working things out nicely just by being frank with the surgeon as to their financial means. When you know what the cost will be, it is often possible to get a moderate loan from a bank and spread the repayment over a year or so.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a cat with a scaby sore on its nose, and the veterinarian said it was cancer. One party argues that if I have a scratch or break in the skin, I can get cancer from the cat. Is this possible? — J.I.

No Cancer is not contagious.

A Parisian Looks at Canada

Letter in Windsor Star

What I am writing may seem strange to you.

I am a Frenchman, born in Paris.

For your centennial year, I hear a lot of noise about French-Canadians trying to be more Catholic than the Pope. I stay there many years in different French - speaking countries. People there call themselves Belgians, Swiss, Manequeuex, etc. . . . but never are beside.

The French language and French spirit you hear on TV and radio is almost strictly Parisian.

And if you have not lived in Paris for a long time you'll never catch it! Many Frenchmen born in France don't even have that spirit. On the other hand men like Jacques Brel (Belgian singer), Charles Aznavour (Armenian singer), Michel Siomon (Swiss actor), Jacques Offenbach (German composer), Sidney Bechet (American Negro jazz clarinetist) and even King Edward VII of England, are all my Parisian brothers.

When I speak to a French-Canadian or to an English-Canadian, they all sound the same to me, Canadians.

It is more a question of spirit than language. The funny thing is that some English-Canadians are closer to me in thinking than some French-Canadians.

More Mouths To Feed

Letter in a New Zealand magazine

How do other people feel when they see photos of starving children from overseas? If I'm honest, they make me feel quite sick.

No, I'm not a hard - hearted person and usually fill up a bag with clothing for those who need it. But do these people help themselves?

There seem to be plenty of babies, and more born every day — more to feed and more to die of starvation. There seem to be continuous collections for relief, but do they get anywhere?

New babies born all the time, making more and more to feed and clothe, and add to the already large number of needy persons.

Commission Has Thankless Task

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

I read with interest the recent article concerning the Industrial Commission, and I agree with some of the items (especially the statement making an all-out-effort to have Belleville declared a depressed area). I especially feel we should try to get full support from our local M.P.'s. This is one of the reasons why we have elected them to office.

I do however, sympathize with the Industrial Commission and feel many articles lately have been to their detriment. There are some very good men on our Industrial Commission and the Commissioner himself is a non-sectarian, hard-working man. Rather than criticize them all the time for some of our own weaknesses I think we should thank them for all the efforts they are making and the thankless job they are doing.

It might also be a good gesture on the part of The Intelligencer to interview members of the Industrial Commission and get some information for the general public of what takes place in a working day, as does the Industries lately.

Of course I realize they cannot divulge certain information, such as names of industries they have approached, but it as article similar to the one in the Daily Commercial News of October 25 were printed I think it might help "sell" the Industrial Commission to Belleville.

However, if we continue to argue among ourselves and print all this in the paper all we are doing is causing harm to our city, and certainly not helping the Industrial Commission do the job they are trying to do. After all, it takes all of us to make this city worth while, not just a few voluntary workers we have now. It seems so easy to tell a person "how to do a job" when the job is not our own.

I just hope all citizens in Belleville will bear a few of these thoughts in mind and try to help these men do their job, rather than hinder them.

I'd like also to mention the fact that the City of Belleville has been fortunate enough to be declared a designated area, hence the influx of new industries.

An Interested Citizen.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

January 16, 1947

Approximately 30 members of the Kiwanis Club and their wives journeyed to Cobourg the other night where they were guests of the Kiwanis Club of that town on the occasion of its fourth anniversary.

Housewives and others who daily purchase the family meat requirements are apparently finding it a little easier to appease in their stride. A survey of city butchers today revealed that there has been a considerable complaints or comments from customers on the new price scale. Most butchers stated there has been a noticeable dropping off in sales since the new price regime came into effect. There is no shortage of meat in the city and packers are sending out sufficient stocks to butchers who rely on them for supplies.

Strictly Personal

Environment and Education

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

We're all aware of the double standard about sex, but few are aware of the even more pervasive double standard about children. I thought of this the other day, while listening to a man talking about the "shirtless" young people in the slums.

This man, I happened to know has a well-to-do family in a severly bright. Yet he has a responsible and well - paying job with a firm owned by a friend of his father's.

The lad was about to flunk out of school, and was given special tutoring over the summer. He finally got his diploma from a third - rate prep school and managed to get into a fourth-rate college, where he barely squeezed through.

He has had all the advantages a young person could have — in parents, home environment, counselling, financial support, special schools and camps and tutors. Yet, with all this help, his job is there largely a matter of nepotism. Left to himself, he would sink.

Now this is unfortunate, but no disgrace. He is simply not a very energetic or mentally gifted person. But his deficiencies are skillfully camouflaged by his protective environment.

While this is an extreme example, it is by no means an unusual case of what happens among the more affluent, when their sons find it difficult to cope with the competitive world. Everything possible is done to lift them up to the level of the family's expectations.

But we have a double standard about other people's children — especially if they come from the disadvantaged classes. If they lack parental supervision, have a poor home environment, go to comparable inferior schools, and not much motivation for success — we still expect them to "pull" on their own, or we condemn them for "shiftlessness."

If the children of the privileged were thrown into the same cultural cesspool, there is no earthly reason to believe they would do any better; in fact, even with their advants ges, they would find it hard to make good marks and meet the world head-on. It is a tough race to run even with all the help available.

What is remarkable about the slum kid is not that so many fail, but that so many rise. That even a minority is able to surmount the nearly - killing environment is a tribute to human tenacity and courage and talent. The pity is when we make it have to be twice as good as anyone else; and how many of our children could we say that of?

Jan. 16, 1907 . . .

The Japanese army invaded Burma 25 years ago today—in 1942 — only four weeks after capturing the north of Malaya. Simultaneously they were launching landing on American and Dutch islands in Southeast Asia. The Burma campaign lasted barely three months before the British and Indian armies were driven back into India and the "back road" to China captured. The first check in the Japanese came in the naval battle of the Coral Sea and Midway, in May and June, 1942, when U.S. Navy forces intercepted Nipponese fleets.

1886 — The Montreal Star first appeared.

1906 — The British army vacated Halifax and Esquimalt, B.C., its last forts in Canada.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1917—British guns pounded German lines near Arras; Lloyd George of British and French generals in London planned a new drive on the Western front.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1942—the Japanese crossed the Thailand border into Burma; U.S. ships sank five Japanese transports in Asian waters; Free French troops joined the British in attacking Halfaya Pass, Libya.

U.S. Neglects Pacific Isles

Chicago Tribune

One of the many troubles we have by condemning South Africa for its handling of the mandate over South West Africa is that somebody may decide to examine our own record as trustee for the former Japanese islands in the Pacific.

A study by the magazine U. S. News and World Report suggests that it is none too good.

Under a United Nations trusteeship the Department of the Interior governs about 900,000 people in 96 islands and atolls in the Mariana, Marshall, Caroline, and Palau islands.

In some ways this territory is very similar to South West Africa. Both are inhabited mainly by primitive natives. Both once were German colonies. Both were turned over to allied mandates after the First World War as League of Nations mandates, the islands to Japan and South Africa to the British Empire.

In 1947, as a noble example to the rest of the world, we renounced any claim to the Pacific islands and undertook to prepare them for independence under a trusteeship from the U. N.

Today they are no more ready for independence than they were then, and hardly any better off.

They have qualified neither for self-rule nor for the various domestic handout programmes.

U.S. Probes Shoplifting Problem

Saint John Telegraph-Journal

A new study of shoplifting in the US has come up with some provocative findings.

The average theft of the amateur shoplifter is petty, the study shows, usually between $5 and $6 in value (though this averages has trebled in the past five years). The amateurs are so numerous, however, that they cost many stores as much as the fewer but more selective professionals.

As for employee thievery, one bonding company has disclosed that thefts of goods and cash by dishonest staff cost its client firms five times as much as losses from burglaries and holdups.

During a six-month period in 1965, there were 462 bank holdups in the United States, netting about $2 million. In the same period, defalcations by bank employees totalled more than three times as much—$6.3 million.

Outright need or actual poverty accounts for only a very small proportion of amateur shoplifting or employee thefts. Needy circumstances are found in only one out of 20 embezzlement cases, and kleptomaniacs represent less than one per cent of shoplifting cases.

What is causing this rise in amateur larceny? It seems to be a combination of more opportunities, the reluctance of merchants and employers to prosecute, easy penalties, a spreading popular attitude that "it's OK if you get away with it" and a flexibility in resist the chance to get something for nothing.

But the shoplifter doesn't really get what he steals for nothing. The cost of his stealing is merely tacked onto the price of everything else he buys, when he does buy.

The business protection service estimates that this can amount to as much as five per cent of the retail price of an item. Unfortunately, it is the overwhelming number of honest customers who must pay most of the bill for thievery. It is in their interest, then, when they see thieves at work, to report to the store management what is happening.

Nova Scotia Has Record Sea Harvest in 1966

HALIFAX (CP)—Some 4,000 packers, filleters, and other processing workers were busily engaged in 130 Nova Scotia fish plants in 1966 on a record sea harvest.

Expansion of existing plants, new facilities, more workers and additions to the modern trawler and dragger fleet promise continued momentum in an industry which has broken records for six consecutive years.

Fisheries Minister E. D. Haliburton predicted that 1966 landings would exceed the 600,000,- 000-pound catch of 1965. Because of a decline in the price for lobster and scallops, netlanded value probably would not top the 1965 figure of $49,800,- 000.

Some $30,000,000 has been invested in new construction and modernization of equipment and facilities during the five-year record-breaking span. More is on tap in 1967 as the province's pivotal industry answers the worldwide demand for salted, smoked, pickled, fresh and frozen fish fishmeal, oil and by-products.

Acadia Fisheries Ltd. new $4,500,000 plant is expected to begin operations at Canso in July. The plant, which replaces one destroyed by fire early in 1966, will employ 275 and will have an annual processing capacity of 30,000,000 pounds of fish.

Atlantic Fish Processors Ltd., a new subsidiary of Atlantic Sugar Refineries Ltd., has announced purchase of a site at Arichat, across Chedabucto Bay from the Acadia fisheries new plant construction. Although construction plans and timetables have not been released, the proposed Arichat plant is to be designed for a 40,000,000 pound annual capacity.

Riverport Seafoods, Ltd., invested $1,400,000 in plant expansion at Kraut Point, Lunenburg County. The firm is aiming at 45,000,000 pounds annual processing with work for 230 persons.

Sealiff Fisheries Ltd., a new company, hopes to begin operations of its $2,000,000 herring reduction plant at Middle East Pubnico in the spring. The plant will have an initial capacity of 1,000 tons of herring a day.

At Lower East Pubnico, British Columbia Packers, Ltd., expanded the capacity of its $1,000,000 herring reduction plant to 200 from 200 tons a day.

Superior Foods, Ltd., another new company, hopes to have another herring reduction plant to be located on an island in Yarmouth Harbor in operation in the summer.

At least eight other firms in the province have in the last year, or will this year, spend between $100,000 and $800,000 each in plant expansion and build-up, or modern equipment additions.

Klingfin in the Nova Scotia fish processing industry is National Sea Products Ltd.

The completion two years ago of subsidiary Lunenburg Sea Products, Ltd., $6,000,000 plant on a 125-acre site near Lunenburg, brought Nova Scotia what is regarded as the largest and most modern fish plant in the world.

It employs 530 persons and is served by a fleet of 11 company-owned vessels.

National Sea also operates plants in Halifax, Lockeport, Digby, North Sydney and Louisburg, fed by a fleet of 30 company-owned vessels as well as private fishing craft.

Altogether National Sea's Nova Scotia operations employ more than 1,200 and are capable of processing 110,000,000 pounds of fish annually.

Set Out for Booty

LONDON (AP) — A 20-foot sloop launched early this year left here Saturday on the first leg of a search for a sunken treasure in the Caribbean. The search was sparked by discovery of an emerald. It sank in a storm in 1641 on a voyage to Spain.

U.S. Reports GNP Up 8½ Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States economy produced a record $739,500,000,000 in goods and services last year, the commerce department reported Sunday night. This is well above estimates made by the Johnson administration a year ago.

The gross national product—the value of all goods and services produced in the economy —increased by a record $49,- 300,000,000 in 1966, up 8½ per cent from the previous year, the department added.

About 36 per cent of the increase was the result of inflation.

The department's figures are preliminary and subject to change next month but they go far beyond the $722,000,000,000 —give or take $5,000,000,000— projected in President Johnson's economic report last January.

The economic report, scheduled to be submitted to Congress next week is expected to predict a GNP of about $755,- 000,000,000 to $790,000,000,000 for 1967.

Border Trade Areas Suggested As Partially Exempt Trade Zones

WASHINGTON (CP)—American base-metal interests have revived their campaign among congressmen for import quotas on Canadian and other lead and zinc.

This is one early indication as private bills and resolutions pile up in the Senate and House of Representatives. But, like privately-sponsored bills in the Canadian Parliament, few of them get anywhere. They do reflect some of the prevailing climate.

British Mortgage Assets Yield Unexpected Rate

TORONTO (CP) — Shareholders of Victoria and Grey Trust Co. have been told that many assets of British Mortgage and Trust Co., previously considered doubtful, may yield "a reasonable rate of recovery."

President Walter Harris told Victoria and Grey's annual meeting this week that with the exception of "the Atlantic and allied securities" British Mortgage assets were well secured.

British Mortgage was hard hit by the financial collapse of Atlantic Acceptance Corp. in June, 1965 and later was merged with Victoria and Grey.

Mr. Harris said a major portion of the British Mortgage investment in Commodore Business Machines has been recovered.

He said Victoria and Grey held slightly more than $3,000,- 000 in debentures and shares of Commodore and some promissory notes from individuals which were secured by other Commodore shares and debentures.

"Physical assets of the company were sold and we were able to realize over $1,700,000 in payment of part of the debenture and in payment of the promissory notes.'

He said trustees and liquidators of Atlantic have sold most of the assets of Great Northern Capital, parent company of Atlantic Acceptance, but there are various lawsuits going on as to priorities of Atlantic notes. Until these were disposed of "we cannot expect any return on the investment."

Audience Stunned by Men's Clothes

FLORENCE, Italy (Reuters)—Men in long skirts, men in bright, flower - patterned jump suits, men in jewel-broidered evening sweaters.

American - born Milan designer Ken Scott stunned the audience at the Florence spring-summer boutique collections Sunday with a bombshell collection of men's wear —apparently seeing no reason why boys should look much different from girls.").

So alike were they that Scott paraded his models in pairs—a girl walking arm-in arm with a man in identical rainbow-striped trouser suits, for instance.

A man wearing an abstract-patterned sea green and pink Indian-style tunic and tight pants strolled in with a girl in a minidress of exactly the same material.

The men wore exactly the same dazzling flower prints in nylon jersey as did the girls.

Usually shock-proof journalists and buyers gasped when one burly male walked in wearing a floor-length Arabian robe—the last word for women's evening wear—and hugging a girl in a pyjama suit.

Possibly the most sober outfit on show was a dazzling plain red suit which opened to show a red and yellow floral vest. It was worn with red and yellow floral shoes.

City Children Given Day Each Week in County

TORONTO (CP) — Remember the little red schoolhouse—the one they closed to give children the benefits of education in a bigger, better-equipped consolidated school?

The suburban Etobicoke school board has found a new use for one—to give city schoolchildren the benefits of a schoolday in the country where they can see what country kids take for granted—nature in the rough.

Four days a week, groups of Etobicoke schoolchildren take a bus to an old three-room school near Clairville, at the extreme northwest corner of Metropolitan Toronto.

Teachers Bill Low, 23, and Bill Collacutt, 27, lead the class from the school to a nearby 1,350-acre tract of bush, stream and meadow just north of Etobicoke owned by the Metropolitan Toronto Conservaton Authority.

If it is raining, snowing or blowing Mr. Low and Mr. Collacutt have warm overboots and special outfits for the pupils to wear.

"The idea is to let them learn for themselves," said Mr. Low. One problem given to the students is to compare plant and animal life in bush, open field and full forest.

The classes are split into two groups, each with a leader and a clipboard to record animal tracks, sketch trees and record bird sightings. After their field trip the students gather back at the school to discuss what they have seen.

How do the students like it? "Like it was Saturday all day," said one boy.

Successful Living

Other Sociabilities As Well As Newspaper Needed for Lonely One

DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: Thank you for all your wonderful advice. Your column is like the good friend who drops in to say hello to a lonely neighbor. — Chapped Hands.

Dear C.H.: And your thank-you gives me a lift. The lead-let you asked for is on its way.

In some situations it is hard not to be lonely; and the newspaper can be a welcome daily visitor to one who lives alone and tries to like it.

But can't you do better, for a little sociability, than read me? Or can't you at least add one planned diversion week-ly?

I'm thinking of such things as offering tea and cake to a neighbor invited to drop in; or a bridge game or movie coming up. This could be the carrot - to - dangle - before-the-rabbit's-nose which would keep you going.

Dear Doris: I have a psychiatric problem. I am lazy, spoiled, and always feel sorry for myself. I feel my parents never loved me for they never corrected me when I did something wrong.

I can never finish anything when it gets too tough and I have no will power at all. My favorite hobby is daydreaming. For three in the family we are just about strangers. And I want to be spanked; it is such a stupid thing for a 17-year-old to want!

My Mom-never lets me sew, but adores the material from me. My Dad never lets me cook. Yet I get everything I want. I've only been spanked four times in my life. Now my parents won't let me grow up. My Mom does everything for me, even chooses my clothes. —Help.

Dear Help: Sizing up the situation is the first step toward better things, and you've done that. You have described what is familiarly called another love. Very shortly you will be expected to be-have like a mature young woman without any practice.

Get to the nearest counselor for teen-age girls. This might be a branch of the YWCA, a family counselling service or a child care agency. Or a trusted adult friend like your school teacher.

There are some situations which need a good deal more than a letter from me.

Dear Doris: I have a neighbor who has not seen nor heard from his wife for 35 years. We have a lot in common and we love each other. I've heard that if a person hasn't heard from his wife after seven years he is entitled to remarry. I do not know how true this is and would like to find out; as we are both anxious to be together, I do not believe in common-law marriages because I've never been brought up to be a tramp.

I eat my meals with him, watch TV with him and go out with him. He is quite a bit older than I am but I don't care how old he is; it's just that he is very good to me and I love him. Is it true that he is a free man? — Bonnie

Dear Bonnie: Not without a good deal of effort to find the wife first. Then legal action leading to the judge's verdict that she may be pronounced legally dead for purposes of remarriage.

Don't get any more involved with him until this is accomplished — or people will begin thinking you are indeed a tramp!

Anonymous letters are bad manners and may be ignored. When writing in, give Doris your right name and address. It will be kept confidential.

Forgets to Put Clams in Chowder

By MARY MOORE

The master plan was that since it was our turn to have a post - holiday dinner party and since we were all surfeited with turkey and goose dinners and since Herbie loves clam chowder — I planned a Maritimes supper. My silver soup tureen was to be used to add some elegance to the meal.

But believe it or not Mary Moore goofed.

We all were sipping our chowder and I was thinking, Golly this is insipid". Herbie quietly left the table and came back into the dining room carrying three tins of clams. "Grandma, did you forget to put the clams in the chowder?" I was floored. They all roared "Clam-less Chowder!" I'll never live it down.

CLAM CHOWDER
(Don't you forget the clams)
Serves 10

- 7-ounces side bacon chopped
- 2 medi-onions chopped
- 1 cup finely chopped celery (optional)
- 3 or 4 med. large potatoes chopped
- 4 cups boiling water
- 2 tsps. salt
- 4 cups whole milk
- Three 10-oz. cans clams (baby; chopped; large)

In a very large saucepan saute together, stirring, the chopped bacon and onion (and celery if used) until both are pale gold. Add potatoes, boiling water and salt and simmer until potatoes are tender. Add milk and clams (including liquid) and bring just to boiling.

Serve in prehested soup tureen.

NOTE: If you prefer Manhattan - type clam chowder, one cup canned tomato juice or vegetable juice cocktail may be added with the boiling water.

We served this with Maritimes Oatmeal Bread, recipe for which I will give you tomorrow. Hurry it.

For dessert we had Rich Moist Chocolate Layer Cake. Watch for it Thursday, January 19.

Absurd Routine Is Cure For Abnormal Jealousy

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'd like to help the woman with the jealous husband. Mine was like that, too, and for absolutely no reason. Finally I asked him to tell me why he was so suspicious. He replied, "Because I'm insecure. You don't pay enough attention to me."

That evening he asked me to listen for the telephone while he took a bath. I told him to back with the telephone. I wanted to keep him company. I perched myself on the rim of the tub and described My Day. (I ignored his sighs of boredom.) After his bath he went to the den to read the newspaper and I curled up in his lap and stayed there until he asked me to please get off because I was getting heavy. Then I insisted that he come to the kitchen and keep me company while I did the dishes.

The next day I telephoned him at work three times to say I was lonesome for him and to please come straight home. He said he'd be home at 6:15. When he arrived at 6:25 I asked him why he was late. I said I was worried.

For one solid week I carried on this absurd routine until finally he asked me to leave him alone. I told him I was only trying to make him feel secure. He said, "I'll am so secure now I am suffocating. Please get off my back."

Things are normal once more and I no longer see a single trace of jealousy. — VICTORIOUS.

* * *

DEAR VIC: Thanks for letting us in on the Great Experiment. The wife with adhesive qualities does not make her husband feel secure, she merely underscores her own insecurity. Moreover, she displays a sorry lack of confidence which can cause bitter resentment. Too many people never learn that the surest way to put out a fire is to smother it.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I recently read the letter from the mother who lambasted teachers who "coddle" school time trying to build character instead of concentrating on the three R's.

I wish the mother who wrote that letter could stand behind me for 34 hours. For the past 30 years I have been working with delinquents and criminals. While many lawbreakers are poorly educated, some have had excellent schooling. They got into trouble not because they are uneducated but because they have had no character training.

I would like to tell the complaining mother that she should be thankful for teachers who talk about honesty and integrity because some students never learn about these things at home. The child who grows up with no character training and no example to follow is a menace to society. One of the best definitions I have ever heard is this one: "Character is what you are when you think nobody is looking." You have my permission to print my letter and my name. I am Sheriff of New Haven County. — J. EDWARD SLAVIN.

* * *

DEAR SHERIFF: Many thanks for the superb letter. I hope thousands of teachers from coast to coast will see it — and I'm sure they will. A recent survey made by the National Education Association revealed that this column is read by more teachers than any other column in the nation's newspapers.

* * *

Susanna's Family Fare

Gives Cruise Advice

If cruising in the Caribbean is your yen, you may be considering either end of the scale—luxury liner first class all the way, or via a freighter — the main difference is money. Since all you want for the first is plenty of it, let's talk about the second.

Freighters are not easily come by, but they are possible to locate and your travel agent can be of help to you in this respect.

Good accommodation at $225 for 12 glorious days is about par for the course.

Lightweight air luggage is most practical and convenient.

WHAT TO WEAR

A seasonal suit and topcoat for embarkation and debarkation.

You won't need evening clothes, but one dressy dress is desirable, along with your simple cottons, and shirt and sweater for the odd cool day. A dark unwrinkable dress for trips in port is ideal — you come back to the ship fresh and unruffled.

Pack sports clothes and rubber soled shoes for deck games, low heels for walking and a bathing suit and robe for the beach.

A light, bright, dressy raincoat in silk or a synthetic material, of similar weight, proves to be the best item you ever carried up the gangplank. It can take you to many places in rain and shine as well as doubling as an evening or theatre coat . . . and don't forget your rubbers and rain hat.

HAIR A PROBLEM?

Practice doing your own hair before you leave, and then take along setting lotion, curlers, spray and a light portable dryer if you have one, plus several scarves or bandanas as protection against wind.

If you have a wig, your problems are over.

EMERGENCY KIT

No matter what ship you are on, there are certain essentials needed by all at sea. Keep them all together in a neat kit. They are: cleansing pads, safety pins, needle and thread, sun glasses and lotion, leak-proof pen, pipe remover (non - flammable), and a nylon net clothes brush (send for Susanna's special pattern if you like). A pair of binoculars are great to have along when coming into a port and of course, seasick pills.

Many Lands Want Into Common Market

BRUSSELS (AP)—Britain is not the only country anxious to join the Common Market. A dozen in Europe and Africa want to get inside the market where they can sell their goods under favored conditions and share in Western Europe's prosperity.

Prime Minister Wilson started this week on a tour of West European capitals to put his case for Britian. He will talk to leaders from the six countries which founded the organization—France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

If and when he can get Charles de Gaulle to withdraw his veto—a big if and a long when—the way would be open for Britain and other members from the European Free Trade Association. These seven countries have already abolished all tariffs on the industrial goods they sell one another.

Most of them would be more than happy to do the same for the Common Market, to get behind its tariff wall against the rest of the world and adopt the other measures it has found for integrating the economies of member countries. The most important of these is a common farm policy, with agreed prices for virtually all farm products.

Denmark, Norway and Ireland would join as soon as they could.

The U.S. government would like to see Britain and its friends get full membership as soon as possible. Though it might harm American trade, American officials think that would be more than balanced by the newcomers' influence in making the Common Market an Atlantic - minded organization. This is one reason de Gaulle is expected to stick to his veto.

There is another kind of link called associated membership which the United States likes much less. Associate members get advantages from the Common Market but have little voice in running it. They cannot influence it in any way the United States would like to see, but they do discriminate against American trade.

Two types of countries seek associate membership: Neutrals which cannot afford to antagonize the Soviet Union by becoming full members, and less-developed countries which the present membership does not consider capable of pulling their own weight.

Sweden, Switzerland, Finland and Austria would like to tie into the Common Market as closely as their neutral status will permit. That probably means associate membership for all of them, eventually.

Greece and Turkey already have the status of associates with the hope that some day they will be admitted to full membership.

Spain is trying hard to get in. Thus nearly all Western Europe is either in the Common Market or knocking at the door with various degrees of insistence.

On the other side of the Mediterranean, Israel is trying to transform its limited agreement with the Common Market into associated membership.

Algeria still enjoys some of the advantages of membership because it was formerly considered part of France. Under the treaty setting up the Common Market, associate membership was to be offered to Morocco and Tunisia as well. Negotiations may be resumed this year.

PC Task Forces to Trade Ideas With Grass-roots Gatherings

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal Conservative MPs have taken a firmer grip on policy making with a plan to throw task forces into the field to exchange policy ideas at grass - roots public meetings.

The move was disclosed Sunday at the end of the second weekend caucus policy conference since the party association's big November Convention.

Party spokesmen made it clear that caucus policy is subject to final ratification by the association in convention. But that could be as much as two years away.

Details of the task force idea have yet to be completed but the plan is for groups of four or five MPs to discuss policy at carefully - arranged public gatherings. Supporters of other parties would be welcome.

The caucus got into formal policy-making at the weekend conferences after the November convention was largely prevented from doing the job by a leadership wrangle that divided the caucus into pro- and anti-Diefenbaker factions.

Spokesmen also disclosed periodic weekend conferences on policy would become a permanent fixture, further confirming the caucus intention to keep its fingers firmly in the policy-making pie.

Party spokesmen were vague on policy decisions taken at the two weekend conferences because the caucus as a whole must ratify them later this week. About 80 MPs showed up for last weekend's meeting.

But some firm directions did emerge, informants said, including a Canada-first policy on water export. No sale commitments would be made to the U.S. until a comprehensive inventory provided assurance that all Canada's needs would be met to the year 2100.

In a nationalistic vein, proposals were accepted to provide a variety of tax incentives to encourage Canadians to invest in their own industry, thus increasing Canadian ownership. But there was no compulsion move to apply curbs on foreign investment.

Also sought is a federal securities commission to protect the investing public and deal with the U.S. to help protect Canadian economic integrity. As another protective device for investors, corporations and mutual funds would be forced to make full disclosures of financial activities.

Quebec Leader For Liberals May Be Dropped

OTTAWA (CP)—A new and delicate political problem faces Prime Minister Pearson as a result of Guy Favreau's resignation as Quebec leader of the federal Liberal party.

Sources say a large majority of the 56 Liberal MPs from Quebec favors the appointment of Manpower Minister Jean Marchand as Mr. Favreau's successor.

But informants close to the prime minister say he has doubts whether the position of Quebec leader should ever be filled again. And Mr. Marchand's Quebec colleagues in the cabinet are also cool to the idea.

Ever since Mr. Favreau became embroiled in the Lucien Rivard bail affair and the resulting Dorion judicial inquiry, Mr. Pearson is known to have formed the view that the appointment of a Quebec lieutenant can be more a political liability than an asset.

There have been persistent reports that the title of Quebec leader will disappear.

SPORTSLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

Years ago when the now defunct Trent Valley Hockey League, one of the most turbulent sock-and-sag organizations in the province if not the nation, was in operation, one of the central figures was an old newspaper buddy and sportsman, Art Dumas.

The likable little guy with the big smile and craggy features needs no introduction to sports, business, industrial or other organizations in the city and district.

He is well-known as an after-dinner speaker with a rare sense of humor, a fine personality and is a raconteur of the first water. He can give you a rib-tickling punch line to that hoary old conundrum "Why did the chicken cross the street?"

Art, as is also well-known, has been the public relations director of the Bata Shoe Company for, ie, these many years. He took the position after many years as head of the Trent Valley Hockey League, for those days a hotbed of argument, dissension and interclub squabbling.

I think Art quit the loop the year four presidents failed to bring order to a somewhat chaotic mess. The following season it folded.

His sports experience left with him the thought that in athletics as well as other phases of life activities, togetherness, and co-operative effort are two of the prime factors for success. He has brought this message many times to audiences in his numerous after-dinner speeches.

He has seen his efforts meet with success but perhaps nothing has pleased him as the development of the Batawa Ski Club which he says is one of the best examples of community effort he has ever witnessed.

When the idea to form the club was mooted a few years ago, Art, who admits to being "no skier," got behind the plan. So did Mr. Thomas Bata, president of the Bata Shoe Company who is an ardent participant in the sport.

"Mr. Bata," Art said, "made the best hill on his 1,500-acre property available without cost. Sportsmen and sportswomen of the company got behind the plan."

Enthusiastic and working members worked summer and winter to clear hillside for all the ski runs, installed mechanical tows, a chalet, established a parking area, organized ski classes and helped to bring this being one of the best community clubs in Central Ontario.

"Everybody put his and her shoulder to the collective effort wheel," says Art. "Hundreds of trees were removed, rocks rolled away and ski runs made smooth. Their efforts were so impressive that nearby companies joined with the Bata Shoe Company of Canada in donating gifts of heavy machinery to help others, and help of transportation to what they believed was a worthy cause."

Art quotes John Cormack, president of the club as saying "I am surrounded by a band of real helpers, a great working team that works hard and plays hard."

Club members operate the mechanical tows, do all the Ski Patrol work, and conduct ski classes for all ages. Girls and women operate the chalet and serve refreshments.

Art quotes a fine example of community co-operation that occurred a few days ago. "It was a fine exhibition of the generous support being given the project," he said.

"One of the tow motors stripped its clutch and became inactive. A visitor from Belleville who is associated with the Kennedy-Chrysler Company immediately offered to not only provide a new clutch but would send a team is install it. The equipment was back in action in record time. Cost nil. Truly a fine example of co-operation."

Night skiing is held by the club each Wednesday and Saturday nights and all day Saturday and Sunday.

Glen Ross has 27 points, Ivanhoe 22, Frankford 13, Wallbridge 11, Foxboro nine, Plainfield and Tweedsmuir eight each.

Jack Wright had three goals and one assist to spark the Rebels while linemates Andy Faulkner and Ken McConnell collected two goals and four assists each. Ross Anderson and Doug McCrory rounded out the attack by scoring twice each.

Foxboro marksmen were Barry Dafoe, Dave Lush, Larry Marshall and Dennis Ray.

Pete Smith triggered both Wallbridge goals.

Kingston plays at Cobourg tonight and Cobourg is at Oshawa tomorrow. The Macs' next start is in Belleville against Oshawa on Friday.

Following is the up-to-date standings:

MOTHER SETS RECORD

OSLO (AP) — Lidia Skoblikova, Russia's Olympic champion who temporarily retired two years ago to become a mother, broke the world record for the 3,000 metres in speed-skating Sunday at a Norwegian international meet. She also won the 1,000 metres in fast time. Winner of a record four gold medals for speed-skating in the Olympics in 1964 Mrs. Skoblikova was timed in five minutes, 5.9 seconds, one-tenth of a second better than the world mark set by the late Inga Voronina of Russia in 1963.

Giacomin's best saves Sunday were on break-ins by Paul Henderson, Andy Bathgate and Gordie Howe.

Giacomin played them all perfectly to lead the Rangers to their second victory in three games on a five-game road trip. He blanked the Bruins 3-0 in Boston Thursday night.

The Red Wings swarmed around the league's top goaltender throughout most of the third period but he robbed them time and again.

The Rangers had 21 shots at Detroit's Roger Crozier and Nevin beat him at 6:44 of the first period.

The Black Hawks had only 27 shots at Giacomin Saturday night but they made five of them count, building up a 4-0 lead before the Rangers scored. The Rangers had 33 shots at Glenn Hall.

The Maple Leafs had only 26 shots at DeJordy Sunday night, but he was particularly sharp with a point-blank shot from Jeffrey and he made a diving save against Keon in the third period.

Hull's three goals in Chicago's two weekend games made him tops in the league and four more than New York's Gilbert.

Mikita's pair of weekend goals boosted the little centre's points total to 55 for the season, including a league-leading 36 assists.

The Hawks fired 35 shots at Toronto goalie Bruce Gamble.

The Leafs had an easier night Saturday night against the Red Wings, who have only one tie and no wins in 19 road games this year.

The Maple Leafs led 2-1 at the end of the first period and increased their lead to 4-1 after two periods.

Mahovlich's goal was the 271st of his career and moved him into sole possession of 12th place on the list of all-time NHL scorers. Toronto had 41 shots, one more than the Red Wings.

Crozier and Hank Bassen split the netminding duties for Detroit. Crozier left the game early in the third period complaining he was sick.

The Bruins scored three unanswered goals in the third period Saturday night to come from behind for their victory over Montreal.

The Canadiens had 43 shots at Boston's Gerry Cheevers while the ruins managed only 19 shots at Charlie Hodge.

Bauman, 26, who replaced Hodge Sunday was called up from Quebec Aces of the American Hockey League.

The Rangers and the Black Hawks are tied for first place in the standings with 47 points apiece. The Leafs are third with 42 points, six more than the fourth - place Canadiens.

Detroit is fifth with 29 points and the Bruins are last with 26 points.

The schedule resumes Thursday with Toronto at Detroit and Chicago at Boston. On Wednesday, the league's all-stars will take on the Canadiens, defending league and Stanley Cup champions, in Montreal in the annual All-Star game.

Belvidere Breaks The Egg

One streak was broken but another stretched a little farther in a pair of Commercial "B" Hockey League games Sunday.

Belvedere Hotel, without a single point in their first nine games, upset American Optical by a 4-1 count.

Stewart Warner, at the top of the loop standing with an unbeaten record, settled for a 5-5 deadlock with the Pepsi's. It was the league-leaders third tie of the season, two of them with the Pepsi's.

Larry Stewart sparked Belvedere's initial victory by scoring a pair of goals. John Smith scored one and helped on two others. Bobby "Shoot" Elsley added the other goal and Ted Schwager drew an assist. Gary Reid got the lone Pepsi goal. The Hotelmen drew all four of the game's penalties as well.

The Pepsi's employed single goals by Stu Muirhead, Paul Ruttan, Ralph Boomhower, Pat Maracle and Brum Smith to get their tie. Doug Dickey and Maracle each had two assists, Muirhead and Ruttan loners.

Ray Mambert and "Pug" Kellar notched two goals each and Dennis Newman had the other for Stewart Warner. Mambert had two assists and Newman one.

Esso May Take Over ML Gardens

TORONTO (CP) — Sports columnist Dick Beddoes of The Globe and Mail says speculation persists that Imperial Oil Ltd. may take over control of Maple Leaf Gardens, home of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League.

Beddoes, in his column, says the sale is not an accomplished fact and effort has been made to put a stop to the rumors.

He quotes W. O. Twaits, president of Imperial Oil and a director of the Gardens, as saying: "There is absolutely no truth to it the speculation. We have made absolutely no overtures to anyone."

But he also quotes Harold Ballard, executive vice-president of the Gardens, as saying: "The speculation is far-fetched, but we have had overtures on behalf of prospective buyers" "I quotes Ballard.

"If you were Imperial Oil, why wouldn't you want to ...; a hockey operation?" Beddoes "They already pay the Gardens $800,000 a year for television and advertising rights. When those rights end, in 1969, Imperial Oil could have to compete with other prospective sponsors, for more money . . .

Fuel Peewees Still Unbeaten, Bantams Win

Smith Fuels peewees edged Kingston 4-3 and Kinsmen bantams topped Trenton 7-5 in a pair of OMHA games on Saturday.

These were the only OMHA scores turned in over the week-end although five games were scheduled on Sunday.

The Fuelmen kept their undefeated record intact with the tight win over Kingston.

Danny Lapenetta scored twice, Mark Coates and Grant Goegan once each for Belleville. B. Johnson potted two and Gary MacGregor once for Kingston. Smith's led 1-0 and 4-2 by periods with the losers notching the only third-period goal.

Kinsmen bantams held a 4-2 margin in the third period to collect their victory. Belleville led 2-0 after one period and Trenton tied it with a trio in the second.

Bill Buchanan was the Kinsmen star with his club's final three goals, plus two earlier assists. Terry Meagher had two goals and an assist, Dennis Cone and Mike Semark a goal each. Cliff Janitsch and Dale Caul also drew assists.

Ted Brown and Jeff Howard, with two goals each, and George Ferguson, were Trenton goalgetters.

PERUVIANS BEAT B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Peruvian national women's volleyball team, heading for the world championships in Tokyo Jan. 18, defeated the B.C. All-Stars 15-5, 15-7, 15-3 and 15-1 in a four-game exhibition series Saturday night. The Peruvians had scheduled games in Hono-lulu Sunday but team officials forgot about the international dateline and the team will travel directly to Japan from Seattle.

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Vince Lombardi thinks Kansas City Chiefs simply don't rate with the top teams in the National Football League after watching his Green Bay Packers whip the American Football League champs in Sunday's first Super Bowl game.

"They have a good football team with fine speed but I'd have to say that NFL football is tougher," said coach Lombardi, following the Packers' 35-10 victory before a disappointing crowd of 63,036 in the 90,000-seat Los Angeles Coliseum.

But at the halfway point of the game the Packers looked nothing like the poised and polished champions of the NFL. For two surprising quarters the Chiefs, champions of the AFL, played as if they were the equals of the battle - proven Packers, who ended the half clinging to a precarious 14-10 lead.

In the second half the Packers manhandled Len Dawson, the Chiefs' quarterback, and dominated play by a 21-0 edge. Willie Wood's interception of a Dawson pass early in the third quarter was the first indication that the Packers were aroused.

In the first half they had failed to put pressure on Dawson and let him scramble around.

Wood rambled 30 yards to the Chiefs' five after picking off the pass that was deflected by Lee Roy Caffey. Elijah Pitts went in on the next play and the Packers were on the way.

Bart Starr had a tremendous day, picking out receivers or calling the right ball carrier on important third-down situations. Of 14 third-down calls in the game, Starr produced on downs 11 times. He was named the most valuable player of the game and winner of a special sports car award by a magazine.

Starr threw two touchdown passes to 34-year-old Max McGee, who caught only four passes during the regular season. The 11-year-veteran led the receivers with seven for 138 yards including the scoring plays of 37 and 13 yards.

On most of his catches the victim was Willie Mitchell, a corner back singled out for special attention in the Packers' game plan.

McGee got into the game when Boyd Dowler, the regular flanker, injured his right shoulder on the third play.

Starr completed 16 of 23 for 25 yards and two TDs but had one intercepted by Mitchell, his first in 173 tosses since Oct. 16. He also had a 46-yard touchdown pass to Carroll Dale called back because of a penalty.

Jim Taylor, who still has not signed his 1966 contract and may have played his last game for the Packers, stormed home from the 14 in the second period.

Pitts, who took Paul Hornung's place, scored twice from the five and one. Hornung, suffering from a pinched nerve in his neck but supposedly available for duty, did not get into the game.

Dawson hit with 11 of 15 passes, including a seven-yarder to Curt McClinton for a touchdown.

Mike Mercer, who missed with a 40-yard field goal attempt in the first period, made good from 30 yards out in the dying seconds of the first half.

The Chiefs never got closer than the Packers' 44 in the second half and that was after Pete Beathard had taken over for Dawson at quarterback. Dawson wound up with 16 for 27 for 211 yards. The two Kansas City quarterbacks were dumped six times for 61 yards, trying to pass.

Hank Stram, coach of the Chiefs, paid his respects to the Packers as an excellent team but he maintained "one game is not a true test of the abilities of both leagues."

The victory for Green Bay meant $15,000 for each Packer. Each losing Chief pocketed $7,500.

City Bowlers Top Five

Belleville bowlers, led by Leo Labelle, captured the first five spots in the two-day Carling zone rolloff held in Trenton and Belleville on the past two weekends.

Twenty games were bowled in all with Labelle turning in a score of 2649. George Crabb was second, also topping 2600, with a 2627 score. Labelle had a big 252 average for the 20 games.

Jack Canning with 4945, Glen Hamilton, 4936 and Jim Begley, 4926 followed in that order to give Belleville the first five positions.

Clarence Dice, of Brighton, had 4874, Cec Gerow, also of Brighton, was seventh with 4856, Jack Calnan, of Belleville, eighth with 4830 and Mel Kennedy, of Trenton, ninth with 4778.

Twenty-five bowlers, from Belleville, Castleton, Trenton, Campbellford, Picton, Smithfield, Brighton, Foxboro and Codrington took part at Trenton's D. and A Lanes and at the Belleville Bowl-O-Drome.

Thirty-one games of over 300 were rolled with Trenton's Jack Malmloff having a high single of 383.

The top three blowers, Labelle, Crabb and Canning, will play in singles events as well as on the men's team; the sixth man is a spare for the team while the seventh, eighth and ninth men will play on the mixed team in the Ontario, and providing they win, in the Canadian championships.

The Eastern Canada finals will be held in Ottawa on March 22, 24 and 25. The first and second finishers in teams and singles events will be flown to Winnipeg for the Canadian five-pin championships and the Carling Cup.

Three Tied For Second

Georgians Snap Loss String!

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Collingwood Georgians, who usually look over their shoulders at one team in second place in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior series, now have three to choose from.

Galt Hornets defeated Guelph Regals 8-3 Sunday and Kingston Aces downed Woodstock Athletics 4-2 to create a three-way traffic jam in the standings. Galt, Guelph and Woodstock now have 34 points each.

Collingwood, meanwhile, maintained its hold on first place by defeating North York Varsity Grads 5-2 Sunday night. The Georgians have a seven-point lead in the series.

In the only other Sunday game, Barrie Flyers defeated Oakville Oaks 5-4, leaving the Oaks all alone in the cellar.

Bert Brown scored three goals to spark Galt to its win. Fern Belanger and John Heechey had two each and Peter Brennan got the other.

Bob Pole scored two for Guelph and Keith Worrall had one.

Bob Rawson, Jim Sprott, Jerry Jeneman, John Ford and Charlie Convery each scored for Kingston. Tommy Walker and Ron Ryan replied for Woodstock Athletics, who fought back from a 3-0 deficit.

Dave McComb, of Collingwood, who leads the senior circuit in points, picked up four more Sunday night on two goals and two assists. Don Fitzer, John Lumley and Dave Cook scored the other Collingwood goals.

Moe Galland and Karl Hyman scored for North York.

Al Stitt scored four goals, including the winner, for Barrie. Corby Adams had the other one and John Weeks assisted on all five.

Jim O'Brien scored twice for Oakville and Doug McGowan and Gus Morison got one each.

23 Wins

Amerks Up Home String

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

When it comes to home ice, Rochester Americans are the scourge of the American Hockey League.

The Americans extended their unbeaten string on home ice to 23 straight games Sunday when they stopped Springfield Indians 6-3.

The victory ended a two-game winning streak for the Indians, who were offered a minimum $10,000 Friday by owner Eddie Shore as an incentive to make the playoffs.

The Indians reacted by beating Cleveland Barons 3-2 Friday night and downing Quebec Aces 7-1 Saturday night. But Sunday night they ran into the high-scoring Americans, who checked their drive for the third and final playoff spot in the Eastern Division. The Indians now are in fourth place, eight points behind third-place Quebec.

In other games Sunday, Pittsburgh Hornets and Cleveland Barons played a 3-3 tie. Quebec defeated Providence Reds 6-1 and Baltimore Clippers and Buffalo Bisons played to a 5-5 draw. Rochester beat Rochester 5-3.

In other games Saturday, Hershey Bears defeated Buffalo 9-2, Baltimore downed Cleveland 5-2 and Pittsburgh beat Rochester 5-3.

Canucks Win At Boston

BOSTON (CP-AP) — Ergas Leps and Dave Ellis, both of Toronto, defeated highly-touted runners in the mile and two-mile events respectively at the Knights of Columbus Games Saturday.

Leps won the mile in 4:06.4 and Ellis the two-mile in 8:47.4.

Dave Patrick of Villanova, who has run the mile in 4:02.1, was second, some 20 yards behind Leps, and Dave Bailey of Toronto was third.

Australian Tony Benson, making his first start in the United States, finished seventh. Benson, who has run the mile in four minutes flat, has been unbeaten at 800 metres this year.

Ellis took the lead in the two-mile event with 4½ laps remaining and pulled to a 20-yard lead. John Lawson, the National Collegiate Athletic Association champion from Kansas, was second in 8:51.8.

In the featured dash, Bill Gaines, an 18-year-old New Jersey high school student, had a near record 4:06.2. This is the one-tenth of a second off the indoor mark set back in 1939 by Barney Ewell. Indoor marks are unofficial.

Parent Turns In 4th Blank

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bernie Parent turned in his fourth shutout of the Central Hockey League season Sunday night as Oklahoma City Blazers blanked the Braves 2-0 in St. Louis.

Parent, with Boston Bruins in the NHL last season, has had three shutouts in his last six games.

Terry Crisp and Ted Hodgson got the Oklahoma City goals.

In the only other Central League game Sunday, Memphis Wings spoiled the visiting Omaha Knights a pair of first-period goals, then charged to a 5-3 victory.

Alex Faulkner scored two goals for Memphis. Jimmy Peters, Dave Rochefort and Andre Pronovost the others. George Konik, Jim Johnson and Bryan Campbell scored for Omaha.

LOSE TO HOUSTON

The league-leading Blazers dropped a 4-3 decision to the Apollos in Houston Saturday. Lucien Grenier, Jim Peterson, Leo Thiffault and Gary Peters scored for Houston, Skip Krake, Gary Doak and Ross Lonsberry for Oklahoma City.

Warriors Nip Carabins

Mustangs Whip Gaels

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

University of Western Ontario Mustangs had some revenge during the weekend to close the gap in the Ontario-Quebec Athletic Association hockey series.

The Mustangs, who took a 2-1 defeat at the hands of Queen's Golden Gaels earlier last week, trounced the Gaels 7-3 Saturday night. The win gives the Mustangs 10 points, two less than first-place University of Toronto Blues.

In the other Saturday game, University of Waterloo Warriors scored three unanswered goals in the second period to nip the University of Montreal Carabins 4-2.

John Corbett and John Hesjup had two goals each to pace the Mustangs' attack. Paul Gauthier, Bill L'Heureux and Ian McKegney got the others.

Tim Tait and Jim Bonn replied for Queen's.

Ray Clarke, Larry Romashyna, Terry Cooke and Ron Smith scored for Waterloo Warriors, who moved into third place in the series.

Yves Paquette and Gilles Samson got the Montreal goals.

Canucks Defeat Generals

Marlies Maintain Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

St. Catharines Black Hawks are probably asking themselves what's a nice team like us doing in a place like this?

The Black Hawks, in first place during the opening six weeks of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A schedule, have not won a game on home ice since Nov. 27.

They maintained their unenviable record Sunday night on home ice as Kitchener Rangers defeated them 7-3. The loss left St. Catharines in sixth place in the standings and the win moved the Rangers into second place behind Toronto Marlboros.

The Marlies, meanwhile, maintained their slim, two-point lead by defeating Oshawa 7-3 Sunday afternoon.

In other Sunday games, Montreal Junior Canadiens bombed Niagara Falls Flyers 10-6 and Peterborough Petes edged Hamilton Red Wings 3-2. Oshawa defeated St. Catharines 4-3 Saturday night.

Tim Ecclestone and Jim Krulicki scored for Kitchener Sunday and defenceman Larry Gibbons replied for the luckless Black Hawks.

Petes' Bedard Resigns

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Roger Bedard has resigned as coach of Peterborough Petes of the Ontario Hockey Association's Junior A series, it was announced Saturday. No reason was given for his resignation.

This was Bedard's second term with the Petes.

He will be replaced by Roger Neilson of Toronto, the Petes' fourth player-personnel.

The Petes are last in the league standings. They won seven of 29 regular season games, tied seven and lost 15.

NHL Stars

Tom Williams, who scored two goals and assisted on two others as Boston Bruins shaded Montreal Canadiens 5-4 Saturday night.

Doug Jarrett, who picked up two assists as Chicago Black Hawks defeated New York Rangers 5-3 Saturday night.

Ed Giacomin, who kicked out 27 shots to register his sixth shutout of the season as New York blanked Detroit 2-0 Sunday night.

Employment Scene Better In Year 1966

NAPANEE — The employment situation in the Napanee area was brighter at the end of 1966 than it was a year earlier. In November, 1965, there were 573 men of the area looking for employment and 433 in December. Last year for November the figure was 341, and 219 for December. T. E. Cox, local manager of Canada Manpower centre, attributes this improved situation to the expansion and increased production of the Napanee industries.

For women, the picture is not as bright. At the end of November, 1966, there were 121 women unemployed and 120 in December. There was a total of 241 seeking work the end of November, and 106 the end of December.

Over the year the employment picture has shown an improvement with the local office placing 1167 applicants in various types of jobs.

The area office, with the exception of other Canada Manpower centres was able to fill 90.89 per cent of all vacancies listed with it from September 1, 1965 to the end of August, 1966.

70 Attend Demonstration On Archery

DESERONTO — About 70 sportsminded people attended the archery demonstration sponsored by the Deseronto Fish and Game Club in the Legion Hall last Wednesday evening. It was presented by the Belleville Bowman's Club. They described the different types of equipment used and demonstrated their skill in archery.

French Skier Wins Meet

WENGEN, Switzerland (AP) — Jean Claude Killy, French world champion Alpine skier, completed a sweep of the Lauberhorn meet Sunday by capturing the slalom in easy fashion, following his downhill victory Saturday.

Killy, a 23-year-old customs official, finished with a total time of one minute, 32.20 seconds for the two descents on the icy track.

Last year the talented Frenchman a low score of zero in the combined standings of the downhill and slalom.

Heini Messner of Austria was second in the slalom in 1:34.01. France took third, fourth and fifth, with Jules Mahjoubi, 1:34.81, Louis Jauffret, 1:34.94, and Guy Perillat, 1:35.28.

Best Canadian among the 56 skiers from 13 countries in the race was Scott Henderson of Banff, Alta., 11th in 1:36.97.

Austria's Karl Schranz, 1:55.56 and Egon Zimmerman, 1:34.96, were sixth and seventh, respectively.

Various Groups Plan Projects For Centennial

CENTENNIAL TEA

DESERONTO — St. Mark's Anglican Church Guild met last week to make final plans for the tea Wednesday, January 25 in the church hall when, for the first time in this area a collection of 21 historical dressed dolls in costumes of their eras will be on display. These are being lent by various organizations by the centennial board of the Department of Tourism and Information.

Beginning with dolls representative of Frontenac, a courier de bois, and Samuel de Champlain, the history of Canada is carried through to Dr. Emily Stowe, the first Canadian woman doctor.

Each person attending will receive a brochure giving the history of each character represented. Tickets, also may be obtained by the Department of Tourism and Information.

LIBRARY DISPLAY

The Deseronto Public Library has already begun its Centennial project. Each month a display of historical objects is planned with articles lent for the month by people of the town or its vicinity.

The display for January shows the collection made during the tea hour by women of the past 100 years, especially those of the earlier years, articles such as teapots, sugar and cream sets, complete tea services, and trivets and coasters. The library has two show cases in which to set up the items.

Also on display this month is a collection of paintings by Mrs. Wallace Wood, who is in her her second year in art in night classes in the Napanee District Secondary School.

One table has been set aside for the display of Canadian books, old and new, dealing with this country.

PUBLIC SCHOOL PROJECT

In the next issue of the town council last week, Principal R. K. Uens outlined some of the Centennial projects in the public school. Grade 8 already has almost funds enough to finance a trip to Expo. Other plans to get out a school paper which it will sell to raise the cost of the issue. The first edition is almost ready. Funds on hand were raised through the sale of chocolate bars.

During the year, the school will select school colors and a school song. Also a track and athletic competition with gold, silver, bronze and participation medals as awards. Participation is sponsored by the Department of Education. The pupils will also participate in the work of developing Centennial Park, especially in assisting the Deseronto Fish and Game Club in its tree planting.

Willie Turned The Tide

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Few people say today there was any one real turning point in Green Bay Packers' 35-10 victory over Kansas City Chiefs in the Super Bowl Sunday.

But a key point certainly came when the Packers' Willie Wood intercepted a Len Dawson pass intended for Fred Arbanas and, after a bewildering run, took the ball 50 yards to the Chiefs' five.

Two runs by Elijah Pitts put it across and what had been a 14-10 Green Bay lead became a 21-10.

Wood then disclosed that Green Bay has a policy of setting a game award for a hill, giving away passes to the outside for short yardage — and Wood, performing in his own enemy thinks it has found a weak point in the defence.

"Coach Lombardi said there were no adjustments made at halftime.

"We just played more aggressive football in the second half."

CBC Controversy

Visit Vetoed But Von Thadden to Be Interviewed

TORONTO (CP)—Daryl Duke, producer of the CBC television program Sunday, says an interview with Adolph von Thadden, controversial West German politician, will appear on the program despite a decision not to bring him to Toronto.

CBC President J. Alphonse Ouimet said in Ottawa Saturday that the CBC had withdrawn an invitation to von Thadden to come to Canada.

The CBC was trying to "make other arrangements to interview Mr. von Thadden for television in a way which will not involve bringing him to Canada," he said.

Von Thadden is vice-chairman of the West German National Democratic Party, which denies charges that it is a neo-Nazi organization.

Mr. Duke said Sunday he would not give details of how von Thadden was to be interviewed, though I repeat—Mr. von Thadden will appear on the program Sunday, a week next Sunday, Jan. 29."

Mr. Ouimet said in his statement that "mounting threats of violence involving public safety" had forced the CBC to withdraw the invitation. The corporation had reluctantly concluded "that it can't bring Mr. von Thadden to Canada without undue risk to his safety and that of others."

Mr. Duke said he was "very seriously alarmed" that a minority group could bring pressure to bear to such effect that Canadian television's only time might be "deprived of their right to witness a probing, searching, thoughtful interview with a man in the news."

A pressure group takes action and we find the rug pulled from under our feet with so much still to be learned.

"For example, how big is the opposition? Just what threat is Mr. von Thadden's safety is involved?

"Are we to presume that the Metropolitan Toronto police and the RCMP could not provide him with safe entry to and exit from Canada?"

The invitation to von Thadden brought a storm of protest when it was announced and the Canadian Jewish Congress said it would mount a "massive demonstration."

In his statement, Mr. Ouimet said the invitation was "based on the rise of Mr. von Thadden's party in Germany as reported in the news media recently."

"The greatest safeguard of the democratic tradition is the freedom to express and exchange the widest range of ideas and opinions," he said in defending the decision.

It was a "prime function of the CBC" to provide for the free expression and scrutiny of points of view, the Canadian people could "judge such views for themselves."

A CBC spokesman said a team might be sent to West Germany to get the interview with von Thadden on tape.

Meanwhile in Bonn, a spokesman for Von Thadden's party said Sunday the party had expected the protests.

He said the party would discuss the protests Wednesday or Thursday on von Thadden's return from a vacation in North Africa.

The Lucy Show Will Likely Be Continued

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Now begins the annual guessing game: Will Lucille Ball return to television next season?

"I don't really know," she says in her annual statement.

And apparently she doesn't. Naturally, CBS would love to have The Lucy Show remain in its Monday night slot, where it has an enviable rating. But Miss Ball is in the unique position of not needing the series to bolster her bankroll or ego. Once before she quit at the top—when she and Desi Arnaz decided to end I Love Lucy as a weekly show.

Does she have the strength to continue?

"That's no problem, knock wood," she said. "I can keep on going, but can the writers? I've been real lucky with the writers we've had for the past two years; they have managed to keep coming up with fresh material.

"But just at this time of year—we do the last show Jan. 30—you begin to think you're exhausted all the comic possibilities and you wonder how you could possibly think of new ones. That's when it's hard to make a decision to continue."

OTHER FACTORS ARISE

But there are other considerations, she said. She was lunching in her newly-decorated office at president of Desilu—the same office to which she reported as a young starlet when the studio was RKO.

"I must also consider whether continuing The Lucy Show is best for the corporation or whether it would be better for me to devote my time to other activities," she commented.

It is not too rash to predict that she will continue with the series; nothing helps Desilu stock so much as having the president's show, one of the highest - prized in television, playing the network on a weekly basis.

Aside from attending to corporate matters during her show's hiatus, Miss Ball expects to make a feature film for Desilu. It will be The Beardsley Story, based on the real-life marriage of a northern California pair who had 18 children.

LONG RUN ENDS

LONDON (AP)—The Rodgers and Hammerstein show, The Sound of Music, closed at Theatre Royal Drury Lane after running for 2,385 performances and nearly six years. London critics panned the show on opening night, but 3,000,000 people paid more than $6,000,000 to see it.

Goalby Wins San Diego

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Bob Goalby, fresh from his victory in the $66,000 San Diego open golf tournament, says he is ready to make a charge at Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Bill Casper.

"I feel I am solidly back on my game," Goalby said Sunday after winning with a 72-hole score of 269, 15 under par.

Starting the final round with a bulging five-shot lead over the field, Goalby saw his advantage quickly erased by a rallying Gay Brewer Jr.

Instead of folding, Goalby took matters in hand and sank a 12-foot birdie putt on the 71st hole to go one stroke ahead and then, after hitting his toe shot into a trap on the 387-yard, par-three finishing hole, he made a magnificent explosion to within 3½ feet to save his lead.

He finished with a 69 for 269 while Brewer, six strokes back at the start of the day, closed with a 64 for 270, the victory, first in four years by Goalby, was worth $13,200.

TOP MEN ABSENT

The field in the Open did not contain the game's two biggest names—Palmer and Nicklaus—but the field included PGA champion Al Geiberger and Casper, U.S. Open winner and the 1966 Golfer of the Year.

Bob Charles of New Zealand, former British Open champion, finished third at 273, followed by Geiberger and Dave Hill tied at 276. Casper, improving with every round, climaxed his tournament with a 66 for 275, tying Randy Glover, Ronnie Reid and Pete Brown.

Bill Kinzicki, former hockey player with Toronto Maple Leafs, shot a 67 on the last round to gain a 10th-place tie with seven others. He won $1,326. George Knudson of Toronto and Al Johnston of Montreal were eliminated Friday.

Seals Win Two Over Sea Gulls

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

California Seals upset the weekend consolidating their hold on second place in the Western Hockey League, beating the hapless San Diego Gulls twice, 5-2 Saturday night and 4-3 Sunday.

In the only other weekend outing, Victoria Maple Leafs trounced Los Angeles Blades 6-1 in Victoria Saturday night.

The result of the weekend activity left California in second spot with 44 points, 11 behind Portland. Vancouver is third with 40, followed by Seattle Totems with 39, Victoria with 37, Los Angeles with 35 and San Diego with 22.

In Sunday's game, Wayne Maxner's 10-foot backhander in a sudden-death overtime situation gave California the win.

Networks Still Trying To Salvage Some Shows

NEW YORK (AP) — The quality of network television's "second season" generally suggests that the first season was not as bad as we thought.

ABC's Rango Friday was the most consistent bedraggled arrival. It falls in the comedy-western category and apparently was designed for the least amusing aspects of Laredo and F Troop. Laredo has a rowdy quality and F Troop has comedy sequences that are often inspired.

Rango, on the other hand, can claim the loudest, longest laugh track in television. Tim Conway, playing his usual part of the bumbling idiot, now is a Texas Ranger who falls off his horse and is scared of guns.

Several of the second season's 10 shows have moved into the schedules. ABC replaces 12 O'Clock High with The Avengers Friday, but this hardly counts as a new series since it was a British import that attracted a following last spring and summer when it was also a replacement.

Toward the end of the month Oblisoum, a variety series, will replace CBS's Jericho, a good adventure show that had ratings failure. The Smothers Brothers Show, a variety hour replacing Gary Moore's hour Sunday, starts early in February.

The networks are still trying to salvage shows. CBS hopes to give its Saturday-night Mission Impossible a better chance by switching its position with Pistols 'n' Petticoats. The latter, a comedy starring Ann Sheridan, has not done well and probably will not be back next season.

NBC'S Road West, also in ratings trouble, is changing to a sort of Wagon Train format. The fans family knows which the series is built will start having week-to-more action and adventure than it found around one Kansas town.

Mine Kills, Injures Soccer Fans

TEL AVIV (Reuters) — A mine exploded Saturday during a soccer match at the village of Dishon, near the Lebanese border, killing one Israeli youth and injuring two others.

During a match between the home team, Hapoel Dishon, and Maccabi Rosh Pina, 4 spectators stepped on the anti-personnel mine and was killed.

Israeli army sources said the explosion bore the marks of an attack by Syrian saboteurs entering Israel over the Lebanese frontier, about two miles from Dishon.

Hillier

HILLIER — Hillier started off centennial year Friday evening with a bonfire of Christmas trees gathered from Consecon, Hillier and Wellington. The fire was lighted at 8 p.m. by Hillier township Centennial Queen, Miss Rose Marie Haight. Between 200 and 300 adults and children enjoyed the bonfire. Wellington Fire Department trucks and men stood by and this added to the enjoyment for the children.

The crowd moved to the Community Centre to tour the renovated hall. Reeve Lloyd Ira new centennial addition and introduced members of Hillier Council. Several women dressed in the costumes of 100 years ago attracted attention and comment. Remainder of the evening was spent in playing old cards and dancing to the music of the Corvairs orchestra. A buffet lunch was served to close the evening.

Quebec Studies Montreal Teachers' Strike

MONTREAL (CP) — About 217,000 students in Montreal's 500 strike - bound Roman Catholic schools are missing classes again today, but Sunday night brought word from Quebec City of increased provincial government concern with the situation.

Education Minister Jean-Jacques Bertrand and Marcel Masse, a minister without portfolio attached to the education department, held late-night consultations with other top officials of the department.

The cabinet is expected to meet tonight to hear a report by Mr. Bertrand on the strike by 9,000 French -and English-speaking teachers, which began Friday.

Mr. Masse told reporters that the government "will have to intervene when the common good is threatened."

Weekend negotiations in Montreal aimed at ending the strike fizzled out Sunday night. There were signs of bitterness on both sides.

One union official pointed a grim picture of about 120 contract clauses yet to be settled, when he was asked how long the work stoppage might go on.

Anxious parents already have appealed to the Quebec government for action. The teachers want higher salaries and other work improvements.

Mr. Bertrand has promised not to let the situation "deteriorate", but apparently wanted negotiators to have a good crack at settling the strike without government intervention.

The negotiators for the Montreal Catholic school commissions and two unions bargaining jointly for the teachers got together several times Saturday and Sunday.

But Sunday night the teachers rejected a commission suggestion for an attempted strike settlement through mediation. The commission stipulated that the mediation, by only one man or three, should include a public report.

The unions objected to the report stipulation, saying it indicated the commission sought a "public tribunal" rather than a mediation . process. Mediation has to be carried on in secret, the unions said.

Negotiations might be resumed today, both sides said.

But commission spokesmen grumbled about alleged failure by the unions to inform the school board promptly about their rejection of the mediation proposal.

The unions for their part renewed complaints about alleged slowness in bargaining on the part of commission officials.

The last contract governing teacher employment expired in August.

Spokesmen for the Federation of English - speaking Catholic Teachers, which represents 1,500 of the strikers, said there had been a lack of "intensive negotiation" during the week-end meetings. The union officials blamed this on the commission.

"As a result, Friday, Saturday and Sunday have been lost," one federation official said.

In Quebec City, Mr. Masse said the government will have to equip itself with the legal tools needed to deal with such conflicts as the teachers' strike.

There have been predictions that the Montreal stoppage might be the first of a new series of teachers walkouts in several provincial centres.

About 6,200 Protestant teachers in the Montreal area are not affected by the strike of the Catholic instructors. Schools in Quebec are organized along religious lines.

The 7,500 French - speaking teachers on strike belong to l'Alliance des Professeurs Catholiques de Montreal. It and the federation are bargaining jointly with the commission.

In the St. Hyacinthe area, near Montreal, 900 teachers have been on strike since Nov. 24, leaving 19,000 students without class instruction.

Another 1,200 teachers are involved in labor disputes in Pointe Claire, Beaconsfield and Chambly, all in the Montreal area. But no strikes have materialized in these three communities, though the labor situations are described as critical.

The Montreal teachers la

Big Chicago Hall Burns

CHICAGO (AP) — A spectacular, rapidly spreading fire early today virtually destroyed McCormack Place, a giant exhibition hall on Lake Michigan.

The entire roof of the three-block-long structure caved in less than an hour after firemen arrived on the scene. A huge portion of the west wall collapsed.

The main exhibition hall—about the size of six football fields—was a total loss, said Edward J. Lee, general manager of the hall.

Frozen fire hydrants hampered the efforts of firefighters. A major water main also was frozen.

Fire Commissioner Robert Quinn said the entire northwest wing of the $36,000,000 structure was ablze within seven minutes after the first of a series of small explosions. He said the cause of the explosions and the fire was not known.

Fire officials said the blaze broke out in a booth being constructed in the main exhibition hall for the National Housewares Exhibit, which had been scheduled to open later today.

Algoma Steel Strike Settled

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — Steel mills and coke ovens at the giant Algoma Steel Corp. Ltd. plant were prepared for production today after the surprise settlement Sunday of a strike by 80 bricklayers.

But threat of a new strike by members of Local 606, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and Local 611, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen continues to plague Algoma.

The company is negotiating with the two unions over a new contract and the members could be in position to go on strike in a month if talks are unsuccessful.

The two railway brotherhoods were the key in Algoma's closure Dec. 24, a week after a strike by members of Local 29, International Association of Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers.

Algoma officials said the plant was closed because members of the railway unions refused to cross bricklayers' picket lines. The unions claimed the company locked them out.

Settlement was announced in a statement by Algoma and the bricklayers that said negotiations opened Friday night and continued all day Saturday. Members of the bricklayers' union ratified the settlement Sunday morning.

Details were not released except that the new agreement is for three years.

In their original demand, the bricklayers wanted wage increases of $5 an hour on the basic pay of $3.28. Main issue was a union demand for double time for weekend work.

When they struck Dec. 17, the company was offering a 60-cent-an-hour increase without the weekend double time.

More than 8,000 workers were laid off in Sault Ste. Marie and Wawa, where a company subsidiary operates iron mines, when the railway workers refused to cross picket lines.

Douglas Joyce, vice-president of operations at Algoma, announced after the settlement that operations would resume at once. Men will be recalled as required and as various units of the plant are ready for production, he said.

"It's expected that the plant will be in production in four to five days time.

"The first steel will be tapped out of the open hearths on the first turn on Wednesday and from the oxygen shop on the second turn Wednesday."

He said operations should be resumed at Algoma ore division in Wawa by Wednesday.

But the first payday for most workers will not be until Feb. 9 and 10. It takes the company three to four weeks to process cheques and total hours of work by each man.

Prince Charles Gets Tutor, Aide

LONDON (AP) — The next king of England is going to spend the next three years in the hands of two men who don't belong to the aristocracy.

Buckingham Palace has decided that Prince Charles will go to Cambridge University in October and his tutor will be Dr. Denis Marriman. At the same time, Charles has been assigned an official equerry, Sqdn. Ldr. David Checketts.

Both were grammar school boys.

Once upon a time, royalty was associated with what the English call "public schools"—Eton, Harrow, and the really private schools. Grammar school is what North Americans regard as public schools.

The selection of the air force officer as equerry, or aide, is the idea of Prince Philip. He decided years ago that his son should go to his old school, Gordonstoun, and the Queen agreed. He chose Checketts, 36 and father of four children, to accompany Charles on his recent educational trip to Australia. The reasons: Checketts had served as equerry, and apparently well.

The Royal Family decided that Charles should have a normal university education after he leaves Gordonstoun, in the tradition of Edward VII and Edward VIII, now the Duke of Windsor.

Trinity College at Cambridge was chosen.

"The Royal Family left it to the college to choose the tutor," a spokesman said. It nominated Dr. Marriman and Buckingham Palace agreed.

Merriman, a sports enthusiast in cricket, tennis and winter sports, is 46 and the father of two sons. He thinks working wives are here to stay, looks down his nose at students who let their hair grow long and has turned his interiors into a sort of meeting place for some of the 140 young men who are his professional concern.

"We will treat the prince as normally as possible," he said. "I am sure he will be accepted easily. Colleges on the whole are not difficult places to fit into. Boys usually find someone with their own interests and pal with them very quickly."

It will be his job—as it is for tutors in the British system—to advise Prince Charles and back him up if things are not going the way they should.

Checketts will see to the social side, the arrangements, the travel, and other details.

Bahamas Get Negro Premier

NASSAU (AP) — The sunny Bahamas Islands get their first Negro government today. But despite the political questions, life went on as before.

Among residents of the 700-island chain stretching from near Florida to near Cuba, the talk was about Premier-designate Lynden Pindling, who pulled the election upset of Bahamas' history.

In bigger business circles, there was some apprehension.

Pindling, neat, 36 - year old London-trained barrister whose Progressive Liberal party won a resounding election victory over the white-dominated United Bahamian party said:

"We are not going to cut our throat. Business interests, tourists and investors have nothing to fear.

"We will open our doors to legitimate English and American industry and thus take the present stranglehold away from the minority that controls the economic welfare of the country."

CAUGHT IN JAIL BREAKIN

EDINBURGH (Reuters) — A Scottish court was told Saturday that William McDonald, a former prisoner, broke into a jail to deliver Christmas gifts to a friend and was nabbed on the way out. McDonald pleaded guilty to breaking and giving a prisoner cigarettes, beer and candy. He was fined £5 ($15).

OK Given Bridge To Zwick's Island

Work on a bridge from Dundas Street West over the CPR tracks to Zwick's Island is now scheduled to start this year. This is the first phase of the much - talked - about Dundas street bridge and roadway project.

City council yesterday approved the four-phase $1,700,000 program and it will now go to the Ontario Municipal Board as part of the city's five-year capital works program. The city's share of the cost is estimated at $500,000.

The first phase of the project calls for construction of an overhead bridge over the Canadian Pacific Railway tracks just west of the Devil's Elbow hill on Dundas street, together with a bridge approach across the north end of the Zwick's Island Centennial Park.

City manager J. R. Reynolds said the cost of the project is included in the city's five-year capital works program and said he was hopeful the OMB would approve of this year's works quota of $2,208,000.

Originally it was proposed that the Dundas street bridge project be completed in two years.

The city's share of the overall cost is estimated at approximately $200,000 with grants from the senior governments to cover the balance.

The cost of the bridge over the railway and approach is estimated at $360,000, with the city's share being $60,000.

Scheduled for 1968 would be the new bridge over the Moira River just north of the present CP railway bridge. The over-all cost of this phase would be $681,000, with the city's share estimated at $230,670.

The third phase, scheduled for 1969, would be construction of the Dundas street roadway from the new river bridge to the top of the Devil's Elbow hill, the city's share being $150,000 of the $396,000 total cost.

Mysterious Monastery

Fifty Children Missing

STE. AGATHE, Que. (CP)—A house-to-house search for children missing from a monastery run by a Roman Catholic breakaway religious sect is being continued today in the area surrounding this Laurentian Mountains community.

Sgt. Raymond Bellemare, head of the local provincial police detachment, said his men and social welfare officers have so far found 18 children and still have "another 40 or 50" to find in a search which is hampered by the refusal of sect leaders to reveal where they have hidden the children.

The police are acting on the authority of 66 warrants issued under the Social Welfare Court Act, which stipulates that children under 16 who are in physical or moral danger must be brought before the court for a decision on whether they should be taken into the protection of the court.

The warrants were issued by Judge Yvan Prevost after Crown Prosecutor Andre Fauteux alleged at a hearing last week that 66 children were living in unhealthy premises which provided inadequate fire precautions and sub-standard food and education.

Father Jean de la Trinite, head of the religious sect known as les Apotres de l'Amour infini—the Apostles of Infinite Love—which operates the monastery, has denied the allegations.

He said the children were removed from the monastery to the private homes of "sympathizers" so that the police and welfare officers could not find them.

Father Jean was sent to jail for two days following last week's hearing when he refused to reveal the whereabouts of the missing children. He also served jail sentences of two and four days late last year for failing to co-operate with welfare authorities, Sgt. Bellemare said.

He said the monastery was inspected by police and welfare court officers last Dec. 28 following reports received from persons who had lived there. A report was subsequently submitted to the welfare court.

Consumers' Body Fears Government Influenced

OTTAWA (CP)—Government officials may not be acting to bring down food prices because they depend on food companies for campaign funds, the Canadian Consumers Protest Association suggested in a brief today to Parliament's consumer prices committee.

The committee was asked to begin an immediate investigation of "the influence of large business firms on government officials."

The brief was presented by the president, Mrs. Lawrence Wilson of Manotick, near Ottawa, and five representatives of regional organizations from Winnipeg to Halifax.

Mrs. Wilson, who organized the first supermarket boycott here last September, became president at an organizational meeting in Ottawa in December. The association says it represents 20,000,000 consumers in Canada.

The brief said the government is not acting for the consumer but for "the short-sighted interest of other groups."

There had been no attempt to implement "extremely important" recommendations made by a royal commission on price spreads of food products in 1959.

The brief said that although the current committee had suggested the housewife is responsible for the high price of food, "the Canadian shopper is no more responsible for this than a child who is brutally raped is responsible for that act."

The association was "very disturbed" to learn that Gar field Weston enterprises controlled "at least a third" of Canada's food industry. Purchase of competing firms by Weston had eliminated competition in many parts of Canada, contradictory to the intent of anti-combines legislation.

The brief asked whether any government agency is in touch with such changes in the food industry and whether any action was being taken by law enforcement agencies.

A copy of the association brief was released to the press in advance of presentation.

Coldest Night of Year Forecast for This Area

Button up your overcoat! We're facing a frigid weather in the next 24 hours.

The mercury tonight will go skating down to zero across the Quinte district and will only make it back to 20 degrees tomorrow, warns the weatherman.

The Arctic air has brought a general warning for all Ontario residents to prepare for the coldest night of the year as temperatures are expected to nose-dive.

The weather went into a slide around 8 a.m. today, the duty forecaster at Canadian Forces Base Trenton, reported.

At that time the temperature was around -37. A couple of hours later it had declined almost 10 degrees.

Early morning winds, gusting up to 50 miles an hour in the Belleville-Trenton area, began diminishing as the cold front moved up.

The cold snap may be accompanied by some isolated snow flurries in the area.

It also follows a winter storm over the Prairies, bringing blowing snow over central and Northern Ontario regions.

Viet Cong Uses Gas

SAIGON (CP)—The Viet Cong used what appeared to be riot-control gas against U.S. soldiers Monday, a U.S. military spokesman said today.

Troops of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division made contact with 200 Viet Cong about 37 miles northwest of Saigon. The Viet Cong fled with the infantry in pursuit.

Just more than one-half mile from the original contact, the Viet Cong used "what appeared to be a riot-control gas against U.S. troops," the spokesman said.

The gas did not have any serious effect on the troops and gasmasks were not needed, the spokesman said. There were no U.S. casualties but two Viet Cong were killed in the action.

It was the second time the Viet Cong was reported to have used gas.

North Vietnam has protested U.S. use of gas in the Vietnam war.

In the air war, U.S. jet bombers returned to the heavily-defended Hanoi area today for two raids on a railway yard 40 miles north of the Communist capital.

A U.S. military spokesman, reporting on strikes in the Red River Delta for a third straight day of clear weather, said air force F - 105 Thunderchiefs pounded the Thai Nguyen railyard in the morning and again this afternoon.

As the pace of the air war over the North quickened, U.S. headquarters reported two photo reconnaissance jets went down over North Vietnam Monday and said the four flyers are missing.

This brought the number of U.S. planes reported lost over the North to 459.

Vaccine Fails

Rabies Outbreak in Carleton County Claims Life of Girl Bitten by Cat

OTTAWA (CP)—An outbreak of rabies that has swept the animal population in Carleton County since last summer has claimed its first human victim, a four-year-old girl.

Donna Darlene Featherston, who died in hospital Friday night, was one of four persons to be scratched or bitten by a rabid cat last Oct. 21.

All four were given a series of 14 anti-rabies injections immediately after the incident and Donna's death left medical officials here trying to explain why the vaccine hadn't worked.

Since rabies has a six-month incubation period, it also left the two women and the boy attacked by the cat with three months to wait before it is certain they aren't infected.

Health authorities said booster shots may be given the three survivors.

A decision hasn't yet been made on whether a coroner's inquest will be held.

Meanwhile, stray animals are being shot on sight in some areas of the frightened county and officials have warned that pets shouldn't be allowed to run loose.

Medical officials said Donna's youth and the fact that she was bitten on the face may account for the failure of the vaccine to save her life.

Dr. L. H. Douglas, Carleton County medical health officer, said that the closer the bite to the brain, the greater the danger.

He also said that he was told that it was the first failure in 23 years of the vaccine made by Connaught Laboratories in Toronto.

It was administered by Dr. B. R. Fitz-Gerald of Richmond, who ordered it Oct. 21 from the provincial health department offices here and began the injections Oct. 22.

Donna was playing on a woodpile at her home near Richmond, 10 miles southwest of Ottawa, when the cat attacked. Mrs. Dale Featherston, her mother, carried her into the house and the cat followed.

Mrs. Featherston was bitten on the wrist as she threw the animal out.

A few minutes later, Steve Johnson, 7, got off a school bus at his home across the highway and was attacked by the mottled-grey cat.

Brown tooth marks are still visible on his arm almost three months after the incident.

"He had this cat hanging on his arm," recalled Mrs. T. D. Johnson, who had to tear the snarling animal loose. A long scratch is facing on her arm.

The Johnson dog attacked the cat, was scratched on the nose and had to be destroyed.

Mr. Johnson shot the cat later that day and he and Mr. Featherston turned it over to federal veterinary officials, who found it had been rabid.

Industrial Body Answers Criticism

Commission Report Indicates Two Firms May Locate Here

Out of 30 different industrial prospects interviewed last year, the Belleville Industrial Commission feels confident two industries will locate in the city.

Submitting his annual report of the commission to city council, commission chairman J. C. Houston said that the total floor space involved in the two plants is forecast at about 60,000 square feet with a total employment of about 130 people, 40 per cent of them women.

Of the other 27 prospects interviewed, Mr. Houston said that 12 have definitely decided on locating in other cities while the remaining 15 were still in the process of making a decision or were waiting for a change in the general credit and building situations before active consideration of new plants.

Mr. Houston assured council that working with industrial prospects was a full time job for industrial Commissioner Ernst Kneisel whose 1966 activities included the writing of 340 letters and the making of 240 long distance calls, exclusive of correspondence in connection with commission meetings.

He outlined the services given by the commissioner to industrial prospects once a commitment is made or a definite intention is expressed.

These services ranged from assisting in choosing a building site and arranging for possible transportation of utility services.

Similar service is sometimes undertaken for local firms wishing to expand, rent buildings or purchase land in the city.

Mr. Houston said the commission has taken the view that it should look to local industry for the greatest share of any industrial growth to be experienced in the city.

He said the commission feels it was indirectly instrumental in getting Automatic Signals (Canada) Ltd. to locate in Belleville last year. (The firm took a lease on a 10,000-square foot Adam street building erected in 1965 as result of commission encouragement.)

Another local expansion in which the commission assisted was the leasing and renovation of 10,000 square feet of empty space by which some 30 people were now employed.

The commission also is involved at present in helping a local firm justify a proposed expansion to its head office and at the same time is assisting in certain local arrangements to make the expansion possible if it is approved.

Certain long term projects take up any slack that might occur between work on prospects.

One of these is a continuing study of local markets for industrial products, the theory being to present these figures to industrial prospects with the view of inducing them to build here.

A second of these projects is to induce local investors to erect new buildings on speculation for industrial use.

A new project which has occupied a good deal of the industrial commissioner's time in recent months is research, correspondence and statistical work in connection with the possible location in the Belleville area of the proposed College of Applied Arts and Technology.

Mr. Houston said the commissioner had been "loaned" to a committee of the college board of governors and it was hoped the action will have contributed materially to the speed with which the institution is located in the area.

This work had been donated on a goodwill basis.

Mr. Houston said the establishment of a college here would represent not only a new industry in itself, but such a college would attract a good many other industries.

Following his report on the commission activities, Mr. Houston made a personal report answering recent criticism directed at the commission.

Mr. Houston said that the criticism, headlined in The Intelligencer, might well have resulted in a potential industry deciding not to locate in the city.

The full text of Mr. Houston's answer to criticism of the industrial commission will appear in Wednesday's newspaper.

Turn Motion Down

Two Vote to Revamp Industrial Commission

Belleville city council yesterday turned down a motion from Alderman Arthur Keegan calling for revamping of the local industrial commission.

The notice of motion presented to council two weeks ago called for disbanding of the present commission and replacing it with a board of six city aldermen.

The motion was turned down by a vote of 9-2, following a presentation from Industrial Commission head J. C. Houston and discussion by council.

In speaking to his motion Alderman Keegan said he had felt for some time that the Industrial Commission was not putting its best foot forward in its efforts to secure industry.

He said the commission had gone on record as not wanting "dirty" industry such as an auto parts plant.

In view of the fact that many Belleville citizens had to find work outside the area, Alderman Keegan wondered why the commission insisted on looking for automated plants that employ few people, but pay high taxes.

ALD. STATES CASE

He agreed that this type of plant helped to balance the assessment but they employed little to the economy.

The feeling that plants with large employment mean more hospital beds and more schools, was negative thinking in the opinion of Keegan.

He said that city council should decide the policy, not the industrial commission as they are not elected representatives.

He contended that city alderman had the time for the job and said as elected representatives it was their duty.

"City council," he said, "must have authority over the industrial commission because it did not do a good job they could be voted out of office.

"It is a fine state of affairs when the elected council is at the mercy of a non-elected body," he said.

ALD. COMMENDED

Alderman Donald Joss said he could not agree with Alderman Keegan's comments.

Mr. Houston said that the commission has been asked to look at industry for the city and that the council and city must be 10 per cent behind him. The city industrial commissioner was highly qualified for the job.

Referring to the commission directorate, Ald. Joss said he felt it should be more diversified and that more use should be made of city expatriates now holding responsible positions in other cities. Many of these men could assist in directing industry to Belleville, he felt.

GIVES REASONS

Alderman Douglas Boyle also commended Ald. Keegan for his motion but said it was impossible of attainment because of the autonomous make up of the commission.

He felt that Ald. Keegan had the right intentions at the city in mind and that any criticism of the commission should be considered as "healthy" criticism.

Alderman David felt that the city must attract industry was for it to present a good image.

Alderman J. R. Scott said he had seconded Ald. Keegan's motion because he felt the matter should be debated in council. He felt, that the industrial commission should come under a little more direct financial control of council.

Alderman Deacon commended Industrial Commissioner E. Kneisel and said the city was fortunate in getting such a highly qualified man.

MOTION TURNED DOWN

Alderman J. Allan said he was conducting his own poll and was not ready to vote intelligently on the matter. His recommendation that the motion be laid on the table for two weeks was turned down.

Mayor Jack Ellis said that he found it difficult to believe that anyone living in the city would make such "reckless statements of a scurrilous nature" as had been made in the council chamber two weeks ago.

The mayor cited figures to back his statements made by Ald. Keegan with respect to falling industrial and commercial assessments were untrue.

"Actually," he said, "commercial and industrial assessment increased during 1964 and 1965 by more than a million dollars."

"I ask you, does this sound like a drop?"

Fixtures for 1966 were not yet available but the mayor said he was not afraid to go out on a limb and predict that the 1966 increase in these categories would equal or better 1964 and 1965 combined.

MAKES CONTRIBUTION CLAIM

Building permits for industrial construction in 1966 had almost equalled all of 1964 and 1965 combined.

"The Industrial Commission," the mayor said, had made a significant contribution toward the building figures."

Comercial building permits had boomed accordingly, according to the mayor.

Mayor Ellis admitted that 34 per cent of council had changed since 1965. Of these at least one had re - opened in a different location, four had changed ownership, six were burned out and others were in buildings destroyed to make way for new structures. Among them were only a few major contributors to the city tax revenues.

He said the other side of the picture Mayor Ellis said that in the same period 38 new businesses had started in the city, some of these being major tax contributors.

Mayor Ellis said that the employee income for Belleville at $4,717 stood 36th across Canada and better than such places as Kingston, Brantford, Guelph or North Bay.

In disposable income Belleville stood 22 per cent above the national average.

Turning to the employment picture Mayor Ellis, said that approximately 500 people living in Belleville commute daily for jobs outside the city.

On the other hand there are 1,000 Belleville residents working in the city who live outside the corporation.

Turning to the statement two weeks ago by Ald. Keegan that the National Housing Corporation was refusing loans to potential home builders at Belleville, Mayor Ellis said this was not the case and read a letter from the manager of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation to that effect.

Turning to Ald. Keegan's request for a combined application to be made to have the Quinte area classed as a designated area, Mayor Ellis referred to previous applications which had been made with nil result. "The unemployment picture in the Belleville area was slightly higher than the national average but was not high enough to be used to qualify as a designated area," he said.

WHAT CITY SAYS MAYOR

"I am sick to death of people, particularly those in public office, who continually knock their home town, who cannot find a good word for a fine city such as ours," concluded the mayor.

"Therefore," he said, "he must reject these merchants of doom and despondency when they ask that people pull together."

Perhaps I am out of step, perhaps this is a terrible city run by incompetents, perhaps I am blind — but I try to know what goes on in our city as much as possible."

The mayor said that wherever he goes he tries to boost Belleville.

"I tell them about Belleville, that it's a warm friendly city, that it's a good place to raise kids, I'll tell them how proud I am to live here."

"Belleville may be all the things the knockers say but — I don't believe it."

Marshal Probing Bata Fire

By CDT.

TRENTON — An inspector from the Ontario Fire Marshal's Office in Toronto arrived here today to begin investigations into the cause of Tuesday's blaze that destroyed a full-stocked shoe warehouse here.

Fire Chief Cecil Ellis said any explanation on possible origins of the blaze which caused an estimated $600,000 loss to Bata Shoe Company must await conclusion of the investigation.

Town firemen continued to water the smouldering ruins of the warehouse — sometimes CPR roundhouse — all day yesterday.

The fire wiped out about half of Bata's line of Spring fashion shoes, awaiting shipment in the warehouse.

Company merchandizing officials were in conference this morning and not available for comment on what effects the loss would have on marketing or production at the company's big Batawa plant.

Behind the "Glass"

Veterans of the Quinte Curling Club, those over 55 years of age have completed their playdowns for the senior championship of Ontario and a rink borne by defeating a rink of Pete and Anne Acton and Murray Hall and Ralph Graham in an extra end. The winning rink was one town coming home and they managed to bury a rock that could not be removed and the extra end Ralph Graham left inches short on the raise of a rock to the four foot ring.

A rink of Carrie Mahoney, Betty Ingram, Doily Diamond with Ena Corke as skip journeyed to Bancroft over the week-end and came home with the one game high prize. The rink tied the first game and won in the extra end, was defeated in the second and lost on the extra end in the third game.

Wilkinson will compete in the Rose Bowl playoffs leading to the championship of Ontario for mixed rinks. They won that title when Jim Wilkinson and Jean Ferguson, Phil Dybie with Bob Bastable as skip will represent the local club in the playdowns for the district and which will be staged at Picton in the near future.

Four rinks of Colts, Napanee, Stirling, Canadian Forces Base and Belleville will meet in the playdowns for the district at the local rink on Sunday with Fred Maund as convenor. This will be a knockout draw and the first game will be played at one o'clock. The Quinte Curling Club will be represented by a rink of Jim Stewart, Ken Monson, Will Weymark with Neville Burroughs as skip. This is a competition for curlers with five years and less of membership.

Centennial Parade Will Be Midweek Affair

Belleville's big Centennial parade will be a mid-week affair on Wednesday, July 5, instead of Saturday, July 1 as originally planned, Mayor Jack Ellis told Rotarians yesterday.

The Mayor said the switch had been made because July 1 was the weekend most people went to their cottages. Parades were also scheduled in Toronto and Ottawa. They would be televised and this could also affect attendance at the local celebrations.

The July 5 parade will coincide with the official opening of the city's main Centennial project — the recreational complex and beautification program at Zwick's Island — and the arrival of the Centennial Caravan for a week's stay, Ontario Premier Robarts is expected to attend.

Mr. Ellis said the latter was essentially the same as the Centennial Train and its cargo of Canadiana exhibits. The train would not be coming to Belleville, the city being under 50,000 population, but it would make stops at Kingston and Peterborough.

The Mayor recalled the recent opening Centennial event when despite dampness and cold there was a big turnout to see the bonfire of Christmas trees at Zwick's Island. He listed the many events which would be held between now and Christmas when a mammoth Christmas parade ending in Trenton was planned.

Noting that the 100th anniversary of a nation was perhaps unique when compared with the thousands of years of history experienced by European countries, the Mayor said: "If ever a country needed a reason to join together in unity for one big blowout it is Canada.

"Geographically the country is big but in other ways we are very small."

He said if Centennial Year turned out as he hoped it might help reduce the tensions between English and French-speaking Canada.

"We should come out of 1967 smiling, with our heads held high, proud of being Canadian, and ready and willing to face the next 100 years."

Prices Rise High

The rate of increase of consumer prices in Canada has gone up from one per cent throughout 1961 to nearly our per cent in 1966.

NICHOLSON, Mrs. Alta A. J. — On Saturday, January 14, 1967, Alta Bannockburn, Ontario, passed away suddenly at her residence in her 68th year. Born in 1899, Alta Bannockburn was the loved wife of Allan Nicholson, dear mother of Mrs. R. (Betty) Hass, Bannockburn, Mrs. E. (Jean) Walkington, Mrs. Ross (Ruth) Wallbridge, Mrs. Ken (Mary) Mrs. M. (Maude) Parks, Bannockburn and Mrs. Jack (Constance) Irvin, Marysville. Also survived by three grandchildren and one great grandchild.
Resting at the Carter side of the picture Mayor Ellis said that in the same period 38 new businesses had started in the city, some of these being major tax contributors.
Mayor Ellis said that the employee income for Belleville at $4,717 stood 36th across Canada and better than such places as Kingston, Brantford, Guelph or North Bay.
In disposable income Belleville stood 22 per cent above the national average.
Turning to the employment picture Mayor Ellis, said that approximately 500 people living in Belleville commute daily for jobs outside the city.
On the other hand there are 1,000 Belleville residents working in the city who live outside the corporation.
Turning to the statement two weeks ago by Ald. Keegan that the National Housing Corporation was refusing loans to potential home builders at Belleville, Mayor Ellis said this was not the case and read a letter from the manager of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation to that effect.
Turning to Ald. Keegan's request for a combined application to be made to have the Quinte area classed as a designated area, Mayor Ellis referred to previous applications which had been made with nil result. "The unemployment picture in the Belleville area was slightly higher than the national average but was not high enough to be used to qualify as a designated area," he said.

WHAT CITY SAYS MAYOR

"I am sick to death of people, particularly those in public office, who continually knock their home town, who cannot find a good word for a fine city such as ours," concluded the mayor.

"Therefore," he said, "he must reject these merchants of doom and despondency when they ask that people pull together."

Perhaps I am out of step, perhaps this is a terrible city run by incompetents, perhaps

$50,000 Loss in Downtown Fire

Belleville firefighters last night swiftly struck out a blaze threatening a small downtown business block near city hall.

Fire Chief Ted Foote today estimated damage at over $50,000 and said the fire apparently started around a stove pipe and heavily damaged apartments and offices in the compact, two-storey building on Front Street's west side.

Most serious loss may have been recorded by Monroe International of Canada — a business and office machines company operating on the ground floor for the past two years.

One insurance adjuster said the loss at Monroe's could be close to $40,000.

Smoke and water poured through the office as firemen fought to contain the blaze after it erupted through partitions to an overhead apartment. One fire official said the fire apparently started on the rear ground floor of the building.

Smoke damage also was caused in the adjoining office of McKinney Real Estate.

Fire damage was caused in both upstairs apartments, leaving Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Kelar, their son Harvey, 11, and his wife, Donna, 19, homeless.

The Kelars were given temporary living quarters in the nearby Queen's Hotel.

The upper apartment was rented by an elderly man identified as Ozzie Connors, recently admitted as a patient to Belleville General Hospital.

Firemen said contents of both apartments were lost. Found dead at the scene was the Kelar's pet pup, left behind while the family was out for the evening.

Lesser smoke damage was caused in the neighboring offices of Brennan and McBride — also was opposed to the Dundas street project at this time. He urged council wait to see what the new College street bridge would do for the city traffic pattern.

In any event commencement of the project would interfere with the city's centennial celebrations planned for Zwick's Island, he said.

Alderman Douglas Boyle said he favored the project and asked that council look at it from the standpoint of what it would do for the city's development over the next decade. Any delay in the start would increase costs, he said.

Alderman Enos David and Arthur Roblin felt, as did Aldermen Allin and Scott, that the Dundas street project was a matter for the voters to decide.

But Alderman Donald Joss said if the city was to grow it must move ahead. "If we are to attract industry we must have a good appearance and good transportation," he said.

Alderman Williams said he was amazed that the proponents of the new College street bridge now did not favor the proposed Dundas street project.

"Could it be that these aldermen were favoring only one section of the city?" he asked.

Alderman Kenneth Soden looked at the project from the standpoint bridge-cost. The project now is that the Highland avenue and Dundas street intersection will be eliminated and the top of the Devil's Elbow hill will be cut away instead of fill and a retaining wall being placed at the bottom.

Four houses on the south side of Dundas street just west of the Devil's Elbow would have to come down to accommodate the sloping grade down the hill.

There is no change in the proposed location of the overpass under the railway tracks.

City engineer Wilbur Purvis feels that from a traffic movement standpoint the latest proposal is much better. The cost will be less.

Last night council voted 7-4 to go ahead with the project but not before several aldermen urged a "go slow" approach.

Alderman Jack Allin emphasized that overall cost of the project and said it should be delayed in favor of Foster Ward sanitary sewers.

In any event he felt that the citizens had a right to vote on the matter.

Alderman J. Russell Scott ironically one of the district's largest insurance adjusters.

The alarm was first raised about 10.15 p.m. when a passerby dashed across the street into the Park Theatre and told the staff he'd spotted smoke rising from the building.

Firemen, at the scene within minutes after the call from the theatre, cracked upstairs windows to start pouring water on the blaze.

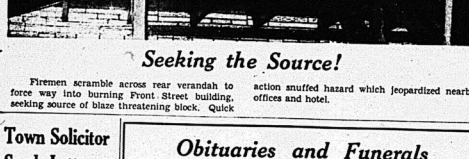
Others donned smoke masks and pushed into the smoke-filled building.

Fireman Archie Hill was temporarily affected by smoke but quickly recovered and returned to the lines, after relaxing behind a fire reel.

Police cordoned off Front Street below the Four Corners for more than an hour until Fire Chief Ted Foote was satisfied the threat was snuffed out.

Late this morning fire department inspector Robert Fair said the fire started in a partition above piping from a gas-fired furnace.

"The partition," he said, "had decomposed over a period of time due to lack of proper ventilation although there was nothing the matter with the installation."



Seeking the Source!

Firemen scramble across rear verandah to force way into burning Front Street building, seeking source of blaze threatening block. Quick action snuffed hazard which jeopardized nearby offices and hotel.

OK Given Bridge

head railway bridge to Sidney street, tentatively scheduled for 1970, would be left for consideration of the city council at that date.

A Dundas street bridge over the Moira River was first proposed close to 30 years ago and has been under serious discussion for the past three to four years.

A couple of years ago a Toronto firm of consulting engineers, Damas and Smith, was retained to draw plans for the project which included an overhead bridge over the railway to eliminate the present level crossing on the Bay Bridge road.

This proposal failed to meet the approval of council, however as it entailed a grade reduction 'till at the foot of the Devil's Elbow hill which would have denied a Dundas street entrance to several business establishments in the area. It also included a costly intersection at Highland avenue and Dundas street.

So last year the consulting engineers were asked to take another look at the project with the view of eliminating the complicated intersection. The engineer's report was received by council at a caucus meeting last week.

The principal change in the proposed bridge-road project now is that the Highland avenue and Dundas street intersection will be eliminated and the top of the Devil's Elbow hill will be cut away instead of fill and a retaining wall being placed at the bottom.

Four houses on the south side of Dundas street just west of the Devil's Elbow would have to come down to accommodate the sloping grade down the hill.

Refugees Resent Being Moved

PHU CUONG (Reuters) — Some 6,000 refugees from the Viet Cong Iron Triangle stronghold appear resigned to living behind barbed wire as U.S. and South Vietnamese forces systematically raze their villages.

Some of the refugees are even so disgusted they spat on the ground in front of us when they first arrived," a U.S. official said today at a resettlement centre outside this provincial capital.

"They don't love us," he said "but their attitude is improving."

The refugees were forced to evacuate tree-shaded villages in the northern fringe of the triangle, 25 miles southwest of Saigon, by operation Cedar Falls, the biggest American action of the war.

Douglas Alkenbrack Held Blameless in Traffic Death

A coroner's jury last night ruled Douglas Alkenbrack, MP Prince Edward-Lennox blameless in the traffic death two months ago of a Shannonville man on Highway 2.

Instantly killed when hit by a car driven by Mr. Alkenbrack was 49-year-old Wilfred Alexander Hill.

The jury presented its verdict to Belleville coroner Dr. John Stock after Mr. Alkenbrack himself took the stand and recounted how he had swerved his car to avoid Hill standing in the middle of the road near Portt's Hill east of Shannonville.

The jury ruled the cause of the fatal accident hinged on Hill's behavior and "condition" at the time of the accident and considered the MP was not "at any way" to blame for the man's death.

Mr. Alkenbrack, accompanied to the inquest by his lawyer Joseph Pearce of Napanee, told the hearing he was westbound toward Belleville with his wife about 6.30 p.m. when the accident happened.

As his car broke over the hill he saw a man ahead of him near the highway's centre line "pacing toward me in a very unusual manner . . . his arms were waving."

His car skidded as he applied the brakes and he feared the vehicle would roll over. He attempted to swerve round the man, but the pedestrian moved in the same direction as the car.

"He moved to block us as though he was attempting to stop us," recalled the MP.

"Again," said Mr. Alkenbrack, he tried to steer away from the figure but again the man changed course."

"I was almost on top of him, then and I had one more opportunity to swing back to the white line again, or to my left. And when I did that I felt and heard the terrible impact of his body colliding with the car."

Queried by Crown Attorney John Pringle about his speed, Mr. Alkenbrack replied: "I wasn't looking at the speedometer at the time, but I would judge I was going 45 to 50 miles an hour."

His wife, Nan, called to the stand, briefly corroborated her husband's evidence.

A Napanee woman, Mrs. Edna Hearns, said she had driven by the same spot with her daughter about 15 minutes before the accident and saw a man standing on the highway shoulder "very close to the pavement flailing his arms around.

"He startled me and he scared my daughter very nearly out of her wits," she added. "His actions were very erratic."

OPP Constable Brian Skinner said last August 11 he had rejrimanded Hill for hitchhiking in the vicinity. "Hill," said the officer, "had been drinking but was not intoxicated."

Dr. L. J. M. Tremblay, regional pathologist at Belleville General Hospital, said blood tests revealed .29 per cent alcohol in the dead man's bloodstream. Average statistics rate the normal threshold for intoxication at .15 per cent.

"There's no question to my mind the man was intoxicated," added the pathologist.

"Hill," he said, " died almost immediately from spine fracture and other lower internal injuries."

OPP Constable R. J. Harvey, who investigated the mishap, said weather at the time was dark and hazy and it had earlier been raining in the area.

COMPLETELY SOBER

Tests in approximate weather showed low beam headlights picked up movement on the road ahead at only 50 yards, increasing to 90-95 yards with high beams.

"There was no question of Mr. Alkenbrack's sobriety," queried the Crown.

"No question whatsoever," said the constable.

"Completely sober?"

"Yes sir."

"Hill," said the officer, was wearing a black and red plaid shirt and green pants at the time of the fatality.

Application Made for TV Station

TRENTON — The program manager of CFTO-TV, (channel 9) a Mr. Rutter, told Trenton council last night many persons in this area had expressed interest in having programs from the Toronto - based station relayed here.

Mr. Rutter said his firm had conducted an engineering survey last fall and would already applied to the Board of Broadcast Governors for approval to move into this area. This would come, before the board's June meeting.

Should other interests wish to set up a "local" station, (in Belleville, probably,) Mr. Rutter said his firm would already draw in favor of the local set - up.

Mr. Rutter asked that council approve the idea in principle but the matter was referred to the general government committee.

Appointments Are Made

TRENTON — Trenton council's annual appointments to various town boards were made last night and are as follows:

Library board:- Miss Amelia Jones; Parks' board:- Mrs. Tripp, William Ireland; Trenton and Suburban planning board: Harold Simmons, Jack Klemencic; the area Emergency Measures Organization: Councillors Edward Lawrence and Ed Kinney; community gardens board: John Kidd, Lou Schmidt, Frank Barry, C. Ainsworth, Dudley Campney, Councillors Kinney and Duncan McLeod; Traffic committee: Councillor C. V. Graham, Dieter Rolf, Wayne Simmons, Bruce Long; Trenton health board: H. S. Trenton's Snow Bylaw Leaves Council at Odds

TRENTON — Just what's going to become of the town's re-vamped snow removal bylaw is in dispute. The bylaw provides court appearances as a possible fine for persons who failed to shovel their walks within 24 hours after a snowfall.

Town engineer Eric Alder says he came up with a list of "improvements," last night, compiled by men from the public works' department.

However, council wasn't in agreement with the new bylaw to collect names.

Councillor D. R. Fraser said he thought the idea had been to set only upon a complaint from another citizen.

Mayor MacDonald said he wondered if the town ought not to shovel the walks for old age recipients.

Councillor Paul Tripp reported "one street full of fainting" remaining unshovelled, when Councillor Ed Todd reported complaints from persons who said they were being asked to pay boys $2 or $2.50 for the service.

Mayor MacDonald the town buy two or more "Bombadiers" to clear the sidewalks at $5,000 apiece?

His and other points will be explored by the public works' committee.

No Action Taken on Windsor Motion

Belleville city council feels that city employees don't need any additional time off from work to enable them to vote in provincial elections.

Under the Canada Elections Act employees are permitted time off with pay for three consecutive hours on polling day at Federal and Provincial elections. But the city of Belleville feels that the same right should be extended in the case of municipal elections.

The Windsor resolution was considered yesterday by Belleville council but was filed without action being taken.

The present policy here is to allow city employees off at 4.00 p.m. which provides three consecutive hours for voting in Federal or Provincial elections. No time off is granted for municipal elections.

This gives city employees two hours to vote after quitting work at 5.00 o'clock.

Gasoline Bar For Car Wash Is Rejected

TRENTON — The Department of Highways has asked the town council to give an opinion on whether a reconstructed Highway 33 should run up Front Street or Water Street.

Meanwhile, council will not grant permission to C. Hughes to build a "gasoline bar" in the vicinity of his car wash, off Highway 33 and Front at the Old Lion. In fact, should the reconstructed highway proceed north on Front Street (as is proposed route), Mr. Plachta's car wash may have to be moved.

Trenton council last night voted to pick up the tab on rent payments for the Trenton Community Assistance Association, which runs the used clothing depot for the benefit of the needy.

Meanwhile, Councillor Kinney will look for a less expensive location for the depot.

The Pill and VD

Doctors are said to be concerned about the effect of contraceptive pills on venereal disease in Canada.

An Ottawa source says that while the VD figures show relatively little increase or decrease ,some doctors say they are not a true reflection of the extent of the disease.

They estimate that thousands of single women are taking contraceptive pills, opening the way to greater promiscuity and consequently greater danger of infection and spread of venereal disease.

The story is the same in other parts of the western world. In England an estimated 30,000 unmarried teenage girls are said to be taking contraceptive pills. In Sweden, where sexual laxity is perhaps more rife than in other countries of the west, medical authorities similarly are concerned.

In the United States last year there were 300,000 cases among teenagers alone. According to Parents' Magazine yearly infections of syphilis have trebled. In some urban areas of the United States VD has increased by 800 per cent.

The magazine adds: "In the United States we now face an estimated 1,700,000 new cases a year. And more than half of these are going untreated, to spread the disease and move on to sterility, blindness, madness and death."

The above comments is a fair reminder that countless people, particularly the young, are unaware of the fearsome consequences of venereal disease if it is allowed to go untreated. The fact that many people are unaware they are infected compounds the problem.

The article goes on to discuss methods of controlling the spread of the disease. Much is being accomplished by education courses in the schools, leafling to greater awareness among young people of the dangers involved in promiscuous behavior, and to swifter detection of infected persons.

That public knowledge of this health problem is one of the principal keys to its control is obvious. This is not just a matter of morals. Nor is it one that can be ignored for this or any other reason. It is an issue involving the health of the nation at large — this nation and each and every other one. As such, any program that increases public awareness and knowledge of the consequences of promiscuous behavior is all to the good.

Diepe Anniversary

The veterans of the 302nd German Division who came made it known they would like to take part in the 25th anniversary celebrations of the Dieppe raid, in which a Canadian force of 5,000 men was badly mauled, are no doubt sincere in their desire.

Last year Canadian and French veterans placed wreaths on a German memorial commemorating the Battle of the Somme. Thus there is a precedent for representatives of both sides being present on occasions such as this.

On the other hand, Dieppe was an engagement of unusual violence. The Germans, forewarned of the raid, had the attacking Canadians virtually at their mercy. Of the 5,000 men in the Canadian force only about 2,000 got back to England. The remainder had been killed or captured.

It was a black day not only for the Canadians but for the Allied cause. The Germans for their part were only doing their duty as soldiers. However, because the element of surprise had been lost, indeed was never even present, the affair was more of a massacre than a fair fight.

For this reason the Germans would be doing the tactful thing if they simply gave up ideas about taking part in the Canadian ceremonies. If they wish to commemorate the occasion themselves let them do so at some other time.

Now—the Minishopper

Britain started the miniskirt boom in the fashion world. Before that a U.K. car manufacturer had produced a model called the Minimineor and it has also enjoyed considerable popularity there and overseas.

From this it was only a short while before someone brought out a minibicycle — yet another handy little machine for getting around the crowded streets of British towns and cities.

Now the inventive British have done it again, this time with a three-wheel electric-powered vehicle which housewives are finding ideal for doing the shopping.

Appropriately, it is called the minishopper and it was invented by a 26-year-old engineer, David Fox. The vehicle costs a few cents a mile to operate and carries 56 pounds of shopping. It has a top speed of 20 m.p.h. and will run 20 miles on one charging of two car batteries that supply the power.

What will it be next? Miniaircraft perhaps!

'Estimates' Separate Men From Boys in Parliament

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — If you're a Federal Cabinet Minister, your annual testing — apart from any explosive crisis that may have erupted out of your department and into the Commons — comes shortly with the Estimates.

It is one of the set pieces of the Parliamentary year.

Here's how you, as a Minister, pit yourself, with the name and fame of your department at stake, against the combined Critics, as they call themselves, of the four Opposition groups.

They have help, too. Lots of it.

They've got Auditor General Max Henderson's report, and if that eagle-eyed "Watch-dog of the Treasury," as he is called, hasn't nailed some branch or division of your department for some sort of financial folly, you are lucky.

For he has help, a staff of accountants, especially trained to nose through your department looking for hanky-panky, accidental or deliberate. Either will get you a few politically embarrassing paragraphs in his report.

Finally, there likely has been a Parliamentary Committee — with Opposition MPs aboard — sailing through the bureaucratic seas of your department — hoping to hook something smelly to toss across the Commons floor into your face.

So it is pretty well you, alone, against the rest of the House, including, in all likelihood, a few members of your own Party who figure your department has given them a mud shake.

But don't panic.

You have help, too, when you face the Opposition.

Your Deputy and his Assistant are there at a table in front of you, with files of papers out of which to fish answers to the questions the Opposition pops at you.

And up in the Official Gallery above Deputy and his No. 2 have their officials with more files and a relay of runners for messages to and from your Commons desk.

But there is something more. And sometimes it is the determining factor in how you are going to make out under Opposition fire.

If you have been honestly helpful down the months in trying — within political reason of course — to answer Opposition questions, you'll find the going easy.

If you have gone out of your way in your department to have your bureaucrats oblige the many personally important requests Opposition MPs have made, then you're in.

In short, if you're popular, if they like you, and you've treated them as friends instead of the political foes you know them to be, they'll fall over in the aisles trying to help you get your Estimates through with few embarrassing questions asked.

But if you've been arrogant — and they seem to detest ministerial arrogance most — watch out.

If you've been evasive, smartalecky, superior, lastly unhelpful on the questions, then they are waiting for you.

And you are in for your lumps.

They'll keep you there, stuck with your Estimates.

They'll ask questions so endlessly you soon won't know day from night, as they grill you from early afternoon opening to late evening closing bells, day after day after day.

Remember, you are vastly out-numbered.

And don't always expect help from members of your own party colleagues, for political life being what it is — competitive like all other enterprise — some of them might even enjoy the spectacle of the Opposition embarrassing you.

One more thing — you'll discover when the Estimates separate the men from the boys in the Cabinet — it helps to have done your departmental homework and know your ministerial stuff.

Best Remedy

Vigorous exercise is the best antidote for nervous or emotional stress that we possess, far better than any tranquillizers or sedatives to which, unhappily, we are addicted. — Dr. Paul Dudley White, in an article in Weekend Magazine.

A U.S. View of Centennial Year

New York Times

The Canadians are beginning to celebrate the centennial of their existence as a geographic entity. The anniversary will be marked with a $500-million world's fair, which is a slight indication of how wealthy the country is. Yet, something is wrong with the picture.

Canadians, by and large, are not happy with their governmental structure. They are divided, worried, quarrelsome and dissatisfied with each other. There are forces that pull them apart — French-speaking Quebec from English-speaking Canada; East Coast from West Coast; industrial Canada from agrarian Canada. There is the immense force of the United States pulling them into a series of north to south axes instead of an east to west union. And there is a crisis of leadership in national politics and administration.

In spite of all these disturbing factors, the story of Canada in this centennial year is far from being unhappy or gloomy. The nation is potentially one of the wealthiest in the world; the per capita income is one of the highest; the component parts — the provinces — are doing fine.

The parabola of Canada in 1967 is that the whole is not equal to the sum of its parts. The federal Government in Ottawa is weak while the provinces are strong. The Canadian Constitution has brought about this anomaly. Parliament in Ottawa, where executive as well as legislative authority lies, does not have nearly the authority of the United States President and Congress. The Canadian Supreme Court in a similar way, cannot function as an authoritative arbiter and interpreter of national laws and affairs.

Canada, therefore, starts her second century of history feeling the need to forge national unity, so that an individual can say — and believe and practise what he says — "I am a Canadian first and foremost, although I am a Quebecois or a British Columbian."

Construction Needs Boost

Ottawa Citizen

Probably a very high priority should now be given to housing; funds should be made available, by whatever monetary means, to the construction industry at reasonable interest rates for this purpose. Productivity, which depends on skilled workers as well as on machines, should also be increased to the highest possible priority. This means improved education and training programs, and higher per production per acre. The ultimate goal of full employment combined with fairly level prices cannot be met in any other way.

The United States bought the three islands in the Virgin Islands group, east of Puerto Rico, 50 years ago today—Jan. 17—from Denmark for $25,000,000 after a Danish plebiscite. The purchase was for strategic naval reasons, since the islands are half-way between New York and Panama and control the Anegada sealane from the Atlantic to the Caribbean. The islanders are an unincorporated U.S. territory: its inhabitants are U.S. citizens but it has no vote in presidential elections and no voice in Congress.

1919 — 600 people were drowned when the French ship Chaonia was wrecked in the Straits of Messina.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1917—the Russians recaptured Erzerum in Armenia, from the Austrians. The German government accepted all Allied demands except for that to release impressioned Venizelist rebels; Canadians raided German trenches near Arras.

Second World War

Boys With Long Hair

Windsor Star

When a man meets up with one of these long-haired boys he must wonder just what sort of a creature it is. Certainly he is not the type of teenager one is accustomed to know.

The normal attitude for a large boy is to pride himself on his approaching manhood. He looks to the down on his face and it is a moment to remember when he feels it justifies shaving. He wants to be and to act like a man.

Teenagers of other days were shameful of any lad who didn't have all the signs of early manhood, at least in incipient form. He was apt to be called a sissy or worse terms which denoted this lack.

Come to think of it, fellow teenagers, too, and sometimes quickly could put an end to this practice of so-called men wearing long hair. They did so by just calling them sissies, or exclaiming: "Why don't you wear a ribbon?"

We came upon one of these long-haired types the other day. Frankly, he didn't appear too bright. He wasn't even smart enough to know if he is to wear his hair like the least he could do would be to wash it.

Injections Are a Help When Allergies Strike

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: For several years I have had an allergy which appears to be rose fever. It occurs mostly from May to mid-July, and this last year it was worst of all.

My physician says that statistics show that one out of three allergy cases become asthmatic if not properly treated.

I have used antihistamine capsules, which do not help very much. My doctor says these are just for temporary relief and feels that a series of tests should be made to establish exactly what I am allergic to, and then I should take weekly injections during the allergy season.

What is your opinion? If tests prove it to be rose fever, what medication is usually employed? Are there side effects? What are the possibilities of permanent cure? — Mrs. M. B.

Your doctor's advice is excellent. Take it. Seems to me there may be a misunderstanding as to when to have the injections. Did he say "during the allergy season," or before that season?

It's true that many people with regular allergies do develop asthma. The statistics depend on how severe the allergy is, but a great deal of the wheezing in later life exists because people did not take steps in early stages.

"Rose fever" does not necessarily mean sensitivity to roses. It can be allergy to other plants or flowers that grow in the same season — usually grass pollens.

Purpose of the tests is to discover what pollens are involved in your case.

Medication primarily consists of giving you very small injections of the pollens, even those of some plants, and very gradually increasing the amount as your body builds up immune tolerance. It is precisely the same as treatment for hay fever except that the pollens are not used. Given carefully, the injections are unlikely to involve side effects. Your doctor also should be started well before the season involved. Hence you should not delay the tests and treatments to prepare for the 1967 season.

Dear Dr. Molner: I usually must stop using a word to use with severe allergies. If you are wise, you will avoid as well as you can any plants to which you are found to be sensitive. Exposure strong enough to touch off another attack may set you back so that much of your desensitization will have to be begun all over again.

In any event, you probably will find it wise to continue some of the desensitization (or tolerance building) each year for a number of years. It is well worthwhile in terms of comfort and health.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 71 and at times a thick crust forms at my navel. Sometimes it is raw and sore but not painful. I look at it this way, sometimes it is good to let well enough alone. — Mrs. M. G.

Yes, but sometimes it is better to clear up a trouble while it is still a small one. This probably is not a matter of great danger, but you evidently have some kind of atopic dermatitis. Simple treatment now may avert increasing annoyance and soreness.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband will drink as much as three quarts of milk or buttermilk daily. I'm sure it's not healthy to do so. Please explain why it isn't, so I can show him. — Mrs. J. C.

Sorry, but I don't know why it wouldn't be healthy, for him so long as he isn't allergic to it — and evidently he isn't.

Note to Mrs. M. S.: I do not see why you are so doubtful. Yes, of course, there is such a thing as enteritis. It is inflammation of the intestine, usually of the smaller intestine.

Farmers to Find Casual Help Scarcer in '67

TORONTO (CP) — Casual farm workers may become the hardest people to find in Canada in the coming harvest season, officials of two agricultural organizations said Monday.

And, the villains, they say, are the employment regulations set by the federal government in administration of the Canada Pension Plan.

B. G. Wilson of Toronto, secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Fruit and Vegetable Growers Association, said in an interview at the association's annual convention that because farmers now must list even the most casual employee and his earnings under pension plan regulations, most of those workers formerly available won't be working this summer and fall.

He said most of them were moonlighters—people with regular jobs who took part-time positions as harvesters on weekends or during evenings—and who, because the farmers didn't have to report their employment, had never bothered reporting their income to the department of national revenue.

Now, because they know the farmer has to report their earnings, albeit to another federal department, he said these moonlighters would feel compelled to report their earnings as taxable income.

A revenue department spokesman said he foresees no possibility of amending the pension plan requirements to make it easier for farmers to hire casual help.

Report Loss Due to Fire Low in 1966

NAPANEE — Napanee has an enviable record of fire loss in 1966 when the total damage added up to only $28,000. As a result, every citizen who pays insurance will benefit from the low rate. This record reflects credit on the Napanee Fire Department and the speed with which calls are answered and the efficiency with which they are handled.

When asked for further comment on the low fire loss, Chief F. W. Patten explained that it was partly due to the change in the method of heating homes. There are few wood stoves today, and consequently few chimney fires which may get out of control. Most households have turned to gas or oil, and last year there were only three calls because of defective oil stoves or furnaces. These are now being serviced regularly by the dealers.

Last year the Fire Department answered 68 recorded calls, and a number which were not recorded, such as on Hallowe'en when they put out 18 fires set about the streets in piles of leaves, and turned off 12 hydrants which pranksters had opened. Out of the recorded calls were to homes, and seven to places of business. There were four false alarms.

Richmond and North Fredericksburgh have the protection of the Napanee Fire Department, each paying a fee of $1,000. In addition they pay for time spent by the men.

Among oil issues, Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas reached a high of 29¼, up ⅛, and Dome Petroleum was unchanged at a high of 42.

Following news of its participation in a $25,000,000 oil and gas exploration program with Noranda Mines, Great Plains jumped 1¼ to 13. Canadian Superior and Banff were each off ¼, to 32 and 16½, respectively.

In base metals, Denison dropped 1 to 57¼, on news that its projected uranium sales to France may meet difficulties. Inco was off ¼ to 94½.

Increase in Telegraph Charges Sought by Both CN and CP

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Telecommunications Monday asked the board of transport commissioners to approve an increase in charges for telegraph messages in Canada.

Rate increases by the companies would bring them jointly estimated additional revenue of 13 per cent. The last increase in their charges for general message traffic was in 1965.

The companies' proposal included a new schedule of rates for press messages that would increase their yield from this source by about 19 per cent. The over-all revenue increase, including press traffic, would amount to $1,643,314 annually for the two companies which say it is required to meet higher costs including wages.

They describe their costs as having risen substantially since Sept. 1, 1965, when the board approved a flat 10-cent increase in charges for all domestic telegraph messages.

The changes they propose in the general rate structure would base the minimum charge for a telegraph message on 15 words instead of the present 16 word minimum. New charges also would be based on a minimum communication distance of 250 instead of the present 125 miles.

The proposed scale would eliminate the present day-letter class of messages that have lower rates based on the idea they take second place in priority of transmission behind messages sent at full rates.

The communications companies feel that due to procedures of automation, day letters now are transmitted as quickly as full-rate messages and their lower rates are impractical.

The companies propose the new 25-word minimum on the basis of calculations indicating that the average length of telegrams is 16 words.

At present, basic rates s telegram of 10 words or fewer sent the minimum distance of 125 miles costs 80 cents. Extra words cost four cents each.

STILL BELOW U.S. CHARGE

With a 15 - word minimum, charges would start at $1.10 for messages sent up to a distance of 125 miles. There would be a charge of five cents each for the next 10 additional words and two cents for each word after that.

The telegraph companies would maintain special rates for night letters although they would be increased. Present charges are 80 cents for a telegram up to 50-word length travelling within the minimum 125-mile distance. Additional wordage and distance increase the cost.

Under the proposed scale and 250 - mile minimum, charges would be 90 cents for the first 50 words with higher charges for additional wordage.

The companies also want to have a five-cent extra charge apply to all telegrams telephoned to their offices or picked up by messenger and a 10-cent extra charge for telegrams sent on a collect basis. These would be new charges.

They would like to be able to put the proposed rates into effect Feb. 15.

Honor Student Speaks at Guild Meeting

An honor student returned to speak to the January meeting of the Albert College Women's Guild. Miss Elizabeth Love, a graduate of Albert College and Queen's University was chosen to go to Africa with the Crossroads Africa team.

This organization was set up to establish a mutual understanding between the people of Africa and the Western World. It is undenominational and not government supported but is set up in Canada by the universities through interest of the United Church and financial help of the students chosen. The Crossroads teams work and live with the African people at their level and thus learn to understand their problems. Each team is given a project. Miss Love's team was to help with the building of a maternity hospital.

With the aid of slides taken in Kenya, Miss Love explained the customs of the people who are both Indian and African. Crossroads in reverse, as it were, has been organized and African students are coming to universities here for study, thus furthering understanding between the two countries.

Mrs. T. K. Franklin had charge of the program and introduced Miss Love and Mrs. Lavis who had charge of the worship service. Mrs. Swan thanked the speaker; also Mrs. Reidel who had contributed a most enjoyable solo.

Mrs. C. W. Smith, the president, conducted the business of the meeting.

During the social hour Mrs. Finkle and Mrs. Hibbard presided at the tea table.

EVERYTHING COMES IN FIVES — Ann Lawson, mother of the world's fifth surviving set of quintuplets, knits and chats with a friend at home in Auckland, N. Z., as the children, born July 1, 1965, relax. Usually it's more hectic, says Mrs. Lawson. The quints — four girls and a boy — are Shirlene, Selina, Lisa, Samuel and Deborah. (CP Photo)

Parents of Quints Trying to Raise Children as "Just an Ordinary Family"

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—Ann Lawson is a beautiful former model, but that's not what stops traffic when she shops for baby clothes. She orders five of everything.

Brunette Mrs. Lawson is the mother of the world's fifth surviving set of quintuplets. Since they were born July 1, 1965, Ann and husband Sam have become national celebrities.

Life has also become more complex. "Each day is hectic," says Mrs. Lawson, though she and her husband are trying to bring up their six youngsters—there is also six-year-old Leeana —as "just an ordinary family."

The first thing that happened with the birth of the four girls and one boy—Lisa, Selina, Shirlene, Deborah and Samuel—was that the Lawsons suddenly outgrew their home.

Arrangements were made to move them to a larger house which, by coincidence, happens to be a former maternity hospital stand where Ann had her first child.

"I never thought I'd be serving tea in the room where I recovered from Leeana's birth," Mrs. Lawson said. "I've tried to make it as homey as I can."

That defies effort, as can be seen from looking into the stainless steel kitchen and down the wide shining linoleum-covered corridor. Two nurses provided by the Auckland Hospital Board help give the hospital touch.

However, the Lawsons are planning a new home of their own. They've bought a 10-acre tract a few miles from their present quarters in suburban Henderson. The government has advanced them a loan and, along with the proceeds from sale of the house they once operated jointly and a strawberry patch Ann tended, they're embarked on building a ranch style house.

Despite their national fame, they remain in moderate circumstances. Like other New Zealand families, they receive the "family benefit" which comes to $2.25 per week per child. The national government has set up a trust to administer money that comes in from publicity and advertising rights.

Ann says that, with the building program ahead, they can't spend only frugally — "but I can't resist the odd extravagance on the children."

NEEDS EXTRA MONEY

Sam works overtime to keep abreast financially. He has a small builders' supply business—which he set up after the quints were born—and moonlights as an adviser on cements. His spare time is spent at the site of the new home near the sea.

Expenses multiply for the parents of quints—everything from three prams to five sets of the mother's favorite wool for most wearables. "You should see the shopping bank when I ask for something," she says. "Then they realize who I am and want to know all about the babies."

She's not particularly overwhelmed by it all. "Lots of women manage with six children; they just don't have to cope with five of them the same age."

"We might have had six children normally if we had been able," says Ann, whose quints were conceived after hormone treatment for infertility "instead, we got them all at once. Now all that really matters is that we do the best we can for them."

Social List of Washington Can Be Found in Green Book

WASHINGTON (AP) — One book covered in green suede is always a best-seller in Washington. It can be found at the White House, the state department, in the homes of the Kennedys, Humphreys, McNamaras and Ruska. They call it the Green Book.

Depending on its owner, it's a status symbol, a telephone directory, an arbiter of the cocktail circuit, an etiquette guide or an instant guest list.

The Green Book is really The Social List of Washington, D.C. It's criticized, chastised, mudied and prized. Getting in seldom hurts. Being dropped usually pinches.

One woman threatened a lawsuit because she'd told friends she would be in, and wasn't.

Prerequisites for getting in include birth in a well-known family, wealth (self - made or inherited) or government or diplomatic position. Also, you must live at least part of the time in or near Washington.

This year's edition dropped a bomb when an associate justice of the Supreme Court, William O. Douglas, was deleted. Douglas, at 67, married his fourth bride, a 23-year-old, last summer.

Typically, there was no explanation for the omission. Reasons for being dropped, says the Green Book's publisher, Carolyn Hagner Shaw, generally fall into one of four categories:

Unpleasant notoriety, unpleasant divorce cases, separations where husband and wife live apart but claim the same name, and failure to answer the yearly questionaire.

Major government office holders, congressmen and embassy delegations — 2,000 total — are listed in one section. Some 5,000 social names comprise the bulk of the book.

Unrestrictingly, all names are listed with telephone numbers, zip code, addresses of all their homes (half have at least two) and wives' maiden name (in parentheses). No one gets special treatment.

On page 251, near the bottom, is this entry:

Johnson, president of the United States and Mrs. Lyndon Baines (Claudia Taylor) Miss Lynda Bird The White House, Washington, D.C. 20500. 456-1414

Lucl was not listed because she is married. Children are not included until they are of debutante age, 15 to 17.

One does not pay to be listed in the Green Book. But to receive a copy of the product, there is a $17.50 subscription price and the subscriptions are limited and carefully scrutinized. About 15,000 books are sold each year.

Mrs. Shaw, a tall, witty grandmother whose own mother started the Green Book 37 years ago, says she does not choose names herself. She says she has a board of four women, "anonymous but well thought of in Washington," to make decisions.

"I never ask why a person is taken out," she says. "I may have an idea, but I don't ask."

Mrs. Shaw is not listed, and neither is her family—except for some distant Hagner cousins from her mother's side of the family. She calls them "the rich Hagners."

French Women Forced To Adopt Rabbit Habit

PARIS (Reuters) — French women may still dream of mink, but a 25-per-cent sales tax on furs is forcing them to adopt the rabbit habit.

Rabbit, once primarily used for felts and fabrics, has recently achieved real fashion status. It now appears on some of the best - dressed women along with other inexpensive pelts such as lamb, dyed squirrel and lamb.

Rabbit-skin coats, in the soft pastel shades created to imitate more costly furs, can be bought starting at about 1,000 francs (about $200) at leading Paris department stores featuring specialized teen-age and budget fur departments.

One of the most popular models at the Printemps department is a trench-coat in grey chinchilla rabbit at 1,200 francs ($240).

Price is certainly not a factor in Brigitte Bardot's wardrobe. The blonde film actress made her first trip to the United States in 1965, she left her two mink coats at home in Paris and travelled with three new rabbit-skin coats dyed bright colors to match various evening gowns.

France imports 90 per cent of all the furs sold in the country with the exception of rabbit, which is raised domestically.

Fox, skunk and other long-haired furs which dropped out of fashion in the 1940s have staged a strong fashion comeback.

A small quantity of fox is imported from China, though its finer quality skins come from Canada, Russia and Scandinavia.

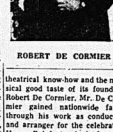
Inexpensive furs have even broken into the rarified realm of high fashion. They are used lavishly for trimmings as well as for high-styled garments which are as much as part of the fashion look as the short skirt.

The revival of fox stresses the trend toward Russian-inspired fashions, such as Christian Dior's coats liberally hemmed with fur, inspired by the costumes in the film Doctor Zhivago.

Pierre Cardin features giant fur ruffs to edge his space boots while Dior also employs lynx or fox to make entire sleeves for fabric coats.

Roberto Capucci, a young Italian considered in Paris, features a floor - length badger coat.

Community Concert Association Will Sponsor De Cormier Singers



ROBERT DE CORMIER

The Robert De Cormier Folk singers, an electrifying new group of fine mixed voices with varied instrumental accompaniment will appear here on Wednesday evening at the Belleville Collegiate Institute, under the auspices of the Community Concerts Association.

The program will be selected from the vast repertory of songs of many national ities presented with all the verve and excitement of a theatrical entertainment by the group of 14 men and women vocalists and three instrumentalists, under the direction of Mr. De Cormier.

This group of folk singers made its bow in 1962 in New York City in a downtown showcase, and not even One long blackout of the daily newspapers could stop the favorable word from getting around.

As a result of the resounding success of this initial tour, the group made a coast-to-coast tour in the United States and Canada the following year. That tour was such an overwhelming success that the group was again booked for a sold-out tour last season, as well as for 1965-66.

The De Cormier Singers everywhere bears the stamp of the theatrical know-how and the musical good taste of its founder Robert De Cormier. Mr. De Cormier gained nationwide fame through his work as conductor and arranger for the celebrated Harry Belafonte, both for his personal appearances and his recordings. When the Belafonte Folk Singers was formed, Mr. De Cormier became its arranger and conductor and was largely responsible for the immense popularity enjoyed by the group. For two seasons the Belafonte Folk Singers filled sold out tours of 90 engagements across the continent under the aegis of Columbia Artists Management, and its RCA Victor recordings were tremendous best-sellers. The formation of his own group is the natural outgrowth of his experience with the Belafonte Folk Singers.

A remarkable creative and versatile musician, Mr. De Cormier has made his mark as a composer, arranger and conductor. He is a graduate of Du Juilliard School of Music in New York.

Under the guidance of Robert De Cormier and his associates, the Folk Singers present a new concept in concert entertainment. The aim is to recreate the cultures of many lands through all artistic means. Variety is the keynote of programs with songs from England, Scotland, Ireland, Norway, Russia, Poland, Croatia, French Canada, Africa and the West Indies.

Beauty Shops Blue With Cigarette Smoke

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from the woman who resented going to the beauty shop and putting up with other people's noisy, poorly behaved children caught my eye. She said she wanted to go to the beauty shop for relaxation—to get away from her own kids—and I can certainly see her point. But my complaint is of a different nature and I beg you to print it.

ANN LANDERS

When I go to a beauty shop I like to come out smelling fresh and clean, but today it is impossible. I have tried three shops and they are all the same — blue with cigarette smoke. The last place was the worst. I counted 14 patrons with cigarettes — one woman with a cigar. Every beautician had a cigarette going. Yesterday the operator who did my hair almost set me on fire.

If you can solve this problem you're a genius. — CEILING ZERO.

* * *

DEAR ZERO: Find a salon with individual booths instead of one large room. Bring a small bottle of vinegar along on your next visit and ask the operator to pour some in a saucer and place it near you. The vinegar will absorb the smoke. When you leave, pour the vinegar back in the bottle and ask the operator to put it away for the next time.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Eight months ago when I started to work as a volunteer in a hospital I met a most attractive patient. Jim had been critically injured in a motorcycle accident. He was in the hospital for nearly six months. I saw him at least four times a week.

The day Jim was discharged he asked me to marry him and I said yes. He bought me a ring the following week. The first day he was allowed to leave the house he took his motorcycle and got into another accident. This time he almost lost a leg.

I am very upset over this, Ann. What's more, the first thing he asked about when he came out of the anesthetic was how badly was his bike banged up.

Today when I took him out in the wheel chair all he talked about was getting a new motorcycle.

I love this guy but I don't want to be a widow at 22. Do I have the right to tell him I will marry him only if he gives up the motorcycle? — HAD IT WITH THE TIN.

* * *

DEAR HAD IT: You do — and you should. I also suggest that you learn what other accidents Jim has had. I suspect there have been several. Find out from an authority what this means before you tie up with him forever.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A certain girl (I will call her Joan) has been a steady Saturday night sitter for us for over a year. She is dependable and the children like her better than any of the other sitters.

Last week Joan told me that she has started to go steady and from now on her boy friend is going to keep her company when she sits. My husband doesn't like the idea. I see nothing wrong with it. We have agreed to do as you say. — LAKE FOREST.

* * *

DEAR LAKE: I say get another sitter. If you provide a cosy setup for a couple of teen-agers you are prompting whatever happens — and take it from me, it's happening often — and right under the trusting noses of people like you.

The business of a sitter is to be in charge of your home and children in your absence. It's a job and should be treated as a job not a social engagement.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Maritimers Make Rich Oatmeal Bread

By MARY MOORE

You may notice that from some of our readers in the West I received requests for dark bread or black bread. What these readers want is a pumpernickel type loaf calling for rye flour. Rye flour contains very little gluten and is difficult to persuade to rise.

Maritimers Oatmeal Bread is dark too but with molasses. It rises like mad.

We had it with clam chowder, fresh from the oven. Next morning, we toasted it for breakfast. I think quite a few of our habitual yeast bread bakers will be glad to make it and add the recipe to their bread file.

MARITIMES OATMEAL BREAD (two 8 x 4 x 2½" loaves)

1 pkge. granular yeast
1 tsp. sugar
½ cup lukewarm water
2-3 cup rolled oats
1¼ tsps salt
2 tbsps shortening
1 1-3 cups boiling water
½ cup molasses
4 1-3 cups (approximately) unsifted all-purpose flour

In large mixing bowl soak the yeast with the sugar in the lukewarm water 10 min. Into another bowl measure the rolled oats, salt, shortening and molasses. Mix them, then stir in the boiling water very well, then allow to cool to lukewarm. Add to risen yeast liquid, then stir in about 3½ cups of the unsifted flour. Use ¼ cup flour to flour your board and knead the dough 200 times until smooth and sur-plus flour is incorporated. Return to scraped down bowl, butter top of dough, cover and let rise until very light — about tripled in size. Punch down dough, turn out on board floured with remaining 1-3 cup flour and knead 200 times. Cut into halves and shape into loaves. Place in buttered loaf pans 8 x 4 x 2½" and let rise until 1" above rims. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. 1 hr.

NOTE: This long baking produces a hard crust but you must not underbake these loaves or they might be doughy with this rather large amount of molasses in them.

Susanna's Family Fare

Plaster-of-paris Disguises Cracked

Dear Susanna: We bought an old house, and I tackled the redecorating chores myself, one room at a time.

No matter how badly a room's plaster is cracked, scored or chipped, I will never again be afraid to patch it. I found that you can bring the surface back 'til the repairs are almost invisible.

For 50 cents you get enough Plaster - of - Paris powder for several rooms.

The first important discovery I made was about keeping a pitcher of water handy so that you can keep mixing just a little plaster at a time — otherwise the whole mixture suddenly dries up and becomes quite unmanageable.

By the way, in corners, my fingers were able to smooth the surface better than the putty knife.

The second big revelation was all about sanding. Don't underestimate it. When the fresh plaster is dry, spend plenty of time sanding it down. Some places will need a second and third application with more sanding in between, but only in this way will you wind up with a professional, first class job. However, it is well worth it. — Mrs. Gerald R.

ABOUT SALT

Dear Su: Sprinkle salt on a bird's tail to catch it, and on your baking board after rolling out dough to make it much easier to clean. — Mrs. Stefan Livadar.

Successful Living

Uncork Bottled-up Emotions With Old-fashioned Row

Dear Doris: I've been married 18 years and have often wondered, from little things people have said, if my husband runs to friends with little tales about me when we've had a tiff about something.

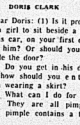
He gets in a huff over such little things. He can hand out insults, though, and expects you to take it without a murmur. I never say anything because I hate to embarrass him. I hate to see people lose face. With me, it's anything to keep peace. Guess I'm just a coward, but I'll do whatever I should as these little things make life miserable at times. — Easy Mark

Dear Easy: You are being unfair.

One woman wailed 26 years to talk back, hiding herself on her good nature. But the spleen and hate piled up inside her and the eruption was terrible when it came. Divorce followed.

The data in the case was dumfounded. All he could say was, "Why didn't she tell me how she felt?" But this was all far too late.

I'm not asking for daily feuds. Find your own way of making your resentment visible; preferably by talking about it. But if you have to have a good old - fashioned row once in a while, go ahead. War takes courage too.



DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: (1) Is it proper for a girl to sit beside a guy in his car, on your first date with him? Or should you sit beside the door?

(2) Do you get in his door and how should you enter when wearing a skirt?

(3) What can I do for my legs? They are all pimply. Each pimple contains a tiny hair.

(4) Which contains more calories: toast or just a slice of bread? — Thank You.

Dear Thank You: (1) Not too close. But no need to make think he has leprosy.

(2) He opens the door on the right hand side of the car. You get in by first sitting on the seat, then swinging your legs in. This is easy to do even in a narrow skirt.

(3) Consult a skin special ist. Skin ailments need treatment early; otherwise can become quite stubborn.

(4) Toasting does not change the number of calories in a slice of bread.

To Chappy: Two helpful readers have sent in recipes for hand knitted made from mutton tallow. I'd be glad to forward these to anyone supplying 10 cents and name and address on a stamped envelope.

To Terribly in Love: At least let him know you don't bear a grudge. Next time you see him, smile and speak to him.

Could be he was embarrassed about being with another girl, and that's why he didn't say "hi".

We Will Never Surrender Our Freedom For Sake of Peace Says Ho Chi Minh

The following copyrighted story was written by Bill Baggs, editor of the Miami (Fla.) News, following an interview in Hanoi with Ho Chi Minh, president of North Vietnam. Baggs spent eight days early this month in North Vietnam, during which time he talked with Ho Jan. 12, the first American newspaper man to do so in several years.

By BILL BAGGS

HANOI (AP)—President Ho Chi Minh said Thursday the people of North Vietnam cherished peace, but they would never surrender their independence to purchase peace for their country.

He described the presence of American soldiers in the South, "sent here to kill and be killed," as "a shameful thing."

A visitor got the impression that Ho considered the bombings of his country an atrocity by the United States. He mentioned the bombings several times.

In a conversation which coursed easily into the neighborhoods of many issues, Ho talked of the wars which have preoccupied Vietnam for the last 25 years, the intense determination of the people in this country and of his interest in events in the United States. He obviously is well-informed about political and economic events in the U.S.

This was the first interview given by Ho to an American newspaper man in several years. He was cordial, then friendly, but he was politely firm in expressing the policy of his country. At times he became impatient with the translator and he turned and addressed his American visitor in faultless English.

The central policy of his government in the conflict with the Americans appeared to be a resolution against any intimidation of the "independence and freedom" of the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam.

"The people of Vietnam cherish peace very much, but peace is peace only if you have independence and freedom," he said.

"We will never surrender our independence for the sake of peace. We have battled too long for independence and freedom."

The words "independence and freedom" are words you hear often in Hanoi and in the countryside of North Vietnam. Indeed, these words are a kind of motto among the people.

A few days before the meeting with Ho, a minister in the government here explained to this reporter:

"You must remember that we have been at war for 25 years. We were at war with the Japanese after they occupied our country during World War II. Then the French returned and tried to re-establish their rule in our country. We fought and defeated the French, and now the Americans.

"So, we have fought too many wars for too many years to compromise our independence now."

Ho Chi Minh is a legend in Asia. He appeared half a century ago as a nationalist in Europe and particularly in Paris, arguing for the independence of his country. He once worked in New York City in a menial job and he exhibited a respect for the U.S. in the conversation.

"We respect the American people. The American people are intelligent and they love peace and democracy.

"The American soldiers are sent here to kill and get killed. Most of them have an education, but if they came here to help, as technicians, then we would welcome them as friends, as brothers.

"But now they are coming to kill and get killed. This is a shameful thing.

"This may be difficult for you to believe. I am grieved not only when the Vietnamese people are killed. I am also grieved when American soldiers are killed. I sympathize with their parents."

Gossip that Ho, who will be 77 this year, is in failing health appeared unfounded. He is keen in conversation and vigorous in his arguments. He rises at five each morning, exercises and begins work at six.

At the end of the talks, he repeated, slowly and deliberately, the sentiment you hear, not only from the government people in this country, but also from almost anyone you talk to:

"As I said, we do cherish peace but never will surrender our independence and freedom for the sake of peace in our country."

Bitter Session Faces British Commons

LONDON (CP)—Amid smouldering discontent, Parliament returns today from the Christmas recess to resume its long struggle over such issues as the steel bill—and Prime Minister Wilson's personality.

Wilson and Foreign Secretary George Brown were scheduled to finish their Rome talks with Italian leaders—and meet the Pope—before flying back this afternoon to London and their places on the Labor front bench in the Commons.

The Rome visit began Sunday when Wilson and Brown hit the Common Market trail on which they will stop at six capitals in the next 10 weeks in their quest for entry into the European Economic Community.

Tory Opposition Leader Edward Heath is reported confident Wilson and Brown will have a rough ride on their return to the Commons. Many Tory members—and perhaps some Labor members as well—are far from convinced that Wilson really wants to join the market even though he has said, "We mean business."

Legislation to nationalize steel is the most contentious issue facing Parliament but there is evidence of deepening political conflict ahead over the personality and alleged lack of integrity of Wilson himself.

EDITORIAL BLUNT

Members of Parliament see as significant a brutally blunt editorial in the current issue of The Weekly News, published by the Conservative central office and obviously officially approved. They say it points the direction of Tory strategy.

The editorial speaks of the "dishonest words, the dishonest promises and the dishonest measures of the most dishonest man it has ever been the misfortune of the British nation to elect to its highest office."

The Tory reasoning is said to be that sooner or later the electorate will become disenchanted with Wilson. Heath wants to be sure that if that time comes, lines will be clearly drawn between Wilson and himself.

Heath, however, has been embarrassed by two of his own main lieutenants in the days leading up to the resumption of Parliament. Duncan Sandys, former Commonwealth secretary, organized a mass imbroglio over Rhodesia in Trafalgar square Sunday. Enoch Powell, the former health secretary and sometimes termed the Tory conscience, made a speech elsewhere that seemed to denigrate the export effort which is so firmly supported by Heath as well as Wilson.

Von Thadden May Visit UBC Campus January 31

VANCOUVER (CP) — The University of British Columbia students' organization said Monday night it will go ahead with plans to bring Adolph von Thadden to Vancouver despite growing protests from Jewish leaders across Canada.

Brian Plummer, head of the Alma Mater Society's special events committee, said von Thadden, vice-chairman of the right-wing West German National Democratic Party, is scheduled to speak Jan. 31 at the campus.

Many European political observers say the party is ideologically neo-Fascist and numbers among its followers many members of Hitler's elite SS corps. The party denies it is neo-Nazi.

Mr. Plummer said he has reached a tentative agreement with executives of the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. now Sunday, under which the society would bring von Thadden to Canada and sell interview rights to the CBC.

The students' organization spokesman said full security measures will be taken if necessary to protect von Thadden from any violence or demonstrations.

WILL CALL POLICE

"If we receive any indication of trouble at all we will alert the campus police force and the RCMP," said Mr. Plummer.

The CBC last week cancelled plans to bring von Thadden to Canada for an interview in Toronto because of threats of violent demonstrations.

"We felt a visit by von Thadden would bring undue risk to his own safety and that of others," said J. Alphonse Guimet, CBC president.

But Monday, Daryl Duke, producer of Sunday, said in Toronto he still hopes to get an interview with the West German politician, possibly by sending a CBC crew to West Germany.

He did not comment on possible arrangements with the UBC Alma Mater Society to get von Thadden to Vancouver.

Lou Herman, national chairman of the Canadian Jewish Congress, said his organization is opposed to any public appearance in Canada by von Thadden, either in person or in a taped television interview."

Mr. Herman said the congress has learned that von Thadden will visit New York in the next few days for a taped interview with the CBC.

CALLED 'IRRESPONSIBLE'

Sam Kaplan, editor of the Jewish Western Bulletin, said in Vancouver the students' invitation was irresponsible.

"I hope that if he does come, the students will be responsible enough to let other people, who are experts on the problem, share the stage with him," Mr. Kaplan said.

He said that, if UBC students want to study the causes and realities of Nazism, they should find better methods of doing it.

In the Commons Monday, State Secretary Judy LaMarsh said von Thadden appeared on the CBC show The Public Eye in November without adverse public reaction.

She said there is a strong element of public opinion which feels the CBC's mandate is to provide a forum so that the public can see and hear people in the news.

Quebec Bids For Mediation

MONTREAL (CP)—The Quebec government is trying for mediation in a strike by 9,000 Roman Catholic teachers which has closed 290 Montreal schools since last Friday.

About 217,000 children are out of school.

The government plans, drafted as an emergency cabinet meeting Monday night, call for a meeting between Education Minister Jean-Jacques Bertrand and representatives of both sides today.

This meeting is to deal with the choice of a mediator, to be appointed by the government, and with the general procedure to be adopted in the settlement effort.

The Montreal Catholic school commission and the two unions representing the French- and English-speaking teachers in the strike-bound elementary and high schools fell disagreed during the weekend on whether mediation should involve publication of a report on the situation.

RULES OUT INJUNCTION

Mr. Bertrand, who ruled out the use of any strike-ending court injunction at this time, called the meeting with both sides for his Quebec City office. He said all agreed to meet.

Later in the day, he is to confer with the parties involved in another teachers' strike in the St. Hyacinthe area near Montreal. The strike by 500 teachers and affecting 10,000 children started Nov. 24.

BRUCE COOPER skidoos over Bay of Quinte fishing grounds near his Glenora home. Diminishing harvests in area threaten local commercial fishing industry.

Business Not as Usual And Picton Fishermen Worry About Future

PICTON — Behind Bruce Cooper's home on Highway 33 east of here, the winterized Bay of Quinte right now is a sparkling sheet of ice.

And, if in business, it's what's up front that counts, the future is equally frigid in its prospects.

Not only for Bruce, but for scores of men he prepresents in a traditional local industry.

As president of the Eastern Ontario Commercial Fishermen's Association, he is the personal representative of about 200 men who have fished the Bay of Quinte from Brighton to Kingston for a lifetime.

Right now they're confused and fear the[re] fare — in many cases — possible personal disaster.

As their spokesman, Bruce goes this week to the Ontario Council of Commercial Fishermen convention in Toronto, to do battle on their behalf.

His biggest chore: To have the convention pass a resolution requesting the Ontario government delay closing off more fishing grounds in the face of dwindling fish harvests.

The government already has warned it may close off prime commercial grounds to large-haul nets from Glenora west to Point Anne.

Since larger commercial fish won't snare in the smaller nets, says Bruce, this is tantamount to closure.

The warning comes in the wake of decreasing harvests — notably of whitefish — which have plagued the area in the past six years.

Neither fishermen nor government experts have been able to explain the decline, which also counts pickerel stocks as a victim.

One theory, says Bruce, may parallel the drop with low water levels.

"But-then again, I'm no biologist. Maybe it isn't the cause," he admits. "It isn't only the pickerel or whitefish. It's also affecting the coarse fish."

Whatever the cause, it still remains a mystery to both fishermen and government researchers.

A recent annual meeting of the association brought angry criticism of government efforts, but Bruce says he does not blame the officials, operating under the portfolio of the department of lands and forests.

What he does object to is the possible closure.

"To say this area is not productive right now is not to say it won't come up in a year's time or so."

While there have been lean years prior to this, we have not had so many successive poor years before," he confesses.

Still, the feeling of the fishermen is that once the area is closed off to commercial trade, it will never be re-opened.

"You can see our point of view," he says. "Some of our fellows have a terrific amount of money tied up in equipment which they would lose if they didn't renew their licence under the new terms (banning large-mesh nets) this year."

Individual fishermen in this area, he reckons, might have anywhere from $5,000 to $5,000 invested in equipment.

Could one problem be the fact the industry is over-licensed and the government is subtly striving to thin its ranks?

If so, says Bruce, the government should introduce expropriation measures to compensate victimized fishermen.

Commercial fishing, although not publicly touted, always has been a local economic staple — and not only for local merchant suppliers.

"There were quite a few million pounds shipped out of here in a year to the United States," points out Bruce. "It was a big export business."

Is it then a dying industry in the Bay of Quinte?

"I wouldn't care to prophesy," replies Bruce.

There is one immediate, possible solution: That the government open up northern lakes for whitefishing to commercial exploiters.

Even with greater distances this, he feels, would be prohibitive.

The other alternative calls for a startling change in the industry's outlook.

It could combine resources and begin trawling for smelts and shad in Lake Ontario.

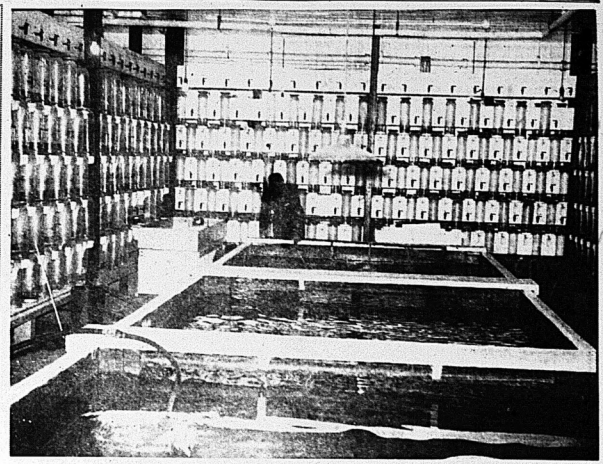
"But this would mean money they can ill afford today. Fishermen are so low now their backs are to the wall," says Bruce. "They're so disillusioned today they have no incentive to go ahead and try something else."

However, he feels, any such radical departure must first be preceded by thorough government research — not only to ascertain resources but markets.

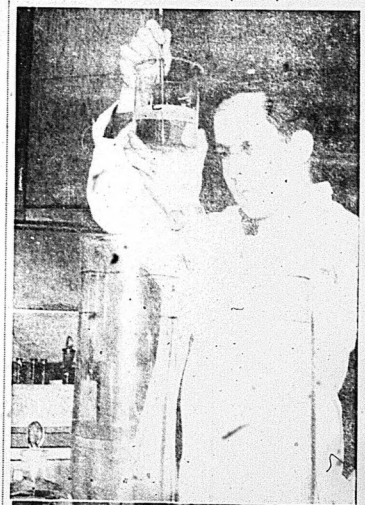
In the meantime, fishermen apparently must continue to fight for their immediate possessions against any closure by government while both sides continue to ponder the cause of it all — the baffling fluctuation in fish population.

"This actually is the only portion of Lake Ontario left that's been good for commercial fishermen," says the spokesman for the individual commercial catchers. "If this area goes it'll be the last remaining."

"Once closed, the area may never open again. A licence to fish to us is like a land deed. The water is our farmland and we're licensed to harvest fish on the water."



Huge Water Tanks Help Study of Whitefish Habits at Glenora Station



Research Is The Key

Research at Glenora department of lands and forests station seeks answers to Lake Ontario marine mysteries. Top, Henry Lore mixes detergent solution in laboratory. Bottom, chief biologist W. J. (Jack) Christie and Kokanee sockeye salmon, now under experiment for possible introduction into lake.

Anglers' Answer May Be Kokanee

GLENORA — Ever hear of Kokanee?

If the word sounds queer or funny to your Eastern ear, at least keep your eyes peeled for it in the next couple of years, if you are a fisherman.

Somewhere out there in Lake Ontario there may be more than two million Kokanee growing up — and the department of lands and forests research station here would appreciate hearing of their whereabouts.

The Kokanee is a land-locked salmon from the Canadian West which one day may star as a popular catch in the Lake Ontario region — if it passes its survival course.

It was launched into the lake in 1963-66 as an experiment aimed at possibly revitalizing fish populations in the area.

But the experiment is only part of a cumulative process of research as government experts here seek to answer the puzzle of dwindling fish resources in the Lake Ontario area.

"The fish stopped reproducing some years ago," says W. J. (Jack) Christie, chief biologist. "We haven't had a successful brood year since 1958."

Intensive study so far has revealed no simple solution to the problem.

There just isn't one," says Mr. Christie. "And this is the crux of the whole problem. If there was one problem we could put your finger on and work away at, things would be very simple."

Among possible contributing factors under scrutiny are: Changes in climate and fish population; the volume of commercial and sports fishing; predators, and continued deterioration of environment through pollution.

The sum of the problems involved adds up to a major project for the staff here led by four biologists.

Total research is a new phase for this station which originally began operation 43 years as a fish hatchery — a function which most Quinte-district dwellers believe it still performs.

Actually it surrendered that operation some time ago and began research in a small way under Mr. Christie.

"It's only really in the past two years there's been additional staff here," he says, "and we're really just getting off the ground in respect to experimental work."

However, in common with other departmental centres it has been handed the king-size job of helping discover what's happening to Lake Ontario's sundling fish population.

Not the least of its projects is experimenting with alternate species that might replace traditional fish cultures in the lake — hence the Kokanee trials.

"We work just as hard as we can to try and find out what will make the traditional kind of fish survive. But at the same time there's no harm looking to the future, since the lake is changing all the time and there's no reason we shouldn't also change our thinking."

The Kokanee may be an ideal substitute since its eating habits doesn't place it in direct competition with other popular species.

"It's a land-locked sockeye salmon and therefore highly prized by anglers and commercial fishermen," explains Mr. Christie.

However, research still hasn't turned up an answer to a more elusive problem — the solution to the lake's disappearing whitefish.

The conundrum is compounded by pressure from commercial fishermen whose livelihood may be threatened.

Research continues to probe the puzzle, but, says the chief biologist, we'd still very much like to understand what causes the fluctuation in various years among whitefish."

Meantime, the search goes on for this, and other answers to deep - water mysteries. Studies here at present range through 11 species of fish not all of them locally native, or even Canadian.

Indicative of the scope of the project is the fact that Mr. Christie only recently returned from Japan where the government sent him to assess species of fresh water fish.

Meantime, his staff still is pondering the possible success rating of more than two million Kokanee salmon.

SPORTS SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

John L. Sullivan, probably the greatest bottle-basher in sport, won and lost many a bout with Ole John Barleycorn, even had him in his corner on not a few occasions.

John L., who used to sniff a snort between rounds, in the days when sports cars and other modern contraptions were as yet to be discovered, was often lugged home by buddies in a one or two horse-power buggy, democrat, or hay wagon.

And in those days Ole Dobbin had more nonsense than the drivers of today have horse-savvy. Whoever heard of a nag splashing himself around a telephone pole or trying to bump a freight train off the track?

Perhaps John L. left a legacy of loudness that has been passed down through the years. For many a starry athlete has fallen victim to the flagon, beaker, tumbler and karrel since the bare-knucklers tried to drink the country dry a distillery at a time.

Many colorful stories appear in the records, of the oldtimers who liked to gaze on the wine when it was red, white or blue. Basing perhaps comes up with the sudden stories of stars and champions who lushed themselves into oblivion. Baseball had its box tycoons who were not averse to inhaling a belt or two before, during and after a game.

Collectively the old Gas House Gang and the Giants of the Roaring Twenties should have been given shares in distilleries and breweries as a reward for their custumer investments.

Modern sports, however, do not produce a comparable number of athletes whose throats parch easily and elbows lift with a minimum of effort. Some have fallen by the wayside but permanently.

Most of the antics are harmless with the players victims of circumstance. Some were involved in car accidents. A lot, like the Yankees, were supposed to be merely nightclub addicts.

Some incidents had a touch of humor like that football player who was nabbed because he "plached a waitress while her backfield was in motion.

The other day John Brodie the socko's richest quarterback, was nailed for impaired driving. He had an opened bottle of Scotch in the car. In 1963 he fell asleep at the wheel of his car, smashed a telephone pole, broke his throwing arm and slashed his face for some 50 stitches.

He turned to pro golf and teamed up with the late Tony Lema, "Champagne Tony" who could tilt an elbow with the best of them. He managed to win some $2,000 on the tour but spent $6,000 celebrating his close ones, wins and losses.

Bo Belinski, professional baseball star, was the darling of the nightclubs, where ups and downs from miners to majors matched those of a convention hotel elevator boy and who wound up wedding a millionaire movie star.

Bobby Layne, the Detroit quarterback reputed to have a tongue a yard long and always dry, was convicted after being nailed for impaired driving. He got off because the arresting officer in his tongue was thick which a smart lawyer said was merely Layne's Texas accent.

Tobin Rote, says Denny Boyd, Vancouver columnist, was a party-boy with class. He spent many appearoos years with the Argonauts. One morning, reveals Boyd, the Argos were sitting in their airplane in Vancouver ready to fly when coach Lou Agase was informed Rote was not aboard. He agreed to wait ten minutes.

With a minute to go, a car screeches to a halt driven by a well-dressed blonde. Rote stepped out casually and boarded the plane, a case of beer under each arm. He sat in a seat across from Agase, opened a beer, took an appreciative swallow, looked at Agase and said, "Cheers."

Hull Killing Post-Record Jinx

MONTREAL (CP)—Ed Giacomin's netminding and Bobby Hull's scoring efforts were the highlights in the National Hockey League last week as New York Rangers and Chicago Black Hawks continued their battle for first place.

Giacomin, New York's lanky goaltender, had two shutouts, his fifth and sixth of the season, to become the first Rangers' goalie in 17 years to get that many shutouts in one season.

The last was Charlie Rayner, who had six in the 1949-50 season and seven in 1948-49.

Official statistics released by NHL headquarters today show that Giacomin leads the league in shutouts and he also has the best average with a mark of 2.11.

The New York average, including Cesare Maniago's, is 2.23, best in the league. The Rangers have given up 87 goals in 39 games, tied with Boston with 130 as the number of games the powerful left winger has scored 11 goals, including seven in four games last week.

Hull's performance increased his total to a league-leading 26 goals for the season and, with his 11 assists, place him third in scoring with 37 points, one behind team-mate Ken Wharram, who has 19 goals and 19 assists.

Chicago centre Stan Mikita continues to lead scorers with 55 points, including a league-leading 36 assists.

Following their 50-goal season, Maurice Richard and Bernie Geoffrion of Montreal Canadiens and Hull found the going rougher in the next season.

Richard, who scored his 50 goals in 1944-45, slumped to 27 the next season. Geoffrion, who now plays for the Rangers, scored 23 goals with the Canadiens in 1961-62 after his 30-goal season and Hull slipped to 31 goals in 1962-63 after he scored 50.

BOBBY HULL

STAN MIKITA

Then, last season, Hull broke the record with 54 goals. He also picked up 43 assists last season, giving him a record of 97 points. Although 10 goals behind his pace a year ago, Hull could wind up with 60 goals. But he would need a burst of scoring power similar to that of 1961-62, when he had 15 goals after Chicago's first 33 games and finished with 50.

Norm Ullman of Detroit Red Wings, Bobby Rousseau of Montreal and New York's Phil Goyette are tied for fourth place in scoring with 35 points each, one more than veteran Gordie Howe of Detroit.

Rod Gilbert of New York is eighth with 33 points and Dave Keon of Toronto Maple Leafs and Pierre Pilote of Chicago are tied for ninth with 28 points each.

Reg Fleming continues as the individual penalty leader with 97 minutes. Montreal is the team leader with 431 minutes.

The Rangers recorded an unusual performance last week when they received only six minutes in penalties in three games.

Apollos Thump Oilers 6-2

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Apollos knocked in three goals in the closing period Monday night to pull away from Tulsa Oilers for a 6-2 victory in the Central Hockey League.

Mike McMahon, Danny Grant and Wayne Peters each rapped goals past the Oilers' netminder, Al Millar.

Bill Inglis, with a goal and pair of assists, was the Houston leader with three points.

Other scorers were Norm Dennis and Jim Patterson, Houston, and Ken Campbell and Roy Corrigan for Tulsa.

All-Star Game

Howe Can Add Two Records

MONTREAL (CP) — Gordie Howe holds five all-star game records and could add at least two more to that total Wednesday night when the National Hockey League stars play Montreal Canadiens.

The game, the 29th renewal of the annual battle between the defending Stanley Cup champions and the best players from the rest of the league, is the first being played in mid-season.

But it certainly isn't the first real, and Bernie Geoffrion, New for Howe. He will mark the 19th all-star appearance for the 38-year-old right winger with Detroit Red Wings.

Howe's 17 all - star games stand as a record that may never be matched. Maurice (Rocket) Richard, the retired star with the Canadiens, played in 13 contests.

There are six players still active in the NHL with 10 or more appearances, but all are veterans and none is close to Howe's total. They are Red Kelly, Toronto Maple Leafs, and Doug Harvey and Alex Delvecchio, both of Detroit—all with 12; Jean Beliveau, Montreal, and Bernie Geoffrion, New York Rangers, 11; and Claude Provost of Montreal, with 10.

Delvecchio will be in the game as an all-star left winger

GORDIE HOWE

Previous all-star games have been played prior to the opening of the NHL season, but officials this year decided to move the game back to mid-season to avoid competing with baseball and football which are at their heaviest in October.

Palmer Nips Casper In Golf Warm-up

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Golf pros Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper warmed up for Thursday's Crosby Invitational Golf Tournament with a rematch this time for charity, on their 1966 U.S. Open playoff.

Palmer won $6,36—70 over Casper's par 36-36—72.

Mo-Hawks Meet Regals

'Battle Royal' Tonight!

Fifth place will be riding on the outcome when Guelph Regals and Belleville Mo-Hawks tangle in an OHA Senior "A" battle at Memorial Arena tonight. Game time is 8:30.

The Mo-Hawks, fresh from their impressive 4-2 win over Collingwood, would like nothing better than to pass the Regals. Guelph has been just a step up on the Mo-Hawks all season. This despite the fact that Belleville has won both meetings between the two clubs, 2-1 in Guelph and 5-3 here.

Guelph is one point up on Crawford's crew right now but a victory tonight would change all that.

And if the Mo-Hawks can repeat their effort in Collingwood, there is a good chance for the victory.

Not only did the forwards forecheck and dig all night but a defence led by Lionel Botly, with assists of help from policeman Greg Marchen, Floyd Crawford and Bob Taylor, played a strong game.

Botly, whose fine defensive

style of hockey makes him one of the most under-rated players on the club, was great against the Georgians.

Another attack is coming into his own is left winger Gary Greenhalf. He has produced four goals and three assists in the last four games to snap out of a horrid slump.

Meanwhile, the Regals will be out after a much-needed two points as the battle for playoff position nears its peak. Guelph has some fine players in the likes of Butch Martell, Ron Ingram, coach John Bob McKnight, Terry Oliver, Butch Keeling and hard-rock defenceman Jack McCloskan.

It should be a battle royal and Another big crowd is expected.

The Mo-Hawks hit the road for games in Barrie, Friday and Toronto Sunday and do not play at home again until Woodstock visits here on Friday, January 27. That game is chalked on the schedule from Saturday, the 28th.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch
Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids...and repair damaged tissue.
A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.
One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved . . . actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.
Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.
. . . This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.
In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.
Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with the special applicator.

Rookie Goalie To Get Big Chance!

MONTREAL (AP) — Toe Blake, the combustible coach of Montreal Canadiens, intends to find out very quickly whether young Gary Bauman is for real.

Bauman is the 26-year-old rookie goaltender who rallied the slumping Canadiens to a 3-1 victory over Boston Sunday night, 24 hours after the Bruins had scored three third-period goals against Charlie Hodge for a 5-4 victory.

The performance earned Bauman a shot at the National Hockey League All-Stars, who'll meet the Canadiens in the 20th annual classic here Wednesday night.

"I thought Hodge started to look tired against the Bruins Saturday night," said Blake. "That's why I decided to play Bauman."

The youngster came up with 32 saves and now Blake' is toying with the idea of keeping him in the nets for a while. He's expected to split the all-star assignment with Hodge.

If Bauman holds up against an All-Star front line that includes Detroit's Gordie Howe, Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita of Chicago, Toronto's Frank Mahovlich and Rod Gilbert of New York, the Canadiens' netminding job could be his for a while.

Bauman won't know until just before game time whether he'll be starting against the All Stars. That's the system Blake used against Boston. "I didn't want him to get nervous" Toe said.

But Gary suspected that he might get the call and was prepared for it. "It kind of shakes you up a bit," he admitted. "But I tried to keep everything normal."

That will be tough to do against the All-Stars, who have dominated this game in recent years. The Stars have won two straight and have lost only once in the last six tries against the Stanley Cup champions.

Last year Howe, who passed the 700-goal mark two weeks ago, put on a one-man show, scoring two goals and assisting on two others. The Detroit great holds the all-star record with nine goals and will be playing in his 11th classic.

Hull, who set NHL records of 54 goals and 97 points last year, is on a hot streak with 11 goals in his last six games. He leads the league with 26 for the season.

Mikita, Chicago's slick centre, has the NHL scoring race all to himself with 55 points and if he continues his present pace, he could shatter Hull's one-season point mark.

Gilbert's 22 goals have been the key for the surprising Rangers, who share first place with the Black Hawks.

This is the first time that the all-star game is being played at mid-season and the NHL's Board of Governors is taking advantage of the three - day schedule hiatus to hold executive meetings.

The meetings, which opened today, could produce a formula for stocking the all new expansion teams which begin playing next October, but it is not likely that the league will reveal the mechanics of the stocking system now.

Chuvalo KOs Brown

WALPOLE, Mass. (AP) — Canadian George Chuvalo, the only fighter to go the distance with Cassius Clay in a title bout, thinks he deserves another shot at boxing's heavyweight championship.

"I'm a better all - around fighter now than when I lost to Clay in 15 rounds last year," Chuvalo said Monday night after outpointing Vic Brown, a former National AAU champion from New York, in the fourth round of a scheduled 10-rounder.

"I move better, hit with both hands and counterpunch much more effectively than when I fought Clay," Chuvalo said. "My only hope is that he stays out of the army long enough for me to get another shot at him."

Chuvalo's manager, Irving Ungerman, wired an offer of $150,000 guarantee to the Clay camp for the champion to meet the Toronto heavyweight at Boston Garden.

Ungerman said he thinks there's a good chance that Chuvalo will get a crack at Clay after the latter's defence of the title against Ernie Terrell at Houston Feb. 6.

With Brockville Braves

ANDY TEEPLE

AL FERGUSON

Trenton Stars Make Good

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

"Sometimes you can make a mistake in bringing hockey players in for a team. They might be just out for a good time, or all they can get out of it.

"But not this pair. They are a real credit to the game, to themselves and to their parents and past coaches".

That's the way the Brockville Braves feel about two Trenton forwards, Andy Teeple and Al Ferguson, who are going great guns in the Central Junior "A" League.

The man talking was Jack Gould, assistant manager of the Braves.

"Coach Dan Dexter is also very pleased with Andy and Al. He is happy with their attitude and says they are doing their job well and causing no trouble", Gillin added.

No trouble that is except to opposing goalies.

Teeple plays centre. Ferguson right wing and Larry Riley left wing on the Braves' top scoring line. And both Trenton skaters see years action on powerplays. Teeple is used on the point when his line is not intact as from against short handed clubs.

Ferguson, the husky goal scorer who joined the Braves well after the season had started, tops the club in points with 37, including a leading 17 goals Al has been in 18 of the Braves' 29 games.

Teeple is a point back. The swift-skating centre has 12 goals and 14 assists. Riley rounds out the line with 25 points including 15 goals. Both have played a full season.

Ferguson will miss more games to, due to an injury packed up in a game this week. "Al suffered a shoulder injury which the doctor describes as a near separation", Gillin said. "He has his arm in a sling and will likely be out of action for at least a week".

The blow could be a touch one on the Brockville club which is locked in a tight race for a playoff spot in the six-team grouping.

Ferguson left the winless Trenton Apple Kings in late November to join Teeple who had departed the Kings roster at the start of the season. The fact that Trenton is mired down in the Junior "B" cellar without a point in 17 games gives some indication of Teeple and Ferguson's value.

They were both high on Trenton's MVP last when the Apple Kings enjoyed a good season and beat out Belleville for the fourth playoff spot last spring. Gillin says if is no secret that Trenton owner Howard Weese "refused to release the boys to us until we paid him $500 each".

They are getting a chance to play more and better hockey here but with many other junior "A" clubs, Weese's demand for that much money would have ruined Teeple and Ferguson's chances of moving up", he added.

Giffin says both are good Junior "A" players. "We played the Toronto Marlboros an exhibition game a couple of weeks ago. They beat us 4-1 but Teeple scored our only goal. Ferguson assisted. Both looked good against the Toronto club".

It sounds as if Mr Teeple and Mr Ferguson, who each have another year of junior hockey left at age 19 have found themselves a home away from home. "We are allowed two branch-to-branch transfers and they are the boys we wanted", Giffin says.

The deal sounds like a good one for everybody — except the Apple Knits and the Eastern Junior "B" League.

"He's A Little Punk"-Ernie

Terrell, Clay Clinch In Off-Beat Meet

HOUSTON (AP)—Cassius Clay turned 25 today, a day he began like most training days, up before dawn to run in a wooded park in west Houston, jogging through the cold if the pale light of brightness from the headlights of his white and tomato-red Lincoln Continental.

Trainer Angelo Dundee, driver of the trailing car, said Monday night Clay still is growing at age 25.

"His arms, his shoulders, his back muscles—they're all getting bigger," Dundee said. "He's going to be a super-heavyweight."

By his own testimony, Clay is ready for Feb. 6, the night he meets Ernie Terrell in the Astrodome to settle the world's heavyweight championship.

Clay, the undisputed champion, said on Monday when he ran into Terrell, the World Boxing Association champion, in the exhibit hall both share as a gym.

It was Terrell's first day in town and Clay was late clearing out after a workout without sparring partners. The crowd was a good one and only a dozen or so of the two boxers' followers saw what happened.

"I'm ready, I'm ready," Clay said, throwing a shoulder against Terrell.

Terrell clinched at Clay's arms and the two went into a bear hug which lasted two or three minutes while trainers and promoters and bucket-bearers plucked and tugged at them, coaxing them to break the clinch, but not to start swinging.

The circling, sizing up and exchange of boasts went on for about 15 minutes and then it was over.

Tonight, the two are to watch No. 2 ranked heavyweight Zora Folley fight Floyd Joyner in the downtown Coliseum. The promoters said Clay and Terrell will each have a chance to speak his piece through the ring microphone.

Terrell sounded like an angry man Monday when he talked to news people upon his arrival. He disguised Clay promptly.

"I'm going to go out and take him apart," Terrell said. "He's not superman. He's a little punk."

Clay's last defence was in November, against 34 - year - old Cleveland Williams, who was through in three. Terrell is 27.

In Austria

Nancy Seeks "Golden Key"!

SCHRUNS, Austria (AP)—The 1967 international "ski circus" moves here Wednesday and Nancy Greene of Canada, Marielle Goitschel of France and Erika Schinegger of Austria are the top attractions.

They will begin a two-day battle for the Golden Key trophy.

Ski circus" is the European nickname for the international ski racing season, which keeps the world's best to meets in the Alps.

The troupe of racers travels from one international resort to another for four months. The healthy-looking girls in their bright parkas, crash-helmets and long ski pants in all colors of the rainbow are indeed something to behold.

The opening downhill race is regarded by experts as a challenge by the 1966 world champion, Erika Schinegger, to the Alpine skiing supremacy of Nancy Greene, 23-year-old pride of Rossland, B.C.

Erika was injured earlier this month and did not participate in the first international downhill race at Grindelwald, Switzerland, which Nancy won.

In fact, Nancy has won four out of the five international races this season. She holds a commanding lead in the season long contest for the World Cup.

Three-way Battle In Quinte Loop

Stirling - Herlock Combines were opportunists of the Quinte Hockey League last night.

The Combines took advantage of a tie game between the top two clubs to turn the battle for first place into a three - way fight.

Grant Realty and SACO battled to a 3-3 stalemate.

Stirling - Herlock nipped Terrier Dusters 1-0 in the eventful, extended double - header.

Grant's now have 14 points, SACO 13 and the Combines 12. Terrier is well back with five but they gave Stirling - Herlock a run for their money last night.

Fine goaltending at both ends kept it scoreless until 15:35 of the final period when Don Bishop, assisted by Ross McBrien and Keith Dickey for the game's only goal. The losers settled three of the game's four minor penalties.

In the 1st game, SACO jumped ahead 2-0 in the first beat but fell behind when Grant's fired an unanswered trio in the second.

Doug Lucas earned SACO the tie with a goal at 17:20 of the third period. Jack Lucas and Billy McGuire were the other SACO scorers. Doug Hallam and Jack Gilby each had a pair.

Grant's got a goal by Hugh Petrie at 45 seconds and another by Earl Sweet at MacDonald at 1:55 to tie it 2-2 early in the second. MacDonald scored again at 9:10 and it stayed 3-2 until Lucas' late equalizer. Maurice "Moe" Lemieux, Terriers Assists, Jack O'Neil, Ted Bailey and Don "Widge" Adams one each.

It is a rugged game with eight penalties assessed, five to Grant's.

Morrisburg Coach Quits Job

MORRISBURG, Ont. (CP)— Ralph Hurley, coach of Morrisburg Combines of the St. Lawrence Senior Hockey League, announced Monday he is leaving the job.

Hurley gave the team management verbal notice that his personal life no longer leaves him enough time to handle the team. He has been with the Morrisburg club four years, winning two league titles during that time.

There was no immediate announcement of a replacement.

Marielle Goitschel is regarded as the third great favorite here.

We have a rather large older home that can provide everything you associate with genuine living.

It is on a very good state of repair, particularly convenient location, on the north, garage and paved drive.

Let me tell you about inside. It has a very nice plan, beautiful long living room with fireplace. Terrific for entertaining.

The dining room on the other side is open and there are also 3 nice size sorts. Off this is the buffets sunroom. Kitchen is also nice with lots of cupboards. Upstairs has at least four bedrooms, trunk room, airline room, etc. etc.

It affords the privacy every family needs and every day you don't delay could be money in your pocket. You have the privilege of making a call. We would be delightful to discuss it with you at

Around Town

NAPANEE — Leonos and Addington County Council meet on Tuesday, with at least two items of business to be handled. The first is the selection of a site for 1967, to succeed Gordon Plotz of Denbigh, warden for 1966. The second item has been significant their intention to compete for office. The council must also consider raising more money for the addition to the Napanee District Secondary School. The estimated cost has risen because of the interruption of the building program when the A. Weller Construction Co. stopped work, alleging non - payment of money November 1. Because of the delay of the County Council in issuing debentures, the full amount was not available, until the following day. The construction company refused the part payment available. Several lawsuits are pending in connection with the mishap.

FOUR - CAR ACCIDENT

A Kingston resident is in jail in Napanee on a charge of impaired driving, as the result of a four - car accident on the Bridge St. in Napanee at 12.15 a.m. Saturday morning. Ronald Albert Lobb of 751 Victoria St., Kingston, will appear in magistrate's court Tuesday, Robert Sarrift, 20, of Odessa a passenger in the car, was treated at the local hospital for facial lacerations.

Lobb's car collided with the first of three parked cars, and then it ran into collided with the one in front of it. Lobb's car and the car which he hit, were both reported demolished.

RECOVER STOLEN CAR

A car owned by Everell Hannah of Deseronto reported at 11.30 to the Napanee police as stolen, was recovered here three hours later with a flat tire and a dented fender. A 17-year-old former Napanee youth was arrested by Constables Warren Richardson and J. S. Travis, charged with possession of the stolen car and of other stolen goods.

LOTS FOR SALE

Hockey in the winter, baseball in the summer, keep the boys busy, but there is no organized provision for recreation for girls or for adults, especially the elderly. Classes in arts and crafts during the winter are also called for improvement of the present recreation committee, and Mrs. Margaret Murphy is doing a remarkable work with the boys and girls.

Mayor Lorne Smart, who has been a member of the Recreation Committee from the beginning, says one of its organizers, is particularly concerned. "It is what we have needed. Maybe we could not afford", he stated. "We need someone who can devote his full time to planning recreation for this town, for the classes of people not just the boys and girls. Recreation for adults has always been an active support-er of recreation, sponsoring many recreation events over the years. He now sponsors a girls' softball team.

Full Time Recreational Director to Be Appointed

NAPANEE — It looks much as though Napanee may at last have a full time recreational director, thanks to the generous gesture of a Napanee business man. Bruce MacPherson, president of Gibbard Furniture Shops Ltd., has offered to subsidize the salary of such a director for two years up to $3,800 annually. This is his Centennial project, he states. The offer was made known to the Town Council at its meeting last week, and was turned over to the Council's community services committee for study. There is little doubt that Mr. MacPherson's offer will be accepted with the gratitude of the town going to him. Together with the government grants it would mean that the town could employ a full time recreation director with no expense to the taxpayer.

Napanee has had a recreation committee for many years, but it has acted on its own, and has been limited in its scope.

Senior Coach Suspended

OTTAWA (CP)—Guy Bennet, general manager of Ottawa Nationals of the St. Lawrence Senior Hockey League, Monday night was handed a one-year suspension from the league for taking his team out of a game last Friday at Morrisburg, Ont.

The Nationals also were ordered to pay $100 to Morrisburg Combines because of the walkout.

League president Al Abelson announced the disciplinary actions after a meeting here.

The Friday incident grew out of an injury to Morrisburg goalie Don Grant.

When he hurt his arm near the end of the first period, referees added 10 minutes to the regular intermission so he could receive medical attention. When Grant returned, however, the players had dressed and started to leave the rink.

Morrisburg was leading 5-2 at the time.

Mrs. Leitha Daynes of Norwood moves into the 'hack' to deliver the first stone in the women's bonspiel that opened the Centennial week of curling at the Quinte Club. The club is celebrating the 100th anniversary of its founding. Looking on are Mrs. Gwen Sutton, convener of the spiel; Claude D. Tice, general chairman of the Centennial committee and Mrs. Agnes Benn, president of the women's section.

Napanee Rink Wins Molson Cup To Open Centennial Week

The first celebration in the city to honor the 100th anniversary of the founding of Canada and incidentally the 100th birthday of the Curling Club was started at the Quinte curling club on Monday when 22 rinks of women curlers from Picton, Napanee, Norwood, Orillia, Campbellford Peterborough, Trenton and the local club staged a bonspiel. This week will be devoted to mixed rink curling with women, mixed rinks and men's rinks taking part. All will be capped off by an invitation spiel for men to open on Friday and continue through Saturday with some of the best curlers in the province taking part. This week will be climaxed by a banquet and dance to entertainment for the visitors at the Shrine Club on Friday night. A record 36 hour drill proceeded the banquet.

The visiting curlers were welcomed by Mrs. Agnes Benn, president of the women's section of the club and were officially welcomed by the general chairman of the Centennial committee, Claude D. Tice. Mrs. Gwen Sutton and Mrs. Leitha Daynes are the spiel. Mrs. Agnes Walker gave the rules and the entertainment was provided by the committee. The Sutton's committee were, Marion McGee, Marjory Reid, and Ann Alexander. Mrs. Doris Bannon was in charge of the kitchen with rinks of Miriam Graham and Hazel Blair as assistants. A delightful ham dinner was provided with plenty of dessert. Mrs. N. Gault supplied a great deal of amusement when she appeared as Mrs. Miller and sang several songs, decidedly 'off-key'.

The competition was exceptionally keen and only two points separated the three top teams in the spiel. A rink of Norma Vallup, Mary Donelon, Lois Spence with Joan Munroe of Cobourg as skip won the Molson trophy and Jim Williamson, representative of that firm made the presentation at the end of play. In second place, one point behind was a local rink of Marion Gardiner, Patty Emerson, Grace Carruthers with Mary Mott as skip. The defending rink of Patsy Wansbolt, Dorothy MacKinnon, Flo Riffin with Vera Fairman as skip was only beaten another point.

In fourth place was a rink from Picton of B. Fyfe, B. McFarland, T. Fletcher with Ruth Hart as skip, followed by a local rink of Helen Lewis, Nina Gault, Martha Booth with Wynn Mount as skip. There were three consolation winners which included a rink from Quinte of Phil Adamson, Doris Petterew, Grace Knowlton with Irene Webster as skip; a rink from Napanee of Susie Bonnick, Kay Coathup, Marion Miller with T. Burns as skip and a rink from Trenton of Doris Sweetman, Neva Dymock, Bobby Lister with Beth Dunfield as skip.

It was a good solid spiel, well-managed and it was evident the hospitality that was extended to the visitors was much appreciated.

Hank Fonda's Nice Little Girl Has Been Banned in Italy

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "What has happened to Hank Fonda's nice little girl Jane?" asked a Beverly Hills dowager.

What indeed? First Jane Fonda showed up in Playboy in the characteristic pose for that magazine: Nude.

Now she has been banned in Italy. Film she made with her husband, director Roger Vadim, The Game is Over, was seized on a citizen's complaint by the state censors because it was obscene. A magistrate in Sarzi, Italy, ruled that it was indeed obscene and ordered trial for the film's distributor and theatre managers who showed it.

On the latter matter, Miss Fonda was mystified. Here is the finish Barefoot in the Park, she commented that the Italian censors had already passed the Vadim film and it had enjoyed a successful run in Italy. She denied that it contained anything obscene.

"Vadim would not do any thing that was not in good taste," said the actress, who refers to her husband by his last name.

On the matter of the Playboy spread, she is more voluble. She has used the magazine for several years to announce pregnancy. She almost every actress does. "Almost every actress," she said. "They are usually difficult to do, because you have to stand behind two bedposts or some other method for cover.

"In this case I decided to trust my husband to play fair with freedom, being assured that he would protect me in the editing room. He did just that: the nude sequence is in good taste.

"There is a world of difference between playing a nude scene in a movie which can be cut for protection and being shot in the nude by an outside photographer, especially when the result ends up in the coulers of a girlie magazine."

Sawchuck To Undergo Treatment

TORONTO (CP) — Goaltender Terry Sawchuk of Toronto Maple Leafs arrived Wednesday from his Detroit home to undergo treatment for a recurring back ailment that has kept him out of National Hockey League action since Dec. 7.

His doctors have ordered swimming and physiotherapy treatment. An announcement on when he can resume skating is expected next week.

Sawchuk, top goaltender in the NHL until forced to retire from a game in Montreal Dec. 7 had undergone surgery for a recurring back ailment last summer.

Writers Believe Mao-Tse-Tung Kicked Off Chinese Conflict

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — "China Watching" in Hong Kong during these days of upheaval inside the Communist country must be like trying to report a prison riot from outside the walls.

CBS correspondent Bernard Kalb gathered three newspapermen—a Canadian, an American and an Englishman—around a table for an informal on-camera discussion, broadcast as a special program Monday night. The three China experts, reconciling their information in many areas was scanty, proceeded to theorize—and to disagree on most theories.

The Canadian, Mark Gayn, correspondent for the Toronto Star, called the convulsion a "revolution decreed from above." Robert Elegant, the American, called it a public conflict between a concept of life in a complex country. Richard Hughes, the Englishman, said it is the greatest upheaval of the 20th century."

There was general agreement that the revolution was kicked off by Mao Tse-tung because he worried about "the decay of his revolution," as Gayn put it, and that he was using old tactics.

There was a difference about China's relationship to Russia. Gayn thought that the break between the two nations could be repaired. The others thought Russia is not eager to have a strong nation on her flank.

NBC plans to replace the Andy Williams Show May 21 with The Saint, a long-playing British adventure series starring Roger Moore.

Williams' NBC contract has run out, and it is known he would prefer to continue in television as the star of occasional specials instead of a weekly variety show. Negotiations are in progress.

"Bobbies" Ready For Hotheads

LONDON (AP) — Police announced Monday improvements in methods of dealing dented steps to deal with rowdy soccer fans when the English Cup games are played a week from Saturday.

They arranged a special night session of the magistrates' court at Watford to punish fans who make trouble at the third - Liverpool match.

A squad of 140 policemen has been assigned to the match between Tottenham Hotspur and Millwall in the tough London dock area.

Magistrates' courts in Britain usually sit in the morning.

Watford police apparently acted because of the Liverpool fans' reputation for rowdyism.

A sell-out crowd is certain to watch Third Division Watford take on Liverpool,—reigning English League champions.

Tottenham asked for police protection after hearing of scenes at Millwall's stadium last Saturday. Fans stricken Plymouth Argyle players who had just defeated Millwall 2-1 and ended the London team's two-year undefeated run at home.

Rand Hints He Wants Change in Injunctions

TORONTO (CP) — Ivan C. Rand, heading a royal commission inquiry into labor disputes in Ontario, has indicated he favors changes in procedures for granting injunctions in labor-management disputes.

During hearings today, Mr. Rand asked C. B. C. Scott, vice-president of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, if there would be any difficulty in bringing witnesses to court where they could be subject to examination in applications for injunctions.

Mr. Scott said there would be no trouble.

Under present procedures, evidence on which injunctions are granted is presented in affidavit form.

"These methods and procedures are not made for eternity," said Mr. Rand, former justice of the Supreme Court of Canada.

George E. Gathercole, chairman of the commission, presented a brief which said that strikes which would imperil the distribution of power by the commission could not be tolerated.

The commission brief did not ask for compulsory arbitration as a matter of statute, but proposed instead that provincial or federal cabinets should be given responsibility to invoke compulsory arbitration in essential public service disputes.

The discretionary powers of government should have the effect of making compulsory arbitration a relatively rare occurrence," the brief said.

The brief urged procedures for quick enforcement of regulations dealing with illegal strikes.

It suggested that a special panel of the Ontario Labor Relations Board should be available on short notice to hear applications that a strike is illegal and should be empowered to order employees back to work.

Marshall Pollock, royal commissio counsel, asked whether a declaration from the labor board that a strike is illegal is sufficient to end the strike.

Mr. Scott said the declaration has been more effective in the past than it is now. He said the responsibility for undertaking prosecutions in illegal strikes should rest with the government rather than with employees as now is the case.

The commission hearings adjourned until Wednesday to give Mr. Rand a day off.

Commons Body to Police Transport Rejected

OTTAWA (CP) — Conservative MPs lost one skirmish but immediately started another Monday in the Commons in their war against some elements of the government's transportation bill.

With New Democratic Party and Creditiste backing, the government voted down 62 to 30 a Conservative attempt to set up a special parliamentary committee to keep an eye on the proposed Canada transportation commission.

Under terms of the government bill, the transport commission will wield great power over land, sea and air transportation coming under federal jurisdiction.

The last MPs had scarcely been counted in the lobby before Conservatives resumed their demands that the low rates on grain moving through the Crowsnest Pass not come under review for at least another 10 years.

The bill says the review can take place in only certain circumstances.

Conservatives are expected to resume their arguments when the Commons tackles the transport bill again today. The government hopes the bill will have crossed every parliamentary barrier well before the end of the month.

Gerald W. Baldwin (PC—Peace River) proposed the special watchdog committee. He argued that too much power is being placed with government agencies and Crown corporations. He wanted the special committee to keep the newly-established commission on its toes.

Transport Minister Pickersgill said he had no quarrel with the objectives of the Conservative proposal. But he couldn't accept the idea of establishing the committee by legislation that required the approval of the Senate and the Governor-General.

That meant the Commons was no longer the master of its own rules.

David Lewis (NDP — York South) led his party's vote against the proposal. He said he couldn't support the amendment since it would allow the parliamentary committee to hear evidence in secret.

Several Conservatives said they aren't convinced the railways are losing money hauling grain through the Crowsnest Pass at rates frozen by Parliament since 1898. They refused to accept government assurances that the rates themselves won't come under review in 1969.

Mr. Pickersgill said the only purpose is to find out whether the railways are taking a loss on the grain shipments and to provide them with subsidies if they are.

The rates will remain untouched, he said.

Gordon Churchill (PC—Winnipeg South Centre) said a review in 10 years would be best because the railways then couldn't pick out one bad year and yell for financial assistance.

If grants were made, and these would come from taxation, Canadians would wonder why they had to support a business that should be paying for itself.

Jack Horner (PC — Acadia) said it is possible the Crowsnest rates are too high. But Western farmers were willing to stick to the 1898 bargain and leave them unchanged.

He said the big increase in traffic and modern improvements gave weight to the argument that railway rates to move the grain should be lowered.

A vote also is expected today on amendment by Alvin Hamilton (PC — Qu'Appelle) who wants to give the commission the power to compel railways to exchange use of branch lines by lease or purchase and to order abandonment of lines whether applied for or not.

Mr. Pickersgill said he didn't want to give the commission arbitrary power over property. He suggested that when railways don't follow commission recommendations on these points, they could be referred to the cabinet for consideration.

Earlier, Labor Minister Nicholson announced that all three federal trustees supervising the maritime unions have agreed to stay on for the one-year extension of the trusteeship.

Judge Rene Lippe of Montreal, Charles Millard of Toronto and Joseph MacKenzie of Ottawa remain on the job at government request.

Unions under trusteeship are the Seafarers International Union, the Canadian Merchant Service Guild, the Canadian Maritime Union, the National Association of Marine Engineers, and 13 marine locals of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers.

Jackie Got Changes in Earlier Books

NEW YORK (AP) — Prof. John Kenneth Galbraith of Harvard said Monday that Mrs. John F. Kennedy got changes made, in two books about her husband last year in addition to William Manchester's The Death of a President.

In an article in the magazine Saturday Review, Galbraith, a native of Iona Station, Ont., who was Kennedy's ambassador to India, described the changes as With Kennedy, by Pierre Salinger, and The Pleasure of His Company, by Paul B. Fay, Jr.

Galbraith said he read both manuscripts for Mrs. Kennedy and her brother-in-law, Senator Robert F. Kennedy (Dem., N.Y.) and that at her behest deletions were made in each book prior to publication.

Although Galbraith did not say so, it appeared from the list of later events that Fay declined to go along with the president's widow on a number of requested deletions, and that she resented it.

Last Dec. 6, a spokesman for Mrs. Kennedy said she had turned down a $3,000 donation by Fay to the Kennedy Memorial Library. The spokesman declined to say why, but there were reports that Mrs. Kennedy objected to some portions of the book by Fay, former undersecretary of the navy.

In his Saturday Review article, Galbraith said both the book by Fay and the one by Salinger, Kennedy's press secretary, "made use—I am not clear how much—of privileged or personal materials."

"In neither were there any deletions that could conceivably have been considered of historical consequence," he said.

"Most involved the elimination of language or anecdotes which, out of context, cast reflection on the dignity of the office of president or which, without purpose, would have injured the feelings of personal friends of President Kennedy."

More Wives Going to Work

OTTAWA (CP) — A larger percentage of Canada's adult population was either at work or looking for work last year than in any year since the end of the Second World War.

The experts say it's a combination of a demand for labor unprecedented since the war, higher wages and rising prices. More and more wives are taking jobs to supplement family incomes.

Year-end statistics reported Monday by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that during 1960 an average 551 of every 1,000 persons 14 years of age and over were in the labor force. Previous post-war high was 550 in 1946.

There has been a sharp upheaval in the makeup of the labor force between 1946 and 1966, largely because of the trend to working wives.

In 1946 a working wife, particularly a mother, was generally frowned upon. Many firms wouldn't allow a woman to keep her job after marriage. Only 247 of every 1,000 women 14 and over were in the labor force.

In contrast, 331 of every 1,000 men were either working or looking for work.

In December last year 330 of every 1,000 women were in the labor force, 60 per cent of them married. Male participation was down to 764, mainly due to the increased number remaining in school past their early teens.

The heavy demand for women workers was reflected clearly in unemployment rates.

During December the general unemployment rate was 3.6 per cent. But it was only 1.8 per cent among non-married women and 1.7 per cent for married women, the statistical equivalent of a severe labor shortage.

In the same month the jobless rate for married men was 2.1 per cent, for non-married 6.4 per cent and for teen-agers, both male and female, 7.2 per cent.

December is traditionally the peak month for female employment, particularly among married women. The number of women at work last December was 2,218,000, an increase of 129,000 from the same month of 1965 and 263,000 higher than in December of 1964.

Tweed

TWEED — On Monday evening a linen shower was held at the home of Mrs. Milton McTaggart for Mrs. James Rivers who recently lost all their belonging in a fire which burned their business and apartment.

Cards were played during the evening and lunch was served by the hostess Mrs. McTaggart.

Window In Jet Cracks

OTTAWA (CP) — Transport Minister Pickersgill has ordered an investigation into the cracking Monday of a window in an aircraft carrying Lt.-Gov. H. P. MacKeen of Nova Scotia and Health Minister MacEachen to Ottawa from Greenwood, N.S.

The transport department jet was flying at 31,000 feet Monday afternoon when the inside layer of a window panel in the crew compartment "experienced delamination," Mr. Pickersgill said in a statement.

He said the plane quickly descended to 10,000 feet and although oxygen was available to the two passengers on the flight, it was not required.

The window panel did not break, the minister said, and there was no sudden decompression in the plane's cabin.

He said delamination-separation of the various layers in the window is not unusual in jet aircraft.

Ronning Gives Views

Red World Split

VANCOUVER (CP)—Chester Ronning, a former Canadian diplomat who made two Canadian peace-feeler missions to Hanoi, said Tuesday he believes United States policy in Vietnam is based on an outdated political theory.

Mr. Ronning, 71, said United States attitudes are based on the "fallacious belief in some quarters that communism is a united force bent on world conquest."

He said the Communist world is splitting along national lines.

"Communist bonds of ideology no longer hold them together," said Mr. Ronning, a China-born expert on the Far East. He taught school in China prior to the revolution that turned the country Communist.

He said China and the U.S. see the war in Vietnam in totally different terms and since there are no negotiations in progress, there is no opportunity for one world giant to find common ground with the other.

He said Chinese intervention in the war was unlikely immediately because neither the U.S. or China wishes a confrontation.

Mr. Ronning said China regards the conflict as a civil war in which the United States is directly and illegally interfering for its own purposes.

In the U.S., the war is seen as a defence of the democracy of South Vietnam which is be-

Peking Attacks Russia

HONG KONG (Reuters) — China's Communist party newspaper today disunited a new, slashing attack on Russia.

The Peking People's Daily attacked Soviet leaders as renegades, saboteurs and accomplices of U.S. imperialism, said a report carried by the New China News Agency.

The Peking newspaper says, in a commentary on the Soviet leaders: "They are men in outward appearance but ghosts in their secret bargains."

It accuses them of pursuing counter - revolutionary strategy "more insidiously and more cunningly than U.S. imperialism."

Green Beret Flays War

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Canadian-born hero of the Vietnam war said Tuesday U.S. involvement in Vietnam is a symptom of a sickness afflicting the American political system.

Donald Duncan, a former member of the Green Berets, a crack U.S. special combat force, told 600 University of British Columbia students the U.S. has become "near-perfect corporate military state with only the trappings of democracy.

He said a large standing army has been maintained since the end of the Second World War to protect worldwide interests of large American corporations.

"Congress votes money for military purposes, the armed forces train millions to think in their terms, and when they come out of the service these same people go to work for corporations."

He said this system created an increasing number of persons who accept military definitions such as "war is security, peace is a trap to let the enemy strengthen himself. If you believe these things, it makes a great deal of sense to be fighting in Vietnam," said Duncan.

China's Feuding Chieftains Shun Showdown or Compromise

TOKYO (AP)—China's feuding Communist leaders appeared deadlock in their power struggle today with each unwilling to compromise or to force a showdown.

A week after Mao Tse-tung issued a virtual ultimatum to the followers of President Liu Shao-chi, there was every indication it has been ignored and that Mao's boast of support from the armed forces had not budged his opponents.

Mao's New China news Agency referred in one dispatch to "the bastions in which counter revolutionary revisionism has entrenched itself" and refrained from proclaiming final victory over what it called the latest counter attack" by Mao's opponents.

The Peking correspondent of the Japanese Newspaper Yomiuri reported that the upheaval on the mainland seemed to have "passed its peak" and that tension is subsiding in Shanghai, Nanking, Peking and other cities.

He credited the changed atmosphere to Mao's personal assumption of leadership.

But the available evidence pointed out a pause only.

In Shanghai, where Mao's official news outlets admitted anti-Mao strikes and sabotage had occurred Liu's followers presumably were clinging to the municipal party apparatus.

Official organs for the last week charged that Shanghai party leaders had turned workers against Mao by promising them higher wages and better working conditions. But the dispatches did not say these leaders had been replaced. The implication was that they were holding on to their jobs.

It was doubtful that such a situation could continue long. Shanghai, a city of 8,000,000, is the commercial hub of China. Industrial and commercial unrest there could poison the country's businesslife and compel Mao's faction to force a showdown there.

So far it has not been able to do so or has not wanted to.

Car Theft When Teen-ager Unseats Maritimes Councillor

NEW WATERPORD, N.S. (CP)—A car theft in Toronto nearly 10 years ago has returned to haunt a New Waterford town councillor — and he has been forced to resign his position as a result of it.

Murray Tait, at 26 the youngest man ever elected to town council here, resigned Tuesday night after his eligibility to hold the seat was questioned by the man he defeated in the December municipal election.

Gordon MacInnis presented a document to Mayor Dan Nathanson showing Mr. Tait had been convicted in Toronto as a teen-ager on a charge of theft.

"I made the protest," Mr. MacInnis said. "I have no other comment other than that I will not be a candidate in any by-election."

Mr. MacInnis lost to Mr. Tait by 119 votes in the December election.

Mayor Nathanson said Mr. MacInnis told him he was making the criminal record public because he felt it was his duty to do so.

"I am extremely distressed by this situation," the mayor his said. "However, having conferred with the town solicitor there doesn't seem to be any course left but to accept the resignation.

"Persons convicted of any crime punishable by a term in penitentiary are ineligible to hold office in Nova Scotia."

Mr. Tait, father of three, admitted he was convicted on the theft charge in Toronto. He said he was 17 at the time and was fined $200.

"I had no idea this would prevent me from holding public office," he said following his resignation.

"This happened in Toronto a long time ago. I was a passenger in a car that was stolen by a group of teen-agers. At the time we thought it was just a lark. We were all young and regretted our action at the time."

Municipal Affairs Minister Donald C. MacNeil said Tuesday night he will take immediate steps to investigate the "propriety of what may be anticipated here."

"I will conduct an immediate investigation into this affair to see if there is a possibility of amending the act to prevent a person suffering for the rest of his life for an indiscretion of long standing."

Revoke Passports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. state department has revoked the passports of three of four women who visited North Vietnam recently without the department's permission.

A department spokesman said Tuesday that notifications of revocation had been sent Jan. 13 to Patricia Griffith, Ithaca, N.Y.; Grace Newman of New York City; and Miss Barbara Deming of Cape Cod, Mass. No action has been taken against the fourth woman, Diane Bevel of Chicago, the spokesman said, because "we are not aware of her return to the United States."

City Women Chained by UEL and Methodism

Report by Community Services Director Robert Porter

ROBERT PORTER

• Belleville Male-oriented

By LENNY WILLIAMSON
Staff Reporter

A social worker yesterday challenged the women of Belleville to "stand up and be counted in the ranks of community leaders".

Robert Porter, executive director of United Community Services for Belleville and district said only 20 Belleville women had assumed decision - making positions in city organizations during the past year.

"Cake-making, quilting and fund - raising are nice contributions to an already comfortable life style, but what of the gift of leadership and the personal gift of self," he asked. "Twenty women in Belleville have stood up to be counted. What about the remainder of you?"

Speaking to over 100 guests at the annual luncheon of the, Women's Hospital Auxiliary in Education Hall, Mr. Porter said Belleville is a male - oriented community. He put the blame for this squarely on the women's shoulders.

"Women don't support other women who take responsibility in the affairs of the community. They even sabotage the efforts of other women in order to keep society male dominated," he said.

Reason for this attitude, Mr. Porter claimed, is rooted in the history of the area.

"The district was settled by Anglo-Saxon United Empire Loyalists and no other ethnic group large enough to threaten their majority has ever come into the community. Belleville was also a hotbed of Methodism, which at that time took a fundamentalistic, fatalistic approach to life. Fun was bad, a sin. We still live under this cloud — one of the reasons it is hard to develop a recession program.

"Because Belleville has never known conflict between different cultures, its people cannot endure participation in any conflict, except debates or war, where they are hemmed in by rules. We resent change, and are willing to pay anything for peace.

"The native group outnumbers two to one the newcomers attracted here by the railroad and industry. The outsiders' new concepts threaten the status quo and cause resentment. The strongest resentment has come from people very active in the church."

Mr. Porter cited local complaints about the welfare department as an example of new ways of thinking.

"These complaints reflect a growing dissatisfaction throughout the province with welfare provisions," he said. "Our public welfare is a product of English poor laws made in 1602. Our welfare program has to change because the whole concept of poverty has changed since Elizabethan days."

Other matters of concern to women, the speaker said, are services to people in the district. Although Belleville has two home nursing training services, four sickroom supply loan cupboards, two sheltered workshops and a bevy of emergency services, it has no recreation facilities for girls from 10 to 18, no service to transients, few housing services and few provisions for the aged.

He concluded his address with a question directed at his audience.

"Everyone here is involved in fund-raising, but the gift of leadership is missing. What are you prepared to do?"

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. J. Forrester and thanked by Mrs. W. Finkle.

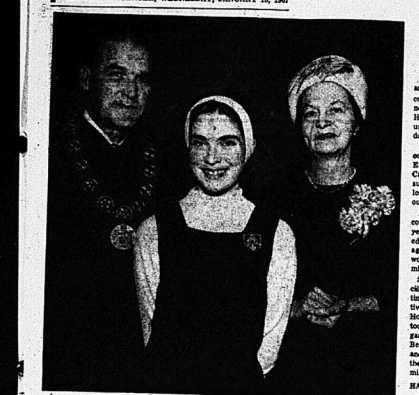
William A. Shannon, Reeve Of Marmora, Elected Warden



New County Warden

Hastings county warden for 1967, Reeve William Shannon, is seen with his wife and daughter, Catherine Ann, following his election yesterday at county council.

A Marmora village merchant and 10-year veteran of county council, Reeve William A. Shannon was named warden of Hastings county at the inaugural session of council on Tuesday afternoon.

Reeve Shannon won the honor over two township reeves, Ernest Kelly of Sidney and Calvin White of Dungannon. He succeeds Clayton Hall of Thurlow township who has bowed out of municipal politics.

A leader in Marmora village community affairs for many years, Warden Shannon entered the village council 16 years ago and has been an active worker on the local arena committee for many years.

Since coming to county council he has served almost continually as county representative on the Belleville General Hospital board of governors. He took an active part in the reorganization of the Hastings-Belleville county health unit and had served as chairman of the county consultative committee on secondary education.

HAS THREE CHILDREN

—Married with three children, Warden Shannon has a son teaching high school English at Stratford and another son attending Guelph University, and a daughter Catherine Ann, 12.

The January session of the county council which began Tuesday afternoon is expected to last until Thursday afternoon.

Besides election of the new warden, standing committees for the year were also appointed yesterday.

The county council chambers were crowded for the inaugural ceremonies which were attended by many former wardens, local political figures and municipal officials. Warden Shannon was sworn in by Clerk-Treasurer Carl Bateman. Rev. A. L. Sutherland gave the invocation.

Speaking briefly at the session was Elmer Sandercock, MPP for Hastings West, Clarke T. Rollins, Hastings East, and Belleville Mayor Jack Ellis.

PAST WARDENS PRESENT

Mr. Bateman said the attendance of the many past wardens was indication that there is still high interest in local government.

In his inaugural address Warden Shannon referred to the many advancements which had taken place since he became a member of county council.

He referred to the new county administration building, the new Belleville General Hospital of which the county is part owner, the new addition to Hastings Manor and the proposed new county home at Bancroft.

Also a county assessment system has been introduced, a county health unit had been formed and a regional detention centre was in the planning stage.

REQUIRED ATTENTION

All of these projects had required careful consideration to prevent the tax rate from soaring. County planning and county welfare would still require careful consideration, as would larger areas of schools administration now being studied. by the county consultative committees.

Many of these advancements were indicative of good cooperation between rural and urban councils.

"Let us further these fine relationships and continue the spirit of co-operation and good will," he urged.

Joseph Angelo Named Deputy City Engineer

The city of Belleville again has a full complement of engineers in the public works department.

A few weeks ago a new assistant city engineer joined the staff and more recently a new deputy city engineer arrived at city hall—both replacements for men who resigned from other positions.

The latest addition to the staff is Joseph Angelo, a native of Trenton, who assumes the role of deputy city engineer. A 1962 graduate of the University of Windsor he came with the engineering branch of the RCAF at Sydney, N.S., until last May when he went to Waterloo as assistant city engineer. Married with one child he has already taken up residence in the city.

Mr. Angelo fills the position left vacant by Richard Kraft who has gone to the North Toronto area.

Transit Commission Shows Increase in Fares Over 1965

It seems more Belleville people are "taking a bus and leaving the driving to us" than ever before.

Statistics released by the Belleville Transit Commission today show an increase of 57,234 passengers for 1966 over the 1965 totals.

In 1966 there were 877,804 passengers riding on Belleville buses, compared to 820,460 in 1965. This increase of 6.9 per cent compares favorably with other cities in Ontario. Of figures available, only three of 13 cities show a higher increase in passenger levels than Belleville.

In 1966 chairman J. A. Ireland said the increased number of passengers resulted in a reduction of the previous year's deficit. "Naturally, the increase in passengers means more revenue coming into the commission," he said, "and reduced the deficit. This will result in less expense for the taxpayer for the service."

Ken Pinder was appointed chairman of the Commission, replacing Mr. Ireland. Besides Mr. Pinder and Mr. Ireland, other members of the Commission are S. Spiegel, L. McMullin, Mayor, and Mrs. Doreen Miller, office manager.

Group Marketing of Farm Products Praised by Speaker

A farm expert told a Belleville audience last night the group marketing of farm products has led to more stable prices and even better farm products.

Norman Watson, vice-chairman of the Farm Marketing Board of Ontario, told a meeting of the Canadian Industrial Management Association there are 19 local boards that market 38 commodities throughout Ontario.

"Producer marketing boards, intelligently managed and loyally supported," he said, "will likely continue to play an important role in marketing farm products in Ontario."

He said the group method of selling was initiated by legislation under the Farm Products Marketing Act. He said the act, "is designed and drafted especially for producers in such a way that the marketing of their products will be effective."

"Local producers gain authority by petitioning to come under the act," he said. When the petition is accepted and sixty-six and two-thirds per cent of the affected producers vote in favor, the marketing board may be started.

Mr. Watson said the method of operation of the different boards varies considerably. Some, such as the vegetable growers, use collective bargaining and meet yearly with the processors to set terms.

Others, such as the egg and fowl producers, use promotional type plans by advertising and research. Some boards act as marketing agents and actually take the responsibility of selling all the regulated products.

Mr. Watson said that since the government is committed to a low food price policy, restrictive agreements on the amount of production, common in the U.S. has been resisted here.

Besides members of the CIMA, several guests from the local agricultural community attended the meeting.

Dept. Refuses To Place Restrictions

The latest answer from the department is also "no."

The bridge is capable of bearing any load allowed on Ontario highways.

The Year of the Big Drum Beat at Camp Picton

PICTON — When they switch the Centennial spotlight on the Canadian Forces tattoo some months hence, any glow of national success will reflect here.

Most Canadians will only see the public polish of a select corps of servicemen parading through a showcase presentation.

In coming weeks, however, citizens of this town will have an inkling of what gives a tattoo its dash and precision.

Camp Picton, home of the 1st Battalion Canadians Guards, has been chosen as training grounds for the big birthday contribution of the forces.

Its parade ground and training areas in the near future will be partly surrended to the planners and participants in the complex manoeuvre patterns which are part of the tattoo tradition.

About 800 men of the fighting forces will be despatched to the camp. Drills are expected to be in full swing by mid-February.

However, key planning personnel are already moving into the area to set the scene for the rehearsals. Training will continue until near the end of March when the servicemen will fall in for the national tour, taking them to major centres across the country.

The big, if temporary increase, in military personnel will further emphasize to the town its contemporary role as a service community — based on a tradition of local, civic sturdiness.

Incidentally, in an area more conscious of history than most Ontario communities, historical research shows that even the term "tattoo" has distinct bearing on service-civic relationships.

Traditionally the tattoo was the call or drum beat giving soldiers notice to return to quarters.

In older days it also warned tavern keepers to turn the beer tap to and keep the troops out — hence the original term "taptoo".

Commanding officer for the Centennial tattoo which shortly goes into rehearsal here will be Colonel G. P. Marriott, of Ottawa.

More Questions to Answer

Integrated School Areas Discussed by Panel

AMELIASBURG — Since January 1965 consultative committees in the province have studied the feasibility of larger integrated school areas. The committee for Prince Edward County which represents Amelisburg township reported their findings in county council at Picton. But they made no recommendations in light of the possibility controversy could arise before proposals were finalized.

Since the submission to county council considerable controversy has developed whether the Amelisburg public school area should be retained by the Bay of Quinte secondary school area or be absorbed in the Prince Edward County system. Subsequent rumors added fuel to the arguments as concerned parents sought more information on the subject.

Endeavoring to clear the air and obtain facts the Amelisburg Home and School Association sponsored a panel discussion at Kente Public school last night. The panel included; R. A. Dunsmore, inspector of schools for Hastings, Prince Edward and Northumberland counties (moderator), Arnold Orr, superintendent for the Bay of Quinte High School district, Earl Price, representative for Amelisburg on the Bay of Quinte high school board and consultive committee member, Morley Davidson, chairman of the Amelisburg area public school board Amelisburg's Reeve George Cunningham a member of Prince Edward County council and Douglas Trumble, principal of Kente public school.

At the outset of the discussions moderator Dunsmore pointed out the object of the panel was to relate the facilities and opportunities the larger school areas would provide.

NO SWALLOWING UP

Panel member Arnold Orr assured the gathering there was no reason to fear Belleville is going to swallow up the township's school system and run the show. "There is no evidence of ambitions in Empire building," he said. He said he had the assurance from his superiors the Board of Education will permit no tampering with Amelisburg's position in the Bay of Quinte high school area unless the people at the township want their children to attend classes elsewhere. Secondary boys may decide to stay with us. Slated for retirement as superintendent this year he acknowledged the contribution Amelisburg representatives Harmon Monsimery and Earl Price had made to the Bay of Quinte High School Board.

Panel member Trumble listed the increased facilities that would be made available to children under the expanded integrated system and noted teacher recruitment would be reduced. "I have been able to collect a lot of information about the advantages but there is not too much to be found to the contrary."

Also present was Mrs. Jack Marshall presided during the association's business period.

ARREST FORMER MINISTER

KINSHASA (Reuters)—Bertin Mwamba, former posts and telecommunications minister in the Congo Republic, has been arrested and charged with misappropriating 86,000,000 Congolese francs (about $500,000), it was announced Wednesday. Mwamba, 35, lost his post last December in a ministerial reshuffle.

Criteria for Good Taxes Outlined by Accountants

Members of The Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants of Ontario, Bay of Quinte Chapter, were told Monday night that taxation is recognized as unpopular, and therefore there are five criteria for good taxes.

Gordon F. Lee, supervisor, Belleville District Federal Sales Tax Office, told the Society the criteria for a good tax are; "Is it easy and economical to collect; Is it easy to administer; Is it progressive or regressive; does it fall upon the necessities of life; and is it readily changeable and adaptable to the economy of the times."

He said sales tax was originally introduced in 1920 as a turnover tax of one per cent and was revised to the single incidence manufacturer's tax in 1924 at six per cent.

Mr. Lee said the rate has now risen to nine per cent plus three per cent as old age security tax. The Federal Government gross revenue consists of approximately 20 per cent sales tax. He said this compares favorably with France, which collects 36 per cent of revenue and West Germany, which collects 44 per cent by sales tax.

The speaker said the Sales Tax Act provides for exemption on a wide variety of goods including food stuffs, fuels for heating and lighting, newspapers, books, farm implements and pesticides.

In other business at the meeting, Ray Courtenay, secretary, announced the next meeting would be a joint meeting with the Peterborough Chapter to be held in Cobourg, February 21. Guest speaker will be P. D. Burns of Confederation Life Association. His topic will be "Behind The Galmor Of The Computer."

School to Call Bus Route Tenders

PICTON (STAFF) — A final layout of bus routes for the new school for retarded children has been plotted and members of the newly - formed board voted to call for tenders for transportation at their regular meeting this week. One spokesman said it is a difficult job as there are only 10 children and seven of these live outside the town and they are scattered all over the county. The school was newly opened in Picton's Baptist Church shortly after the new year. Hutton Martin, representative on the Prince Edward District High School Board for Athol Township was again elected chairman at the board's inaugural meeting recently. Re - elected vice chairman was Mrs. Ruth Hart representative for the Picton Public School Board.

Only two members are on the board for 1967 - Mrs. Dorothea Carson for North Marysburgh and Earl Smith for Bloomfield who replaces Sid Strawbridge. Mrs. Carson replaces Ross Eaton.

Mr. Smith is not a total newcomer having served on the board before Mr. Strawbridge was appointed.

The board named committees but left each committee to elect its own chairman.

2 More Roads Designated for Development

PICTON (STAFF)—Two more roads in Prince Edward County have been designated as development roads for pre-engineering by Ontario Department of Highways.

County road 5 from Johnson Street, Picton, through Yerexville road to Elmbrook Cheese Factory. The other is in Athol Township, starting at the east 4th end of the village of Cherry Valley and up the south side of East Lake to Salmon Point Church.

While pre-engineering is planned, it will ultimately mean the rebuilding of these sections of road. It will make it possible for the county road budget to be expended elsewhere.

6 New Members Join Council

Hastings county council this year has six new members out of a total of 33 reeves and deputy reeves.

New faces this year include Mrs. Barbara Allen, reeve of Tweed village, and the second woman to represent a municipality on county council; Howard Cooney, deputy reeve of Thurlow; Maurice Clancy, deputy reeve of Rawdon. Kenneth Smith of Elzevir, Ross Sprackett of Tudor and Charles Gordaner of Deloro Village.

Ross Sprackett, the new reeve for Tudor township, is the son of James Sprackett, former county warden and township representative at county council for 30 years.

Mr. Sprackett was elevated to the reeveship by township council members after last year's reeve, Vera McMurray, resigned. Mr. McMurray is now acting as area hotel inspector for the Liquor Control Board.

Recreation Committee May Be Formed

PICTON (Staff) — The possibility of a recreation committee for the Township of North Marysburgh was discussed at the new township council's meeting recently. A new member of council, Jack Wells, was appointed to inquire into setting up such a committee.

In other business, council was addressed briefly by retiring reeve Kenneth Hicks, who wished the new reeve, Harold Harrison, and the members of council the best of luck during their term of office.

Also present was Dr. C. Starks representing the township's engineers' association who asked council to try and have checkerboard warning signs placed on some of the dangerous curves on the Waupoos Road. He also suggested improvements to the entrance to the township dump.

Council passed a motion that the matter of warning signs on the Waupoos road be taken up with county council and a committee was appointed to study the entrance to the dump.

North Marysburgh Township Ratepayers' Association will have a meeting later this month. Guest speaker for this occasion will be a representative to Prince Edward County, retired Air Vice Marshal Murray Lister. Lister was a former airman to farmer when he purchased a farm at Cressy last spring. Mr. Lister has already proven himself to be a witty and popular speaker at various events in the county and recently he spoke to Picton Rotarians.

Tennis Courts Damaged

City parks board equipment preparing the Quinte Skating Club rink on Dufferin avenue for public skating has caused extensive damage to the tennis courts, city council was told last night.

Alderman Dr. J. Russell Scott told council that he had been informed by a skating club member that at least $6,000 damage had been done to the courts.

Retarded Adults' Home Sought in Trenton

TRENTON — Although the need for a retarded adults' home in this area has been established by the Trenton Brighton and District Association for the Retarded, the location and other details have yet to be ironed out.

Association president, Bart Boers, yesterday expressed his satisfaction with the attitude of many parents of retarded children. He said that while they realize the need of assistance once their child has passed school age (attendance at the school for the retarded is cut off at 18 years) they were not sufficiently enthusiastic about a program of adult care to get the proposed home underway. "In many cases," said Mr. Boers, the child has left school and with nowhere else to continue his learning he sits at home and "vegetates." Even seemingly "hopeless" cases seem to respond to a learning program, he said.

The adult home which Mr. Boers and members of his executive have proposed would be far enough out of town for the men to learn farm tasks. Women would be taught household skills. An attempt to locate a home directly west of Trenton last summer ended in failure when area residents raised strenuous objections to its presence in their neighborhood. However, the executive now have a location in mind which is in a fairly isolated area.

Tomorrow night, the association will hold a general meeting in the retarded children's school, three miles west of Trenton on Highway Two.

Toward Fitness

Recently we discussed the continuing need for wider recreational facilities for young Canadians.

We have in mind particularly more organized team sports in summer besides established activities like swimming and camping. Tennis and field hockey come to mind as two sports which are not played extensively in Canada. Yet in other Commonwealth countries and in Europe they absorb vast numbers of young people in healthy, outdoor exercise.

The tennis courts being provided at Zwick's Island will be a welcome addition to existing facilities in the city. The tendency in the smaller communities, however, is to take this game less seriously than it deserves. Played determinedly and with enthusiasm tennis provides not only excellent exercise but helps to establish good muscular co-ordination, timing and a keen eye. Some communities help to foster the necessary interest among young people by appointing a coach, and this is a possibility to be considered locally. Otherwise the investment represented by the courts could be wasted.

It is interesting to note in this regard that retarded children in Belleville and in Canada at large will benefit this year from a grant of $34,000 aimed at improving their physical fitness. The grant, announced at a recent meeting of the Belleville and District Association for Retarded Children, will enable the children to participate in a physical training program similar to the program in the regular schools.

Mrs. Kenneth Reid of the Kingston Association told the meeting that a large number of mentally retarded children suffer from overweight due to lack of exercise, not over-eating.

Retarded children, like those more fortunately endowed, also need the benefits conferred by outdoor life, amid lakes and woods and open spaces far removed from urban stress. The current issue of The Trillium, journal of the Civil Service Association, describes such a project.

A summer camp for crippled children is being established at Whidgone Lake near Geraldton, northeast of Port Arthur. The camp will have a beach, park and recreation hall and will be available to crippled and retarded children in the surrounding area from MacKenzie to Longlac, Nakina, Aroland and other outlying communities.

Whether handicapped or not, sport should be given its due place in the lives of the young. With the population expanding as it is (it is estimated the world's population will double in the next 37 years) it ranks almost with the provision of food as one of the factors necessary to human wellbeing. The younger generation often places much store in things of lesser value. Skill with community backing of sports programs they could become hardier and more outgoing citizens than they show promise of today.

Woman, 78, Is Advised To Ease Work Load

One-Sided

The head of the North Vietnamese mission in Paris, Mai Van Bo, recently called for a "definite, prompt and unconditional" halt to the American bombing of his country.

The trouble with demands such as this one by Communist spokesmen is that they are one-sided. In a simple case, the U.S.A. might with equal justification call on the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong to halt acts of terrorism against the South Vietnamese.

The North Vietnamese would have some difficulty explaining for instance how some 25 children were killed or wounded recently by the guns of South Vietnamese Rangers. It was because Communist troops herded the youngsters together and used them as human shields as they advanced on the Government forces, leaving the latter with no alternative but to fire.

Evangelist Billy Graham was in Vietnam recently. In a radio address last Sunday he disclosed that some 1,000 Vietnamese civilians are being killed in the southern part of the country every month. They are victims not only of warfare but of Communist terrorism. He said known Christians are often singled out for attacks, and they have included village chiefs, men, women and children.

It is a brutal war from any angle — but Vietnam none the less is the crucible of freedom as we know it. Prime Minister Holt of Australia put it well the other day when he said the U.S. presence in South Vietnam is essential to Australia's security and growth and is a vital service to the "entire free world."

Dear Dr. Molner: I read recently about a drug that produces dreams. My son who is five feet seven has often remarked that he wished he were taller. Should I ask our doctor or could the drug be obtained without consultation? — Mrs. I. S.

I would call it a growth hormone instead of a drug —and I would forget all about it for practical purposes.

First, not much is yet known about it. Secondly, very little is available. Third, and most important in your case, is that a your son (you do not give his age) presumably already has most or all of his normal growth. When that is reached there is no way to bring about additional growth because the bones have matured.

While study of this growth hormone is intriguing and may eventually lead to value bi knowledge, at the moment there is no way to increase a person's height arbitrarily. Even experimentally, all we can hope for is to bring an individual closer to whatever his norm s height should be, if his growth has been retarded abnormally.

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Would you write about a leaky heart? I have it but something to do with the valves. I am 78 and have always worked hard. My doctor tells me I work too hard and unless I slow down, my heart will blow out on me. Would you explain in down to earth language what this is all about? — Mrs. J. K.

Saying that such a heart will "blow out" doesn't sound like a doctor's words. But if he said and should slow down to ease the heart failure, that's something else.

Your heart isn't going to explode, nor will it "spring a leak." Blood is pumped through the heart by contraction of the heart muscle, which squeezes all four chambers of the heart.

With each squeeze, or heartbeat, blood is forced out of each chamber and into the next one ahead of it. As the heart muscle relaxes, and the chambers expand again, more blood moves into the chambers. It is a slow flow backward, because of valves which connect the chambers. They are one-way valves. Blood can flow through them in only one direction.

Or at least it can flow only one way if the valves are normal. But a valve becomes "leaky" it means that it lets some blood flow in the wrong directions. You must remember the old-fashioned water pump. If the leather in the valve is stiffened, or cracked, or worked too much, you would get less water with each pumping. You had to do a lot more work to get a pail of water.

It's the same with a heart when a valve is leaky, It has to work harder to pump the necessary amount of blood. When you work strenuously you need more circulation. When you take things easy, you need less, and the heart doesn't have to work so hard.

That's all your doctor is telling you: If you don't, work so hard, your heart can do a little more resting. It has served you well for 78 years. Ease its burden so it can serve you for more years.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please send me your booklet on pinworms. I enclose 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Does a child get pinworms from a kitten. — Mrs. D. L.

No, except accidentally. Pinworms are not spread by household pets or other animals except that if there are pinworm eggs around, they could be carried on a kitten's fur, and ultimately transferred to the child's fingers — and the mouth. There would be an equal risk of the eggs being on a fussy toy.

Famine Threat

Food Production in India

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

As the result of a second successive drought year which has adversely affected crops in many areas in the States of Bihar, Uttar Pradesh, Rajasthan and Gujarat, India is facing a rather serious food shortage.

In this difficulty, Canada was the first country to come to our help with an immediate food aid of $31 million; Prime Minister Pearson has also announced that the Government of Canada would seek Parliament's approval for $75 million worth food aid during the next financial year beginning March, 1967.

While the Government and the people of India have been deeply touched by this spirit of generosity of goodwill, it is necessary that the Canadian people should know what India itself is doing to solve the country's food problem. This is all the more necessary in view of reports in a section of the world press which tend to doubt whether the Government of India is doing everything possible to achieve self-sufficiency in food. A perusal of the relevant facts would clearly show that the answer is definite. In all affirmative. In fact, it would show that the 19 years since India's independence represent an unprecedented determined national effort to improve agriculture, as well as to control the growing population.

Food shortage has been a persistent malady in the history of India dating back to many centuries. Out of the 48 major famines throughout the world in the last 2,000 years, 21 struck the India alone. In the pre-British days, a major famine occurred in the eighteen year period. This frequency had increased during the British period owing to various factors, such as the land tenure system, inadequate attention to agriculture and growing population, that about 100 years of British rule, India had faced 23 famines.

Energetic attempts to improve agriculture began to be made immediately after attained independence in 1947, that efforts during these last 19 years, although they have produced remarkable improvement, have understandably not been able to make up for the leeway of centuries.

Industrial Commission

An Image That Could Be Improved

In the following article DONALD M. SOUTTER, managing editor of The Intelligencer, discusses the industrial picture in Belleville. It is the first of a series of articles on community affairs which will be appearing periodically on this page.

The Industrial Commission Syndrome—the ancient political game of firing dandruffs at civic - minded individuals who work to bring industry to a community — has run its course again in Belleville.

May it rest in peace for at least another two years.

However, a few passing observations might not be out of place.

This newspaper is in accord with the present form of the industrial commission. It has worked well in other communities. It will work well here.

Alderman Arthur Keegan's proposal to replace it with a six man aldermanic committee might have been well-intentioned. But it was ill-advised and ill-timed.

Running a municipality is a task these days which requires almost more time than aldermen can afford. Citizens cannot expect these elected officials to undertake more than the present load. If say, aldermen is willing to devote more time to his community than is called for at present it would appear his talents could be well exploited by active participation in the problems of this city without attempting to tackle industrial promotion.

However, there is one main theme which has been made clear. And this is that those who are in the know are content the commission is doing a competent job...but those in the dark are willing to think the worst.

It evolves into a simple matter of public image, public relations and community promotion.

In the field of public relations, the present commission has not maintained the standards it has set itself in luring industry to the area.

Some will maintain the two functions are not compatible. This is the argument most frequently advanced by members of boards and commissions.

It only points up one disadvantage of government by appointed subcommittees of an elected body. At times they develop a philosophy that their function is to wag the dog.

It may not always be the easiest approach, but boards and commissions have to realize they have a responsibility to inform. The public has inherent right to be informed when public funds are being expended.

When criticism of the present commission reached a high point, the commission was able to make a statement which blunted the attack. Yet even a scant two weeks or month previous the year's activities were kept from the public under the guise of being in the public welfare.

Any civic thinking taxpayer will accept the premise the names of industries negotiating with the commission must be withheld during this crucial period.

But the commission's report dealt with other things such as the number of enquiries, why other industries hadn't located here, the workload of the industrial commissioner and the work being done by the commission to support the area's bid for a community college.

Any or all of these could have been released to the public, helped establish a favorable image and turned aside the volume of criticism of the past three weeks.

During the council debate this newspaper was criticized because it felt the industrial commission in Belleville was of such concern to the public that the story rated headline treatment.

Inferred was that the newspaper report would influence the prospective industry adversely.

There are two fallacies in this argument. The first is basic to the operation of a responsible press. This is that a newspaper has a duty to report what people say in public meetings and to present the news in such a fashion that the facts are there upon which the readers can draw conclusions.

If the conclusions do not agree with the thinking of any board because it failed to present its case properly, it can hardly be the fault of the newspaper.

It is also difficult to believe that clear-thinking, progressive, level-headed businessmen will turn thumbs down on a community because of what a newspaper prints per se. They will only do so if there is a foundation of fact behind allegations which could be contained in stories reported in newspapers as a civic responsibility.

Parenthesis, the Industrial Commission is doing an excellent job in interesting prospective firms in this area. If it were to accept the fact the general public is equally interested. It could rule out ugly repetition of the past few weeks.

The most regrettable effect of the so-called "new morality" is that while those who should be "teachers of righteousness" are saying it is no longer necessary to observe the sanctity of the marriage vows at all times and in all circumstances, some young or uninformed persons are accepting this view.

Diepppe Veteran Looks Back

Editor,
The Intelligencer,

I have been reading about the Dieppe raid in Book 4 and part in the battle and have a few wounds to show for it.

I do not think any Germans should be invited to the anniversary ceremonies. Many of my friends are still there. If a person here kills your loved one you do not go up and shake hands and congratulate him on his deed.

As would be nice to have something named after the men who were their buddies in the great country. I was with the Royal Hamilton light Infantry and I wonder if any other members of the RHLI are in this district. We are invited to the ceremonies in Toronto or not?

I have lost contact with our Headquarters and wonder if there is anyone who could give me the address in Hamilton.

Strictly Personal

The Power of the Critic

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

In the New York Times for Dec. 7, there appeared a full-page ad for the new musical play, "1 Do! 1 Do!" The ad was made up wholly of quotes from more than 30 newspaper and magazine critics—all of them favorable—about the show's praises.

What amazes me about such displays is the obvious schizophrenia of play producers. With one breath they denounce the critics for being obtuse, prejudiced, shallow, negative, and destructive; with the next in the breath, they quote as many approving reviews as they can find.

If the critics are really as bad as the producers profess to be, how can their approval in so little value as their disapproval. If we are urged to ignore the critics when they pan a play, we should be urged equally to ignore them when they praise a play.

But the producers want it both ways, which is transparently silly and self-defeating. If the critic's judgment is bad, then obviously he is no more to be trusted when he likes a show than when he dislikes one; and quoting his favorable words in ads serves to give him more authority over public taste.

In an item on the "To-night" show not long ago, Edward Albee, the distinguished playwright, pointed out that the drama critics have too much power in the American theatre. I quite agree (even though I am one of them), and have long said the same thing, in print and in private.

But the reason they have too much power is that we are interfered upon them by the theatrical "have reviews" are overemphasized in all the ads and publicity; so much so, indeed, that a play which is reviewed unfavorably in the two New York morning papers has practically no chance of survival.

Theatre-goers in Europe are much more sure of their taste, much more willing to take a chance on a play that has not been given the stamp of "hit" by the critics. As a result, critics have much less power to impose either as oracles or ogres, but simply as individuals expressing their own personal opinions, which may mean much or little.

Of course, another reason for the excessive power wielded by American drama critics is the almost total withering that cost attending the theatre here. An evening out at the theatre in New York now costs about $60, with tickets, dinner, transportation and baby-sitting fee. For that kind of money, potential patrons will venture out for anything less than a guaranteed sure thing, and will rely upon either as oracles or ogres, but simply as individuals expressing their own personal opinions, which may mean much or little.

That team of "medical experts" that studied 1,800 alcoholics and reported the best bets for treatment really intrigues us.

Alcoholics who respond well to treatment, the team says, have these qualities: Social competence derived from job or marriage; above average I.Q. and level of education, etc.; intelligence.

What bothers us is this: With all these qualities, how come they got to be alcoholics?

City Couldn't Afford to Buy Directors' Services: Houston

Following is the text of the talk given Monday at city council by J. C. Houston, in answer to recent criticism of the Belleville Industrial Commission.

To the Belleville City Council:

In presenting the annual report activities of the Industrial Commission for the year 1956, no effort was made to answer the public argument now going on concerning the operations of the Commission. Such a speech as the one just read could properly be called a post - mortem. Actually, all reports are post-mortems because they are made after the result. In this case I am rather pleased that a post-mortem report of the Industrial Commission is just that. The Latin word "post - mor-t-e-m" means "after death". Let me explain this further.

The members of this Council are all aware how and when it was formed. At the invitation of Council, a group of individuals in this city were invited and asked to act on the Belleville Industrial Commission. From the members of this Commission, according to the incorporation by-laws of the Commission, were appointed a Board of Directors. This Board is composed of seven members and, of these seven, three have been industrialists appointed by manufacturing companies in this city.

I do not venture to give the exact value of the yearly salary of these three companies but I can assure you it is closer to $20 million than $10 million. Two of these three industrialists have now been promoted to other positions within their companies and are no longer available to the Commission. Their counsel and advice is lost. One of them almost single-handedly interested another industry to come to Belleville and formal announcement concerning this is expected soon.

The members of this Council have at all times been represented on the Industrial Commission through the Mayor or another appointee from within the Council. They have fulfilled their duty in reporting to you at regular intervals what was occurring within the Industrial Commission. You cannot claim ignorance of their work. Similarly, if you had any criticism, such criticism was not available to transmit same to the Industrial Commission. I cannot recall at any time receiving any communication from the Council, either verbally or otherwise which would criticize, assist, or indicate dissatisfaction.

About a year ago now when I reported to this Council the activities of the Commission for the year 1955, I clearly recall a motion of confidence, unanimously passed by this Council in my presence, accepting such Report. The members of that Council at that time are sitting members of this Council.

It was therefore with considerable astonishment that I was contacted a couple of weeks ago and advised that a member of this Council indicated he was prepared to recommend certain changes in the Commission's admission. The subsequent publication of the local newspaper indicates clearly that the changes were questioned concerning this and all stood up to be counted. I quote from such publication:

"The Industrial Commission is an economist body, I think it should be left as such as any ad-ermanic group could be."

"We have an alderman on it now and perhaps another one wouldn't hurt but I think those men on the Commission now are thoroughly qualified and I don't see where aldermen would do a good job."

"It's quite an upheaval from what they've been going along with. The present men have industrial knowledge and experience and could offer their advice to the committee. The problem you run into is that sometimes as they form a Board, they might work against new industry coming in. Not that the present Board would but the Industrial Commission is made up of the industrialists in town who could conceivably not want new industries bidding for their labor. Council would gain more active control through this plan but I don't know which aldermen could give it the time it would warrant."

Another councilor said that he felt the Industrial Commission as such is a waste of money and the Mayor should be the Industrial Commissioner. "We are just as far ahead without an Industrial Commission really - in the days when money was tight industry, it's usually the Mayor of the municipality who gets it. He has the influence and the prestige."

Another alderman stated, "The results of the Industrial Commission haven't been satisfactory, certainly something has got to be done. I just want to give it some thought first."

"The present members of the Commission are knowledgeable men and they have the connections that they can use and the time to devote to it. They don't see the development here too, just like everyone else."

- And so it goes. You have all read this publication and it clearly shows there is not an animous opinion within this Council concerning the Industrial Commission which they themselves set up.

I find it difficult to understand why certain members of Council pick this precise time to carry on a public reappraisal of the Commission. Each member of Council is aware that a large U. S. firm has made a formal commitment backed by a signature on a lease to build a plant here during this year in which they would employ a hundred people at excellent rates of pay. This commitment was made in an atmosphere of mutual trust and confidence between the firm involved and the commission. The chairman of the board of the two lines of the newspaper may very well destroy this atmosphere to the extent that this company might also reappraise its position even at some cost to itself. Most firms are extremely sensitive about the "municipal climate in a city" particularly just before they start to expand building because they know its their last chance to get out.

I was equally surprised the local newspaper saw fit to headline this situation. They appear to only see one side of the story. first actions taken by a prospective industry is to subscribe for locally the local paper in order to learn something of the atmosphere in the city they are investigating. I am sure Council would your feelings be in a similar situation if you were considering moving to Belleville?".

A tendency shows up in letters to the editor and elsewhere in city. "It's a chapter of information from March to January."

"Canadian, however," he said, "would expect 'any amount' of economic expansion during 1957."

"We're going to be engaged in consolidating the progress of the last few years, and adjusting ourselves to the substantially higher wage levels which have been established by law.

"I've always contended that this country would not be able to afford any more than a large nation until we had about 20 million people. That day is approaching fast. It is probable that time we should be able to increase substantially the standard of living. But we will have to be competitive with the rest of the world — and that means we can't afford to take home pay as the highest-paid nation in the world."

RESTRICTIONS

Mr. Harris questioned validity of arguments for amendments to the Bank Act which would restrict the right of banks to compete with trust and loan companies in the mortgage market.

The amendments "make all quiet effort for the people to defend investing additional deposit funds in mortgages.

"Rather than being afraid for and are getting the right to issue term debentures to use for mortgage financing, we are bowled with the Spring opening of a new office in the metropolitan area.

"Nevertheless, we realize that the strength of this company lies in rural Ontario and we intend to maintain that strength," he promised.

A review of results since Victoria and Grey acquired assets of the British Mortgage and Trust Company in 1965, was given by board chairman H. J. Mulholland.

The past year, said the chairman, had seen increasing progress through realization of certain British Mortgage investments — "some that had been shown no value in our thinking of one and a half years ago, and others where our thinking had contemplated certain losses."

The company's guaranteed funds department now is evaluated at $250 million dollars — nearly 75 per cent of company assets.

"Where losses occur in this department we have established as to more than 50 per cent— by a reduction in corporation taxes. It is there has already been very properly, to gain substantial benefits from the merger of September, 1965."

5. Do you know anything about their wages and contracts with correspondings wages and rates of pay?
6. Do you know what raw products they require and where they are obtained?
7. Do you know what taxes they pay?
8. Did you know about their growth?
9. Do you know the amount of taxes collected in this city from industry and are you aware that all industry pays a 60 per cent business tax in addition to their regular taxes?
10. Have you ever visited these industries (in my own case, in the twelve years I have been situated in Belleville, only the present mayor has visited one plant. Not once, either individually or collectively, has City Council been invited, in any way, to visit my company's facilities and learn something about their business).

I don't wish to belabor this point but must state that, in my opinion, the members of this Council would not form as capable an Industrial Commission as this city presently has. The members of this Commission have walks of life; legal, educational, medical, various industries, banking, insurance, hotels, radio, food processing, dentistry, transportation and others. It has been our policy in each of these areas of coverage and, in most cases, we have already invited additional persons to join the Commission. This would give a wider base for an expression of opinion of a cross-section of people living in the city.

I have also visited industrials on your Board of Directors. Two of these have already left the city and a third is also planning. Some weeks ago I notified the Board of Directors, and the Mayor, that I did not propose to remain on this Board for another year. I have personally devoted three years of intensive effort and I feel my donation has been a fair and equitable one. The Directors of my company do not pay me for public duties. They pay me to conduct their business. They recognize that all companies should do something by way of public duties as part of their contribution to the city's interest but it is not their intention to have their services given freely for the purposes of public chastisement.

You have had the benefit for three years of three professional engineers. You do not hesitate to employ professional engineers for consulting purposes; as example, your traffic surveys, your sewage and water requirement surveys, etc. For these services, you would pay at least $100 per person for every day they work for you. You have had the same thing on your Industrial Commission - for nothing. You could not afford, in the case of the Industrial Commission, to buy the kind of services you have had. In the conditions which presently exist, I question if it is possible or practical for the engineering type of representation you have had in the past. The first thing you should do, clearly show your undivided support of their efforts and results. You must share their successes just as much as you wish to share in their successes. There are no half-way measures.

I can't overstate how important it is for your gentlemen to realize that we represent all of you as a group. No faction or group within the Chamber has ever taken direct credit for our efforts or should receive direct credit for our failures. If you expect to replace us as a body, I hope it will be with the same unity that you appointed us initially.

Regardless on what basis the Industrial Commission functions in the future, its efforts are going to be more rewarding.

The facilities, data and information of Belleville and its facilities are readily available. Our industrialists are capable and tireless in his efforts - sparing no time. Another physically nor mentally. When prospective industry contacts him, a good reception is arranged and all questions asked receive an immediate and complete answer.

Previous to this moment, authorities have now publicity stated the trend of the past few years towards the industrialization of the Toronto-Hamilton-Oshawa area must be altered. They now realize the saturation of this area by new industry is not in the best interest of the country as a whole.

This new policy cannot help but assist Belleville - you can expect an increase in the number of enquiries and more interest for the establishment of new industry in Belleville.

The spade-work already done during the past three years will begin to produce more fruit.

J. C. Houston,
President,
Industrial Commission.

Top Square Dance Caller Will Visit 6RD, Trenton

Earle Park, one of Canada's foremost square dance callers, is being featured on January 21 at the 6 RD Recreation Centre, Trenton, during his current tour of the east.

This popularity and subsequent growth of modern square dancing in Canada is due in no small part to this amiable gentleman from Yorkton, Sask. The talented Mr. Park has headed the list of callers at every Canadian square dance event.

It has been at these gatherings that he has imparted his philosophy of fun and friendliness, coupled with smooth dancing. Every caller instructor and dancer has therefore felt the impact of his personality. This Canadian star has been acclaimed by Americans and is tops in popularity at many American national events. Earle is considered one of the leading recording stars on the Sets In Order dance record label.

Most of Earle's time is spent on the road, travelling throughout Canada and the United States calling for square dance festivals and conventions. He is on staff this year for the Toronto convention to be held at the Royal York in Toronto in June. He has been on staff for the past three years at Bangor Lodge, at a caller's course held each year at Bracebridge, Ont., and at Boyne Mountain caller's course in Michigan.

The Trenton airforce dance, sponsored by the Fairs and Squares, is one of many events on Earle's tour, which will take him to Ottawa, Burlington, Ancaster, Chatham, Hanson, Cookstville, Scarboro, Peterborough, Toronto and WaWa in Northern Ontario.

Earle extends a welcome to all square dancers to travel to his home "province of Saskatchewan during centennial year and take part in their "month - o - dancing". There will be square dancing in some centre of the province every day for a month.

More Mature Look In Italian Fashions

ROME (AP) — The real woman, not the swinging teenager, is once more getting all the attention from designers in the Italian spring and summer fashion presentations.

Irene Galitzine offered the most feminine clothes so far in the Rome couture collections, although all the designers so far have abandoned the "beat" look in favor of more mature beauty.

Galitzine showed Tuesday night at the end of the second day of the five - day Rome showings. Her skirts were significantly longer. They half covered the knee.

Petal - pleated skirts made a pretty play on dress and jacket outfits. On the move, the skirts spun and flickered. When still, they fell into soft folds.

Loose coats had the familiar bulky shoulders which are the Galitzine signature. All the interest was kept at the top, with high half-belts and horizontal welt seaming spanning the ribcage.

Redingotes and dresses frequently had apron folds both front and back. They gave a sandwich - board look which was echoed on other dresses that carried neck-to-hem panels or buttoned - on plastrons. Yet another dress category had a soft gathered high waist.

Two tiers of shutter pleats formed the skirt on a long-bodied navy silk dress. It was accompanied by an elongated jacket with an open shirt neck and a pair of vertical slit pockets under the bust.

The Experts Say

Many Questions Answered By Library Reference Staff

TORONTO (CP)—Do you have to be a mother to get mother's allowance? How long will Prime Minister Pearson remain in office? What is the order of notes in the Westminster chimes?

These are some of the questions asked of the reference room staff of the main branch of the Toronto library.

Some are pointless, some difficult, some easy. Some are strange, as in the case of the caller who wanted a few words in Tagalog, a language of the Philippines.

But most fall into a pattern —the source of quotations, date of publication of books, geography, foreign languages and etiquette.

Occasionally there's a laugh for the librarian. There was the woman who called with a question on etiquette. When the librarian quoted Emily Post as the authority the caller politely said "Thank you, Miss Post" as she hung up.

The answer service is a sideline, although libraries will go to great lengths to answer a reasonable question. But whatever you want to know, be sure to ask your question clearly, says June Munro, supervisor of extension service for the Ontario library system. A vaguely-worded question is difficult to answer.

LIBRARIES CHANGED

For those who haven't been to a library in recent years, Miss Munro would like it to be known it has changed. The silence signs are down, bright book jackets show through plastic covers, and library boards are being encouraged to keep buildings attractive.

A standard used by some libraries nowadays is that there should be three books per person in communities of 25,000 or less, two books per person in communities of 25,000 to 50,000.

But budgets don't always permit this ideal ratio. And even when they do, not every customer will find what he wants. So libra are inter-library exchange systems. If your library hasn't got the book you want, it will try to get it for you.

In some cases the library will even mail books to people who have difficulty getting to the library.

Depending on size and demand, libraries stock magazines and pamphlets and some have film and record services and music.

Miss Munro says one of her jobs is to encourage librarians to tailor their collections and hours to their community.

"We don't want them to cater to the few who are already coming in instead of trying to bring new people in. They should have good reference books, practical books on cooking and sewing. You can create an interest in reading by starting with books on farming."

TV IS COMPETITION

Some libraries have developed adult discussion and education groups based on their collection of books and other material.

"They have story hours for children if they have the staff. Television gives them stiff competition now, however, and they have to be pretty good."

Miss Munro says a good librarian not only keeps her collection varied, lively and up date, she knows what's in it so she can recommend books or identify them from fuzzy descriptions.

She gets book lists to help her choose new volumes and is careful when weeding out old ones—"We ask them to watch for rare items of Canadiana and not destroy them."

As for the library itself, Miss Munro has a fairly simple measuring stick.

"Most library boards are municipal appointments. If it is a good board the community has a good library."

Requests Information Re "Ship of Good Hope"

DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: Quite often recently I have heard mentioned a project called "The Ship of Good Hope". I have only the vaguest idea of what is involved in this project and I am interested in learning more about it.

What qualifications are required for one to be accepted? — Pat.

Dear Pat: This is a hospital ship which first sailed on September 20th, 1960. The S. S. Hope is sponsored by the People to People Program, travelling from country to country providing medical treatment.

It is not political. Most of the staff are doctors and nurses, serving on a voluntary rotating basis. But there are bound to be other skills needed in the operation of such a ship.

For more information, write to the People to People Health Foundation, 1016 Twentieth Street N.W., Washington 6, D.C.

Dear Doris: Who wrote the following: "Shy she was, and I thought her cold."!—Penny Post.

Dear Penny: Have you asked your librarian? There's the lady — or gentleman — who can unearth the most unlikely facts!

Or maybe a reader can do it.

To K.L.: Just what are you trying to decide? Whether or not to ignore him, or whether or not to like him?

If you do like him, then a year's difference in age isn't a disaster. The fact that he is younger could mean that he is just now beginning to be self-conscious about girls and not sure just how to act. Keep on being your friendly self, without being pushy, and he may get enough confidence to notice you again.

Confidential to Christmas Card: By the time your letter reached me and I was able to answer it, it was far too late for my reply to appear in any column before Christmas. Sorry! I'm pleased that you are enjoying the column and would welcome another letter from you, this time giving me a name and address to reply to privately, just so you won't be disappointed.

Confidential to Hoping: Of course you are "just shy or something" — too shy to give me a name and address to reply to. Until you do, I can't help.

Is it better to put up with misunderstandings, or to begin talking things over? Let Doris help you see the light.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Kabobs on Spaghetti

By MARY MOORE

A knock at the front door. Folks you have not seen all year are standing there. You welcome them with open arms, but what will you give them to eat?

Today's idea will relieve your mind if you keep a few staples on the emergency shelf.

One of our packers includes six meatballs in the cans of spaghetti and meatballs they produce. By stringing them on skewers with other kabob items you can produce a dressed-up meal. . . .

WEDNESDAY

Dinner Menu

Beef Stew with Carrots, Onions and Potatoes; Combination Salad with French Dressing; Plum Cobbler; Nutmeg Sauce; Tea.

KABOBS ON SPAGHETTI
(serves 4)

Two 15-oz. cans spaghetti and meatballs
Eight large fresh (or 16 small canned) mushrooms
Eight tomato wedges
Eight 1" squares raw green pepper (optional)
Eight 1" pieces side bacon (optional)
Eight 1" pieces wieners (optional)
¼ cup hot water.
Turn out the cans of spaghetti and meatballs into a one-quart casserole. Plan out the meatballs. Alternately arrange the meatballs, mushrooms, tomato wedges and other optional ingredients on skewers about 9" long. Pour the ¼ cup hot water over the spaghetti and sauce in the casserole and gently stir. Place kabobs on spaghetti having bare ends of skewers extending over edges of casserole. Now give each kabob a half turn to coat it with the spaghetti sauce. If this turning does not coat them all over, carefully spoon a little sauce over so each piece is coated.

Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 25 to 30 min.

When I served this to my grandchildren they waited a minute or two until the skewers cooled enough to handle them with a paper napkin and ate the meatballs and mushrooms, etc., directly from the skewers as you would if you were over a barbecue in the garden. For grown-ups the host could lift a kabob to each largish plate, then spoon out a portion of spaghetti and then strip the kabob combination onto the bed of spaghetti.

We served these kabobs and spaghetti with sesame sticks and a relish tray of celery and cucumber sticks.

A thoughtfully stocked emergency shelf comes to the rescue when you are caught unaware. With Mary Moore's magic transform spaghetti and meat balls into a dressed-up meal.

Pet Lover Complains Of Columnist's Views

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have read your column for a long time and I used to enjoy it, but lately I've developed an intense dislike for you because you ridicule animal lovers.

The way the world is going lately animals are showing more intelligence than people. To prove my point I hope you will print this incident: A friend of mine, who has been accustomed to being turned away by hotel clerks in the United States because of his dog, went to check into a hotel in Jamaica. The desk clerk said, "Of course we'll take you and your dog. Why not? I have been in the hotel business for 40 years and I have never once had to throw out a disorderly dog. Never has a dog set fire to a mattress, stolen a blanket or sneaked a girl into his room."

What do you think now, Ann Landers? — L.R.

DEAR L.R.: I think your letter is most interesting. But never have I been bitten by a guest in an elevator nor have I been kept awake by a guest who barked all night in the next room.

Some people behave like animals and some animals behave like ladies and gentlemen, but the balanced person never confuses the two. Pet lovers who begin to look upon animals as if they were people lose me completely.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Here I sit at 7:30 in the morning with a coffee cup in my hand and murder in my heart. Why didn't I sleep later? Keep reading.

At last our daughter is away at college. For 18 years I have been waiting for the time when I could sleep as late as I please. Now the time has come, but I can't sleep because the two kids next door belong to a car pool.

They are picked up at 7:30 a.m. by mothers who have twin air-horns on their cars and they start to honk before they turn the corner.

These kids are always in front waiting. Why these women have to begin to blast two blocks away I don't know. I'll bet the kids could be side-saddle on an elephant in the middle of the street and it wouldn't make any difference.

If there is a solution to this problem short of selling our home, I'd like to hear it. — SLEEPY TIME GAL.

DEAR GAL: Ask the woman next door to speak to the mothers with the air-horns.

If it comes as a request rather than a blast I'll bet you'll get those extra hours of sleep in the morning.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am married to a man named Mr. Johnsafat Hegdish. I made up this name to protect the guilty, so please don't substitute a name out of the blue because you might hit it and I'd die of embarrassment.

My husband was divorced from his wife three years ago and we were married 18 months. His ex-wife insists on calling herself Mrs. Johnsafat Hegdish. She uses this name in the phone book, for charge accounts and club memberships.

I feel she should call herself Mrs. Claudette Hegdish, and not use Johnsafat's name since it belongs to me. Am I correct when I say she has a lot of nerve? — MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

DEAR IDENTITY: There's more than just nerviness involved, Claudette is using the name that legally belongs to you. I suggest that the real Mrs. Johnsafat Hegdish stand up and make it clear.

Take Slippers For Travel Weary Feet

Dear Susanna: My husband is a travelling man, and how I love to tag along with him on his trips!

One thing for sure, if your feet are miserable, so are you. I take along a pair of soft bedroom slippers to wear in the car, and those hot, tired swollen feet pass me right by.

I've also learned to travel in a loose A-line or straight shift dress that lets me get away without wearing either a belt or a girdle. This is heavenly.

A self - lined dress is also preferable, as slips have a habit of sliding up around one's middle.

Don't wear a hat — it will often give you a headache. A scarf tied loosely over your hair serves the purpose well. To me, earrings are out — pinched ears also lead to headaches.

If you must munch on sweets, steer clear of chocolate. A little speck of it dropped on one's clothing soon becomes a large smear.

Finally, tuck a toothbrush and small tube of paste into your purse. A refreshing necessity when you are 10 hours on the road a day. — Travelling Pal.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Toward the end of the first year, your baby's manual dexterity will improve mightily. Watch, and one fine day you'll see him (or her) accomplish the pinch-hold feat: picking up objects with thumb and forefinger. Great achievement, this. How else could he learn to write, sew, hold a fork?

Time to talk. Most toddler feeding problems fall into two classes. One is that the child doesn't eat what mother thinks is enough. The other is a refusal, sometimes, to eat "good-for-you" foods mother thinks are necessary. Important things to remember: a child's appetite usually wanes at the year-old stage and his appetite is a good guide to how much he should eat. Also, no one food is a must. There are several alternates in every Gerber food category to choose from.

Lip-smacking and new, for you-know-who. That's Gerber Junior Vegetables and Ham with Bacon . . . a dinner that's bound to be downed with delight. This happy combination of vegetables, cereal and meat is deftly blended and seasoned to taste like palates. Like all Gerber Baby Foods, it's "custom-cooked" to preserve a high degree of nutritive values. Gerber Baby Foods, Niagara Falls, Canada.

Mome to all mothers. Do you know why we "custom-cook" your baby's foods? Because different foods require different treatment. Some foods need longer cooking time than others . . . some higher temperatures. Fruits, for example, are flash-cooked . . . sweet potatoes are slow-cooked (to break down starches into easily digested sugars). Egg yolks are processed differently from meat. But whatever the method, cooking times and temperatures are scientifically controlled to bring out the best in each product. It's true! When you buy Gerber, you're sure of your money's worth in nourishment.

Recently the Quinte Medical Secretaries' Association successfully convened a dance and buffet for the doctors in the Quinte area at the Belleville Shrine Club. Prizes and gifts, donated by local merchants and manufacturers added to a gala evening.

The proceeds from this event will be presented to the Pediatric Ward of Belleville General Hospital and a cheque to the Donald M. Scott Memorial Fund.

One of the highlights was the presentation of the award for "The Medical Secretary of the Year" for the Quinte area to Mrs. Arlene Dempsey.

More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Church Groups

CHRIST CHURCH PARISH GUILD

The annual meeting of the Parish Guild of Christ Church was held recently with a fine turnout of members. Reports from the various conveners and the treasurer showed that the year 1966 had been an outstanding one in the life of the Guild.

Projects undertaken included extensive renovations to the rectory, payment of taxes on the rectory, payment of a large amount toward the reduction of the sum owing on the parish hall, donations to a northern parish and to the Anglican Church Camp "Hyanto", and provision of several items to the church kitchen. Christmas gifts were provided for shut-in parishioners and needy families. The Guild held a most successful tea, sale and art exhibition in June and enjoyed many and varied meetings during the year. Members catered for a large number of wedding receptions, dinner and luncheons.

In her report, retiring president, Mrs. J. M. Cousins summarized the year's activities, thanked her executive and all of the members for their support during term of office and welcomed the new officers for 1967.

NEW OFFICERS

Canon R. B. de B Wright conducted the installation ceremony for the incoming executive members who are as follows: past-president — Mrs. J. M. Cousins; president, Mrs. D. G. Livingston; 1st vice-president — Mr. Fred Lafler; 2nd vice-president — Mrs. W. J. Hinchey; secretary — Miss Minnie Diamond and treasurer — Mrs. Ridley Wallbridge.

Conveners for 1967 will be: rectory — Mrs. A. Jordan and Mrs. Charles Bishop; centennial — Mrs. M. Boyd; remembrance — Mrs. A. Noakes; kitchen — Mrs. I. Vesterfelt; social — Mrs. C. F. Patterson; rectory council representative — Mrs. Earl Hickey; serving and pianist — Mrs. Horace Wright; bulletin and press — Mrs. F. A. Beeby.

Following the installation of officers, president, Mrs. Livingston conducted the remainder of the meeting. She paid tribute to the retiring officers and asked for the continued loyalty and support of all of the members.

The Guild will cater for a dinner for the Chi Rho Fellowship this month with Mrs. Lazier as convener. The annual tea and sale sponsored by the Guild will be held the latter part of May.

As special guest for the February Guild meeting, Mrs. Don Lockyer will show slides of her family's stay in Nigeria.

Tea hostesses for the after noon were Mrs. E. Green and Mrs. R. Wallbridge.

Hospital Auxiliary Conveners Report on Year's Activities

Reports given at the annual luncheon of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary showed a successful year for all committees of the organization.

In her report, Mrs. Herbert Brown, treasurer, said the receipts for 1966 were $21,948, of which $14,000 was invested for future needs. Among the expenditures were bulletin expenses, $153; social service $50; donation for supplies to puppet group, $100; gifts to patients, $255; gifts to graduating nurses, $176; supplies for Samaritan cupboard, $100; furnishings for nurses' residence, $343; donation to Corby library to replace books used in the hospital library service, $100 and convention expenses, $125. The balance on hand at the end of the year was $6,314.

The year 1966 was a record breaking one in the history of the Opportunity Shop," conveyer Mrs. F. H. Bowker said. "We were able to hand over $7,000 to the Auxiliary, indicating the shop is the Auxiliary's largest fund raising venture and fills a continuing need in the community."

Recording secretary Mrs. J. R. Blackbourn reported a membership of 236. The hospital administrator gave the Auxiliary two new sources of income during the year, the Coke machine profits and the receipts from Parke Davis and Co.

Mrs. Angus Duffy said the new in-hospital project, Cradle Pictures, brought pleasure to donation of $450 to the Auxiliary.

Layettes were placed in the Samaritan cupboard to be given to needy mothers when they leave the hospital with their new babies. Mrs. J. R. Casey, convener, said. A total of 40 mothers received assistance from the Auxiliary and 204 articles of clothing and nine dozen diapers were placed in the cupboard.

The 15 sewers of the puppet group made 500 puppets for gifts to patients in the pediatric ward, Mrs. H. M. James reported. Mrs. Don Leslie told of the holiday treats committee's observance of special days during the year with small gifts for the patients. Tray favors were made by Girl Guides, Brownies and CGIT members for Valentine's, St. Patrick's, Hallowe'en and Christmas. House plants were presented in each patient at Easter and all were remembered with a small gift at Christmas.

Mrs. J. E. Nelles, corresponding secretary, reported writing 176 letters on behalf of the Auxiliary during the year.

Traffic Management Planned for Lakes

MONTREAL (CP)—The federal government intends to establish an integrated system of traffic management for shipping on the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence River, a shipping conference was told Tuesday night.

John Turner, federal minister without portfolio, said that as the first stage of the system the transport department is installing a radio system to manage traffic in the St. Lawrence below Montreal.

He told the annual joint conference of the Dominion Marine Association and the Lake Carriers Association that the radio system would provide information to shore operation centres and enable each vessel to know the position and movement of the other.

This safety system, based on very high frequency radio links and shore operations centres, should be in effect during the coming shipping season.

C. M. Jansky, a radio and electronics engineer for the Lake Carriers, argued against proposed new maritime radiotelephone systems supported by the United States government.

Mr. Jansky said the new systems—single sideband radiotelephone sets recommended by the U.S. Federal Communications Commission — were premature and would cost U.S. and Canadian shippers millions of dollars.

He noted that FCC rules call for the elimination by 1976 of medium frequency, high frequency and double sideband radiotelephone sets on LCA vessels. DMA vessels also use this system.

Mr. Jansky said he is sure the new system eventually will give better results but the LCA wants to push back the deadline to 1977 at the earliest.

He figured it would take this long to perfect the new system.

Mr. Turner said the government is studying other possible stages which could make up a complete traffic management system extending from the Gulf of St. Lawrence to the Lakehead. This might include some use of radar.

The aim of the system was "to regulate the flow of traffic by laying down times and movement and speeds for individual ships."

Situation in Thailand Easier Than in Vietnam

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Striking similarities exist between the Communist insurgent movement now being fought in Thailand and that in South Vietnam, which grew into a major military struggle.

But the differences between the two are more numerous—and in every case favor the West against the Communists.

As in Vietnam, the rebellion in Thailand is said to be supported and fostered from North Vietnam and Communist China.

Thai officials say China began trying to bring off a Communist takeover in Thailand 17 years ago with the establishment of the "free Thai movement" and has greatly intensified its efforts in the last three years.

Thai Premier Thanom Kittikachorn asserted in mid-December that his government has "definite evidence" to prove that North Vietnam is supporting and nourishing the Communist terrorism.

Most U.S. and Thai authorities say the insurgents, whose numbers are generally estimated at about 1,000, are largely indigenous, as they were in South Vietnam at the start.

In both countries, the central government has a history of being remote and to a considerable extent disinterested in the wellbeing of country peasants.

Local police and government functionaries in both countries have a history of corruption and exploitation of villagers and peasants.

But there are fundamental differences, some of which are rooted deep in centuries of tradition, history and institutions.

The Thai insurgents lack the patriotic glamor of the Viet Cong—they cannot, as the Vietnamese guerrillas, claim to be carrying forward a war for independence.

Thailand never was a colony, as Indochina was under the French for a century. Thai institutions evolved over 600 years of nationhood.

NO FERMENT EXISTS

Although there is discontent in the northeast, observers say, "the villages are not in ferment . . . a seething mass of disoriented people just is not here."

The Thai government is an authoritarian one, but while there appears to be no great enthusiasm for the military-led government, there seems to be no great resentment either.

Although 39 - year - old King Bhumibol is only a constitutional monarch, he is a unifying influence among the people and a tempering influence on the military government chiefs.

Even the Communist insurgents criticize the royal family.

Proto-man Finder Says Evolution View Wrong

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP)—"The accepted view on evolution of man from an ape is absolutely incorrect and without any scientific basis," anthropologist Louis Leakey said Tuesday night at Israel Academy of Science and Humanities.

Giving new details in a lecture of his recent discoveries in Kenya which he said throw light on the origin of mankind, Dr. Leakey stated that while the chimpanzee is man's cousin in blood groups and other factors, the human race did not descend from the ape in a way accepted in the past.

Leakey told a press conference in Nairobi last week that the remains unearthed at Rusinga Island in Lake Victoria date back 20,000,000 years or more. He said he sees in them bone fragments of proto-man, "by far and away the oldest known representatives of the stock which eventually gave rise to man."

Thus Leakey disputed an accepted scientific view that man developed from the baboon from 3,000,000 to 5,000,000 years ago.

FINDS PROTO-MAN

"There was no sudden rush of evolution from the ape to man in a mere 5,000,000 years," he said. "Remains were found proving that apes, 20,000,000 to 22,000,000 years ago, were developing in the direction in which apes are still today. But at that time, proto-man, our ancestor, already existed."

Because the proto-man was found in Kenya, Leakey gave him the name Kenya-Pithecus Africanus.

Leakey showed photographs to the audience of antelope bones which he said were cracked 20,000,000 years ago in a way that proved near-men hunted and ate meat.

First proto - type emigated slowly from East Africa to India and China, where early specimens of the same proto-man, only now recognized as such, were found, he said.

Leakey said the important conclusion to be drawn from this discovery was that the dawn in the life of the human species was in the heart of Africa whence a steady flow of emigration took place through the Middle East to the Far East and, much later, to Europe, later, to Europe.

Children Not Hungry or Cold Breakaway Sect Claims

ST. JOVITE, Que. (CP)—The community leader of a breakaway Roman Catholic sect, whose pope thinks he's the real one, said Tuesday that 50 children he admits to be hiding from provincial welfare authorities are "happy and secure."

Father Jean de la Trinite-Quebec head of les Apotres de l'Amour infini—the Apostles of the Infinite Love—said reports that the children have been hidden in shacks and are suffering from hunger and cold are untrue.

A force of provincial policemen moved into the area Tuesday to hunt for the children, who have apparently disappeared from the sect's monastery 20 miles from here and 50 miles northwest of Montreal.

The force is led by Sgt. Raymond Bellemare, who says he believes the children are still in the immediate area of the monastery.

Police found 16 of 66 children sought after a social welfare court judge signed warrants last week following evidence at a court hearing alleging that the children were in danger because the monastery premises were unhealthy.

Father Jean de la Trinite said in an interview Tuesday that the missing children are in private homes.

He had just returned from two days of visits to the children and all were in good condition.

"They think it's a great adventure. A kind of hide-and-seek.

"It's their parents who are doing the real suffering. They don't now what's going to happen to their children and their greatest fear is that they will be found and turned over to the welfare."

In another interview Tuesday, Father Jean Marie du Sacre Coeur, a senior priest of the sect, said he believes the influence of the Roman Catholic Church is to blame for the present situation.

"We are the victims of religious persecution," he said.

"There is no possible reason for anyone to want to take the children out of our care, especially since the parents have asked us to care for them and have not complained to us.

"We do not recognize the right or authority of the QPP or social welfare court in this matter and we will not reveal the whereabouts of the children."

Father Jean has said he will go to jail before revealing the children's location. He has already done so on three occasions.

Last week he served two days, and previously he served two days and four days for refusing to divulge the information to a social welfare court judge.

He said Jean earlier interview:

"The conditions for the children at the monastery are quite adequate. Because we still are building school facilities there are temporary problems that mean children have to go further for toilet needs.

"But our teachers do have diplomas and there is no teaching of children by amateurs."

The group has its own Pope, Michel Collin, a former Roman Catholic priest who founded the sect in France in 1952. He calls himself Clement XV.

Collin says he was told in a vision he would succeed Pope John XXIII. He regards Pope Paul VI as a usurper.

Rabies Immunity Possible

TORONTO (CP)—Immunization against rabies before exposure is now possible, says Eli Lilly and Co. Canada Ltd. of Toronto.

The company said in a statement Tuesday that its dark —embryo killed—virus vaccine is the first to be approved for immunization both before and after exposure.

The firm's medical director, Dr. R. S. Dolman, said "pre-exposure immunization with duck - embryo rabies vaccine can be accomplished in either of two ways, both of which are equally effective."

One method uses four doses over a period of six months. The other involves three doses over eight months.

"Suitable immunity levels can be maintained thereafter with a booster injection every one or two years," the statement said.

"Blood samples should be taken one month after completion of the immunization schedule and after each booster dose to prove with certainty that sufficient protection antibodies are present."

Antique Chair Gets Touch Up

It Will Stop Short, Only to Go Again ...If He Winds It After 7½ Days

How tall is an eight-day Grandfather clock?

According to Jim Robertson, 306 Dundas Street West, hobbyist wood craftsman with a yen for collecting old timepieces, the old "tall" clock has to be nine feet high.

It seems they have to be that tall to allow the proper clearance for the hanging weights which operate the clock works. Otherwise they will not run for the full eight days without rewinding.

But the old 18-century "tall" clocks were built in the days of high ceilings and they will not fit in modern living rooms and entrance halls.

However, Mr. Robertson has one that fits today's houses. But he built it himself from four different sets of plans. However, there is one catch — the clock won't run for eight days without rewinding. Its 7½-foot height allows only for slightly more than seven days' operation.

Actually "tall" is the correct name for Grandfather clocks. Mr. Robertson says no one seems to know when or why the term "grandfather" came into use.

Collecting and repairing old clocks is only one of Mr. Robertson's many hobby interests.

A former employee of Ontario Hydro at Belleville, Mr. Robertson took to woodworking approximately 35 years ago and his interest has never waned.

In this period he has owned three sets of power woodworking tools and equipment and today his basement workshop represents an investment of more than $12,000.

"I'm a bit of a crank on tools," he admits. "I like the best there is."

His equipment ranges through power saws, thickness planers, jointers, drill presses, sanders and wood lathes. In addition, there is the full complement and portable tools.

But he feels the well equipped workshop is necessary for the high quality work which he likes to turn out.

His interests range from collecting and repairing old clocks, to building and repairing rare period furniture.

And the quality of his workmanship is such that it would take an expert to distinguish between his copies and the original.

He emphasizes, however, that he does it merely as a hobby and has absolutely no interest in doing anything commercially.

"If I did that it would cease to be a hobby," he says.

Originally from the Cornwall area where he attended elementary and high school, Mr. Robertson went to work early in life for Ontario Hydro as a lineman. And the job was nearly to cost him his life.

One day in the 1920s he was nearly electrocuted while working on a pole. After months in hospital he came out of the accident with the loss of an arm and a leg and almost lost the complete sight of one eye.

Most men would have given up completely. But not Mr. Robertson. Undaunted, he went back to school and learned to be an accountant thus enabling him to take a desk job.

He retired from Hydro about two years ago and now devotes most of his time to his many hobbies.

"It's something for me to do," he says.

The quality of Mr. Robertson's craftsmanship is all the more remarkable in that he had no professional training in woodworking.

When he went to high school there were no technical shops and he says "I had to learn the hard way."

The seven foot six inch grandfather clock which graces the Robertson front hall is in effect Mr. Robertson's own design although he admits it is a combination of four different sets of plans. The clock is built of mahogany. The clock works were purchased.

But if he happens to acquire an old clock whose wooden works have given out he is quite capable of turning out new wooden gears in his workshop.

His centennial project is the repair and re-finishing of a Canadian made Maple Leaf clock built about 80 years ago in Kitchener (then Berlin).

He also has several other old clocks under various stages of repair. One of them is a 150-year-old "tall" clock for which he has to make new works.

Repairing antique furniture is one phase of his woodworking hobby which Mr. Robertson thoroughly enjoys.

He is currently repairing a Lincoln American arm chair which he says is about 100-years-old, "give or take a few years."

He says one of the reasons old furniture seems to fall apart is that it was put together with animal glue which sort of "dies" after about 75 years. Also some types of exotic woods seem to develop a sort of dry rot seriously effecting it's strength.

Mr. Robertson is careful to use only well seasoned wood for furniture repairs. He buys the lumber and seasons it for up to 15 years. Walnut will be seasoned about eight years and cherry about five years.

True Honduras mahogany is hard to come by and the cost is almost prohibitive.

Mr. Robertson says he recently purchased a few board feet of mahogany from a dealer in Toronto and paid at the rate of about $2,250 per thousand feet. Good walnut sells at about $1 per foot.

A number of other pieces of furniture in the Robertson house were also built in the basement workshop.

One of the items is a Victorian design "what-not" which Mr. Robertson built to hold his wife's collection of miniature china. Mrs. Robertson has about 60 pieces of the miniature china which she started collecting about 35 years ago.

In the Robertson living room stands a copy of a large French Colonial what-not of rare design. The design is about 125-years old and there are few known copies in either Canada or the United States.

In their breezeway between the house and garage there is a beautiful set of all maple furniture, also of old French design which Mrs. Robertson says took him months to build. But he did a good job. Even after years of use in an unheated breezeway, the finish on the furniture still is "good as new."

Icy Grip to Hold Area For Next Five Days

The Quinte district shivered in a polar - bear weather hug today -- and the grip tightens tonight.

Predictions call for temperatures skidding to a low of 10 below in the southern bayshore area -- and even colder for the northern townships.

Coldest spot in the district last night was Bancroft where the mercury dupped to 35 below -- a record low since daily records began in 1948.

The weather office at Canadian Forces Base Trenton recorded an overnight low for the Belleville - Trenton district of 4 below.

No let-up in the cold snap is seen until possibly next week.

The five - day forecast current from tomorrow warns for temperatures in the district may be 12 degrees below normal ranging from a minimum of 9 degrees to a maximum 27.

The freeze-up is part of a wave casting a cold spell from the Rockies to eastern Quebec, which plunged temperatures to as low as 50 below in the White River - Chapleau areas of Northern Ontario.

In the East-Central Ontario region forecast lows for tonight ranged from 20 below for Peterborough to 10 below in the Quinte-Kingston area.

Just how cold it will be at Bancroft and vicinity no one is predicting.

Last night's record low there surprised even lands and forest officials.

"The chief ranger himself went out and took the reading," said one department officer.

Temperatures in the northern townships still had not made it back up the icy thermometer scale by late this morning.

At 11 a.m. it was still six below at Tweed.

Other area readings taken overnight by the department showed these - below-zero drops:

Tweed 14, White Lake 16, Dacre 22, Plevna 26, Palmer Rapids 29.

Record for the lowest area reading still is held by the Dacre Lands and Forest station which registered a low of 40 below, Feb. 10, 1951.

Elsewhere in Ontario, a twin-engined Cessna 337 aircraft was reported missing in blizzard conditions late yesterday between Sudbury and Sault Ste. Marie.

Most of the snow missed southern Ontario, as the cold wave pushed east.

In Quebec, temperatures dropped as low as 30 below and were not expected to climb above zero today.

Across Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, conditions were much the same, with temperatures as low as 30 below under mainly clear skies.

Oh to Be in Bermuda...

Now that winter's here! Pamela Ray (right) takes zero temperature reading from Sandra Lambert today to let folks at home know what winter's really like in the Quinte district. Both 20-year-old girls are students at Belleville's Ontario Business College. When they left their Bermuda homes for the first time less than two weeks ago, the weather was in the 70s.

MINOR HOCKEY WEEK

Minor Hockey Week In Canada which starts Saturday, January 21, is dedicated to Canada's Centennial Celebrations.

Even now the Golden Voice of the Moppets of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association Minor Division, belonging to Jack Christie, is echoing the news from the housetops from the rocky ribs of Newfoundland to the sunny vales of Victoria.

Some 175,000 puck-chasing youngsters will lift an ear. Some 12,000 dedicated men will go to their task with renewed vigor.

These men along with the CAHA and provincial organizations feel that money and effort spent on minor hockey is a sound investment. And I do not know of a better investment in the youth of the nation than minor sport in general and hockey in particular.

In Ontario, the Ontario Minor Hockey Association, the greatest organization of its kind in the world, in conjunction with the Ontario Hockey Association is sponsoring the movement.

Its purpose is to focus public attention on the physical and mental benefits of the sport for young Canadians. By drawing public attention to the fact, minor hockey officials hope to develop more support for the terrific work being done by hundreds of coaches, managers ,referees and other officials across the country.

Minor hockey develops an understanding and spirit of good sportsmanship. It teaches the value of clean living and thinking, team-work and co-operation. Boys learn that respect for the rules and authority are necessary and desirable to succeed in life. Minor hockey teaches good citizenship.

Hockey is Canada's national winter sport. It extends beyond the perimeter of athletics because it has become an institution. It is a heritage handed down to Canadian youngsters by proud forebears who have written glorious pages in the golden book of the game.

And dedicated men see to it that the heritage is maintained. By hard work and other effort, sometimes with their own finances, they are seeing to it that Young Canada will get the proper fundamentals and groundwork that not only prepares them for the stern game of life ahead, but perhaps in some cases readies a career.

Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, says that the chances of a boy reaching the NHL is roughly one in a 1,000.

Be that as it may, I believe Young Canada is not so much interested in reaching professional status as he is in playing the game purely for the love and sport of it.

A lot will go on to the higher brackets, such as junior "A" ranks. Senior hockey may be "amoulding in the grave" by the time the present crop of youngsters reaches the age. Others will reach the coveted NHL circle.

Handling a group of bladesshod and stick-armed spirited youngsters is no sinecure. It takes time, patience and sustained effort. And as long as Canada has men blessed with these traits, minor hockey will never die. It will go on as long as Young Canada wants to play the game.

It is to these men that Young Canada Hockey Week is partly dedicated. They come from all walks of life, from city, town, village and hamlet. They have one thing in common, a love of boy and hockey.

This part of Eastern Ontario is blessed with many such men. Under the guidance and supervision of such Ontario Minor Hockey Association executives as Douglas Patterson of Stirling and Albert Watzke of Peterborough, minor hockey has mushroomed into a growth not dreamed of twenty years ago. And their work goes on.

In this city under the aegis of the Belleville Minor Hockey Association some 1,400 youngsters are enjoying organized hockey. In the district from Peterborough on the west to Kingston and Gananoque on the east, north to Bancroft and south to Picton, over 4,000 puck-minded boys are being taught rules, regulations and sportsmanship.

As the late President John Kennedy of the United States, said: "All of us must consider our own responsibilities for the physical vigor of our children. We do not want our children to become a generation of spectators. Rather we want them to be a participant in the vigorous life."

So what is the Belleville Minor Hockey Association doing about the observance of Canada's Centennial Minor Hockey Week? Thus far this department has heard of no plans. It is hoped something will be done about it.

1st Round Knockout

Folley Stops Joyner!

HOUSTON (AP) — Zora Folley, the No. 2 heavyweight, it was knocked out Floyd Joyner in 1:04 of a scheduled 10-rounder Tuesday night, a performance that topped the pre-fight shenanigans of Cassius Clay and Ernie Terrell who are training for their Feb. 6 heavyweight championship showdown bout in the Astrodome.

Each has said he is ready for Folley afterwards.

Folley has been fighting for money for 14 years without reaching a championship try.

The Phoenix, Ariz., hitter was at 212 last night for his San Francisco opponent, who weighed 214½.

Folley is a swift technician who caught Joyner with a fast right as Joyner tried a left hook as a recovery punch, bouncing off the ropes. At the eight-count, Joyner was up, but unsteady, and he capsized again for the knockout.

Before it started, Clay, Terrell and a swarm of other people got in the ring to shove and shout for a few minutes. It was good-natured and the two never really get close.

Barons Nip Clippers 3-2

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

If Tom McCarthy beat the puck across the blueline Tuesday night, the linesman never saw it and neither did goaltender Gilles Villemure.

McCarthy scored the winning goal in Cleveland Barons' 3-2 American Hockey League victory over Baltimore Clippers, breaking in alone on Villemure in the third period.

The Clippers claimed the Cleveland forward had taken an offside pass, but the goal was allowed.

Elsewhere, Quebec Aces defeated Providence Reds 6-1

Dream Team A Nightmare For Habs!

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens meet the cream of the crop tonight in the league's 20th annual all-star game.

The Canadiens, who hold down fourth place in the standings this season, have had hit by injuries and have been at full strength for only half a game so far this year.

But the defending Stanley Cup champions won't get much sympathy from the All-Stars, who are the league's best players all on one team.

The voting for the 1965-66 first All-Star squad has Glenn Hall of Chicago Black Hawks in nets, Jacques Laperre of Montreal and Pierre Pilote of Chicago on defence, Chicago's Stan Mikita at centre, team - mate Bobby Hull at left wing and Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings on right wing.

The players who made the second all - star team are goaltender Gump Worsley of Montreal, defencemen Allan Stanley of Toronto Maple Leafs and Pat Stapleton of Chicago, centre Jean Beliveau of Montreal, team - mate Bobby Rousseau at right wing and left winger Frank Mahovlich of Toronto.

Laperre and Rousseau will play for Montreal tonight while Beliveau and Worsley will miss the game because of injuries. The Canadiens will also be without Lean Rochefort, sidelined with a leg injury.

Sid Abel, who coached the Red Wings into the Stanley Cup finals against Montreal last season, will coach the All-Stars.

With the exception of players voted to the 1965-66 first and second all-star teams, minus the Montreal players, Abel has added alternates from his own club, Boston Bruins, New York Rangers and Toronto.

Johnny Bucyk and Ted Green of Boston, both invited to play in the game, will not play. Bucyk is suffering from a leg injury while Green is reported to have declined to play in the contest.

President Clarence Campbell of the NHL said Tuesday that the league has never encountered a situation where a player has "refused to play in the game."

"We invite the clubs to make players available and it is a club matter whether or not he (Green) appears," Campbell said.

Abel's first line for tonight's game is enough to scare any NHL club. Third and seventh respectively in the NHL scoring race this season, Mikita leads the league in assists this season with 36 while Hull is the top goal scorer with 26.

The second line will have Dave Keon of Toronto centering Mahovlich and right winger Rod Gilbert of the Rangers. Norm Ullman of Detroit will centre a third line with Alex Delvecchio of Detroit at left wing and Bob Nevin of New York at right wing. Murray Oliver of Boston will alternate at centre with Ullman.

The defence corps will have Pilote and Stapleton playing together, Harry Howell and Jim Neilson of New York as a pair and Stanley as an alternate.

Hall and Ed Giacomin of New York, who leads the league in shutouts this season with six, will share the netminding duties.

Howe will be making a record-breaking 18th appearance in the all-star classic. He holds the all-star records for most games played, most goals, most points, most points in one game, most penalties and most penalty minutes. He is tied with Red Kelly of Toronto for most assists.

Coach Toe Blake of Montreal is expected to start Henri Richard at centre, flanked by Rousseau and left winger Dick Duff, with J. C. Tremblay and Laperriere starting on defence.

Charlie Hodge will split the goaltending chores with Gary Bauman, called up from Quebec Aces of the American Hockey League to replace the injured Worsley.

Jim Roberts, Montreal's versatile forward, may also miss the game because of a bruised foot. The Canadiens have recalled Noel Price of Quebec for the game tonight.

Blake will be making his seventh all-star appearance as coach of the Stanley Cup champions.

"There's a lot of prestige at stake in this game. Beating the All-Stars would be a great boost of confidence to our team," Blake said Tuesday.

Of the 17 previous games between the All - Stars and the Stanley Cup champions, the All-Stars won nine, lost five and three games ended in ties.

The 1951 and 1952 games were contested between the first and second all-star teams and both ended in ties.

It will mark the first time the annual classic will be played in mid-season. The all-star game was previously played prior to the opening of the regular NHL season.

The game starts at 8 p.m. EST and will be televised live and in color on the CTV national network starting at 8:30 p.m. EST.

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Yankees, who finished last in baseball's American League last year for the first time in 34 years, have dropped their price for television sponsors. The once-mighty Yankees also disclosed they have openings for sponsors of both their television and radio broadcasts.

NHL 'Mum' On Players; Hikes Bonuses

MONTREAL (CP) — National Hockey League governors told their six new teams Tuesday just what they told the public about the players for the new conference.

Today the NHL's new teams will find out how many players they'll get from the existing clubs to stock their franchises for the 1967-68 expansion season.

Clarence Campbell, NHL president, emerged from a six-hour governors' meeting and said progress has been made in provisions for the 1967-68 season," Campbell said. "Inasmuch as no general managers were present to review our thinking before the final announcement is made Wednesday."

While the NHL president refused to say how many players will be retained by each of the current clubs under the proposed formula, the figure 11 is the most general guess.

Campbell said he thought some general managers of the existing clubs may balk at the formula, as well as some from the new entries.

Campbell has said that a satisfactory formula for both sides would provide for the existing clubs to retain one goaltender, four defencemen and six forwards. The newcomers would get a netminder and at least six other players of NHL calibre.

He said it is necessary to provide a secondary back-up plan for future drafts for special assistance for the new clubs and to find how they can bolster their development teams.

Each of the six new franchise - holders will receive 20 players for the $2,000,000 entry fee they paid to the league.

"If the general managers confirm Wednesday what we discussed today, we'll have achieved what we set out to do," Campbell said.

He said the six new clubs must be brought up to competitive strength with the current group as quickly as possible if expansion is to be a success

Later, at the all-star dinner, he announced an added incentive for players whose teams reach the Stanley Cup playoffs.

Players of the two teams who, ning the semi-final cup rounds will receive $2,250, an increase from the previously allotted $1,500 a man.

Losers will receive individual monetary awards of $1,500 instead of the $1,000 of previous years.

Players on the Stanley-Cup-winning team will each get $3,000 instead of $2,000 for their efforts, while the losers pick up $1,500 as a consolation prize. This is an increase of $500.

The awards are based on 21 units a team.

Aces Take Over Second

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kingston Aces moved into sole possession of second place in the Ontario Hockey Association senior series Tuesday night.

Mo-Hawks' Sag Gives Regals Bag!

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

They may be Mo-Hawks but as "Indian-givers," they are not very successful.

The Mo-Hawks handed Guelph Regals three gift goals in the second period here last night and failed in a third-period attempt to get them back.

Guelph took home a 4-2 victory and a three-point bulge over the Mo-Hawks in their battle for fifth place in the OHA Senior "A" race.

A small crowd, estimated at 850, saw the Mo-Hawks flounder in their own end while the Regals punched home their unanswered trio in the first 11 minutes of the second heat.

Belleville had opened the game scoring and Guelph tied it before the end of the first.

The losers improved greatly in the third and scored the only goal but a steady game by Guelph goalie Harold "Boat" Hurley and his veteran defence, led by Butch Martin and Butch Keeling, prevented the Mo-Hawks from getting too close.

Guelph held a narrow 32-30 shots-on-goal margin and drew five of the tilt's minor penalties.

Bobby Pole, Frank Hincks, Tom Smola and Walt Bradley scored a goal each for the winners.

Eddie Marineau and Gary Darling, with his 14th of the year to top the club, were Mo-Hawk marksmen. Ralph Plane earned two assists and Bob Taylor one.

The Mo-Hawks' line of Brown, Plane and Marineau offered Belleville's most dangerous threats while Darling was about the only other effective forward. Greg Marchen threw some weight around on defence and Steve Reze could hardly be faulted for the Guelph goals. Rick Bradford, while dressed, saw action only on a couple of shifts late in the second period. Centre Taylor paired with Crawford on defence while left-winger Brown and Menard played centre. Menard is goal-less since his shift from the wing.

The Mo-Hawks' powerplay fizzled all night against the heady Guelph defence but both goals came seconds after penalties expired and in both cases the sinning player was not yet back in the action.

Marineau took Taylor's set-up on the fly to open the scoring with the prettiest goal of the night at 12.04, slipping it home without breaking stride.

Plane was uncovered to blast home McMillan's pass for a tie at 14.55. Later a Plane shot bounced through Hurley but hit a goalpost and stayed out.

Hincks blocked Ustiato's five-footer as the Mo-Hawks started to fold early in the second but he and linemates Oliver and Smola played around the cage until Smola popped it home at 6.45.

Interceptions of blind passes helped the Regal cause and they kept the pressure on while the Mo-Hawks failed to find clearing success.

Bradley ricochandied out of the corner and in front to score at 8.06 for a 3-1 count. McAlpine was caught on a near-breakaway from Menard's pass seconds later, before Hincks upped it to 4-1 on a low screened shot from a goal-front pileup.

The Mo-Hawks started to come back near period's end but Hurley picked off Menard's corner drive and Plane was wide on a perfect setup play with Taylor and Marineau.

Brown and Plane were jammed into the goalmouth on Marineau's passout early in the third and the Regals blocked point shots often when shorthanded twice in the period.

Darling carried Plane's pass in and used Menard as a decoy and screen to slash a low corner drive at 10.42. The club tried hard over the remainder but without success.

Menard received the O'Keefe Player of the Month award for December between periods.

Lumber Kings Nip Plainfield, Knights Win

Foxboro Lumber Kings moved into a fourth place tie in the Central Hastings Hockey League standing last night by edging Plainfield 5-4.

In another game, Ivanhoe Knights moved to within three points of first place by whipping Frankford Shoemen 9-3.

The Lumber Kings caught up to Wallbridge in the final playoff position on single goals by Dave Lush, Barry Dafoe, Brian Skinner, Jerry Mann and Dennis Ray.

Roger Robson, Don Reid, Bill Hunter and Bruce Kennedy were Plainfield scorers. The 4 losers lifted goalie Bob Smith for a sixth attacker and had a last-minute breakway by Kennedy but Foxboro goalie Dave Martin stopped the corner shot to save the victory.

The Knights received two-goal efforts from Harold Douglas, Bob Chapman and Clare Hagerman while pulling to within three points of leading Glen Ross. Don Rowe, Marvin Reid and Richard Chapman potted single goals.

Jim Rouse, with a pair, and Jim Chard had Frankford tallies.

Nancy Finishes Fourth

SCHRUNS, Austria (CP-AP) Marielle Goitschel of France set a record today in winning the opening downhill event in the Golden Keys women's Alpine skiing races here. Nancy Greene of Canada, one of the pre-race favorites, was fourth.

Miss Goitschel was clocked unofficially in two minutes, 12.23 seconds for the 2,400-metre run, beating the record of 2:24.46 set by Christl Haas of Austria two years ago.

Erika Schinegger of Austria was second in 2:12.34, followed by Annie Famose of France in 2:12.60.

Miss Greene, the 23-year-old Rossland, B.C., skier who won four out of five international races prior to today's competition, was fourth in 2:14.01.

Thus all four girls beat the old record.

"Can't Take Any More"

Shore Indians Ready To Quit

TORONTO (CP)—Look at all those blankety-blank Indians.

It may be the last time you'll ever see them.

General Custer never treated Indians like owner Eddie Shore, according to Shore's Springfield Indians of the American League.

Reports say that the hockey Indians are ready to quit Shore's reserve.

Alex Eagleson of Toronto, their counsel, says he'll take their case to court.

Eagleson was to leave here early today to meet the Springfield players in Hershey, Pa., where they are scheduled to play against the Bears tonight.

"I am hoping to call a meeting of all the owners of the American League to spell it out to them why these boys are going to quit rather than continue with Shore," Eagleson said. "It is only right they should know exactly what has been going on."

The team walked out on shore in December after four members were suspended but returned without missing a scheduled game at Eagleson's advice.

"When the team ... ended their strike just before Christmas, Hold them to hold on until Jan. 20 in the hope Shore would mend his ways," Eagleson said Tuesday, "Now they have called me to say they can't take anymore."

He said the situation has become so intolerable that the players would rather quit and wait for the result of court action in order to prevent future players from coming under Shore's control.

"I am confident they would win the case, but it will take time," he said.

Since the December walkout by 23 players, Mike Corbett and goaltender Jacques Caron have both been suspended for what shore said was "indifferent play."

Eagleson said Caron was suspended for not being capable of performing an intricate skating routine in practice and found himself $400 short in his pay Jan. 15.

"This left him with just enough money to pay the rent and he has been forced to borrow money to buy food for his wife and two children."

Coach Harry Pidhirny quit the Indians last week and Shore's son, Ted, took over his duties.

"It's hard to believe, but Shore Sr. now is insisting the players should sit on the ice for 20 minutes, kicking their legs in the air," Eagleson said.

"When Roger Cote protested and said they were risking pneumonia, he was suspended for arguing."

Shore, an all-star defenceman with Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League in the 1930's, earned a reputation of never giving up. He has been rated as one of the toughest and most talented NHL defence-man of all time.

Fish And Game Annual

Bowmen Show Uncanny Skill

A brilliant demonstration of archery; a colorful "slide" hike through Presq'ile Park and presentation of contest awards featured the annual dinner meeting of the Belleville Fish and Game Club last night.

President Fred Fisher was in command and incidentally was the main prize a handsome Polaroid camera while Mayor Jack Ellis brought the city fathers' greetings.

Belleville Archery Club experts under Jeff Calvert and consisting of himself, Bob Nokes, Floyd Armstrong, Reg Aseline and Mrs. Leola Doxtator, (twice Ontario mail champion) put on a "Robin Hood" show that had the assembly gasping in its seats.

The demonstration team showed uncanny accuracy with difficult and trick shots. One placed five arrows inside a drinking cup.

They shot out the flame of a lighted candle. They put five arrows in the five of clubs card. They shot out three balloons placed tandem style. They shot a balloon down and pinked a plate attached to it before it hit the floor.

Calvert in two of three hit a balloon blindfolded and broke a poised soda cracker.

They drove a blunt arrow through a piece of wood an inch thick and penetrated a large can of sand from a range of 35 feet. One shot two arrows at once puncturing two spaced balloon targets.

Director Don McKinnon acted as a "William Tell" guinea pig complete with apple on head. But when Mrs. Doxtator pinked a drawing depicting the Tell incident and punctured the man in the heart Director McKinnon decided discretion was the better part of valor.

However, in true form, Mrs. Doxtator split the apple on the head of the man in the drawing.

It was a sensational display of bow-and-arrow prowess and gave ample evidence why some of the bowmen, with Mrs. Doxtator are being readied for Canada's marksmanship in the world competition in Holland later on.

Maurice Harvey well-known aplarist and amateur color photographer of Codrington, Ont. showed a number of beautiful colored slides on a screened "Hike Through Presq'ile."

The photography was superb and the color eye-catching. Wildlife especially many varieties of birds were shown nestings, at work and raising families. Scenic effects were more or less breathtaking.

The close-ups of birdlife nesting in trees and inside tree-trunks was color photography at its best.

Mr. Harvey finished his show with illustrated slide backgrounds to four well-known songs.

Director George Woodhouse gave the toast to the ladies with Mrs. Layton responding. Many door prizes were distributed.

The awards of the club's annual fish and game contests were presented to the various winners by Director George Darvell assisted by Director Woodhouse. The results appear elsewhere.

The game against Cobourg intermediates, cancelled last week, has been re-arranged for tomorrow (Thursday) in Quinte Secondary School gym. at 8:00 p.m.

Name Dalton Lark Coach

MONTREAL (CP)—Orris Kay Dalton is the new head coach of Montreal Alouettes of the Eastern Football Conference, the club announced Tuesday.

Dalton, commonly known as O. K. Dalton, takes over from Darrell Mudra with a three-year contract. He was the Als' defensive coach last season and, at 34, becomes the youngest head coach in the Canadian Football League.

His choice at a club board of directors meeting Tuesday was unanimous.

Mudra broke a three - year contract with the Als to take over the head coaching position at the University of Arizona in Tucson and Alouette President Joe Atwell said the board authorized the club's solicitor to dismiss Mudra and to take any legal action the lawyers see fit.

"A contract is a contract and it's about time we started treating them as one," Atwell said.

Asked about assistants, Dalton said he interviewed eight or 10 at a recent coaches' meeting in Houston, Tex., and thought it likely he would draw from this group to assist himself and holdover assistant Ralph Goldston in running the club.

"The Lip" Predicts

Cubs In 1st Division

TORONTO (CP) — Leo Durocher predicts the first division seat year for his last-place Chicago Cubs and points to Ferguson Jenkins of Chatham, Ont., as an example of the spirit that's going to get them there.

Durocher, in town to tape a television interview, says his team is through with the National League cellar.

"If there was complacency on this team, it's gone now. My players want to win and Ferguson Jenkins is a good example.

"When I first saw this kid I asked him what he wanted to be. Remember, he's 22 years old, six-foot-four and has his career all in front of him.

"Well, my eyes almost popped out of their sockets when he told me he wanted to be a relief pitcher because he thought that's how he could help the team the best. The big money is with starters and this kid tells me he's willing to go as a reliever.

"I go along with him and he works well in 50 games, but he's tiring from all the in-and-out pitching. Finally, I can't stand it any longer. I walk up to him and say, 'Jenkins, you're a starting pitcher from now on.'

"He finished the season by winning six starts and, because he was getting three days' rest between assignments, he's that much faster. Jenkins is signed and primed for this coming season and he's going to show you something."

GORDIE HOWE'S HOCKEY

By GORDIE HOWE

It wasn't until I was in the National Hockey League that I realized some players heal faster than others. And I don't mean mentally.

Fortunately, I'm classified as a quick healer. I found this out in my early years in the league when face cuts and things would heal rapidly for me. Some players have it rough this way. Bert Marshall on our club is a good example.

When Bert gets hurt it seems to take forever for the injury to heal. And he has certainly had his problems this season. Shortly after the schedule got underway, Bert took a nasty ankle bustie in Chicago when he was hit by one of Pierre Pilote's shots. Then, while he was still hobbling with the ankle, he banged up his shoulder in a game in New York. Just recently, of course, he suffered the collapsed lung in that game in Boston. It's still a mystery to everyone how it happened. Bert is unsure himself, but suspects it was when he collided with Pit Martin although he felt no pain.

The concern centres around the worry about the most, of course, are to the legs. Especially the knees and ankles, but really anywhere on the legs. The concern centers around the fact you must stay off your skates.

With a head, arm or body injury, usually you can still skate and stay in condition. But with legs, that's something else. You just sit out.

I had that problem during training camp this past fall. It was a simple thing too. I banged into the boards with Pete Goegan during a scrimmage and sprained my knee. I missed almost the entire training camp with it and I doubt it'll be perfect again this season.

It doesn't bother me that much, but I still can't do a deep knee bend.

The reason it'll not be OK until the season is over is because I'm always on it. This doesn't give this type of injury much of a chance. However, it doesn't bother me when I'm playing.

Perhaps I'd be remarking on the obvious if I said players dread injuries. They do, of course. But it's not so much the discomfort they dread. It's the lost time and the working your way back into condition and into the lineup that's tough.

Thank goodness I'm a fast healer.

Queen's Plate

Favor "Cool Reception"

TORONTO (CP) — Cool Reception, winner of more than $101,000 in 1966, has been made the 3-to-2 favorite for the 108th running of the Queen's Plate this year.

The winter book odds for the race, Base of which has not been set, was announced Tuesday by George Duffus, oddsmaker for the Jockey Club.

Cool Reception, owned by Mrs. W. J. Seitz and Mrs. V. P. Reid of Toronto, was sold for $40,000 in 1965 at the annual pre-priced yearling sale conducted by Toronto industrialist E. P. Taylor.

Last year, the horse won seven of 10 starts, including the two richest races in Canada for juveniles, the Cup and Saucer Stakes and the Coronation Futurity Stakes. Her horse's 1966 winnings are a record for a thoroughbred racing exclusively in Canada.

Battling, another Taylor-owned horse, is the second choice at 4-to-1. Duffus picked the dark bay son of Nearctic ahead of third - choice Pine Point, owned by Willow Downs Farms of Toronto and listed at 5-to-1.

So far, the race, to be run at Woodbine Racetrack in Toronto, is worth $61,425, including the Jockey Club's contribution of $50,000.

Terrell Irked Over Ads

HOUSTON (AP) — Cassius Clay took a holiday from training today and Ernie Terrell, angry about being second banana on the billboards, talked to promoters of their Feb. 6 heavyweight championship showdown fight about changes he wants in the advertising campaign.

Shortly after Clay carved his 878½-pound 25th birthday cake, a gift from the Astrodome promoters Tuesday, Terrell was telling a news conference, "Either they give me equal billing or 48 hours from now I am going to pack my bags and go home."

Later, Terrell pushed the starting time for the 48 hours back to this morning and the Houston Sports Association promoters of the fight site, the Astrodome, agreed to talk.

Plastered across Houston are 250 billboards giving both fighters names size lettering, but featuring a drawing of Clay and none of Terrell.

On the side of 150 buses are miniatures of the billboard, and 300 indoor signs have Clay's picture and Clay's name larger by far than Terrell's name.

Clay told workout spectators what he would be saying to Terrell in the ring on fight night.

"I'll say nothing two or three rounds," Clay said. "And then I'll say, 'You are losing, bum.' Just to let him know he is losing.

Wishart Hints Ontario Ban on Trading Stamps Possible

TORONTO (CP) — Attorney-General Arthur Wishart Tuesday emerged from a closed meeting at Queen's Park with representatives of the Consumer's Association of Canada and hinted at possible legislation concerning trading stamps.

At a news conference following presentation of a brief by provincial branch representatives, Mr. Wishart said the brief "makes a very strong case that you don't need the stamps."

He also noted that only New Brunswick, Ontario and Quebec among Canadian provinces allow the stamps and that the other provinces have enacted prohibition in general against the trading stamps."

The brief, presented by Mrs. K. E. Maclaiosh of Kitchener, stressed that promotional devices such as trading stamps add to the cost of food without returning an equivalent value to the purchaser.

The brief said there are only three ways of financing promotional devices — through price reductions to the producer, absorption of cost by the retailer or added cost to the consumer.

It quotes farm sources as saying that their incomes have fallen behind other sectors of the economy. It quotes retailers as insisting that their prices are pared as greatly as is economically feasible, leaving only the consumer to bear the cost.

The brief said trading stamps should be disallowed in the province because:

—They increase cost to the retailer and prices to the consumer.

—They and other give-away promotions tend to distract the attention of the customer from prices and confuse customer values.

—Their use has led to the increase of misleading advertising.

—They introduce a parasitical third party between the retailer and the consumer. It is estimated that the trading stamp industry reaps about $30,000,000 a year from the sale of the promotional aids.

—Trading stamps make the customers victima of enforced instalment buying without the advantage of owning the article being purchased while paying for it.

—They have become a secondary form of currency in the economy since many organizations gather stamps from their members and use them to purchase goods or equipment for use by the organization.

—They and other such promotions have tended to make obsolete price reductions as a legitimate competitive weapon in the detriment of the many consumers who prefer cheaper prices to unsought premiums.

Mrs. Fr. J. Klich, association publicity director, said that Mr. Wishart suggested during the meeting that the Ontario Federation of Agriculture present a similar brief to Agriculture Minister William Stewart. Mrs. Veronica Opatnik, president of the women's section of the Ontario Farmers' Union, said a resolution supporting such a brief already had been approved by the OFU.

Economist, Housewives Worry About Weston's

OTTAWA (CP) — Economist Lawrence Skeoch put it Tuesday "as a rough approximation" that high concentration exists in the distribution of Canada's groceries.

Leaders of a supermarket boycott movement expressed no such academic reservation as they also appeared before the Senate-Commons committee on consumer prices.

They charged that competition is severely reduced, and sometimes eliminated, in parts of Canada. And they demanded action, including immediate investigation of "the influence of large business firms on government officials."

Both the economist and indignant housewives expressed concern about the market power exerted by the Weston food colossus and committee members ended the day in a rare public argument about whether and when to call Garfield Weston himself as a witness.

Prof. Skeoch of Queen's University, author of a recent book on restrictive trade practices in Canada, told the committee that the country's research and laws on the subject need vast improvement.

He said no analysis has been made of concentration in food distribution or in distributive trades generally. Information was too sketchy to establish that the size of Canadian market giants is a vice.

Research might prove that competition has suffered from some mergers and takeovers. It might also prove that new mergers in some areas would improve efficiency.

Prof. Skeoch did not join the women of the Canadian Consumer's Protest Association in their description of Canadian combines law as a "joke." But he said it needs reform to drop a legalistic approach and outdated resorts to court action.

During their appearance, leaders of the protest association were challenged to back up a series of strong charges in their brief.

MPs wanted to know the basis of a statement that legislators have not acted in the consumers' interest because of campaign contributions by large business firms.

Mrs. Lawrence Wilson of nearby Manotick, president of the association, conceded that there was "no concrete evidence at all."

The group's main concern is concentration in the food industry, she said. The Weston family, through George Weston Ltd. and its dozens of associated companies, controlled by "recent estimates" 45 to 52 per cent of the food sold through chains, voluntary groups and unaffiliated outlets, said the brief.

In a surprise move, Warren Allman (L — Montreal Notre-Dame-de-Grace) proposed the committee call Garfield Weston, head of all Weston interests, or a top deputy.

Senator David Croll, committee co-chairman, said the request was irregular — but that come before a closed meeting of a steering committee. He would not favor a fast decision in any case to "start calling that sort of a group."

But Mr. Allman said he will insist that an invitation go out before the end of January to the Canadian - born magnate, who directs the international interests of the Weston group from Britain. Mr. Weston should be given a month to prepare a brief and should appear early in March to discuss "the impact of this big empire on the economy."

Ron Basford (L—Vancouver-Burrard), the other co-chairman, supported in early fall of Mr. Weston. But Grace MacInnis (NDP—Vancouver - Kingsway) said the committee should get on with its hearings into the cost of housing, clothing and other consumer purchases.

The committee's schedule for the next six weeks, announced Tuesday, proposes a tight agenda of hearings in Ottawa, followed by swings into eastern and western Canada.

The 24 MPs and 12 senators will split into two groups, one to visit The Lakehead, Winnipeg, Regina, Edmonton, Vancouver and, as a separate trip, St. John's, Nfld.; the other takes in Halifax, Saint John, N.B., Montreal, Quebec City, London, Ont., and Toronto.

The committee said it wants to hear views on the cost of living from consumers, business experts, welfare agencies, co-operatives, businessmen and economists.

Marmora

MARMORA — Miss Helen Southworth, who has been a patient in Belleville General Hospital, is now in Queensboro nursing home.

Michael Maloney of Etobicoke visited Mr. and Mrs. Bill Doyle during the week.

Several from Marmora attended the funeral of Roy Cecil Smith of Peterborough, held Jan. 13. Clinton Nicks is a brother-in-law of the deceased.

The centennial window, which has been of much interest to the villagers, has been decorated for January by the Eastern Star. The display show suggests travel and a way of living now past. Previous displays were by Marmora Free Methodist Church, the Women's Institute and the UCW of St. Andrew's. The community expects to carry the idea through the year.

James (Squeak) Reynolds of Marmora has evolved a centennial project of his own. He knits sweaters with the centennial crest knitted into the front back and arms of the garment, together with the dates 1867 - 1967.

Miss Grace Warren, historical research convener for Marmora Women's Institute, has compiled a history of the village which is now running in the Marmora Herald and has drawn much favorable comment.

Mrs. Arthur Brownson of Burlington is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. O'Neill, Forsythe St.

Officers of Marmora District Chamber of Commerce for 1967 are Gordon Bennett, president; Robert Sweet, vice - president; Glenn A. Wentworth, treasurer. Directors elected for a two-year term are Stanley Kerr, C. A. Lorenson, Vincent Lynch, Robert Maynes, Irwin McCoy, Ralph Neal, Bill McDonald. Serving the second year of their two-year terms are Alex Fraser, Vaughan Glover, Jack Golden, Leith Sheldon, Granville Meiklejohn, Francis Rothermel.

Education Cost Sharing Unjust

TORONTO (CP)— Robert Nixon, leader of the Ontario Liberal party, Tuesday challenged the Conservative government of Premier John Robarts on what he considers a lack of policy and foresight in education.

He told 160 guests at the Liberal Businessmen's Club of Toronto that the balance in educational spending, with the provincial and municipal governments carrying about equal commitments, had become inequitable.

"The province must accept more of this responsibility and our goal must be in this direction."

Mr. Nixon said that while the provincial government points with pride to its education spending, Ontario does not show up well in comparison to other provinces and with the United States.

Davis Defends Authors Who Criticized Press

TORONTO (CP) —Education Minister William Davis, criticized for his defence of a school book which says Canada's news media could be influenced by advertising pressures, said Tuesday it isn't a teacher's responsibility to tell students when an author is expressing a personal opinion.

"I don't think all school books can be confined to facts alone," the minister said. "Authors are entitled to their opinions."

Last Sunday, speaking during a round-table discussion carried by radio station CFRB, Mr. Davis defended the authors of How Are We Governed, a high school text book.

Questions and Answers On Highway Travel

Ontario Motor League
Eastern Ontario Club

QUESTION: We are going to Mexico City in February and would like the best route down.

ANSWER: Take 401 to Detroit, Mich., No. 25 and No. 54 to Fort Wayne, Indiana, No. 69 and No. 67 to Indianapolis, Indiana, No. 40 and No. 70 to St. Louis, Mo., route 66 to Springfield, Mo., No. 44 to Vinita, Oklahoma, No. 69 to No. 75 to Dallas, Texas, No. 35 and No. 81 to San Antonio, Texas, No. 81 to Laredo, Texas, No. 85 to Mexico City.

QUESTION: Do I need border-crossing cards or shots to get into Mexico? Also what is the temperature of Mexico City in February?

ANSWER: The average temperature is 75 degrees. A Canadian citizen requires a valid passport and a tourist card to get into Mexico, also a small pox vaccination certificate. When you get to Mexico City, slow down, the altitude is over 7,000 feet and you need time to get used to it.

QUESTION: When travelling a long distance, when is the best time to start in the morning?

ANSWER: You'll make better mileage during the early hours of the day than at any other time, so here is one hint which will save you several hours. Start as early as possible, say 5 a.m. Many motels now supply facilities for making yourself a cup of coffee. Drive until 8 a.m., when it is a good time to get off the road because of rush hour traffic and school buses. This is a good time to stop and have breakfast.

QUESTION: Where can I get maps and books for Mexico City?

ANSWER: The Ontario Motor League supplies maps and books free to its members. Non - members could write to the Mexican Consulate in Toronto.

QUESTION: We wish to ski at a place called Stowe, Vermont. Could you please tell us how to get there and how far it is?

ANSWER: A number of people go there from Belleville, as it is a popular and well equipped ski resort. To go there take 401 to Cornwall, cross the Roosevelt-Iwan bridge to highway No. 37 to Malone and then go on to No. 11 to Rouse's Point, then on to No. 2 south to Burlington, continue on No. 2 or No. 89 until you come to No. 100; north from No. 89 this will take you into Stowe.

QUESTION: Is the ferry at Lake Champlain open in the winter? If not, when will it open for cars and passengers?

ANSWER: This ferry stops operations Dec. 1, and re-opens April 6th.

QUESTION: Which is the best way to drive to New York City? I would prefer the thruways and turnpikes.

ANSWER: Your best way this year would be across the Ivy Lea Bridge, take No. 81 to Syracuse and then east on No. 90 the New York Thruway, to Albany, then south on No. 87 to Suffern, then No. 287 to Nyack and on to New York City.

QUESTION: We are going to Buffalo and then on to New York City via the New York Thruway. Could you tell us how much the toll is and how far it is to New York City from Buffalo?

ANSWER: The New York Thruway from the Pennsylvania state line to New York City is 359 miles. Maximum toll $8.30. From Buffalo it would be approximately $7.

QUESTION: We are planning a trip to Halifax and would like to know the best route, the Canadian or the American, also the quickest and how many miles from Belleville.

ANSWER: Both routes are good, the quickest way to reach Halifax would be the American route crossing at Cornwall and go No. 37 to No. 11 to Rouse's Point, No. 2 to Burlington to No. 2 all the way to Bangor, Maine, then No. 1, to St. John and No. 2 to Halifax. You can return if you have time by the Trans-Canada Highway, No. 2 from Halifax to Moncton, Fredericton, Edmundston, then No. 2 to Levis, the south side of Quebec, and then take No. 8 and No. 3 just south of Montreal, continue on No. 8 to Valleyfield, cross over to No. 2 and home. The distance to Halifax by the Trans Canada route is approximately 1,178 miles and by the American route approximately 1,000 miles.

West Is Touchy About Crowsnest Freight Rates

OTTAWA (CP) — Touch the Crowsnest Pass freight rates and you touch a Western Canada MP to the quick.

The traditional reaction was apparent — despite Transport Minister Pickersgill's disclaimer that nobody was raiding the nest—in the Commons Tuesday.

Debating progress on the government's big transport bill, MPs scrutinized the powers of commission to oversee all transportation within federal jurisdiction, although as West-ern MPs demanded a hands-off policy on the Crowsnest rates.

Opposition MPs demanded assurance that the Crowsnest rates, which have controlled rates on movement of western grain since 1897, will be left alone. This debate was to continue today.

Until Tuesday, debate on the bill-clause bill had made fairly steady progress through some 43 hours—eight days—of clause-by-clause study.

Then the Commons reached the clause proposing that the new transportation commission conduct a review within three years on the revenue picture of the railways in moving grain and wheat flour.

Western MPs jumped on the clause as a government device to re-open the Crowsnest rates question.

REVIEW LIMITED

Mr. Pickersgill assured members the provision calls only for a review of the entire freight-rate picture in the country. The government wasn't predicting whether the study would show the Crowsnest rates should be raised or lowered.

The rates cover grain and flour moving from any point in Canada between the Lakehead and the West Coast. The cost of shipment varies with the distance from pickup point to either Vancouver-Prince Rupert.

The minister reminded MPs that the Crowsnest rates had been frozen, with the additional tab being paid by the government.

The commission could freeze rates on grain movement were the railway loss to exceed $22,000,000 a year at the time of its 1958 study. Transport officials say this loss picture likely has improved considerably since 1958 with the big wheat sales to Russia and China.

The minister said the government is not prepared to go ahead with a rate increase but feels the review would clear the picture for everyone concerned. Western MPs didn't agree.

Hugh Horner (PC — Jasper-Edson) said the section of the bill proposing the review is "completely redundant." He could countenance a private review of freight rates but not a public one. He was concerned— as were other MPs—that the age - old controversy of the proper criteria for profit and return could be re-opened.

L. R. (Bud) Sherman (PC—Winnipeg South) said the rates are the pillar of industry and enterprise in Western Canada. Farmers didn't want any tampering.

Mr. Pickersgill said the rates were "as frozen as they could be by statute" and the government merely wanted to safeguard them.

Gordon Churchill (PC—Winnipeg South Centre) introduced an amendment that would delete the entire section providing for the rate review. The Commons rose before the amendment came to a vote.

Earlier Tuesday the government, with Social Credit and Creditiste support, defeated a Conservative amendment on a standing vote of 79 to 46.

The amendment, by Alvin Hamilton (PC — Qu'Appelle) would have given the new commission authority to order the abandonments it now makes.

Mr. Pickersgill then drew agreement for an amendment wherein a commission recommendation for a branch line abandonment, if it means a loss to one or more railways, could be passed on to the cabinet for final decision.

The original provision had left the commission with discretionary power on such referrals.

KEEP THEM TRAPPED

INUVIK, N.W.T. (CP)—The next move by the human friends of three trapped beluga whales will be to make sure they stay trapped. To guard against the possibility that the three survivors stray too far from their breathing hole in Kaimo Lake, members of the Inuvik Lions Club plan to lower fish nets at a safe distance from the hole to keep the mammals coming back for gulps of air and handouts of food.

Fascination of Television Said to Be Wearing Thin

NEW YORK (AP) — Reports persist, in spite of documented denials, that the fascination of television is wearing thin for some viewers.

This was restated recently by an executive of a corporation with a big advertising stake in television. He told a broadcasting group there were signs that better - educated, higher - income viewers — the "quality audience"—were decreasing in numbers.

Not so, replied a spokesman of the television information office, public relations wing of the National Association of Broadcasters. He cited a Nielsen analysis of September and October audiences to show that the upper - income audience—$10,000 a year and over—had increased by one per cent over the previous year.

But the suspicion that viewers are deserting refuses to die.

Louis Harris, who takes polls on various subjects, reported this week that his TV audience studies, unlike Nielsen's, indicate that viewing among the affluent 25 per cent of the population, "a majority of TV sets are not turned on during most evenings."

BLAME CHOICE

If some viewers are, indeed, using their sets less these days, the blame must be borne by the people who pick our entertainments.

It is estimated that evening programs on the three networks cost around $11,000,000 a week to produce. That is a lot of money and there are some good things to watch. Much of the trouble seems to start in the early evening when the networks try to put on shows that will appeal to all age groups. Many of the worthwhile and just plain entertaining shows come along at 10 p.m. Tuesday night, for instance, CBS tacked an off-beat subject in an attractive manner. The Italians presented author Luigi Barzini —an Italian who speaks perfect English—who he called "a reconnaissance of the national character."

As color cameras reflected the people, the countryside and the art treasures, Barzini talked about his countrymen and he was witty, wry, affectionate and perceptive.

Interview CBC 'Duty' —Thadden

TORONTO (CP)— Adolf von Thadden, deputy leader of the West German National Democratic party, says it is "the duty" of CBC to "give exact information about political circumstances."

Von Thadden, whose scheduled Jan. 29 appearance on the CBC-TV public affairs program Sunday was cancelled after public protests, made the statement in English in an interview from the Canary Islands where he has been holidaying. The interview with Warner Troyer was broadcast Tuesday over CBL, Toronto CBC radio outlet.

Von Thadden said it is "not useful" for the CBC to "lied to "any pressure."

He said he feels the proposed TV interview in Canada should go ahead and he promised to do what he can to "help prevent" any demonstrations.

West German Rink Enters World Curling

GLASGOW (CP)—West Germany will enter a rink in the world curling championship for the first time this year, bringing the number of countries to eight.

The competitors: Canada, West Germany, Scotland, the United States, Norway, Sweden, France and Switzerland.

The Canadian Consumers Protest Association suggested to the parliamentary prices committee that government officials may not be acting to bring down food prices because they depend on food companies for campaign funds.

The committee made no decision on a member's suggestion that it examine Garfield Weston or a member of his food companies group.

A University of Toronto faculty group asked Prime Minister Pearson to consider banning arms shipments to the U.S. until it withdraws from Vietnam.

An opposition attempt to amend them the government's transport bill to strengthen the planned transport commission's power over railline abandonments was defeated in the Commons.

Credit unions asked the Commons finance committee to consider leaving the way open for them to form a cooperative chartered bank at some future time.

WEDNESDAY, Jan. 18

The Commons meets at 2.30 p.m. for debate on the government's transport bill. The Senate stands adjourned until Jan. 31.

Aces Share Score Lead

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)— Gord Labossiere and Wayne Hicks, Quebec's dynamic scoring duo, still lead American Hockey League goaltenders but no less than seven other sharpshooters have moved within striking range.

Labossiere and Hicks, who have been running head to head for the scoring title since October, shared the lead with 35 points each through games of last Sunday, according to latest AHL figures.

Gil Gilbert of Hershey, however, was only one point back and his linemate, Gene Ubriaco followed closely with 33 points.

Another Hershey star, Roger Dedordy, shared fifth place with Rochester's Mike Walton at 28 points, while Dirk Gamble of Rochester, with 30, and Hershey's Mike Nesich and Mike Rivers, with 49 and 48, respectively, all were in contention for the scoring title.

DeJordy was the top goal-preducer with 20, and Gilbert and Nesbitt led the playmakers with 29 assists each.

In addition to claiming first in the big nine points, Labossiere had the No. 1 goaltender, Anthony Puill, with a 2.72 goals - a - game average and the pace - setting penalty leader, Paul Popein, with 90 minutes in the penalty box.

Trans-Canada Opposed U.S. Gas Carriers Ask for Hearing

WASHINGTON (CP) — Two American natural gas carriers asked Tuesday for more public hearings on the application by Trans-Canada Pipe Line Co. to feed more Alberta gas to Eastern Canada and markets in the U.S.

Spokesmen for Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha, Neb., said this procedure might lead to another year's delay in a final power commission decided on the issue.

That would defer deliveries to Ontario via the proposed system from 1968 and the Trans-Canada schedule is already well behind its first deadline.

Vice President Ben Sampson of Northern said the proposal is the only sure way to avoid possible court litigation which would mean even greater delay.

Northern has a competing proposal before the commission, filed a year ago, which Sampson told reporters Tuesday would cost Canadian gas consumers $3,000,000 less annually and open up more U.S. markets than Trans-Canada's plan.

"There's no comparison between the two proposals as far as potential export markets are concerned," he said. Northern's distribution points include the Chicago industrial area and the Mesabi iron range in Minnesota.

Northern has been anxious from the start to speed a power commission decision, Sampson said, but he warned that recent events required a second round of public hearings. Otherwise, the eventual decision could be taken in court, as is possible under certain conditions.

The Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. was the second firm to ask more public hearings by commission examiner William Levy. Levy had ordered for submissions by Tuesday from interested parties and has scheduled a conference of all concerned next Tuesday.

Then he must decide whether to have more public hearings or resume his preparation of his non-binding recommendation to the power commission.

Trans-Canada made no submission Tuesday. It says no more hearings are needed and wants a speedy decision in the case it brought before the commission in November, 1964.
